In this city the error amounts to about sixteen *minutes, and by order of the board of mayor and aldermen the city clocks were on Sunday set wrong to that extent, the one o'clock bell being rung at sixteen minutes past one, (that is the time it would have been rung, had it been rung at all, which it wasn't,) and the nine o'clock bell at sixteen minutes past nine; perhaps it would be better to say that by order of the board the hours of one and nine o'clock P. M. did not get along here until sixteen minutes after the actual time, the bell being rung when they did arrive. Of course the postponement of noon obliged a corresponding postponement of midnight, so that Monday, the 19th, did not commence until sixteen minutes after Sunday ended, leaving a small bit of time entirely out in the cold unless we add it to Sunday, which would make that day twenty-four hours and sixteen minutes long.

As this 75th-meridian, or "Eastern," time extends from the 75th meridian to the 60th, it follows that at St. Paul's island, one of the Magdalen group, which is very nearly on the 60th meridian, noon did not arrive on Sunday until about one o'clock P. M., and Monday did not arrive until Sunday was an hour past, leaving a full hour to be put down as "missing," unless Sunday is made to have twenty-five hours.

[*The difference at Cambridge observatory, Mass., between solar mean time and the new "railroad" time, is fifteen minutes, forty-four and one-half seconds; and the difference between Cambridge and this city is one minute and twenty-seven seconds, making Portsmouth true time seventeen minutes, eleven and one-half seconds ahead of railroad time; but our time having previously been kept by the standard of Cambridge, the change made on Sunday was but about sixteen minutes.]

GOSSIPS SAY

That in addition to the other good things Portsmouth has, it claims the best police station in the state.

That the only thing needed to make it as good as there is in the country is steam heat.

That Storer Post, G. A. R., has received from Secretary of War Lincoln several volumes of the rebel records, now being published at Washington under authority of Congress.

That other volumes will be sent to the post as soon as published.

That those persons who object to changing local true time for "standard" time are of those who think it easier to say "ten and six pence" than "a dollar and seventy-five cents," and in the good old times were wont to call New Yorkers stupid who thought eight shillings the right thing for a dollar.

That the windows for the new machine shop arrived on Friday last, and some of them were put in on Saturday.

THE NAVY DEFIANT.

While all the cities and pretty much everything else have hastened to yield to the cheeky demand of the railroads as to changing the method of computing time, for the sole benefit of the railroads, our gallant navy has not yet surrendered. The nine o'clock gun at the navy yard opposite this city, on Sunday night, was fired at nine o'clock—seventeen minutes and some seconds before the nine o'clock ordered by the railroads was sounded on the North church bell.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

SATURDAY, Nov. 17th.

James Haley, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90, which he paid.

John Russell and Michael Hogan, charged with stealing trawls from Elvin Newton on the 28th of October last, were held in $200 each for the grand jury at the April term of the supreme court. The evidence was that two of Newton's employes set the trawls Oct. 28th, near Anderson's rock, about two miles off the Shoals; while they were setting the trawls Russell and Hogan pulled past, and on the next visit of the owners the trawls were gone, and were not seen again until found on board defendants' boat at Portsmouth.

THE SEAMEN'S HOME.

From the report of a recent meeting of the Seaman's Aid Society the following item of general interest are taken: "The Seaman's Home, under the care of Mrs. Wingate and son, has a well established business. For the six months ending November 1st, the number of meals served at the restaurant was 4485, this not including the permanent boarders. Through the kindness of friends interested in the work the reading room has been well supplied with papers, etc. The courtesy of the custom house officials enables us to give the record of vessels entered for the year ending Nov. 1st: Vessels, 674; seamen, 4,734; tonnage, 162,948. Several disabled men have been cared for at the home, but it is of course most desirable for the welfare of the seamen that some distinct hospital accommodation could be established in this city."

A NEW AND CONVENIENT TRAIN.

The new train between Boston and New York by way of the Shore Line starts this week, leaving the Providence railroad station in Boston at ten o'clock A. M., and being due at the Grand Central station in New York at 4:50 P. M. Leaving the Grand Central depot at eight A. M., and being due in Boston at three P. M. Passengers from Dover and Portsmouth who reach Boston on trains leaving Dover at a quarter to seven o'clock A. M., and this city at 7:15 A. M., will have abundant time to connect with this train in Boston; and those leaving New York by this train will likewise have plenty of time to take the 3:30 P. M. train on the Boston & Maine railroad for Dover or the 4:40 train on the Eastern for this city. We are glad to note that in fixing the hours for the new train the convenience of patrons east of Boston has been recognized by the Shore Line.

STORER POST G. A. R.

By an order of Commander M. M. Collis, dated Nov. 14th, the regular meeting of Storer Post, G. A. R., Nov. 21st, has been postponed to Thursday evening, the 22d, when the post will assemble at G. A. R. hall in full uniform at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of the annual inspection, which will be made by Inspecting Officer Cyrus Freeman of Great Falls, aid-de-camp to the department commander. After the inspection, by courtesy of Osgood Lodge, I. O. O. F., a supper will be served in the banquet hall in National block, to which all members of the post, with their wives, are invited; ladies will be admitted only by ticket, with name endorsed on the back; they will assemble in the lower hall at nine o'clock. Contributions of cake and pastry are solicited for the supper, and a committee will be at the banquet hall on the afternoon and evening of the 22d to receive the same; all who can are requested to bring cake baskets, each contributor first attaching a card with the owner's name upon it.

"WILLIE REILLY."

This evening, at Music hall, the romantic drama "Willie Reilly" will be produced, with Mr. Dan. Maguinnis, always a favorite with Portsmouth theatregoers, in the title role, supported by his own company. See advertisement, and secure tickets at Goodrich's.

The tides ran very high on Friday and Saturday last, and on Saturday the water entirely overflowed that part of Lafayette road which crosses the marsh near the head of Sagamore creek, so as to render it almost impassable for some time. As this bit of road is overflowed at every extra-high tide, it would seem to be the duty of the road surveyor of that district to have the roadbed raised, which could be done at a very small cost, the gravel pit being within a few rods.

The coal sheds of E. F. Sise & Co. are being repaired and placed in good order under the direction of the chief clerk, Mr. Gray.

Mr. James R. Morrison, of the express firm of Frye & Co., started on Thursday last with his family for Pomona, Palatka county, Fla., where he proposes spending the coming winter. Mr. Morrison when in Florida last winter purchased a place of about thirty acres at Pomona, and employed himself in his leisure time in setting out orange trees, of which he has about four acres; if he finds his young trees in good condition he proposes before next spring to make a large addition to his orange grove.

About twenty car loads of oak timber were brought to this city over the Conway railroad last week, to be used partly for piles for the Portsmouth bridge, and partly for ship timber.

The schooner Satellite, Aderton master, arrived on Saturday from Boston via Salem, into which port she put for a harbor. She will load with pig iron for Gloucester, Mass.

The library of the Portsmouth high school is alleged to be the most extensive high school library in the state. It has recently been enlarged by the addition of Hitchcock's Geological Survey of New Hampshire.

The schooner James M. Riley, Capt. Robinson, which arrived at this port on Saturday from New York with 650 tons coal to E. F. Sise & Co., reports having been struck by a squall on Thursday while off Cape Cod, which caused her cargo to shift, and gave her a list of several starkes to starboard. No damage was done.

A steam shovel is expected on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad, to be used in excavating gravel for filling under the bridge of the road between Noble's island and Freeman's point.

Mrs. Abbie Spinney, wife of Parker Spinney, owner of the Dover Point hotel, died in Boston on the 16th inst. She was a daughter of the late James D. Hanson.

One of the two engines of the morning freight train from Portland, Saturday, which as is customary in crossing the bridge had been detached and preceded the other engine, in passing the Vaughan street crossing broke a steel rail. It might have caused a serious accident had trains been passing over it.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 128.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 126.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; Prescott Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1820 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those heretofore on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 186 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel as a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring Blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diuretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible; they are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines for diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R.I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be effectually healed and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of disease, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price, illustrated sample six cents, send now.

Gemmed with Pearls.

A mouth gemmed with pearls flashes radience every time it opens. The contrast between the ruby of lovely lips and the pearly teeth they enclosed has winged the fancy of many a poet. Sozodont, fair ones, is the thing that most contributes to adorn the femenine mouth. It is pure, it is aromatic, it retains the natural color of teeth incrusted with yellow tartar. No gritty or other objectionable ingredient contaminates it, its odor is balmy, and its purifying operation thorough.

Better Than Gold.

Better than grandeur, better than gold,
Than rank and titles a thousand fold,
Is a healthy body and a mind at ease
And simple pleasures that always please;
A heart that can feel for another's woe,
With sympathies large enough to unfold
All men as brothers, is better than gold.

Better than gold is a conscience clear,
Though toiling for bread in an humble sphere,
A body blessed with content and health,
Untried by the lusts and cares of wealth.
Lowly living and lofty thought
Adorn and ennoble a poor man's cot.
For mind and morals in nature's plan
Are the genuine tests of a gentleman.

Better than gold is the sweet repose
Of the sons of toil, when the labors close,
Better than gold is the poor man's sleep,
And the balm that drops on his slumbers deep
Bring sleeping draughts on the downy bed,
Where luxury pillows its aching head,
The toiler simple opiate deems
A shorter route to the land of dreams.

Better than gold is a thinking mind,
That in the realm of books can find
A treasure surpassing Australian ore,
And live with the great and proud of yore,
The sage's lore and the poet's lay,
The glories of empires passed away;
The world's great dream will thus unfold
And yield a treasure better than gold.

Better than gold is a peaceful home
Where all the fireside characters come,
The genius of love, the heaven of life,
Hallowed by mother, or sister, or wife.
However humble the home may be,
Or tried with sorrow as time goes by,
The blessings that never were bought or sold
And center there are better than gold.

TAKING UP SOME PLANTS.

Spoopendyke Takes Some Lessons in Planting Shrubs.

"My dear," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, looking up from her plate, and regarding her husband earnestly. "My dear, it is getting late in the season, and I am afraid my plants will be spoiled by the frost. Don't you think it is time they were taken in?"

"I don't know," replied Mr. Spoopendyke, laying down his paper and pegging away at his breakfast. "I don't think anything will spoil those measly shrubs. They never bear anything, and I should think they would do as well out doors all winter as anywhere else."

"Yes, they do bear, too," remonstrated Mrs. Spoopendyke, springing up in defense of the scrubby old bushes she had nursed for three or four years with the most exemplary patience. "One of them had a bud on last spring, and if they are kept in the house this winter, they will do splendidly next season."

"P'raps so," sniffed Mr. Spoopendyke. "If you think so, why don't you take 'em up?"

"Won't you do it, dear?" smiled Mrs. Spoopendyke, sweetly. "I don't think I am strong enough, but I will show you how, and I wish you would take them up."

"Come on!" replied Mr. Spoopendyke, dropping everything and preparing for the fray. "I'll get those precious orchids up in about a minute. Come out and point your finger at the ones you are most solicitous about, and then watch the operation."

Mrs. Spoopendyke put on her bonnet and followed her husband into the garden.

"You want to be a little careful with some of them," she suggested. "A good many of them are tender plants and want to be handled gingerly."

"You trust me," retorted Mr. Spoopendyke, grabbing a rose bush with both hands and giving a prodigious jerk. "Dod gast the bush!" he roared, as his hands slipped off, leaving two-thirds of the skin behind. "Is that the thing you wanted handled tenderly? Got any more of these sensitive exotics that can't stand the frost? Is this the thing that had a bud on it last spring?" and he took a fresh hold and ripped at the plant vindictively. Once more he slipped and left a little more hide on the thorns.

"I didn't mean that one," squealed Mrs. Spoopendyke, her attention called for the first time to the bush he was hauling at. "That one is to be covered up with straw."

"Oh, this is to be covered with straw?" demanded Mr. Spoopendyke, moistening his hands and preparing for a fresh attack. "As I understand the thing, this particular shrub wasn't to come up. All right. Only the shrub and I are looking at it from different standpoints. The shrub and you seem to see it alike, but I have got hold of the tail of an impression that it is very liable to come up or have me for company until it begins to bud again. Now, let's see who's right?" and Mr. Spoopendyke went at the bush again with a grim determination to conquer. But the bush held on, and in five minutes Mr. Spoopendyke had left enough skin on the stalk to make a pair of gloves.

"Try some of the others," said Mrs. Spoopendyke, in distress. "Begin on some of those little ones. I am more particular about those."

"I won't!" yelled Mr. Spoopendyke, gathering fresh energy from defeat. "Think those little ones will come up any quicker if they see me licked by this big one! Stand back and give me room. Something is going to give way now, or the bottom of the garden is coming out!" and once more the worthy gentleman went at his enterprise with portentious countenance.

This time the bush came up more suddenly than he had expected it would, and he landed on his back among the other plants.

"Told you so!" he growled, as he fired the obnoxious bush over the fence. "Another time you make up your mind to wrap a thing like that in straw, do it before I catch hold of it, if you want me to save enough hand to tell my fortune by. Next! Point out the additional greens to be rescued from the biting blasts of winter! This one of 'em?" and he caught hold of a tough old geranium. "Come into the house out of the cold!" he cries, apostrophizing the plant. "Let the fate of the other fellow be a warning unto you all not to trifle with Spoopendyke! Come forth from the teeming earth and be blessed with light and warmth in the garret!" and he took a death grip on the plant half way between the root and the top. "Let there be no holding back, but draw nigh and be saved!" and he leaned back, the leaves glided through his torn hands and down he came with a thump that shook the ground under him. "Another candidate for straw!" he howled as he made another dive for the enemy. "One more drooping grave decoration born to blush unseen and waste its Spoopendyke on the surrounding districts! Let there be no misunderstanding about this! Let it not be said by coming generations that this drooping old ghost of departed perfume did not catch fully on to my measly designs!" and he jumped at the bush and wound it around his hands. "The question before the house is, dirt or Spoopendyke, shall the ground absorb him, or shall the dod gasted fruit of much cultivation let go its hold and come out of the garden, Maud!" and with this exordium, delivered with a yell, Mr. Spoopendyke broke the geranium off short and sent it over the fence to join the rose.

"You are loosing them all," cried Mrs. Spoopendyke, her face flushed and her soul vexed by the fate of her plants. "I wanted to save that one."

"Next year we'll plant 'em the other end up, and then they will grow out of the ground of their own accord!" snorted Mr. Spoopendyke, making for a tuberose. "Now, let's see what this thing is tied to! If it isn't made fast to a Chinese laundry on the other side of the globe, we'll see what the bottom looks like before the tinpenny cold gets in!"

"Don't pull that up!" protested Mrs. Spoopendyke, in despair. "I only want to save the bulb of that!"

"Hear what the lady says!" demanded Mr. Spoopendyke, grasping the stalk and spreading his legs for an unparallelled exertion. "We are indifferent to the upper works, but the bulb has become a matter of necessity! Put aside vain pride and show—!" but here he put in all his strength and rolled half way across the garden, crushing vines and shrubs, and winding up against the fence with a crash that shook every board in it.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Mrs. Spoopendyke, hurrying to his assistance. "Have you broken your back?"

"Did any of the bulb get away?" inquired Mr. Spoopendyke, dazed by his fall. "Am I to understand that the excavation was not a success?" he bawled recovering himself with a mighty effort. "Is there room for the display of any further horticultural energy?" he yelled, making for the spot where the stalk came out. "Don't try to hide away from me! I shall linger in this vicinity quite late but what I shall accomplish my dod gasted design! Come out into the broad realm of Nature and let us commune!" and Mr. Spoopendyke ploughed into the ground and brought up the bulb. "Is it this sweet potato that I have been grubbing away precious time for that might have been spent in refreshing prayer?" he demanded with a look of infinite disgust. "Go forth, good bulb, on thy mission of fragrance!" he added with a howl, as he kicked the root with unerring precision into the neighboring pot. "Now for the rest of this hothouse! Lead me into the green pastures and by the sweet waters where the balance of this measly matinee is located! Does this thing belong to the show?" and he caught hold of a tomato vine. "Is there a bulb annex to this thing of beauty and joy until I get hold of it? Be still, sad heart; until I get started!" and he wrenched the vine from the socket and flourished it around his head. "One more bulb to hear from!" and he pawed into the earth in vain search for the root, showering the dirt in all directions. "There!" he puffed, when he had built a sort of a cave in the place out of which the vine had come. "I'm most through!" and he went at it again. "Dust thou art, to thou art returned, and we spot seen the hole!" and with this peroration Mr. Spoopendyke gathered himself up into a lump and came down hard on both feet in the excavation he had made.

"I think you're real mean!" sobbed Mrs. Spoopendyke, who had watched the wreck of her flowers in silent wretchedness. "You have ruined them all!"

"Haven't either!" gasped Mr. Spoopendyke, out of breath from his exertions. "That's all the gratitude you've got! I've warmed those measly things up so that an Arctic winter would only make 'em sweat! Got any more of this sort of business you'd like to have me attend to before I go to my legitimate occupation? I'd prefer to make one job of it, if there is any more job in it!"

"No, there isn't," squealed Mrs. Spoopendyke, completely out of patience. "I wish you had never touched them!"

"Do, do you?" jerked Mr. Spoopendyke, eyeing her with a sinister glance. "Perhaps you are inclined to think that I didn't do the business with that deference to the preference of the plants you would like to have seen manifested! I s'pose you have got some kind of a notion that you know more about this class of botany than the undersigned! Well, you haven't, you hear! This is my native tongue, and if it hadn't been for me your measly old grave stones would have rotted, instead of being given to the free winds to disseminate their seed and bear abundantly unto the glory of the Giver of all Good! Get on to that proposition? Got any objection to that reasonable statement of the facts in this particular undertaking?"

"I might have known that you didn't know anything about it," moaned Mrs. Spoopendyke, who was anxious to distract his attention from the fact that there were several beds of flowers he had not marauded.

"Might, might ye?" roared Mr. Spoopendyke, rising in wrath, as he found it impossible to convince his wife that he had done it all for the best. "Think ye might have known that I didn't know anything about it! With what ye might have known in this world and what ye don't know, ye only want a name carved in your back, and the paint scratched off, to be the front seat in the first class in the public school! Know! Know! When it rains, and I can't get out on account of the toothache, I am going to fit you up with eight languages and a bad reputation, and start an intelligence office with you!" and with this tribute to his wife's capacity, Mr. Spoopendyke plunged into the house, put on his hat hind side before, and darted out to tell his friend Specklewottle that he thought something of buying the lot next door and raising fruit next season, as he was sure his experience in farming would stand him in good stead and see him through to complete success.

"I don't care," murmured Mrs. Spoopendyke, as the door banged after him, and set to work to take up the remainder of the plants. "I have found out how much he knows about shrubs. Next spring, when I get ready to plant, I'll ask him to take up some more bulbs, and when he gets through I won't have to pay a man to dig up the garden!" And with this wise disposition of her husband's horticultural ability, Mrs. Spoopendyke finished her job and wrapped her roots up in some of Mr. Spoopendyke's old pants that he was sure to want to go fishing in.—Stanley Huntley in Drake's Travelers' Magazine.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I Could not move!
I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer Boils? Why rave with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain, with Rheumatism? What makes your premature old age? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist them to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which stimulate only. It is composed of the choicest Roots, Barks and Herbs, combined with the Extract of SULPHUR in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT RESTORER. TO DESTROY THE DISEASE GERMS THAT ATTACK THE BLOOD, LIVER, KIDNEYS, STOMACH AND BOWELS, USE SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE A. P. ORDWAY & CO., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.

At Brookville, L. I., between four and five o'clock Saturday afternoon, Mrs. Garrett Maybee, aged seventy-one years, and her daughter Annie, aged thirty-six, were strangled to death in the barn belonging to their residence. The murderers then entered the house, beat Mr. Maybee, who is paralyzed and blind, nearly to death, stole $100 and two gold watches, and escaped.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

The annual foot ball game between the Phillips Exeter and Andover academies, was played Saturday at Exeter. The game was well contested throughout, but the Andover eleven clearly outplayed their opponents in every point. Exeter failed to score until the last minutes of the game, when darkness coming on, loose playing of Andover gave Exeter a goal, the only point that has been made against the Andover team this year. The score stood: Phillips Andover, two goals, one touchdown; Phillips Exeter, one goal and three safety touchdowns, or seventeen points to six in favor of Andover.

Three ex-governors of New Hampshire, Ichabod Goodwin, E. A. Straw and Natt Head, have died recently, and there are now living only seven of the twenty-four men who were incumbents of the gubernatorial chair during the forty years from 1833 to 1883, viz: Nath'l. S. Berry, Frederick Smyth, Walter Harriman, James A. Weston, Person C. Cheney, Benjamin F. Prescott and Charles H. Bell. The eldest of these, the venerable Ex-Governor Berry, who was governor from 1861 to 1863, and under whose administration most of the New Hampshire regiments participating in the late war were raised and sent to the front, is now in his eighty-seventh year, and in very good health considering his age. He recently returned from Milwaukee, Wis., where he had been stopping for a year or two with a daughter, and is now residing with his son at Bristol.

ST. NICHOLAS,

EDITED BY MRS. MARY MAPES DODGE.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally wholesome, and really attractive magazine is required for them, and ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and c mmands for this service wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by ST. NICHOLAS was never more f lly illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which that magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge, Captain Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton, Charles Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Julian Hawthorne, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, E. S. Brooks, George W. Cable, Chas. G. Leland, Susan Fenimore Cooper, John G. Whittier, "H. H.," W. O. Stoddard, C. P. Cranch, and scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of ST. NICHOLAS is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In no other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

The price is $3.00 a year, or 25 cents a number. Book-sellers, news-dealers, and postmasters receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers, by money or express order, bank check, draft, or in registered letter.

THE CENTURY CO., New York, N. Y.

The Sun.

NEW YORK, 1884.

About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom, sound doctrine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty-seven or twenty-eight times.

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which gets at the facts no matter how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in its history. If you do not yet know THE SUN, it is high time to get into the sunshine.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, post paid as follows:

DAILY—50 cents a month, $6 a year; with Sunday edition, $7.

SUNDAY—eight pages. This edition furnishes the current news of the world, special articles of exceptional interest to everybody, and literary reviews of new books of the highest merit $1 a year.

WEEKLY—$1 a year. Eight pages of the best matter of the daily issues; an Agricultural Department of unequaled value, special market reports, and literary, scientific, and domestic intelligence make THE WEEKLY SUN the newspaper for the farmer's household. To clubs of ten with $10, an extra copy free.

MEDICAL.

MR. E. MARTIN,

In Porters' Department of the U. S. Armory, Springfield, Mass.—Interesting Statement of his Suffering.

Here are plain facts from a most reliable source. Your reporter found Mr. Martin in Porter's department of the United States Armory, Springfield, Mass. After being introduced, Mr. Martin said: "I am willing to say what I can for the benefit of those afflicted as I have been. For years I have been a terrible sufferer from kidney and bladder difficulties. Mine being of the calculus or stony form. I have visited all the mineral springs whose waters have been recommended to me by the best medical authorities. I have tried every known remedy, and have submitted to several operations, and have tried everything that money could obtain in the way of relief, but I find that Dr. Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is the best medicine of all my experience—I have received more benefit from it. It is certainly a wonderful medicine for diseases of this kind. I have recommend FAVORITE REMEDY to others in the city of Springfield whom I knew to have suffered from Kidney and Liver complains; and, I assure the public, that the FAVORITE REMEDY has done its work with a similar completeness in every single instance, and I trust some other sick and discouraged mortal may hear of it and try the 'Favorite Remedy' as I did."

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it can not help, it does not harm. FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements that afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess.

The Horse Kicked Him.

The horse is a noble animal, and one of the best friends of man. Yet no man wants even his best friend to kick him in the back. Mr. Libby, of Lowell, Mass., received such a kick from a horse in 1865. Ever since he has been a martyr to spinal suffering. Perry Davis's Pain Killer has relieved him from a great deal of agony. While he has been using this valuable remedy he has enjoyed his life as he never could have done otherwise. "Accidents will happen." Provide against them by procuring Pain Killer.

The Riverside Press.

Perhaps the persons known to metropolitan journalists as the average "Country editor" in some respects do not have any better idea of the extent, than did the rustic person who wrote to the firm of Houghton, Mifflin & Co. of its character, when he asked to have mailed him "a copy of the Riverside Press, as he might like to take it."

While we have been conversant with many beautifully-printed volumes issued from the Riverside, we had never been aware of the extent of its capacity and the magnitude of its results, until one day recently when visiting the city of Cambridge, so celebrated for its learning and its soap, we determined to take a look at the Riverside Press. As one enters the establishment, so capable of disseminating so much good or evil, and hastens past huge vans piled high with cases of books and periodicals on their way to the railway station and post office, he naturally seeks the locality where he will expect to find the head-centre of the work. If the senior partner has a cosy and esthetically furnished parlor at the Park Street house, the windows of which overlook a graveyard, wherein may be interred the hopes and fond expectations of many an embryo author, Mr. Mifflin has no such resort of autocratic comfort. In fact, he is found in medias res of bustle and business. We hand him a slip of pasteboard commending the critic of the Chronicle to his tender care, and suggesting the freedom of the "press" et id omne, and as soon as he disposes of a half dozen matters which seem to press upon his attention, he offers to conduct us through the establishment.

We had not paid a visit to any printing house of this magnitude, since we, in company with one of the editorial staff of the Boston Transcript, went through the office and machine shops of the London Times several years ago.

The readers of the Chronicle do not care for details. We shall spare all recitals as to the number of tons of paper consumed, the fabulous amount of gold-leaf used,—so large that Mr. Mifflin asked our aid in figuring up the aggregate, the announcement of the result fairly staggering our credulity, when we consider how little utility there is in so much apparent waste of wealth,—the number of intelligent men and women employed, the various processes from type setting and electrotyping, and the many diversified kinds of labor of machinery and mankind here to be seen, the growth of the plant since Mr. Houghton first established himself by the side of the river Charles, or what was pointed out to us as a flowing river, down to the present extensive and celebrated works. It is a magnificent entirety where printing, proof-reading, binding, lettering, — in fine, where all the mechanical parts of a book are completed under one executive; rich in its material, superb in its mechanical execution, and tasteful in its adornments.

Such is the Riverside Press. As there comes week after week to the table of the literary critic the new issues from this press, each apparently more attractive in design than its predecessor, he hardly stops to consider how much is required to invent these new and beautiful designs whose richness never must exceed the confines of good taste, and literary propriety. Nor does he think of the vast number of skilled men and women, and of those perfections in machinery which not only print, but stitch, fold and otherwise prepare the book for the reader's use, while as room after room completes its required share of labor on book, periodical or pamphlet, the unwearied power of steam carries it to such other parts of the great whole as are designed to add to its make up.

In the rooms devoted to the storage of books after their completion, were immense piles of Webster's dictionaries in different bindings, from sheep to morocco, while piles of the various editions of the firm's other numerous publications filled every available space. The beautiful new editions of Mr. Longfellow's works challenged admiration; the exquisite bindings seemed to be a successful result of an attempt and the general range of published books shew that however much it may be claimed that New York is become the great publishing centre of the Western World, Boston furnishes an immense share of the best publications which are being to-day sent to the book trade.

The extent of the business here conducted, the demands upon the resident partner to enable him to keep abreast of the requirements of his position, convinced us that a trespass upon his kindness longer than to take a hasty view of the various departments was an unpardonable sin, and so with a grateful recognition of his kind attention we withdrew, and turned our faces toward Athens.

Mr. C. A. Chandler, freight agent of the Eastern railroad in Salem, Mass., was driving across Mill street in that city last Saturday morning when his horse was killed and his wagon smashed by the engine of the first train from Boston. Mr. Chandler and Joseph Gorman, who was riding with him, saved themselves by jumping from the wagon before the collision.

The board appointed to examine and report upon the various navy yards, of which Commodore Luce is president, met at the navy department in Washington on the 17th inst. for the final consideration of their report prior to its transmission to Congress. It is said the report will advise the prompt appropriation of large sums to be expended in the preservation of buildings and other works on the several navy yards, unless the yards are to be abandoned, the estimate for this yard being $150,000.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, from this navy yard for Washington via intermediate naval stations, arrived at her destination Nov. 16th.

Ensign V. S. Nelson has been detached from the Colorado, and ordered to the naval observatory.

The Great Blood Purifier.

Dr. W. ROSS, Writes.

Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been practising medicine for 25 years, and as a remedy for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness, and all diseases of the blood, I have never found its equal. I have sold Vegetine for 7 years and have never had one bottle returned. I would heartily recommend it to those in need of a blood purifier.

DR. W. ROSS, Druggist,

Sept. 18, 1878. Wilton, Iowa.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.

Bridal parties visiting New York, and those attending the great military pageant in honor of Evacuation day, are advised to tarry at the favorite hotel, the "St. Nicholas," on Broadway. Always winning new friends, it retains the old by the lavish care bestowed on the least as well as the most important of its departments. Comfort and good living are really synonymous with this hospitable house. The management leave nothing undone or untried to preserve its high standard of excellence, and a more perfectly appointed or more luxurious hotel cannot be found in New York city. The new furnishings and refittings have been much admired by a very large patronage, including many bridal parties, as "St. Nicholas" has ever been the patron saint of young married folk; and New Englanders especially appreciate the merits of Mr. Welch's liberal management of the "St. Nicholas."

To the Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham.

RESPECTFULLY represents Jane M. Vandewalker, of Kalamazoo, in the State of Michigan, that Susan S. M. McClair late of Washington, in the District of Columbia, has lately deceased intestate, having, at the time of her death, Estate in said County of Rockingham; that the said Jane M. Vandewalker is Guardian of Charles M. Stephens, a minor and heir at law of said Susan S. M. McClair.

WHEREFORE she prays that Administration thereof be granted to John S. H. Frink, of Greenland, in said County, accordingly.

Dated the 15th day of November, A. D. 1883.

JANE M. VANDEWALKER.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.—Probate Court at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of November, A. D. 1883.

UPON the foregoing petition it is Ordered that a hearing be had thereon at a Court of Probate to be holden at Exeter in said County, on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of December next, at ten o'clock A. M.; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned or interested therein to appear at said Court, and show cause if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S

SARSAPARILLA

Has "decided" claims upon the public. This is positively proven by the immense good it has done to those who have been cured of diseases from which they have suffered intensely for years, as verified by the published testimonials, every one of which is a positive fact.

CHELSEA, VT., Feb. 24, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.: The 6th day of last June I was taken sick with a swelling on my right foot, and with an awful pain. The swelling went all over me. My face was swelled so that I could with difficulty see out of my eyes, and I broke out over the whole surface of my body; my right foot up to my knee was one raw, itching mass, and my ankle and foot so lame and sore I could not step on it, and it would run so as to wet a bandage through in an hour. In this condition Mr. W. F. Hood (of the firm of A. F. Hood & Son, druggists, of this town), handed me a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and told me to take it. I did so, and by the time I had taken one bottle I found that it was doing me good. I have since taken five bottles more. After I had taken three bottles my soreness began to leave me, and I have been growing better every day, so that to-day I can walk without going lame. I have no soreness in my ankle and it has healed all up, and does not run at all. I owe my recovery to your Sarsaparilla. I write this to let you know that I think it deserves the confidence of the public, especially those who are troubled with humors.

Yours most truly,

JOSIAH PITKIN.

P. S. Every person that saw me said that I never would get over my lameness without having a running sore on my ankle; but thank God I have. J. P.

No other Sarsaparilla has such a sharpening effect upon the appetite. No other preparation tones and strengthens the digestive organs like HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

Price one dollar, or six bottles for five dollars. Prepared only by C. I. HOOD & CO., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER

ELY'S CREAM BALM has gained an enviable reputation wherever known, displacing all other preparations. An article of undoubted merit.

CURES COLD in the HEAD, IS NOT A LIQUID OR SNUFF. Apply by the finger into the nostrils.

When absorbed it effectually cleanses the nasal passages of Virus, causing healthy secretions. It allays inflammation, protects the membranal linings of the head from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure. Send for circular. By mail, prepaid, 50c.—stamps received. Sold by all druggists.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 23 Court street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office, to Mr. JOSHUA CRANE, a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the voting register will be closed on the fourth day of December, 1883, between which time and the Annual Meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, 1883, no registration will be made. Per order of the Directors.

Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that at a Court of Probate, holden at Exeter, in the County of Rockingham, on the tenth day of October, 1883, it was decreed and ordered that the petition of Arietta Prime asking that Edward B. Prime or some other suitable person be appointed guardian over Ida May Foote of Portsmouth, in said County, minor child of Frank A. Foote, be dismissed and the subscriber being interested in the guardianship of said Ida and aggrieved by said order and decree, on the 12th day of November, 1883, claimed an appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court, next to be holden at Concord, in the County of Merrimack, for said County of Rockingham, on the first Tuesday of December next, and filed in the Probate Office for said County of Rockingham a bond to respond the costs that shall be awarded against her agreeably to the statute in such case provided. Said appeal will be entered and prosecuted at said term of said Supreme Court.

Dated the sixteenth day of November, 1883.

GOSSIPS SAY

That on Badger's (once Continental) island, just below the site of the old ship-yard, is a fine place to build a summer hotel, which could be reached in a few minutes by means of a steam yacht.

That Gov. John Langdon, when he owned the island, was quite willing to sell it to his Uncle Sam for the navy yard location.

That Sunday afternoon about four o'clock— standard time — six flocks of wild geese flew over the city, going south.

That parties out sailing on the 19th instant report a great number of birds bedded near the Western Sisters.

That Old Father Time, on the roof of Treat's marble works, is taking a rest, the scythe having been broken off by the recent gale.

That some people think the old fellow got so mad at having the railroads take his business out of his hands, that he broke his scythe on purpose, and threw it away.

That fast driving on Monday afternoon by a Congress street business man resulted in the overturning of several teams, and his narrowly escaping injury himself.

That half the school children in the city were late on Monday, the school board not altering the time in the schools to conform to "standard" time.

This evening the Sabbath school of the Court street Christian church will give a concert in their chapel on Court street. The public are invited.

The Madison Square theatre will produce "Young Mrs. Winthrop" with an exact copy of the new and original scenery which caused so much comment in fashionable circles when the play was first presented. It is in the East Indian style of decoration, and the material for the scene at the Madison Square theatre was specially imported from India.

The schooner Z. S. Wallingford was towed down the river from Dover on Sunday by the tug Ann, and on Monday was lying near the Spring market, loading with apples.

Capt. E. D. Coffin is painting a set of buildings at Somerville, Mass.

Capt. J. H. Hutchinson had many callers at his store on Market square on Monday. His customers desired to be on time with his time-marker.

Mr. Belknap Weeks, son of Rufus W. Weeks of Greenland, takes passage in the brig Gypsy Queen from Portland this week, for Matanzas, Cuba, where he is to have charge of a steam engine.

The schooner James M. Riley, Capt. John Ray, which came into port with a heavy list, was righted on Monday in discharging at Sise's wharf. This is Capt. Ray's first trip to this port in command of this fine vessel.

At the adjourned meeting of the members of the High School Association, h[illegible] on Saturday, it was unanimously v[illegible] omit the reunion this year.

The Boston Traveller [illegible] ning said: "Miss N[illegible] quitted herself with [illegible] part of Emelia, at [illegible] Mr. Booth's 'Iago' [illegible] Saturday afternoo[illegible] called upon to [illegible] Vernon."

On Mondy [illegible] was leaving [illegible] considerabl[illegible] from the [illegible] with intent to board the train. On the first attempt he hit the side of a car, and on the second trial was knocked down, fortunately falling clear of the wheels; on making a third essay he was seized by Abraham Shaw Waldron, Esq., one of the city fence viewers, who prevented him from being ground up under the cars.

The ship Chocorua, Locke master, of this port, before reported lost on the voyage from Hong Kong for Iloilo, was wrecked Sept. 29th on a reef half way between Ballingasdy and Balinao. The vessel broke in two amidships, and one man was drowned, the rest landing in almost a nude state, having lost everything.

Most of the employes of the Eastern railroad in this vicinity were at the station telegraph office on Sunday, to set their watches wrong.

The schooner John Bird, which sailed from this port for Baltimore with a cargo of apples about two weeks ago, arrived back at the Concord railroad wharf on Monday with a cargo of coal.

Mr. Daniel M. Lenigan and wife are sojourning at the Tremont house, Chicago, for a brief time, while Mr. Lenigan makes inspection of the breweries in that city.

The schooner Lucy, Capt. "Judd" Randall, arrived in from Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, Monday, with 225 quintals of cured hake, bound for Gloucester, Mass.

The whistling buoy near Boon island ledge has gone from its position. The lighthouse authorities give notice that a new one will be placed there as soon as the weather will permit.

The new chapel of the Middle street Baptist society is fast approaching completion, the finish inside being now put up. In addition to the lecture room is a large ladies' room, library room, class room and kitchen conveniently arranged for use and comfort, and wherein doubtless many pleasant and profitable occasions will be enjoyed.

A train of forty-four heavily loaded freight cars, due here from the eastward at half-past ten o'clock Monday forenoon, passed through this city a few minutes before eleven, drawn by two engines.

Capt. Robert F. Bradford and Comdr. Arthur R. Yates, of this city, left on Monday morning for Boston, where they are serving on the naval court martial organized to try the officer who was in charge of the deck of the U. S. S. Pinta at the time she ran down and sank the brig Tally Ho.

The schooner Myra Sears, brick-laden, arrived from up river on Monday, bringing with her the anchors and chains, sails, running rigging, and other articles from the schooner J. P. Nickerson, which went on the rocks off the Eliot shore while coming down the river on the 9th inst. The saved articles were landed at Commercial wharf.

Richard Walker, inventor and patentee of the first power loom for knitting woollen undergarments, and inventor of several valuable improvements in cotton working machinery, died in Hopedale, Milford, Mass., Nov. 15th, in the 87th year of his age. He was a native of Milton, N. H., and for many years of his middle life was a resident of Dover and Portsmouth, leaving this city in 1853 for Hopedale Community, Milford; for the past seven or eight years he has resided with his son, Charles Walker of Cambridge, Mass. He was made a Mason at the age of twenty-one years, and served as master of Strafford Lodge at Dover; and during the Morgan anti-Masonic excitement he was an earnest and loyal defender of the order.

Don't fail to see the "White" before purchasing a sewing machine.

Medical Inspector C. J. Cleborne, recently ordered on special service, has returned to duty at this navy yard.

The brick schooners Gold Hunter and G. W. Raitt came down to the draw of Portsmouth bridge on Monday afternoon; the Wave, also brick laden, and the Satellite, the latter light and preparing to load with pig iron for Gloucester from the ship Guard, were at the draw awaiting a favorable opportunity. The schooner Hattie Lewis, with a cargo of bricks for Boston, was reported at anchor behind Clark's island, lower harbor.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.
Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open in the bottom, and filled with pieces of bone. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1872, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-eight pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner. J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring Blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Scrofulous Sores, to purify and invigorate Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure disease of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

MANHOOD

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt should read the reputation the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, premature decline of man, sexual infirmity, impotency, diseases of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

230th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

A VANISHING LEGEND.

That to the Effect That Two Boats Cannot be Built to be Just Alike.

"Is it true, when a fast steamer has been brought out, that all attempts to build her equal, even by following the lines of her model, are failures?" was asked of Mr John Roach, the iron shipbuilder.

"The Mary Powell is given as an instance of the kind," said he. "There are other cases where fast boats have been built and other builders have tried to imitate them without success. The length and beam and the various dimensions are obtained, and the frames are laid down on the floor accordingly, but when the boat slides into the water it is found that they have quite a different craft in speed, if not in other particulars. An imitation is never equal to the original. The truth is, the imitation cannot be built on the lines of the original boat. Builders do not tell the secrets of their models to others. They may hang up a pretty model in the office, and label it with the name of the fast boat. It is not the model of the boat, however. If a boat is ordered at one yard, to be exactly like some other one built in that yard, an approximation can be obtained. If the old drawings are on hand they can be transferred to the floor and patterns made from them, and the frames and beams will be made from the patterns. But human skill is not so perfect that it can make a piece of iron, thirty or forty feet long, that will be exactly like a piece that was made a year or two years before. Slight variations will be made in transferring the draft to the floor, in making the patterns, and in bending the frames. When an order is given for two or more steamers to be built at once and exactly alike, the problem is simpler. Within a year we have built six steamers, three from one model and three from another. They are the San Juan, San Jose and San Blas, and the Finance, Advance and Reliance. The Reliance, for instance, will be found to be exactly like each of its sister ships, by any system of measurement that can be devised. There is a difference in the time made between ports by these vessels.

"Handling a ship is a delicate matter as well as building a ship. Some allowance must be made for difference in the skill of navigators and of engineer and firemen. I can build a ship and guarantee any speed required within certain limits, but I must have her handled in my way to attain the contract speed. Some men make a fire two feet thick. Others take a pride in their business, and keep a thin fire that makes steam a half faster with less coal. Some navigators know how to trim their cargo to give their ships the highest speed. But with all those things equal there are differences in ships which are apparently alike. The difference will usually be found very slight. It could be found if looked for.

Mr. A. Perry Bliven, who has modeled a number of fast yachts, was asked if he thought that two ships built on the same lines could have different speeds. He said: "Certainly; but it does not follow that there is any mystery about it. Iron ships can be built to run any desired speed inside the limit, and the limit is growing larger. Many yachts, especially, have been built on the same model that were as far apart in speed as clipper ships and Dutch galleys. The search for the difference did not always reveal it. Apparently slight differences in the set of the sails, in the rake of the masts, in the trim of the ballast, in the weight of the rigging will make all the difference in the world in the speed of a vessel. Some vessels sail on one tack better than on the other. The Maine shipyards are full of such stories. It is well known that engines can be built that are exactly alike. The difference in steamers must therefore be in the hull. If an elaborate series of experiments were made with two vessels built on one model the cause of the difference in speed would be found. The end to be attained is hardly worth the expense. The mystery of the thing is one of the vanishing legends of the forecastle."—New York Sun.

A Cure for Howling Dogs.

Many wearied and wakeful persons find in the howling of dogs by night a persistent, widespread and most annoying form of irritation. The owners of dogs given to spend the hours of darkness in assiduous howling appear generally to regard with a serene personal imperturbability the noisy nuisance which makes night hideous for their neighbors. Nevertheless, those who keep dogs, especially those who do so in popular places, ought to feel bound to take the simple precautions which alone are necessary to prevent a trouble-some form of vexation, which is really a serious source of inconvenience and loss of health to very many people. To the honest bark of a watch-dog giving warning tongue upon suitable occasions no one would object, but the purposeless and unending howling of the chained curs which are especially prevalent in the suburbs of towns is simply intolerable. It is not necessary to exterminate dogs to put an end to the annoyance in question. The nuisance is perfectly preventable by the adoption of a few simple and sensible measures which, so far from injuring the offending animals, tend to give them length of days by conducing to their contentment. Those who have had experience in keeping dogs know that these dogs will not howl at night if they be comfortable. If dogs, instead of being cruelly chained up out of doors, in kennels which are often draughty and damp, be allowed to have their liberty by day, and to lie within the house at night, they will generally sleep through the night in perfect quietness. Or, if it be necessary to keep a dog chained by day, he ought to be left loose at night, when it will be found that he will retire quietly to his kennel and abstain from howling, especially if he be furnished with some fresh hay or a clean mat for a bed. In warm weather dogs often howl simply because they want water. Many dogs howl at night because they are kept constantly chained both by night and by day. This is a common and most reprehensible form of cruelty; dogs so treated are sure to be restless and irritable and can scarcely be healthy.—London Morning Post.

50 Years.

I have known and watched the use of Swift's Specific for over fifty years; and have never known or heard of a failure to cure Blood Poison when properly taken. In all my life I have never known a remedy that would so fully accomplish what it is recommended to do.
H. L. DENNARD, Perry, Ga.

We have sold Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) with most astonishing results. One gentleman who used half a dozen bottles says it has done him more good than anything which cost him $1,000. Another who has used it for a Scrofulous affection reports a permanent cure from its use.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."
Dublin, June 6, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humor in the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

The Sun.

NEW YORK, 1884.

About sixty million copies of THE SUN have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all THE SUNS printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom, sound doctrine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But THE SUN is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty-seven or twenty-eight times.

If every buyer of a copy of THE SUN during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

THE SUN is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear of consequences, which gets at the facts no matter how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape, which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know THE SUN, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in its history. If you do not yet know THE SUN, it is high time to get into the sunshine.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

The several editions of THE SUN are sent by mail, post paid as follows:

The Horse Kicked Him.

The horse is a noble animal, and one of the best friends of man. Yet no man wants even his best friend to kick him in the back. Mr. Libby, of Lowell, Mass., received such a kick from a horse in 1865. Ever since he has been a martyr to spinal sufferings. Perry Davis's Pain Killer has relieved him from a great deal of agony. While he has been using this valuable remedy he has enjoyed his life as he never could have done otherwise. "Accidents will happen." Provide against them by procuring Pain Killer.

YORK DISTRICT LODGE.

The last session of York District Lodge, I. O. G. T., which was held at North Berwick on Nov. 14th, was a very interesting and profitable one. Over 200 delegates and visitors from the different lodges in York district were present, and included many prominent workers in the cause, among whom we noticed Rev. C. H. Munson, F. C. Eaton, C. H. Murphy, S. C. Hamilton, F. C. Davidson, F. H. Dexter, Mrs. E. H. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pember, and Mrs. H. Barstow, general superintendent of Juvenile Temples. The forenoon was given to the reports of various officers, and the appointing of committees, and the afternoon was devoted to reports of the lodges.

According to the district secretary's report, and those of the different lodges, there has been quite an increase in membership and interest, and everything points to a successful campaign during the coming winter and spring. The Juvenile work is rapidly gaining favor in this district; over forty Temples have been instituted during the past three months, and four of these were in this district.

The Prohibition question is the theme of discussion, and the following well known gentlemen have signified their intention to speak on that important subject: Rev. Dr. Miner, Rev. Daniel W. Dodgester, Hon. William P. Frye, Hon. Nelson Dingley, J. H. Drummond, and several others. The lodges are recommended to hold public meetings in their vicinity, with such speakers as they can get around home, and thus keep the ball moving until next September, when the question will be finally decided.

The evening meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. F. C. Bradeen of North Berwick, after which District Templar Frank C. Eaton spoke at some length on the effect of alcoholic drinks upon the system. The choir then sang "In the sweet by-and-by," following which S. C. Hamilton of Saco and Rev. Frederick Pember of Kennebunk made some remarks. Orrin Ross of Kennebunk then sang a song entitled "Punchinello," which was finely rendered; and Mrs. Ella H. Mason of Biddeford, G. W. V. T. of the Grand Lodge of Maine, read "The Drunken Engineer" with such feeling as to bring tears to the eyes of the strongest men, and during the reading the audience remained so quiet that the dropping of a pin could have been distinctly heard. Mrs. Mason was called out the second time by the continued applause, and recited a poem on Temperance. Rev. F. E. Davidson of Biddeford then spoke at some length, and the audience seemed well interested. Mrs. F. L. Durgin of Sanford then made a short but very spicy speech as a word of encouragement to the sisters.

At this time the delegations from Biddeford, Saco and Kennebunk left the hall to take the Pullman train for their homes, after which F. C. Eaton spoke, and introduced Mr. E. W. Adams, Lodge Deputy of Negutaquet Lodge, who made some remarks, which were followed by Bro. F. H. Dexter of Springvale, editor of the Record. The meeting then closed with many thanks to the members of Negutaquet Lodge for the hospitable manner in which the visitors had been entertained. The next session of the district lodge meets with Salus Lodge of Kennebunk, Feb. 13th, 1884.

SUB-ROSA.

Savings Bank Deposits.

The total population of New England, according to the census of 1880, was 4,010,529, and the number of open deposit accounts of the savings banks, in the year 1883, is 1,368,997, which is equal to 34.1 accounts to each 100 of the entire population. The average amount of each account is $331.55, and if the total deposits were divided among the entire population the average sum of $113.17 could be given to each individual. The deposits of savings banks in New York state were $412,147,213, while the population is 5,082,871, showing that an equal distribution of the savings bank deposits among the entire population of the State would give $81.08 to each individual.

A good deal of dust is being raised by the head of the pension office in its efforts to indict, by the aid of Attorney Corkhill, of Gulteau fame, the Washington claim agents. There is likely to be more noise than game in its effort, and the shrewd democratic congressman is more than half inclined to the belief that this great effort to punish the naughty claim agents is to be paraded as an excuse for the badly neglected condition of legitimate claims before the bureau where neither the claimants nor their attorneys have ever been guilty of fraud, but have been compelled to see their cases hung up, by reason of the incompetency or suspicion of the pension examiners having them in charge.

The committee of Maine Central railway directors on the matter of consolidating the Eastern, the Boston & Maine and the Maine Central railroads, held a meeting at Augusta, Me., last Saturday afternoon, and after discussing the subject in all its bearings, voted to send a letter to President Lord of the Boston & Maine, the substance of which is that between now and the annual meetings of the roads in December for the choice of officers, the time is inadequate to consider the scheme of consolidation. This letter of the committee virtually ends the consolidation scheme for the present. The letter was signed by all the members of the committee.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething its value is incalculable It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world Price 25 cents a bottle cotjan3,84

The Record of Last Month's Drawing

Of The Louisiana State Lottery Company, shows a large distribution of prizes. The management was entirely in the hands of Gen'l. G. T. Beauregard and Early. They announce that ticket No. 36,209 (sold in fifths at $1 each) drew the first capital prize of $75,000; one-fifth, or $15,000, was collected by Mrs. M. P. Hayer, of New York city; another fifth, or $15,000, by Mrs. Thos. Matterface, alike of New York city; also amount others. Ticket No. 74,421 drew the second capital prize of $25,000, and was sold in fifths; one to H. C. Richardson, collected through J. H. Dick & Co., Bankers of Meadville, Pa.; one to Mrs. L. Woolery, of Philadelphia, Pa.; one to Mr. M. C. Mitchell, a well-known stove dealer, No. 3,106 "M" st., N. W., Washington, D. C., etc., etc. Ticket No. 59,109 drew the third capital prize of $10,000, sold in fifths one to Mr. E. M. Fisk, Hopkinsville, Ky.; one to Wm. Lowery, No. 24 W. Madison st., Chicago, Ill.; one to Mr. J. J. Medley, of Washington, D. C. N. s. 35,952 and 52,442 each drew the fourth capital prizes of $5,000, and sold in fifths—as were all the lt. h. prizes—and scattered in all directions. Among others: Mr. Wm. H. Ford, of No. 2,46 Dryades st., and J. G. Turner, Common and Baronne sts., New Orleans, La. The next Grand Semi-Annual Drawing takes place Tuesday, December 11th 1883, when prizes from $150,000 to $5 will be distributed. Any information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., how the half million dollars cost ever will be equitably divided.

MEDICAL.

HEREDITARY SCROFULA.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—* * * My youngest son has always been troubled with Scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would fester and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1878, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. His appetite improved at once. * * * The back of his ear healed up without a scar, and not a sore is in his head since. Sincerely yours,
MRS. N. C. SANBORN,
No. 108 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. Hood & Co., (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.
THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 23 Court street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office, to Mr. JOSHUA CRANE, a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.
In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the voting register will be closed on the fourth day of December, 1883, between which time and the Annual Meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, 883, no registration will be made. For order of the Directors.

GOSSIPS SAY

That Ex-Sheriff Rowe has moved to Dearborn lane, Christian shore, where he will engage extensively in poultry raising.

That Mr. Rowe is having a steam incubator built, and will raise chickens by this scientific process for the market.

The the clock on the North meeting-house should be provided with illuminated dials, two of which to keep in line with the "march of improvement" should be divided into twenty-four equal parts and numbered from one to twenty-four.

That the assembly in Congress hall on Tuesday evening was the best that has been given in this city this season.

That the young people of the Methodist society will hold a basket party in the vestry on Daniel street next Friday evening.

That Representative Mitchell and his wife, of ward one, will celebrate their silver wedding this evening.

"YOUNG MRS. WINTHROP."

Bronson Howard's delightful play of "Young Mrs. Winthrop" will be presented in Music hall next Friday evening by the Madison Square Theatre company of New York, with the following brilliant cast:

Douglas Winthrop	Walter Eytinge
Constance	Carrie Wyatt
Mrs. Dick Chetwyn	Blanche Weaver
Ruth Winthrop	Ida Waterman
Edith	Lillie Brush
Herbert	Percy Sage
Buxton Scott	Joseph Francaeur
John	George Higgins

The play will be handsomely mounted as the company carry their own scenery. "Young Mrs. Winthrop" will be warmly greeted here.

THE NAVY SURRENDERS.

It was lucky that we rejoiced on Monday over the navy's defiance of the railroads, as exemplified in the refusal of the Portsmouth navy yard to falsify the time in obedience to the orders of the railroad authorities—because if we had not rejoiced then we should not have rejoiced at all. On Tuesday the navy surrendered, just as the army, the post office and treasury departments, and the cities, had previously done; and the navy yard clocks and time-tables were ordered to be fixed in conformity to "railroad" time. The navy might as well have surrendered in the first place, without making an undignified and futile show of resistance. To be sure this "standard" or bogus time is the biggest humbug of the age, but the railroads are omnipotent, and when they directed the time of the country to be kept by a railroad "standard" instead of by the sun, there was nothing for the people to do but to obey. "Time and tide" may "wait for no man," but the time and tide, and the rising and setting of the sun and moon, have got to wait the pleasure of the railroads.

THE KITTERY MURDER.

Up to Tuesday night no arrests had been made in connection with the murder of Thomas Barrows of Kittery, though we are informed that a woman and two men are being carefully shadowed. Before summoning a jury, Coroner Nealley discovered where the cartridges with which Barrows was shot were probably bought, but the place where the pistol was purchased has not been located. Nothing of special importance has been developed since the inquest, so far as the public have been informed.

ACTIVE OLD LADIES.

Mrs. Dorcas Caswell of Rye was ninety years old on the 19th inst. She was brought to Portsmouth on the occasion of her birthday by her son, Thomas Green, Esq., father of Ex-Alderman Green of ward four in this city. On the 20th the old lady went shopping through the city, and visiting her acquaintances, by herself. She came of Revolutionary stock, and speaks confidently of her ability to yet walk from Greenland to Portsmouth without fatigue. Last year, when returning home by the railroad, getting weary of waiting at the Greenland station for her friends she started to walk to Rye, and had gone more than a mile when she was met by a carriage that had been sent for her. She is yet able to take care of herself, as she has always been accustomed to do, but seems willing now to stay with her relatives. Her ancestors very generally lived to the neighborhood of a hundred years.

Mrs. Jenness of Rye, mother of David Jenness, Esq., was ninety years old in June last, and is still in good health and spirits. Mr. David Jenness has long been town treasurer of Rye, up to this year, when he declined serving further.

The sale of tickets for "Young Mrs. Winthrop" commenced at Goodrich's on Tuesday morning, and from the number taken before night we may be sure that few choice seats will be procurable on the evening of the entertainment. Secure chairs to-day, if you would be certain of them.

The Irish humorist, Dan Maguinnis, was very happy Monday evening in portraying the peculiarities of the jolly Irish peasant—such as he may be supposed to have been a hundred years ago, in his own country. Dan gave great pleasure to his audience, especially to the crowded gallery, which was keenly alive to every humorous word or gesture. We think of no one now upon the stage who sings Irish songs with more genuine pathos than Dan Maguinnis.

The brick schooners G. W. Raitt, Gold Hunter, Wave and Myra Sears sailed for Boston on Tuesday, and the L. R. French arrived from Boston the same day.

The church edifice of the third Congregational society of Biddeford, known as the Pavilion, was burned Sunday afternoon. The fire originated near the furnace. This church was erected twenty years ago at a cost of about $40,000, and was the most substantial and imposing edifice in the city. The loss is about $15,000; insurance $12,000.

"Poems for Children, by Celia Thaxter, with illustrations by Miss A. G. Plympton." Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; sold by M. Goodrich, price $1.50.

This is one of the choicest of the very many new books for children which are now being published, though it is by no means the children alone who will enjoy these three score of poems, so full of cheery out-of-door life, redolent with flowers, enlivened with serene skies, and musical with the notes of birds. In these poems Mrs. Thaxter shows us the bright and happy side of life bestowed by a bounteous nature. It is in keeping with her cheerful and happy strain when she sings in the old saw—

"And if pain must meet you, why all the more
Be glad of the rapture that came before."

As the traveller on the Boston, Concord & Montreal railroad passes through the town of Tilton his sight is attracted by an object high up on a hill which reminds him of a sight abroad. It will be found to be an arch built of New Hampshire granite after the manner of the arch of Titus at Rome, though in what proportion a hasty view from the rapidly passing car could hardly enable one to conjecture, any more than he can form an opinion as to the motive which caused the liberal Tiltonite to erect this duplicate of the Eternal City's arch unless it was to exemplify the Roman firmness of the democracy of that region.

—A gentleman who sent a poem to an editor said in a note: "I hope you will do me the kindness of excusing the errors in my manuscript." The editor replied: "I have excused all the errors. In fact, I have excused the entire poem."

—"Alice," said Mrs. Petulia, in a subdued tone, to her little girl one evening at supper, "you must eat bread with your jam." "But, mamma," persisted Alice, "it's plenty good enough without bread."

The Dover Republican "sees" the railroads in their game of bluff concerning the time, and goes them one better; it puts last Monday back to be November 18th.

Mr. E. M. Hawes, a fireman on the Eastern railroad, has moved his family from Great Falls to this city, and will reside here in the future.

The gondola Alice, with coal for Exeter, was towed up the river from Appledore wharf on Tuesday by the tug Three Brothers, and the scow G. W. Avery was towed to Dover from Walker's wharf by the tug Ann, with coal for C. H. Trickey & Co.

Mr. Charles C. Guppy, formerly of this city, is now located at Gonzales, Texas, as we learn from a paragraph in the Enquirer of that town giving an account of a lecture delivered by Mr. Guppy before a teachers' institute, on the educational systems of the country.

The Dover Republican says that last Saturday the workmen at the new Boston & Maine railroad bridge over the Cocheco river drove a forty-six-foot pile down forty-four feet, and left it; then they began on another forty-six-foot pile, and when it was down about twenty feet the first one began to come up, and every stroke on number two made number one come up, so that when the second one was down in the earth forty-three feet the first one was about twenty-six feet out of the ground.

Andrew Campbell of Dorchester, Mass., twenty-seven years old, boarded an Eastern railroad train at the central station in Lynn at eight o'clock Monday morning, to go to Boston. Soon after leaving the station he learned that the train was going over Saugus branch, and jumped off, landing in such a manner that he was struck by a train coming from Boston, which he had not seen, and which knocked him against a brick building beside the track. He was taken up insensible, and carried to the hospital, seriously if not fatally injured.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold miseries, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of

Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

AYER'S PILLS are sugar-coated and purely vegetable—a pleasant, entirely safe, and reliable medicine for the cure of all disorders of the stomach and bowels. They are the best of all purgatives for family use.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those heretofore on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED,

Knew no: what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a cur c. In the summer of 18 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twelve pounds to one hundred and forty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel like a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify the Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have sold hundreds of dollars worth of medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample sent free, sealed.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Am. Eagle.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Positive Cure for Piles.

To the people of this County we would say we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchisi's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to Cure or money refunded—internal, external, blind, bleeding or itching piles. Price 50c. a Box. No cure, no pay. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

The compositors on the Boston Post struck Monday night for an increase of pay to forty cents a thousands ems, from thirty-five cents, and also demanded the discharge of the foreman, A. C. Cohick. Both demands were refused, and about twenty-five of the compositors left.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla thoroughly cleanses the blood, stimulates the vital functions, and restores the health and strength. No one whose blood is impure can feel well. There is a weary, languid feeling, and often a sense of discouragement and despondency. Persons having this feeling should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify and vitalize the blood.

At a meeting of the executive council of Massachusetts, Monday, the nomination of George L. Ruffin, the well known colored lawyer, as justice of the Charlestown district court, was confirmed, and Judge Ruffin will enter at once upon the duties of the office. The salary is $1800 a year.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

The Wonderful Gopher.

Four business men sat in a Third avenue car on their way down town. Looking up from his newspaper one of them said:

"Here's an item that says gopher holes make horseback riding dangerous on the plains. Now, I'd like to know what a gopher is, anyway," looking around inquiringly.

"A gopher is a striped squirrel," said a tall man in a tone of quiet assurance.

"You're mistaken, sir," said his neighbor. "A gopher is a land turtle, that burrows."

"I shall have to differ from you gentlemen," interposed the fourth man. "A gopher is neither a striped squirrel nor a turtle. It is a kind of rat."

A man on the opposite seat who had listened to the conversation with evident interest, said:

"Excuse me, gentlemen, but you are all mistaken. A gopher is a snake. I've killed lots of 'em, and I know what I'm talking about."

"Are you willing to back up your opinion?" asked the gopher-squirrel man, taking a roll of bills from his pocket.

"Certainly, sir. Here's $5 that say's a gopher is a snake."

The money was put into the hands of the gentleman who started the discussion. He accepted it under protest, saying that he was positive that a gopher was a gray burrowing squirrel. He had often seen them. A heated discussion followed, in which the words gopher, snake, squirrel, rat and turtle figured prominently. The money in the stakeholder's hands now amounted to $25. It was agreed that Webster should settle the dispute. The gentlemen alighted from the car, went into a hotel, and a copy of the "Unabridged" was procured.

"Gol-gop-p-p-gopher — here it is," said the stakeholder, as he ran his fingers down the page:

"Gopher—An animal of several different species. The name was originally given by French settlers to many burrowing animals from their honey-combing the earth. In Canada and Illinois the name was given to a gray burrowing squirrel, west of the Mississippi and in Wisconsin to a striped squirrel. In Missouri, a common species is a pouched rat of a reddish or chestnut-brown color, with broad, mole-like fore feet. In Georgia a snake is called by the same name, and in Florida a turtle.

As the stakeholder refunded the money, he said: "Gentlemen, it appears that we are all right and all wrong. But we have at least learned something."—New York Sun.

Something Was Done.

In the last days of the war, a citizen of Indiana made his way to Boston and had an interview with a former acquaintance, who had left his Hoosier home for the "Hub" and got rich.

"Daniel, the war is coming to a close and I haven't made a dollar out of it."

"Is that possible? Didn't you have any scrub hogs or lean cattle to sell?"

"No."

"No baled hay for the army?"

"Not a pound."

"Can't you get a contract for supplying the army with something or other?"

"I don't think so."

"Got a farm, haven't you?"

"Yes, but it's almost all lake."

"Lake? Hurrah! you've saved! Never mind any army contracts! Come with me to a map publisher, and before twenty-four hours have passed we shall have organized the 'Great Inland Navigation Company,' elected you as president, and I will have the stock on the market! All we want is a map of the lake and a cut of a steamboat going fourteen miles an hour! Saved—saved—where's my hat?"—Wall Street News.

France has had to seek some allies. The only existing powers which can do without other assistance are the United States and Great Britain. These two powers are great; the first because of its isolation and inherent strength; the latter because of the growth of centuries of more or less rapid increment.

Why the Tailor Hadn't the Coat Done.

The most patient tailor in the world lives in Springfield, Mass. The most tempestuous customer, storming in with "My breeches, sir!" "Sir," has never been known to ruffle the smiling surface of this tailor's even temper, or to make him miss a stitch on another customer's breeches. A touchy customer had been promised his coat by Saturday night. "Now, sure, Mr. Shears!" "Yes, sir, you shall have it Saturday night if the devil stands at the gate." Mr. Brown's hurry, as is often the case, was only a mock affair, and he didn't get around again till Monday. The coat was not done. "But how is this, sir; don't you recollect you said it should be done Saturday night even if the devil stood at the gate?" "So I did, so I did," was the smiling response, "but, Mr. Brown, the devil didn't stand there."

Myatt Kya, the youth from Burmah who has been educated at Ann Arbor, will take a steel plow home with him to astonish the natives.

W. C. Prescott, of London, has sent a letter to this country asking for a piece of timber from Washington's house at Mount Vernon with which to make a frame for a picture of the first President. The superintendent of the old homestead will send him a fence rail with the kind suggestion that he may imagine the wood is from the house itself.

A French paper gives a description of a method of pile-driving which has been successfully adopted in making the foundations for the Palais de Justice, at Brunswick. Instead of the ordinary pile driver, a simple framework is erected to hold the pile in position. Attached to each pile by staples are two tubes of about two inches in diameter. These are carried to the pointed end of the pile, where they terminate and turn inward toward one another. Their upper ends are in communication by flexible pipes with the city water-main. When the water is turned on it rapidly excavates a hole, in which the pile sinks by it own weight; but should any unusual resistance be met with, weights are fastened to the top of the pile. By these means and under favorable circumstances a twelve inch pile can be sunk to a depth of fifteen feet in ten minutes. Each pile requires, on an average, 200 gallons of water.—London Graphic.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I Could not move!

I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

ST. NICHOLAS,

EDITED BY MRS. MARY MAPES DODGE.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the average of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally new periodical, and really attractive magazine is required for them, and ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for this service wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by ST. NICHOLAS was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which that magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge,
Captain Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen,
Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton,
Charles Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller,
Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney,

JOHN P. SWEETSER,

No. 46 Market Street.

To the Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham.

RESPECTFULLY represents Jane M. Vandewalker, of Kalamazoo, in the state of Michigan, that Susan S. M. StClair late of Washington, in the District of Columbia, has lately deceased, intestate, having, at the time of her death, Estate in said County of Rockingham; that the said Jane M. Vandewalker is Guardian of Charles M. Stephens, a minor and heir at law of said Susan S. M. StClair.

WHEREFORE she prays that Administration thereof be granted to John S. H. Frink, of Greenland, in said County, accordingly.

Dated the 13th day of November, A. D. 1883.

JANE M. VANDEWALKER.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.—Probate Court at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of November, A. D. 1883.

UPON the foregoing petition it is Ordered that a hearing be had thereon at a Court of Probate to be holden at Exeter in said County, on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of December next, at ten o'clock A. M.; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned or interested thereto to appear at said Court, and show cause if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

Nov. 20, 27, Dec. 3d.

Daily Chronicle.

Worth, of Paris, has decided in favor of hoops, but they come in use slowly. In this country everybody has decided that Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is the best remedy for coughs and colds, and it's coming fast into general use.

The prisoners in the jail at Marshall, Mo., set the the jail on fire and then cried for help. The jail was broken open and six of the prisoners escaped.

"I buy Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills and introduce them wherever I go. Personal knowledge and experience of their effects on others prompts this act." Rev. J. P. Fugett, Rector St. Lukes Ch., Myersburg, Pa. 50 cts. at druggists.

Daniel Wilkinson, the alleged murderer of the Bath, Me., policeman, made an attempt to break jail Friday night, the 16th inst., but was frustrated by a timely discovery by Sheriff Stevens, who is jailer and turnkey.

WINSTON, FORSYTH CO., N. C.

Gents—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the First Methodist Church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great virtues of your bitters.

Very respectfully,

REV. H. FEREBEE.

Says the Providence Journal: "The Boston city government has fallen into such disrepute that the members can have no more credit for refreshments at Mr. Young's tavern. Such a prohibition would cause very little official embarrassment in New York, where each member of the board of aldermen is in the saloon business."

Daughters, Wives, and Mothers.

We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchisi's Catholicon a Female Remedy, to cure Female diseases, such as ovarian troubles, inflamation and ulceration, falling and displacement or bearing down feeling. Irregularities and barrenness, change of life, leucorrhœa, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like headache, bloating, spinal weakness, sleeplessness, nervous debility, palpitation of the heart, &c. For sale by druggists. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N. Y., for Pamphlet, free. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

"Billy" Porter has been acquitted of the murder of John Walsh in New York. Walsh and another thief named Irving killed each other in "Shang" Draper's den.

A GOOD INVESTMENT. — One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested." C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass

Miss A. C. Partridge, a Boston milliner in whose bustle when she landed from a European steamer was found $45 worth of lace, informed the court in New York that it was none of the government's business what ladies stuffed their bustles with; some used paper, others hair; she used lace, from choice.

Hale's Honey of Horehound and Tar for coughs and colds has reached the pinnacle of fame.

Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.

For chills, fever, ague and weakness, Colden's Liquid Beef Tonic. Colden's; no other. Of druggists.

The new gas well of Haymaker Brothers, in Westmoreland county, Penn., which was opened on Friday last, was lighted on Saturday. The flame shot upwards 150 feet, and illumines the country for miles. Its roar is terrific, and can be heard for three miles. By its intense action houses are shaken within a radius of a mile. This well is pronounced by experts to be the largest ever developed.

The best tonic medicine—one that is not composed mostly of alcohol or whiskey—is Brown's Iron Bitters. It is guaranteed to be non-intoxicating and will absolutely kill all desire for whiskey and other intoxicants. It has been thoroughly tested and proven itself in every instance a never failing cure for dyspepsia, indigestion, billiousness, weakness, debility, overwork, rheumatism, neuralgia, consumptive disease, liver complaints, kidney troubles, etc.

THE CENTURY

PROGRAMME for 1883-'84.

THE programme for the fourteenth year of this magazine, and the third under the new name, is if anything more interesting and popular than ever. With every season THE CENTURY shows a decided gain in circulation. The new volume begins with November, and, when possible, subscriptions should begin with that issue. The following are some of the features of the coming year:

A New Novel by George W. Cable, author of "Old Creole Days," etc., entitled "Dr. Sevier," a story of New Orleans life, the time being the eve of the late Civil War.

"Life in the Thirteen Colonies," by EDWARD EGGLESTON, separate illustrated papers on subjects connected with the early history of this country.

Three Stories by Henry James, of varying lengths, to appear through the year.

The New Astronomy, untechnical articles, by Prof. S. P. LANGLEY, describing the most interesting of recent discoveries in the sun and stars.

A Novelette by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," etc. A vivid and sparkling story.

A New Era in American Architecture, a series of papers descriptive of the best work of American architects in Public Buildings, City and Country Houses, etc. To be profusely illustrated.

A Novelette by Robert Grant, author of "Confessions of a Frivolous Girl," etc., entitled "An Average Man,"—a story of New York.

The Bread-winners, one of the most remarkable novels of the day, to be completed in January.

"Christianity and Wealth," with other essays, by the author of "The Christian League of Connecticut," etc., on the application of Christian morals to the present phases of modern life.

Cruising About the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a series of entertaining articles, profusely illustrated.

Scenes from the Novelists, HAWTHORNE, GEORGE ELIOT, and CABLE, with authentic drawings.

On the Track of Ulysses, the record of a yacht-cruise in the Mediterranean, indentifying the route of Ulysses on his return from the Trojan war.

"Garfield in England," extracts from his private journal kept during a trip to Europe in 1867.

"The Silverado Squatters," by ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, author of "New Arabian Nights."

There will be papers on outdoor England by JOHN BURROUGHS and others, a beautifully illustrated series on Dante, a number of papers by the eminent French novelist ALPHONSE DAUDET, articles on art and archæology by CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER and others, illustrated papers on sport and adventure, short stories by the leading writers, essays on timely subjects, etc., etc.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year; single numbers sold everywhere, at 35 cents each. All dealers receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers by postal or express order, registered letter, bank check, or draft.

SPECIAL OFFERS.

To enable new subscribers to begin with the first volume under THE CENTURY name, we make the following special offers:

New subscribers beginning with November, 1883, may obtain the magazine for one year from date, and the twenty-four previous numbers, unbound, for $8.00. Regular price for the three years, $12.00.

Or, if preferred, a subscription and the twenty-four numbers unbound for four elegant volumes will be furnished for $10. Regular price, $16.

The Horse Kicked Him.

The horse is a noble animal, and one of the best friends of man. Yet no man wants even his best friend to kick him in the back. Mr. Libby, of Lowell, Mass., received such a kick from a horse in 1865. Ever since he has been a martyr to spinal suffering. Perry Davis's Pain Killer has relieved him from a great deal of agony. While he has been using this valuable remedy he has enjoyed his life as he never could have done otherwise. "Accidents will happen." Provide against them by procuring Pain Killer.

"Standard" Time Not Legal.

In Boston, Nov. 13th, a notice for the examination of a poor debtor was issued from the office of the commissioner of insolvency, returnable November 20th, at nine o'clock in the forenoon. According to custom in such cases a poor debtor is allowed one hour grace. The poor debtor appeared before the commissioner about 9:48 o'clock, according to the humbug "standard time" now in use. The commissioner ruled it was after ten o'clock, and defaulted the poor debtor. The case will probably be taken before the supreme court by means of a bill in equity. This is the first legal complication owing to the adoption of the standard time, but it will not be the last, by thousands.

For the Free Traders.

A letter has just been published in a London paper from a prominent iron master of Sheffield, England, which gives a somewhat gloomy outlook for the iron industry throughout Great Britain. He says the English and Scotch producers have for a long time had to face a keen competition from Germany, and now that a strike is imminent among the coal miners of Yorkshire, it is probable that an increase in the cost of fuel is soon to be added to the difficulties. The only escape from the danger of over production on a falling market is through the shutting down of many of the works, and the wholesale discharge of workmen.

The above furnishes food for thought on the part of the free traders in this country, who have been loudly asserting that the recent shutting down of iron works in the United States was due to "our faulty tariff." Great Britain has free trade, while Germany believes in protection.

THE BEAUTIFUL AMERICAN.

A Mixture of Many Nationalities, She is the Most Charming of All.

In Paris, more than in New York or any other great city, there is a decided fashion in beauty as well as dress, which changes as regular as do the seasons, and which sometimes takes very queer and curious freaks. For instance, last spring the type of beauty that was all the style was what was termed the "Daniel Gabriel Rossetti style." This type of beauty is assuredly one of the most peculiar known. It was originated by the Princess de Sagan, who is a great leader of fashion in Paris, and who appeared in her box at the opera one evening gotten up in the wonderfully striking "Daniel Gabriel Rossetti style." The most noticeable feature of this style of beauty is the hair, which is dyed green, and arranged in a pyramid fashion on the top of the head. Strange to say, the green hair, though of course looking unnatural, is very pretty and odd. It is dyed the most delicate and lovely shade of green known, namely, Nile-green. The complexion that goes with this hair must be like a soft, slightly-blushing peach, all cream and white. The eyes are black or brown, the lips their natural color, and the eyebrows dyed to match the hair. Floating gowns, white in color, and composed of airy, fairy tulle, or faille, are always worn with this type of beauty. Every woman in Paris had the mania for appearing like a "Daniel Gabriel Rossetti beauty" for a while, but at present in Paris, which by the way Victor Hugo calls the "center of civilization," green hair reigns no more, and Dame Fashion dictates that her daughters shall now appear in as many different styles of beauty as possible, believing, no doubt, that "variety is the spice of life."

In New York, for the past two seasons, there has been great rivalry between the lovely blonde and darling brunette beauties. The war still wages furiously, and it is hard to tell at the present moment which is to come out victorious, and whether blonde beauties or their darker sisters will lead fashions this winter, and which will be the more popular. We do not often see in one metropolis as many real blondes and as many true brunettes as we have in New York. A real blonde has light hair with streaks of gold through it, eyes that look like wild violets, complexion rare and white, with a delicate flush on the cheek, and light eyebrows the color of the hair. True blondes never have dark eyebrows.

If a woman has all the above requirements that go to make up a blonde, and dark or black eyebrows, her beauty comes under another type known as the "Van Dyke blonde," of which Lady Mandeville is one of the most striking examples we have ever seen. Her hair is a wonderful yellow, her complexion fair as a lily, and her eyes black as sloes, with eyebrows to match. The "Van Dyke blonde" is a type of beauty not often seen. It is considered by far the more distinguished type.

Although almost everybody knows what is requisite to be a true brunette, there are a few who are not even yet educated up to it, and who call a woman who has dark, clear skin, "cheeks like roses and lips like the cherry," hair purplish black, and dark gray eyes, a brunette. No woman is a true brunette who has not very brown or very black eyes.

What is known as the "Irish type" of beauty is one of the loveliest. No eye is so blue, so large, so expressive or so heavily fringed as that of the possessor of this type; no hair is so glossy and dark and heavy; no complexion so rosy and healthful, and to people in general this type is the most bewitching and fascinating.

A type of beauty that has had its day, but of which we see representatives occasionally, is what is known as the "strawberry blondes." Brick-red hair, blue eyes and fair, pink complexions are the accompaniments of this type. The "yellow blonde" is another type which is rapidly going out of fashion, and "yellow blondes" are seldom seen now except on the stage. Fanny Davenport is an example of this type.

The daughters of Spain and Italy are the best examples of the brunette type of beauty; those of England and Germany of the blonde type; those of Southern Ireland of the Irish type, and those of Greece of the Van Dyke type.

Here in America we have a mixture of all types, as we have a mixture of all nations. The true American type of beauty, however, is neither of the blonde nor brunette, Van Dyke nor Irish, Daniel Gabriel Rossetti, strawberry or yellow blonde types. The true American beauty has hair soft and brown, eyes of gray and blue, complexion rather white, clear and devoid of rich color, and features not by any means a regular as those of the other types of beauty, but possessing far more expression.—Cor. N. Y. Journal.

Where We Should Put Woman's Head.

It is curious that the postoffice officials have never conceived the idea of utilizing the likeness of some of the fair citizens of the republic. Why, for instance, should not a certain proportion of the two-cent stamps be given to Martha Washington? Why exclude Mrs. Franklin from all participation in the postal honors of her illustrious husband? Then, there is Miss Susan B. Anthony, who has raised the banner of woman suffrage in every state in the Union. Why not put her charming countenance on one of the post-office stamp issues? Queen Victoria is, we believe, the only woman in the world whose portrait is honored by the managers of the mail.—New York Journal.

A man in Louisiana has a horned horse. The animal is in all respects a well-formed two-year-old colt, without the slightest peculiarity with the exceptions of his horns, which are about 15 inches long, protruding from either side of its forehead, about two inches above the eyes, and curving back beautifully like a Rocky Mountain goat. It is to be sold to a showman.

At an academy ball masque, the other night, a jolly French girl said to her partner: "You like to waltz, monsieur?" "I adore it." "Then why did you never learn?"

Democratic "Reform.

It is stated the proprietors of Young's hotel, Boston, have issued orders not to give further credit to members of the present city government for refreshments. This action is the result of a flagrant abuse of the privilege allowed the members of the city council under certain conditions. A bill of $369, over which there has been a dispute involving charges of fraud on the part of members of the council, has been returned by the hotel proprietors as a present to the city, with the understanding, however, that no more city patronage will be received during the present administration.

Reviewing the menhaden fishery, the News of Fall River, Mass., says: "The season's catch and the abundance of the fish have effectually silenced the croakers of last year, when, owing to the scarcity of menhaden, it was said that the fishermen were exterminating them. The fish have not been so fat as they were a year ago, and the increase of oil has not been proportional to the increased catch as compared with last year. As a rule, fish running in large schools are not as fat as when in the small schools of 'off' years."

HEREDITARY SCROFULA.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—* * * My youngest son has always been troubled with Scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would foster and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1878, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. His appetite improved at once. * * The back of his ear healed up without a scar, and not a sore in his head since. Sincerely yours,

MRS. N. C. SANBORN,
No. 108 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. C. I. Hood & Co. (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

JAMES B. PRAY.

The funeral of the late James B. Pray, who died on the 17th inst, at the age of eighty-one years, took place on the 20th from his late residence on Cabot street, under the management of Piscataqua Lodge of Odd Fellows. To many of the voters of this city, Mr. Pray has been a familiar object every election day ever since they arrived at the voting age. The first time we ever attended a political caucus,—at which we were only a spectator, it being in the old whig days before we had a right to vote,—we saw Mr. Pray there, actively working for the nomination of the candidates he preferred; and since that time the ballots we have deposited on election days have with few exceptions been taken from his hands. For the following brief sketch we are indebted to a friend who was acquainted with Mr. Pray years before we were:

I have known the subject of this sketch for more than fifty years. My first recollection of him was in his attendance at a political meeting at my father's house during the presidential term of John Q. Adams. He was then a young man, but with fixed political principles. He was an ardent supporter of Mr. Adams, and of course a vehement opposer of the men who undertook to--and who did—overthrow his administration. He opposed Jacksonism to the extent of his ability, and though in the minority in national, state and local politics for many years, he never changed from his opposition. His course, however, was always open and manly. No one ever expected him to yield one jot to the noise and clamor of his opponents. Changing as new issues arose, and as parties changed, he was always counted on to oppose democracy. For a half century or more he gave town-meeting day to his country, always standing near the polls and distributing votes through the day. The busy man who had only time to deposit his vote always knew that he could depend upon the ballot given him by Mr. Pray, as being the Simon-pure article. No split or scratch was ever tolerated by him. For while he had his choice before and at the caucus, and urged it boldly, the "regular ticket" always received his support.

Mr. Pray was a joiner by trade. He was a very nice, finished workman. He took great pride in doing a good piece of work. He was better satisfied with his work well done, than he would have been with a poor but profitable job. He was too conscientious to be a very successful man, as the world considers success, but his employers knew that their jobs would be properly performed, and he had their confidence and respect.

In his religious belief, he was a Universalist. He adopted this faith with his whole heart. He believed it and lived up to it. He was a supporter of the society of that order, and a constant attendant at its services.

I am not aware that Mr. Pray ever filled any office. It was not to his taste. He had no aspirations. His days were fully occupied with his business, and his leisure he largely spent at home. But he always had a large interest in local affairs. His influence he meant to be good. He was a useful man and a good citizen. It would be well for the community were there more like him. E.

PORTSMOUTH BREWING CO.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Portsmouth Brewing Co., held at the company's office in this city on the 21st inst., the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing year:

John F. Callahan, Boston, president;
George Scott, vice president;
John Conlon, treasurer;
Herman A. Tarlton, proprietors' clerk.

The board of directors elected is as follows: Arthur Harris, New York; John F. Callahan, Boston; P. Harrington, Manchester, N. H.; T. J. Twigg, Portland, Me.; George Scott, John Conlon, Mark A. Scott, Portsmouth.

JUSTIN D. FRENCH.

The funeral services of the late Justin D. French were held on the afternoon of the 21st inst., at the residence of his parents on Court street, Rev. Henry E. Hovey, rector of St. John's church, officiating. The attendance was very large, an unusual proportion of the company being young men, with whom the deceased was deservedly a favorite; for those near his own age to know him was to like him, and friendships once gained he had the happy faculty of retaining. Flowers in profusion, wrought into beautiful and appropriate emblems, were contributed by his business associates, his special circle of friends, and others; and the bearers were all selected from among his young companions. The remains were interred in Harmony Grove cemetery.

THE NEW YORK MAILS.

We begin to have doubts concerning the efficacy of civil service "reform." Ever since it has come to be regarded as a fixed fact that postal clerks have a lifelong position, the service has unmistakably degenerated. Once our New York exchanges were received at our post-office at half-past five o'clock P. M., daily. Now about once in a week they take a trip to Bangor or Brunswick, or some remote eastern region, coming back to us the next day or night, tired, exhausted and devoid of interest. We complain to the New England Supt. of Postal Service, but he seems powerless. We confer with our New York publisher friends, and the only return is a telegraphic despatch with the somewhat trite but comprehensive statement that "the republican party must go." We attribute it to the fact that the postal clerks, feeling that if ever Butler should become president they are sure to remain in office, have become careless, and oblivious to the importance of giving our New York publishing friends an equal chance with the Boston press. What makes the annoyance more aggravating is the fact that papers from New York subscribed for through Moses Brothers' news agency are promptly delivered, while the mails are constantly at fault.

On Wednesday afternoon of this week two boys, named John Smart and Daniel Chapman, the former ten and the latter eleven years old, got into a fight on Water street, and Chapman stabbed Smart in the left side, just below the lower rib, and cut him on the left cheek, with a jackknife. Dr. Parsons was called to attend the wounded boy, but could not at once tell the precise extent of his injuries. The Chapman boy was arrested by Asst. Marshal White, and locked up.

The Juniata arrived at Canton, China, Oct. 6th, and is said to be the largest man-of-war that ever anchored off that city. All was quiet there.

The naval court of inquiry appointed to investigate the circumstances attending the collision between the U. S. S. Powhatan and the mercant vessel Druid off the coast of New England, several weeks ago, has made its report to the secretary of the navy, who has decided to order a court martial for the trial of Captain Andrew W. Johnson, commanding the Powhatan, and Lieutenant Charles Stone, the officer of the deck of that vessel at the time of the collision, on charges of negligence and inefficiency.

The proposals for the purchase of condemned United States vessels at Mare island, Cal., were opened at the navy department in Washington on the 20th inst., the appraised values and highest bids being as follows: Alaska, appraised value $18,300, highest bid $25,050; Tuscarora, appraised value $9,900, highest bid $12,330; Monadnock, appraised value $11,200, highest bid $15,100; Narragansett, appraised value $8,900, highest bid $11,050; Saco, appraised value $5,600, highest bid $6,850; Nyack, appraised value $4,900, highest bid $6,050. Wm. E. Mighell of San Francisco was the highest bidder in every case. For the Benecia, appraised at $17,600, no bids were received.

"Beyond the Gates," by Elizabeth Stewart Phelps. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $1.25.

The peculiar interest evinced by the general reading of Miss Phelps' "Gates Ajar" has caused her succeeding volumes to be read eagerly as they have appeared. To the many who have waited and hoped that this gifted writer would afford them a brighter vision of the future life of which in her early volume she afforded but a glimpse, there is now a gratified hope.

The subject of the book is indicated by its title. It is a story of the unseen world, of its possible activities, illuminations and experiences, foreseen with the vision of reverence and hopeful discrimination. It at once commends itself to the faith and aspirations of those who have met with bereavement, and who seek to know and to realize the life into which their departed friends have entered.

An elopement in high life is the sensation of the hour at Springfield, Ohio. The wife of Harry McClintock, a leading business man, is the important personage in the escapade. On Friday night McClintock came home to supper, and found his wife gone and the house deserted. On a table in the parlor he found a note from his wife explaining that she had left for parts unknown with another man whom she loved "better than life itself."

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly full of the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a cur e. In the summer of 18?? after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after five years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption, now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner. J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring blotches, Itching Eruptions, Scaly Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES,

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 35c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from failure in early life may be thoroughly treated of in the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Extensive relative, secret and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be recovered from by the wonderful remedies. 250th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of scientific and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Address

Hash Called Up by a Locomotive Bell.

On one of the Northern trains recently was an old lady who evidently had never before made a railway journey. After looking about her some time in curiosity, her eyes alighted on the bell line and she asked the water boy, who happened to be passing at the time, what it was for. "That, marm," said the boy, "with a wicked twinkle in his eyes, "is to ring the bell when you want anything to eat," and passed on. Shortly after the old lady got down the family umbrella and reaching up to the bell line gave it a vigorous pull. Of course the brakes were applied, the windows thrown up, questions asked, etc., the old lady sitting calmly through the confusion. Presently the conductor came rushing into the car, exclaiming, "Who pulled that bell?" "I did," replied the old lady, meekly. "Well, what do you want?" snapped the official, impatiently. "Well," said the old party, meditatively, "you may send me some hash."

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Gemmed with Pearls.

A mouth gemmed with pearls flashes radience every time it opens. The contrast between the ruby of lovely lips and the pearly teeth they enclosed has winged the fancy of many a poet. Sozodont, fair ones, is the thing that most contributes to adorn the feminine mouth. It is pure, it is aromatic, it retains the natural color of teeth incrusted with yellow tartar. What Caused Topnoody to Tumble.

After supper, Monday night, Mr. Topnoody put on his hat and started out of the house.

"Where are you going, Topnoody?" asked his wife.

"I'm going down town, my dear."

"Well, I didn't suppose you were going to New York, or Philadelphia, or Europe, or Cumminsville."

"Didn't you, my love."

"No, I didn't. But I want to know what you are going down town for."

"Business, my dear, of course. You did'nt suppose I was going for fun, did you?"

"Oh, no; men never go down town at night for fun. There is no fun down town at night for a man, when his wife is left at home by herself. Of course not. It's business all the time; some times it's the saloon business; sometimes it's the billiard-room business; some times it's the pasteboard business; some times it's the theater business; some times it's the—"

"Now, my dear, what's the use of your going on that way? I'm honest, and have to go down town. I am going to join the Knights of Pythias, and have to be on hand at eight o'clock sharp."

"Going to join the Knights of Pythias, are you? Well, I say you ain't. You already have Mason nights, and Odd Fellow nights, and A. O. U. W. nights, and Chosen Friends nights, and Elk nights, and Y. M. C. A. nights, and Scottish Rite nights and now you want to have a night of Pythias, do you? I say you shan't, and, Topnoody, if you want to lodge with me, you had better take one night off for a Topnoody night, or this lodge will be closed till further orders. Do you tumble?"

Topnoody tumbled.

Wines of Italy.

The wines of Italy varies with almost every mile of territory. It is of every grade, from delicious to vile, very like their climate. The ordinary wine of the table, either red or white, has decidedly the taste of the fruit, and is rather too acid to suit the palmen accustomed to French claret or the Rhine wines. There is not too much acid in it, but it is a peculiarly tongue-biting, skin-piercing acid, that to one not accustomed to it requires the wine to be largely diluted with water.

The landlord smiles when he gets out of the room to see a young man look at the wine in the glass, and taste it, and smell it, and go through all sorts of motions, and remark that he is glad to get where he can procure an absolutely pure article of "Chianti," or "Capri," or whatever it may be, and that it is worth coming to Italy to be able to drink an absolutely pure wine. The landlord smiles to himself, for he knows that it isn't any more Chianti or Capri than it is the elixir of life. He knows it was compounded in the neighboring wine house, of a dozen different varieties, compounded as a chemist produces things, and that he himself mixed it over again to suit the taste of the acute young man. But it is no matter to him. He merely charges the knowing one four francs more a bottle than he would any one else, so that he may be sure he is getting what he came for, an "absolutely pure and sound wine."

It may be a comfort to the exceedingly sharp young men of America who know all about wines and sit and look wise over bottles, and taste, and look at corks, and go through all sort of thing, to know that absolutely pure, unfabricated wine is about as scarce a thing in Italy as vital piety.—Toledo Blade.

A Boot-Black's Eulogy.

"Brandy is dead!"

So the men said, so the women said, and so the children called to each other as a piece of news.

A drunken, good-for-nothing. A so-called man whose brain had become dissolved in liquor, whose mind was enfeebled, and who had disappointed everybody by not dying in the gutter, instead of having the roof of a tenement house over his head.

Why should anyone grieve when such a vagabond passes away? The world may owe him room for his bones to rest, but nothing further. So in "Brandy's" case men said that he was well out of the way, and woman clattered their dishes in the rooms below, and cared not for the presence of the dead.

When the undertaker came to bear the body away a dozen people crowded into the room, and among them was a boot-black. Some said that "Brandy" looked well in a coffin; others spoke lightly about his face having lost its ruby color, and the dead pauper was no more than a dog in their minds, and why should he have been? One can be a man or he can be a vagabond. If he becomes a vagabond let him lose the respect of men. All had a heartless remark except the boot-black. He stood at the head of the coffin and looked from face to face and said:

"Brandy was low-down, and he died like a beast, and you are all sneering at him! Did any one among you ever give him a chance? Did he have a home when he was a boy? Did men try to encourage him and guide him aright? Is there a man in this room who ever took him by the hand and spoke one kind word? Didn't everybody abuse and ill-treat him? Didn't everybody look upon him as a dog?"

There was no answer.

"Aye! Brandy was low down!" whispered the boy as he laid his hand on the coffin. "He was ragged and hungry, and poor and homeless, and without one single friend. What man among you could have stood out against it any better? Poor old man! They know all about it in heaven! Let me help to carry him down."

And when the dead had been driven away and the boy had disappeared, more than one man said:

"After all we might have made it easier for the poor old man. I wonder that some of us never sought to make a man of him, instead of bringing him down."—Detroit Free Press.

Indians in Brazil use ants to dress wounds, causing them to bite the edges together and then cutting off the head; the jaws will not relax, but hold the wound together until healed. They were formerly used as a cruel instrument of torture by South American tribes, who tied their victim to a tree, smeared his body with grease and placed an ants' nest at his feet.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With billous fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I

Could not move!

I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

ST. NICHOLAS,

EDITED BY MRS. MARY MAPES DODGE.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally wholesome and really attractive magazine is required for them, and ST. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and is annually this service, wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The reference to the wide resources in art and letters mentioned by St. NICHOLAS was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which the first magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott,	J. T. Trowbridge,
Captain Mayne Reid,	Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen,
Maurice Thompson,	Frank R. Stockton,
Charles Dudley Warner,	Joaquin Miller,

Susan Fenimore Cooper,	John G. Whittier,
"H. H.,"	W. O. Stoddard,
	C. F. Crauch,

and scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of ST. NICHOLAS is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In a other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

"A LIBERAL EDUCATION"

The price is $3.00 a year, or 25 cents a number. Book-sellers, news-dealers, and postmasters receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers, by money or express order, bank check, draft, or in registered letter.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Rheumatism? Why linger with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain with Rheumatism and all Boils? Why rave with that terrible Neuralgia? What makes you tremble so? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum or poor whiskey drink, to be taken by the glass, like other preparations which stimulate only. To DESTROY these germs, which are the cause of Boils, Blotches and Humors, combined with the Extract of SULPHUR in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT SURVIVOR.

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it, and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humor in the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

The Great Blood Purifier.

Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been practising medicine for 25 years, and as a remedy for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness, and all diseases of the blood, I have never found its equal. I have sold Vegetine for 7 years and have never had one bottle returned. I would heartily recommend it to those in need of a blood purifier.

The Horse Kicked Him.
The horse is a noble animal, and one of the best friends of man. Yet no man wants even his best friend to kick him in the back. Mr. Libby, of Lowell, Mass., received such a kick from a horse in 1865. Ever since he has been a martyr to spinal suffering. Perry Davis's Pain Killer has relieved him from a great deal of agony. While he has been using this valuable remedy he has enjoyed his life as he never could have done otherwise. "Accidents will happen." Provide against them by procuring Pain Killer.

A Frightful Collision.
NEW YORK.—The valuable trotting horse "Jim Sands," was run into in a race, sustaining severe bruises and lameness. His owner, Mr. Noble Thompson, of the well-known stables, 1393 Broadway, states that he placed the animal under the care of a veterinary surgeon, who in three months failed to benefit him. Treatment with St. Jacobs Oil was then begun, and the horse not only entirely recovered but was enabled to trot mile heats in 2:21. Mr. Thompson regards the Oil as the pain-cure of the age.

News and Notes.

An Oakland, Me., lady died last week from the effect of eating cloves; at least, so her physician said. The pungent property of the spice had destroyed the coating of her stomach, resulting in death.

At Rockland, Mass., recently, a son of John Winslow was nearly killed by the bursting of his gun.

At Baltimore, Nov. 21st, Lizzie Burmeister, aged twenty-one years, hung herself while insane, and though cut down before life was extinct, will die from her injuries. Three weeks previously her father, Frederick Burmeister, got drunk, and cut his wife with a razor, nearly killing her; but on his trial the woman swore she wounded herself, and Burmeister was discharged. The woman's perjury so weighed on her mind that she hanged herself a few days afterward, and the daughter became crazed over her troubles. Prior to Burmeister's spree the family had been a united and happy one.

In Brooklyn, N. Y., they want to abolish the office of coroner.

Hon. Thomas Dudley, formerly American consul at Liverpool, during a lecture in New York recently on "The System of American Protection," said that England was employing, to ruin the American protective system, the Cobden club, which has awarded medals for free trade essays in Harvard, Yale and Vassar colleges, and that the professors of political economy in Yale and Williams colleges are both members of the Cobden club.

George Randall, a Pomfret, Conn., farmer seventy years old, is under arrest for the alleged abduction of Anna Lambert, a prepossessing mulatto girl nineteen years old. They were to elope to Texas, but at Hoboken, N. J., she got sick of her bargain, and her crying attracted the attention of a policeman, who arrested him.

Wm. H. Vanderbilt owns $47,050,000 in United States registered four per cent bonds, a draft for the interest on which is mailed to him quarterly from the treasury. The interest on these bonds amounts as follows: Per annum, $1,882,000; per quarter, $470,500; per month, $156,833.33; per day, $5,156.16; per hour, $214.84; per minute, $3.58.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. codjan30d

It is said that the largest grapevine in the United States grows on the premises of Mr. Madden, in Pike county, Ga. It is 18 years old, is thirty-four inches in circumference at its base, is a quarter of a mile long, and yields five wagon loads of grapes.

One Mormon superstition is that children, when ill, may be cured by the laying on of hands. More than 5,000 of the little ones are said to have died in the last twenty-five years who might have been saved by medicine. The laying on of hands is of no benefit to a child except when he talks back to the old man.

Norman McClellan, of Petosky, Mich., is a small boy who does mischief every day of his life. His latest caper was the wedging of a bullet half way down the bore of Alex. Tann's rifle, and then shooting it off. The stock was shattered and the barrel split, but the boy was uninjured.

A young lady at San Leandro writes, informing us that she has found an infallible hint to remind prosy guests—chronic stay-lates—to take their leave at a seasonable hour. She merely asks the "sticker" to see whether the morning paper is on the front steps.—San Francisco Post.

Mr. Tennyson's life and labors correspond in point of time as nearly as possible to my own; but Mr. Tennyson's exertions have been on a higher plane of action than my own. He has worked in a higher field, and his work will be more durable. It is our business to speak, but the words which we speak have wings and fly away and disappear. The work of Mr. Tennyson is of a higher order. I anticipate for him the immortality for which England and Scotland have supplied in the course of their long national life many claimants. The poet laureate has written his own song on the "hearts of his countrymen."—William A. Gladstone.

In August, 1881, M. B. Thum, of Newark, Mich., sunk two salt barrels in the ground, placing the top barrel about two feet below the surface of the ground thus making the well eight feet in depth. Nothing unusual was discovered about the well until July, 1882, when fish in large quantities were found in it.—Mr. Thum says that last year he fatted about $150 worth of pork by fish taken from this marvelous well—The water is muddy and the fish are lively and frisky. There are no streams or lakes within several miles of Mr. Thum's farm, and the onlysolution of the mystery is that there is a subterranean passage from some river or lake to the well.

Lang Yip, a laundryman at Oil City, Pa., is going back to China to be married. He has never seen nor had any correspondence with his intended, and knows nothing about her whatever. But his Celestial mother has arranged everything for him. She has picked out a wife for him, and he will see her for the first time on the day of their marriage. Yip has been in this country four years, during which time he has become Americanized to such an extent that he wears American boots and clothing, smokes cigars, plays poker, drinks beer, and goes to Sunday-school, and says he would prefer to see the prospective Mrs. Yip before the wedding day. He says, however, he will marry her, and if he likes her style will "Blingee her black to Melica" with him, but if he does not he will come back without her.

The schooners Wave, Hattie Lewis, J. H. Butler, Myra Sears and Gold Hunter, all brick-laden and bound for Boston, were at anchor in the lower harbor Nov. 22d, waiting for a favorable chance to make the run. The schooner Satellite, also loaded and bound for Boston, was still lying at the draw-pier of Portsmouth bridge. The D. K. Ham and Triton, from Boston, light, went up the river on the 21st to load.

The two tramps who knocked down Fred Thyng of Exeter on the evening of the 14th inst. at Newmarket Junction, and robbed him of his watch, have been identified as Frank Price and Charles Morton. Baggage-master Henry Chesley, of the junction station, aided by the station agent and baggage-master of the Newmarket station, caught the thieves soon after the robbery, and found the watch on one of them. On being taken before Justice Shackford next day Price gave the name of Henry Smith, and Morton that of Patrick Murphy. Price belongs in Boston, and has served one term in the Massachusetts state prison for being connected with a burglary on Harrison avenue in Boston in June, 1881; his brother spent two years in the state prison for the same offence. Morton belongs in Moncton, N. B., but has been in Boston with Price for some time; both the ruffians are wanted to answer for burglary in West Roxbury, Mass., but are likely to serve time in the New Hampshire state prison before again seeing Massachusetts.

The Dover Republican of Nov. 21st publishes the following communication: "Edward Boyce died in Eliot, Me., Wednesday, Nov. 14th, at the advanced age of eighty-nine years and eight months. So active was he, in his age, that notwithstanding he had been crippled for three years past by the breaking of a hip, he planted his garden the past summer, and attended to it till September, on crutches, at which time he had a shock, which confined him to the bed, but he had his senses to the last, even singing, in his broken way, snatches of hymns and spiritual songs, till near his death. It is hoped he died a Christian, and may be praising God on the other shore for complete salvation and redemption. Funeral services took place at the house on Friday, attended by Rev. Mr. Hibbard, the Congregational minister of Eliot."

HEREDITARY SCROFULA.

ARE you aware that in your blood the taint of scrofula has a prominent place? This is true of every one. It is liable at any time, on the slightest provocation, to develop itself in some insidious disease. Consumption and many other diseases are outgrowths of this impurity of the blood. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA has a wonderful power over all scrofulous troubles, as the remarkable testimonials we have received unmistakably prove.

"MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—* * * My youngest son has always been troubled with scrofulous Humor; sores in his head discharging from his ears, and a running sore on the back of his ear for two years; his eyelids would fester and ulcerate, discharging so that I was obliged to wash them open every morning, his eyelashes nearly all coming out; he was exceedingly dainty, most of the time eating but two slight meals a day. We were unable to find anything that had the least effect upon him till last spring, 1875, we gave him two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla. His appetite improved at once. * * The back of his ear healed up without a scar, and not a sore in his head since. Sincerely yours,
MRS. N. C. SANBORN,
No. 168 Merrimack St., Lowell, Mass.

"We do not as a rule allow ourselves to use our editorial columns to speak of any remedy we advertise, but we feel warranted in saying a word for Hood's Sarsaparilla. Sarsaparilla has been known as a remedial agent for centuries and is recognized by all schools of practice as a valuable blood purifier. It is put up in forms of almost infinite variety, but Messrs. Hood & Co. (Lowell, Mass.) who are thoroughly reliable pharmacists, have hit upon a remedy of unusual value. Certainly they have vouchers of cures which we know to be most extraordinary."—Editors Lowell Weekly Journal.

NOTICE is hereby given that at a Court of Probate, holden at Exeter, in the County of Rockingham, on the tenth day of October, 1883, it was decreed and ordered that the petition of Ariettta Prime asking that Edward B. Prime or some other suitable person be appointed guardian over Ida May Foote, of Portsmouth, in said County, minor child of Frank A. Foote, be dismissed and the subscriber being interested in the guardianship of said Ida and aggrieved by said order and decree, on the sixteenth day of November, 1883, claimed an appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court, prays to be heard thereon, in the County of Merrimack, for said County of Rockingham, on the first Tuesday of December next, and filed in the Probate Office for said County of Rockingham a bond to respond the costs that shall be awarded against her agreeably to the statute in such cases provided. Said appeal will be entered and prosecuted at said term of said Supreme Court.
Dated the sixteenth day of November, 1883.

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Nov. 22d, Mayor Treat in the chair.

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

Bill of Hett Brothers, for $15, approved by Ex-Chief Engineer Marston, was referred to the committee on fire department.

George Bilbruck presented a bill of $199.90, he having purchased a piece of property at a delinquent tax sale which was subsequently pronounced invalid. Referred to committee on claims.

Wm. B. Hussey's bill of $18, for damage to an awning by fireworks, was referred.

A motion to reduce the membership of the hook and ladder company from twenty-five to fifteen, was referred to the committee on fire department with the chief engineer added, with power to act.

It was ordered that the old ladders be sent to the city farm; and the committee on fire department were authorized to sell the old truck.

Adjourned for two weeks.

G. A. R. FESTIVAL.

Odd Fellows' hall was thronged on Thursday evening, the occasion being the annual muster and banquet of Storer Post, G. A. R. About two hundred comrades, with their ladies, Storer Relief Corps, and Henry L. Richards Camp, Sons of Veterans, in all about four hundred persons, sat down to as handsomely laid tables as we have seen in this city for years. After the banquet the following sentiments were read by Toastmaster Collis:

"The United States of America. The refuge of the oppressed of all nations; may the fruits of the victories won by its heroes be preserved to posterity by the wisdom of its statesmen." Response by Hon. Martin A. Haynes.

"The City of Portsmouth." Response by Mayor Treat.

"The Grand Army of the Republic. Composed of two hundred thousand tried and true men, bound together by the ties of fraternity, practicing charity, and teaching loyalty to a country which it was their privilege to help to save." Response by Mustering Officer Freeman and Wm. Pitt Moses, of Great Falls.

Music, "Tenting to-night on the old camp ground," band and company.

"The Ladies' Relief Corps. Allied to the Grand Army in preserving the memories of the past, and its efficient coworker in assisting those whom the dead have left to our care and protection." Response by Mrs. Adeline P. Kent, president of Ladies' Relief Corps.

"The Sons of Veterans. Descended from the men who fought the battles of the Union, may they prove chips of the old block." Response by Capt. H. P. Kent.

Music, "Call John."

Poem (original) by Comrade R. E. Rich, Read by Post Comdr. Collis.

"Our Fallen Comrades. Absent, but not forgotten. Let us emulate their virtues, reverence their devotion, and cherish their memories forever." Received in silence.

"The American Press. Free and untrammelled, it wields a power mightier than the sword." Response by Samuel W. Emery.

"The Old Flag. Respected wherever unfurled, the emblem of sixty millions of freemen will never lack for defenders." Response by J. H. Hutchinson.

"The Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Bound together by friendship, love and truth, like the G. A. R. its object being to dispense charity among the needy, may the harmony existing between the two organizations never be destroyed." Response by N. G. Charles H. Clough, of Osgood Lodge.

"Marching through Georgia," by band and company.

Previous to the banquet the post was inspected at G. A. R. hall by Cyrus Freeman of Great Falls, aide to the department commander, so that the party did not gather in Odd Fellows' hall until after nine o'clock. The company kept together until a reasonably late hour, the verdict of all being that the affair was a success throughout.

THE BARROWS MURDER.

George Getchell of Wells, sheriff of York county, and F. W. Higgins of Limerick, county attorney, have made a movement to ferret out, if possible, the murderer or murderers of Thomas Barrows of Kittery. As the man came to his death on the night of the 14th inst., the county officers are not open to the charge of moving in the matter with unseemly haste. On the 22d inst. the attorney organized an investigation, and the body of Barrows was ordered to be disinterred for re-examination.

TRANSFER OF VESSEL PROPERTY.

Mr. Charles S. Drown, who bought the hull of the wrecked schooner J. P. Nickerson for $5, on Thursday last resold her for $3.

"YOUNG MRS. WINTHROP."

The evening, at Music hall, Bronson Howard's play "Young Mrs. Winthrop" will be performed by the Madison Square Theatre Co. to a full house. Of the piece the New York Star says: "It is thoroughly interesting without being either eventful or essentially dramatic. From beginning to end it does not require in a single sentence the emphasis of violent declamation. The sentiment of the play is pure, wholesome and delicious. Thoroughly charming and marvelously refined. The play has a vein of comedy which is never coarse or farcical, and is as natural and enjoyable as the more serious element is life-like and sympathetic."

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

THURSDAY, Nov. 22d.

John Sullivan, for drunkenness, was fined $3, costs $6.90.

Michael Rafferty, another drunk, was given permission to leave town, and did so.

Daniel Chapman, a boy, for assault with a knife on John Smart, another boy, was held in $100 for further examination on Wednesday, the 28th, and in default of bail was lodged in jail.

GOSSIPS SAY

That four tenements on South street having consecutive numbers, and which have been vacant for many months, have all been let within the last fortnight.

That a party of roughs engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight at the entrance to the Park on Tuesday evening, the 20th inst., and that one of them was badly hurt.

That Harlow's orchestra went to Dover on Wednesday evening, the 21st, to play for the "7—20—8" dramatic company.

That the molding machine designed by George S. Heaton for the pressing of tops of violin cases was put in operation at the machine shop on the 21st inst., ank proved a perfect success.

That the skating rink in Franklin hall will open next Monday evening under the management of Messrs. Aiken, Randall and Davis of this city.

That Prof. Canary, the celebrated trick skater, will be the drawing card for the opening night.

That the rink will be open on Monday and Thursday evenings, and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, of each week.

That Capt. Henry Marcy is at home from sea.

That Storer Post did itself proud on Thursday evening.

That the veterans never looked better, and cannot be beaten by any organization in the state.

That Mayor Treat made a splendid response to the sentiment "City of Portsmouth."

That the visiting gentlemen expressed themselves more than pleased with Post No. 1, and with their reception here.

A POWERFUL WAR-SHIP.

In view of the talk about the new naval cruisers and "commerce-destroyers" now being built or to be built by Mr. John Roach and other contractors for the United States navy, the following item from the NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE of Feb. 17th, 1814, is of interest:

NEW LONDON, Jan. 3d, 1814.

We, the undersigned, have this day examined the model and plan of a vessel of war, submitted to us by Robert Fulton, to carry twenty-four guns, twenty-four and thirty-two pounders, and use red hot shot, to be propelled by steam from four to five miles an hour, without the aid of wind or tide. The properties of which vessel: That without masts or sails she can move with sufficient speed; that her machinery being guarded, she cannot be crippled; that her sides are so thick, as to be impenetrable to every kind of shot; and in a calm or light breeze she can take choice of a position or distance from the enemy. Considering the speed which the application of steam has already given to floating bodies we have full confidence that should such vessel move four miles an hour, she could under the favorable circumstances which may be always gained over enemies' vessels in our ports, bays, harbours and sounds, be rendered more formidable to an enemy than any kind of an engine hitherto invented; and in such case she would be equal to the destruction of one or more 74s, or of compelling her or them to depart from our waters. We therefore give it our decided opinion that it is among the best interest of the United States to carry this plan into immediate execution.

SAM. EVANS,
O. H. PERRY,
S. WARRINGTON,
T. LEWIS.

The Willing Workers of the Methodist Episcopal church will give a basket supper and entertainment in the chapel on Daniel street this (Friday) evening; admission ten cents.

On Thursday, the 22d inst., the mercury of the thermometer at the door of True W. Priest's store on Market square stood at seventy-two degrees above zero, in the shade.

Congressman-elect Martin A. Haynes, ex-commander of the G. A. R., department of New Hampshire, attended the inspection of Storer Post of this city on Thursday evening.

Mr. Samuel Lamprey's juvenile dancing class close on the evening of the 17th inst. with the best exhibition of the kind ever given in the city. The young people displayed remarkable proficiency in the various dances, the minuet in particular being greatly admired.

Meagher's family clam chowder, made by Lyman Hodgdon of Rhode Island, will be delivered on order to-day.

A brakeman on the Eastern railroad freight train from Portland was quite badly injured near Berwick on Wednesday evening, the 21st inst. In ascending to the top of a car to reach the brake his head came in contact with an awning post, and his scalp was torn off and turned back from near his forehead to the crown of his head; had he been two inches higher on the ladder at the time he would almost certainly have been killed. On his arrival in this city he was attended by Dr. Potter, and afterward left for Boston.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Six of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not put my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1878, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove at the same time the cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diuretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. It treats of Manhood, Nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

28th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 350 pages, more than 135 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either sex of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.00, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

Ladies Who Bloat.

What a great number there are; how uncomfortable it makes them; it is almost impossible for those afflicted to enjoy life. In my private practice I have found Sulphur Bitters to be the best remedy. All who are thus troubled should use it.

In Manchester there lives a boy who has successfully played truant uninterruptedly from October, 1882, until some time in the present month. He effectually hoodwinked his parents, who supposed he was attending school regularly, and deceived the teacher by representing that he was at work all the time.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

In the supreme court at Nashua Mrs. Dr. J. B. Greeley sought to recover from the Nashua savings bank $400, with interest from 1862. The plaintiff testified that she deposited with a former clerk of United States treasury notes to that amount, and exhibited a receipt for the same. The bank said it had no record of the transaction, and was not responsible for the acts of a former clerk of a deceased treasurer. The case was nonsuited by the court.

Gemmed with Pearls.

A mouth gemmed with pearls flashes radience every time it opens. The contrast between the ruby of lovely lips and the pearly teeth they enclose has winged the fancy of many a poet. Sozodont, fair ones, is the thing that most contributes to adorn the feminine mouth. It is pure, it is aromatic, it retains the natural color of teeth incrusted with yellow tartar. No gritty or other objectionable ingredient contaminates it, its odor is balmy, and its purifying operation thorough.

In Jeff Davis' Clutch.

Elisha Kisner, a modest, unpretending gentleman, of Watsontown, Pa., was a member of the Third Pennsylvania Heavy artillery, which was stationed at Fortress Monroe when Jefferson Davis was taken there, soon after his capture. Mr. Kisner was detailed, among others, to stand guard over the rebel chief. In an interview with Mr. Kisner the other evening, he gave an interesting account of what occurred during this period of nearly a year.

"Did I ever tell you how old Jeff took me by the throat?" he asked, while he shook all over with laughter. "Well, it was something in this way. There were two sentries in Jeff's room, and this night I happened to be on duty. Davis was lying on his bed, apparently trying to get a nap, and our orders were to pace his room constantly, but under no consideration to speak or enter into any conversation with him. My shoes, which were then new, screeched as I passed his bed, and this seemed to annoy him. Once as I passed him he turned to me and growled out, 'I wish you'd make less noise.' I replied, 'I wish you'd keep quiet.' Then he turned over with his face to the wall and I kept walking on, back and forward, past his bed. In a minute or two he growled again, 'Can't you keep quiet?' To this I replied, 'Can't you hold your jaw?' Then he got up and commenced to walk the floor, mad as a caged lion. I passed him and turned to go back, when I met him about the middle of the room. Just as I was about to repass him he suddenly sprang at me, and with his left hand caught me by the throat. I struggled to get loose, but he held me as though I had been in a vise. I could not use my gun as he held me close to him. I struggled for breath, but he had shut off my wind. The noise drew the attention of the other guard in a moment, and also the officer outside, when he rattled his sword against the iron-grated door, and then old Jeff let loose of me and went back to his bed. I tell you I was weak in the knees when he did let go, and though he only held me a moment or so it seemed like an hour.

"Before this occurred an old reb outside, who had been down to Richmond bringing Jeff his meals, used to bring in lots of fried and stewed oysters, and many other things we soldiers couldn't get. He nearly always brought more than old Jeff could eat, and Jeff used to give us lots of good things, but after this fuss he'd always throw everything that was left out of the window, and would not even give us a small piece out of his lives."—Washington (Pa.) Record.

Save the Old Paper.

Never throw away old paper. If you have no wish to sell it, use it in the house. Some housekeepers prefer it to cloth for cleaning many articles of furniture.

For instance, a volume written by a lady says: "After a stove has been blackened, it can be kept looking very well for a long time by rubbing it with paper every morning. Rubbing with paper is a much nicer way of keeping a tea-kettle, coffee-pot and tea-pot bright and clean than the old way of washing them in suds. Rubbing with paper is also the best way of polishing knives, tinware and spoons; they shine like new silver.

"For polishing mirrors, windows, lamp chimneys, etc., paper is better than dry cloth. Preserves and pickles keep much better if brown paper instead of cloth is tied over the jar. Canned fruit is not so apt to mould if a piece of writing paper, cut to fit the can, is laid directly on the fruit. Paper is much better to put under a carpet than straw. It is warmer, thinner, and makes less noise when one walks over it."

The Work Young Girls Might do.

I wish it were in my power to persuade young girls who wonder what they shall do to earn their living, that it is really better to choose some business that is in the line of a woman's natural work. There is a great repugnance at the thought of being a servant, but a girl is no less a servant to a man who owns the shop where she stands all day behind the counter than she is where she waits upon the table or cooks the dinner in a pleasant house; and to my mind there would not be a minute's question between the two ways of going out to service. The wages are better, the freedom and liberty are double in one what they are in the other. If, instead of the sham service that is given by ignorant and really over-paid servants to-day, sensible New England girls who are anxious to be taking care of themselves and earning good wages would fit themselves at cooking schools, or any way they found available, they would not long wait for employment and would be valued immensely by their employers. When one realizes how hard it is to find good women for every kind of work in our houses, and what prices many rich people are more than willing to pay if they can be well suited, it is a wonder more girls are not ready to seize the chances. It is because such work has been almost always so carelessly and badly done, that it has fallen into disrepute, and the doors of it have taken such low rank. Nobody takes the trouble to fit herself properly, but women trust to being taught and finding out their duties after they assume such positions, not before. —Sara O. Jewett in Boston Congregationalist.

Thrilling.

"Do you think think that Prof. Bunncombe will have a large audience at his lecture this evening?" inquired a gentleman from San Antonio of his traveling companion.

"Hardly think he will," answered the other, "for I see by this bill here that it is stated he carries his audience with him.' Must be a boy who trims the lamps."

"O, no, you are mistaken. That statement about carrying his audience with him means that his lecture is so thrilling that his audience follows him with the closest attention. Ever hear him?"

"Yes, I heard him once, and one part of it was exceedingly thrilling."

"What was that?"

"When I was obliged to yield up a half dollar at the door."—Texas Siftings.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With Consumption."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 8, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

ST. NICHOLAS,

EDITED BY MRS. MARY MAPES DODGE.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally wholesome, and pure attractive magazine is required to the times, and St. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and commands for this service wider resources in art and letters, than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by St. NICHOLAS was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which that magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge,
Captain Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen,
Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton,
Charles Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller,
Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney,
Julian Hawthorne, Celia Thaxter,
Mary Mapes Dodge, Lieut. Frederick Schwatka,
Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, E. S. Brooks,
George W. Cable, Chas. G. Leland,
Susan Fenimore Cooper, John G. Whittier,
"H. H.," W. O. Stoddard, C. P. Cranch,

and scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of ST. NICHOLAS is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In no other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

"A LIBERAL EDUCATION"

The price is $3.00 a year, or 25 cents a number. Book-sellers, news-dealers, and postmasters receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers, by money or express order, bank check, draft, or in registered letter.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why rave with that terrible Headache? Why lay and toss on that bed of pain with Rheumatism? What makes you troubled with Indigestion? Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which long years or poor cooking have caused. Your excesses have caused your kidneys to become sore and weak. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap, clear, like other vegetable drinks, to be taken by the TO DESTROY. It is composed of the choicest Roots, Barks and Herbs combined with the EXTRACT OF SULPHUR in such proportions as to make NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY.

SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE.

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

MESSRS. J. C. AYER & CO., Gentlemen:

Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the SARSAPARILLA, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. WILDS."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

cleanses, enriches, and strengthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to resist and overcome the attacks of all Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions of the Skin, Rheumatism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

THE CENTURY

PROGRAMME for 1883-'84.

THE programme for the fourteenth year of this magazine, and the third under the new name, is if anything more interesting and popular than ever. With every season THE CENTURY shows a decided gain in circulation. The new volume begins with November, and, when possible, subscriptions should begin with that issue. The following are some of the features of the coming year:

A New Novel by George W. Cable, author of "Old Creole Days," etc., entitled "Dr. Sevier," a story of New Orleans life, the time being the eve of the late Civil War.

"Life in the Thirteen Colonies," by EDWARD EGGLESTON, separate illustrated papers on subjects connected with the early history of this country.

Three Stories by Henry James, of varying lengths, to appear through the year.

The New Astronomy, untechnical articles, by Prof. S. P. LANGLEY, describing the most interesting of recent discoveries in the sun and stars.

A Novelette by H. H. Boyesen, author of "Gunnar," etc. A vivid and sparkling story.

A New Era in American Architecture, a series of papers descriptive of the best work of American architects in Public Buildings, City and Country Houses, etc. To be profusely illustrated.

A Novelette by Robert Grant, author of "Confessions of a Frivolous Girl," etc., entitled "An Average Man,"—a story of New York.

The Bread-winners, one of the most remarkable novels of the day, to be completed in January.

"Christianity and Wealth," with other essays, by the author of "The Christian League of Connecticut," etc., on the application of Christian morals to the present phases of modern life.

Coasting About the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a series of entertaining articles, profusely illustrated.

Scenes from the Novelists, HAWTHORNE, GEORGE ELIOT, and CABLE, with authentic drawings.

On the Track of Ulysses, the record of a yacht-cruise in the Mediterranean, indentifying the route of Ulysses on his return from the Trojan war.

"Garfield in England," extracts from his private journal kept during a trip to Europe in 1867.

"The Silverado Squatters," by ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, author of "New Arabian Nights."

There will be papers on outdoor England by JOHN BURROUGHS and others, a beautifully illustrated series on Dante, a number of papers by the eminent French novelist ALPHONSE DAUDET, articles on art and archæology by CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER and others, illustrated papers on sport and adventure, short stories by the leading writers, essays on timely subjects, etc., etc.

Subscription price, $4.00 a year; single numbers sold everywhere, at 35 cents each. All dealers receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers by postal or express order, registered letter, bank check, or draft.

SPECIAL OFFERS.

To enable new subscribers to begin with the first volume under THE CENTURY name, we make the following special offers:

New subscribers beginning with November, 1883, may obtain the magazine for one year from date, and the twenty-four previous numbers, unbound, for $8.00. Regular price for the three years, $12.00.

Or, if preferred, a subscription and the twenty-four numbers BOUND IN FOUR ELEGANT VOLUMES will be furnished for $16. Regular price, $16.

The Horse Kicked Him.

The horse is a noble animal, and one of the best friends of man. Yet no man wants even his best friend to kick him in the back. Mr. Libby, of Lowell, Mass., received such a kick from a horse in 1865. Ever since he has been a martyr to spinal suffering. Perry Davis's Pain Killer has relieved him from a great deal of agony. While he has been using this valuable remedy he has enjoyed his life as he never could have done otherwise. "Accidents will happen." Provide against them by procuring Pain Killer.

The democratic mayoralty caucus in Dover, last Thursday night, nominated James Whitehouse, who received 111 votes to seventy for Thomas J. Smith.

The department of justice of the United States has entered into a contract with the authorities of the state prison at Concord, N. H., whereby persons convicted in the District of Columbia of offences against the United States may serve out sentences of imprisonment in that institution. The prisoners are to be cared for free of expense to the United States, and their transportation from the district to the prison is to be at the expense of the prison authorities.

Consumption in its early stages is readily cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," though, if the lungs are wasted no medicine will effect a cure. No known remedy possesses such soothing and healing influence over all scrofulous, tuberculous, and pulmonary affections as the "Discovery." John Willis, of Elyria, Ohio, writes: "The 'Golden Medical Discovery' does positively cure consumption, as, after trying every other medicine in vain, this succeeded." Mr. Z. T. Phelps, of Cuthbert, Ga., writes: "The 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured my wife of bronchitis and incipient consumption." Sold by druggists.

WILLIAM CONN.

A WORD

CONCERNING THE

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY.

In view of the recent unwarranted attacks made upon the honesty, integrity and fair dealing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," and the many doubts expressed as to the drawing and payment of prizes by this institution, we deem it but simple justice to make this solemn statement regarding our dealings and experiences with the company, and to certify to the fact of having drawn and having been paid in full the prizes opposite our respective names.

These prize tickets were purchased of Col. P. FRANK MOORE, formerly of New York, but now of Chicago, to whose honest, straightforward, conscientious manner of conducting business, we bear willing testimony.

He never made a statement not absolutely true; never made a promise not strictly fulfilled, in connection with, and relative to the operations of "The Louisiana State Lottery." He never encourages to purchase of tickets by parties who are unable to stand the risk or lose the amount of investment. On the contrary, he tells you not to invest if you haven't the money to lose, and certainly where there is no compulsion there should be no complaint if the investor fails to draw a prize.

As to the "viciousness and immorality" of Lotteries, we leave the world to judge. We are simply dealing in facts.

"Fiat justitia ruat coelum."

These prizes were promptly paid on presentation of the tickets at the home office in New Orleans, which establishes beyond question the integrity and good faith of the company.

MEDICAL.

DIPHTHERIA!

THE PROSTRATION which follows Diphtheria, and the persistency with which it clings to the patient, are well known to all who have had any experience with this terrible disease.

The following letter shows how the restoring and invigorating properties of Hood's Sarsaparilla overcome it, and how by vitalizing and enriching the blood it neutralizes and eradicates the poisoned matter from it, bringing to the convalescent the color, life and vigor of robust health.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—My little girl had the diphtheria last April. The disease left her very weak, blood poor, with no appetite, and she could not seem to rally from its effects. HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA was recommended by a neighbor. After she had been taking it a few days we noticed a change for the better—she began to eat with a relish. It seemed to take out the poison the disease had left in her blood, the change being very noticeable in her face. She took it two months and fully regained her health, much to our delight. We now recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA with a great deal of pleasure. Very truly yours,

J. R. SMITH,
19 Butterfield Street.

"That Extreme Tired Feeling."

"The first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good; her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA."

A Battle of the Giants.

In the Circuit Court of the United States the case of New Hamphire Land Co. against Tilton and others, in which is involved the question of the title to a large tract of timber lands in Grafton county at one time sold by the state, now on trial, causes a memorable assembling of legal lights.

On the plaintiffs' side, at the table next to the bench, sit Mr. Streeter, a bright young lawyer of Concord and a son-in-law of Judge Carpenter of the Supreme court, Hon. John Y. Mugridge and William M. Chase, William S. Ladd of Lancaster, Austin F. Pike and Daniel Barnard of Franklin, and Charles H. Burns of Milton, who it is said is to argue the case on the plaintiffs' side.

At the defendants' table sit Gen. Marston, whose legislative and military service inclines him to come to the front, and he often sits near the stenographers or among his opponents; Harry Bingham, who is to argue the case; Geo. A. Bingham, who opened on behalf of the defence; Col. I. W. Drew, law partner of Ossian Ray; Messrs. Aldrich & Batchelder, and Remick of Littleton.

The trial will occupy several days.

"American Commonwealths. Oregon: the struggle for its possession," by Wm. Barrows. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; pp. 352. Portsmouth, sold by M. Goodrich; price $1.50.

This work is what it claims to be, a sketch of the various attempts of European powers as well as of the United States to get possession of this quarter of a million square miles of domain—more than double the extent of Great Britain and Ireland, and thirty-two times the size of Massachusetts. The original Oregon is larger than three New Englands by the excess of six states like Massachusetts. The Columbia river drains a basin of 395,000 square miles; the main stream is navigable for 725 miles from its mouth, carrying its navigation within 450 miles of the navigable Missouri, and within 350 miles of the Yellowstone. There is an index of the principal events, and a map specially drawn and engraved for the book.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

FRIDAY, Nov. 23d.

Thomas J. Philbrook, charged with robbing Joshua Goodwin, was held in $500 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court, and in default of sureties was lodged in jail. Goodwin testified that he arrived in this city from Berwick, Me., on the 22d inst., with about $13 in his pocket, and after a somewhat roundabout tramp, during which he hoisted in several rations of calamity water, finally found himself in the vicinity of the Spring market, and in a saloon near by got another drink. Here he met Philbrook, who was also partly drunk, and shortly after leaving the saloon Philbrook knocked him down and robbed him. Two other witnesses, who were working at a different point in the streets from the one named by Goodwin, told a somewhat different story from his, though it was equally as damaging.

A young woman, whose friends were anxious to have her name kept out of the papers, and a working man whose name has never been given to us before in a police court report, were each assessed $9.90 for drunkeness, and it was paid in both cases.

COMING TO PORTSMOUTH.

Dr. Cross, the celebrated magnetic physician, late of New York, Montreal and Concord, is to arrive at the Kearsarge house Nov. 26th, to remain one week. Dr. Cross makes a specialty of almost every chronic ailment, and is said to have had wonderful success in Concord and vicinity. We copy the following from the Rochester (N. H.) Anti-Monopolist:

Dr. Cross, the magnetic healer, is astonishing our citizens with his remarkable cures. He is having so many patients that he finds it necessary to extend his time here, and may be found at the Mansion house by all desiring his services. His wonderful cure of Mrs. H. A. Rankin and Mrs. Sarah O. Brown, and other well known and reliable citizens, is causing considerable comment and much interest.

"YOUNG MRS. WINTHROP."

A large and cultivated audience greeted the Madison Square Theatre Co. at Music hall on Friday evening, in full expectation of enjoying an excellent entertainment, and they were not disappointed. The play, which is a simple domestic story appealing to the sympathies for its effect, and does not contain a single heavy villain or heartless conspirator, was put on the stage with great care, the setting being rich, and every part taken with ability.

A HANDSOME SCHOONER.

The four-masted schooner Jonathan Bourne, Capt. Thompson, arrived at this port on Friday from Philadelphia with 1153 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker. She was built at Camden, Me., hails from Newport, R. I., and this is her first trip. She is a fine craft, and has all the modern improvements, including an engine to lift the anchors, hoist sails, discharge cargo and do other heavy work; but they haven't yet got the engine taught to take a trick at the wheel or to knot reef-points. She has a centreboard, and carries a crew of ten men all told, though she will get along with one or two less in the summer. Her sailing qualities are reported as entirely satisfactory.

PORTSMOUTH Y. M. C. A.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, and all others of whatever denomination who are interested in the welfare of the young men of this city and vicinity, will be held in Bow Mission hall, Market street, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28th, at 7:30 o'clock. The special object of this meeting is to consider the feasibility of establishing a reading-room and place of entertainment for young men. A good chance seems now to present itself for doing just that thing, and it is hoped it may not pass unimproved. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

D. H. MONTGOMERY, Pres't.

THE BARROWS MURDER.

The investigation under conduct of County Solicitor Higgins, Thursday afternoon, was held at the house of Mrs. Barrows. Dr. F. E. Potter of this city examined the disinterred body, and showed that it was impossible the deceased could have inflicted the wounds, or have moved after the shots took effect. The jury summoned by Coroner Nealley were called for this hearing.

On Friday the investigation was continued, at the house of Mr. Nealley at the Foreside. Among the witnesses present was the young man who shortly before the murder sold to some person a number of cartridges similar to those found at Barrows' place, but he failed to identify any one as the man he sold to. The investigation was not concluded.

PORTSMOUTH IN FUTURE DAYS.

NUMBER THREE.

Mr. Editor: This my third look into the future of our good old city reveals many ways in which a step forward has been taken. A system of parks has been inaugurated by the Young Men's Board of Trade, composed of the brightest young men of our city under forty years of age. This association is a revival of one started many years ago, which met with an ignominious failure; but the sons in an effort to retrieve the mistakes of their fathers, have been wonderfully successful. By Knight's boulevard we are enabled to reach the Ocean park at Odiorne's point, which consists of seven hundred acres; through the efforts of the N. H. Historical society, a costly monument has been erected in this park to commemorate the landing of the first white settlers in New Hampshire. The second park of importance is the Jones park at Fountain Head, which consists of five hundred acres, and is laid out with beautiful walks and drives. Among the many monuments in this park is one to Gambrinus, erected for the purpose of reminding future generations that the water from the Fountain Head was much improved by decoction, and that our prosperity is due very much to that and the skill used in its manipulation. This park is reached by the Newmarket horse cars, which cross the Great bay on a turnpike road made because the patrons of the water company became so dissatisfied with the service of the aqueduct company that a new company was formed, which purchased the water privilege of the Newmarket Manufacturing Co., (who now run their works by steam,) and the water from Mendum's and Pawtuckaway ponds is now carried across the bay via the turnpike, which extends from Newmarket to Creek street, in our city.

The introduction of this water induced the location of a factory for the manufacture of the celebrated Sawyer's woollen goods; also one for the manufacture of the world renowned Portsmouth hosiery. The grade of the Concord railroad has been raised, and the cars of that road now come in alongside of the Grand Transcontinental road, by an overhead bridge at the Creek, thus avoiding the old grade crossing, and enter the Union depot which is an ornament to our city.

Some of the young sons of our city, having served an apprenticeship in the machine works, and being a little ambitious, have recently associated themselves together for the purpose of building iron and steel vessels. They have secured the site just below the suspension bridge, so long known as Fernald's shipyard on Freeman's point. They have already contracted with one of the ocean steamship lines running from this port to build a fleet of five vessels, and are figuring to build a few steel cruisers for the navy.

MUNCHAUSEN.

Three staid citizens of the good old town of Durham came down the river in a boat on Friday to this, their accustomed trading port. But Portsmouth refreshments apparently proved too much for them, for at the last accounts one of them had been overboard at the north end, and was chilled way through. It is not yet known how they arrived home. Residents on the river banks of the Piscataqua ought to know by this time that the river is not to be fooled with.

Our old friend "Sam" Sides, who is equally at home on the quarter deck of a ship or schooner, cooking the main dish for the "Piscataquatio Chowderheads," engineering the Great American Dime Show (and incidentally making the very worst music that was ever produced,) or landing a lightkeeper through a surf that makes the passenger's hair stand on end like quills upon the "animile" in the Show, is second mate of the fore-and-aft ship Jonathan Bourne, now at this port, and doesn't look a day older than when we last saw him, three years ago. We forgot to ask him who ate the bears and the turtles.

TO THE OLD BLUE COATS.

The following is the poem written by Comrade Rich, of Storer Post, G. A. R., and read by Post Commander M. M. Collis at the reunion on Thursday evening:

A greeting here to all, who bore
With patriot devotion,
The Union arms upon the shore,
Or on the stormy ocean.

To you grim Malvern cannoneers,
The echos of whose thunder
Are telling how—to Southern ears—
You tore their lines asunder.

To those who stood at Thornton's side,
With right their only armor,
And sunk beneath the British tide
The pirate Alabama.

Whose guns took England's breath away,
And rattled France's knocker—
To tell them that their protege
Had gone to Davy's locker.

To those whose duty showed no lack,
When danger beat to quarters,
When 'erst the lion Merrimac
Roared on the Hampton waters.

When war's dread wings hung over all,
As sombre as the raven's
You, with the "Grand Old Admiral,"
Steamed up the fiery havens.

And hail to you, whose weary feet
Long tracked the rebel minion,
O'er valley, mountain, stream and street
Throughout the Old Dominion.

While at your feet your brothers fell
You three long years persisted;
Then with the zeal that conquers hell
You nobly reenlisted.

Your faces once so dark with tan
The years have touched with pallor,
No longer now you seem the men
So full of strength and valor.

Would you, old soldier, bent with time,
Not seek the fabled fountain;
If it could give you youth to climb
With Hooker on the mountain?

E'en comrade Sherman's left the ranks—
Forsaken guns and mortars—
And, laureled with a nation's thanks,
Goes into winter quarters.

We see with pride, as age steals on,
He shows no vain ambition;
Nor weakly haunts the bays he won
To serve the politician.

Our goddess wears the jeweled band
His sterling manhood won her,
While Sheridan takes from her hand
His wreath of fadeless honor.

Well, comrades, since my limping muse
Is awkward in her paces,
In charity I must excuse
Your comments and grimaces.

But though she's shambling, lame and shy,
A grace sometimes she borrows;
And tears will cloud her homely eye
For all your wounds and sorrows.

R. E. RICH.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hoa..., Journal of Health.

To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold miseries, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of

Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

AYER'S PILLS are sugar-coated and purely vegetable—a pleasant, entirely safe, and reliable medicine for the cure of all disorders of the stomach and bowels. They are the best of all purgatives for family use.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the core open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those bitterly on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED,

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1880, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25 by mail, postpaid, or the receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

It is a fact too well known to be denied that if it were not for Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, hotel proprietors in Florida would put their rates up to ten dollars per day.

A Paris dispatch says China has informed France that if the French attack Bac-Ninh it will be considered a casus belli. It is reported that the French troops in Tonquin are suffering from dysentery.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla thoroughly cleanses the blood, stimulates the vital functions, and restores the health and strength. No one whose blood is impure can feel well. There is a weary, languid feeling, and often a sense of discouragement and despondency. Persons having this feeling should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify and vitalize the blood.

Patrick Dodd and his wife were found unconscious last Thursday morning in their room at the Penn house, New York city, having blown out the gas. They may recover.

It has been decided to continue the Ship Island quarantine station during the winter as a refugee station.

No matter what may be the name, or how long standing the trouble, Dr. Bensons Skin Cure will always cure skin diseases. Grateful hundreds of cured patients attest this fact. $1., at druggists.

Patrick Connor, a former section boss of the Connecticut Western railroad, was killed at Winsted, Conn., on the night of Nov. 21st, while sleeping on the track. He was decapitated.

Positive Cure for Piles.

To the people of this County we would say we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchisi's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to Cure or money refunded—internal, external, blind, bleeding or itching piles. Price 50c. a Box. No cure, no pay. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

On Tuesday, Nov. 20th, two hunters found a skeleton near the house of Joseph Comey in South Foxboro', Mass., and the remains have been identified as those of Harry Fales, an inmate of the Wrentham almshouse, who was deranged and escaped into the woods, February 18th, 1880, and probably died from exhaustion.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

MRS. JULIA G. CUSHING.

At Jackson, Mich., on the morning of the 22d inst., Jacob Crouch, seventy years of age, and considered the wealthiest farmer in the county, his daughter and her husband, Henry White, and a visitor named Moses Holly, of Transfer, Mich., were all found dead in bed, evidently having been murdered.

Gemmed with Pearls.

A mouth gemmed with pearls flashes radience every time it opens. The contrast between the ruby of lovely lips and the pearly teeth they enclose has winged the fancy of many a poet. Sozodont, fair ones, is the thing that most contributes to adorn the femenine mouth. It is pure, it is aromatic, it retains the natural color of teeth incrusted with yellow tartar. No gritty or other objectionable ingredient contaminates it, its odor is balmy, and its purifying operation thorough.

A Chinaman in Queensland had to give evidence in court and was asked how he would be sworn. His reply was: "Me no care; clack 'im saucer, kill 'im cock, blow out 'im matchee, smell 'im book, alle same." He was allowed to smell 'im book."

Sweet little Meg came into her Sunday-school class one morning, her eyes filled with tears, and looking up into her teacher's face, said: "Our dog's dead, and I guess the angels were real scared when they saw him coming up the path, for he's awfully cross to strangers."

"What influence has the moon onthe tide?" asked the teacher, and it was the very bad boy who responded that it didn't seem to have any particular effect on the tide, but he had observed that it seem to have considerable influence in getting them tied.—Oil City Blizzard.

A heavy rain came up as a Coney Island party was in swimming, and several rushed for the bathing-houses for fear of getting wet. Thompson's colt didn't know enough to come in when it rained; but these were another kind of fools.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

George W. Matchett, the oldest liar in the world, is going to his home in Baltimore to die. He claims to have been a tramp printer for seventy-three years, and during that time to have visited on foot every town and city in the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Central America.

The Rev. Atticus G. Haygood says: "Intelligence spoils no man for anything that a man ought to do in this world." There is where Atticus is in fault. Intelligence spoils a man for jury duty. In this place an intelligent man—one who knows anything about the case, or anything else—is promptly challenged by the defense.—New Orleans Picayune.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months, but began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life"

Dublin, June 6, 1881. B. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

ST. NICHOLAS,

EDITED BY MRS. MARY MAPES DODGE.

The New York Tribune once said: "In the avalanche of immoral literature that threatens the children, some strong, vitally wholesome and really attractive magazine is required for them, and St. NICHOLAS has reached a higher platform, and a more catholic range of wider practical usefulness than any of its predecessors or contemporaries." The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by ST. NICHOLAS was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of authors which that magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge,
Captain Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen,
Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton,
Charles Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller,
Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney,
Julian Hawthorne, Celia Thaxter,
Mary Mapes Dodge, Lieut. Frederick Schwatka,
Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, E. S. Brooks,
George W. Cable, Chas. G. Leland,
Susan Fenimore Cooper, John G. Whittier,
"H. H." W. S. Stoddard, C. P. Cranch,

and scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of ST. NICHOLAS is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In no other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

"A LIBERAL EDUCATION"

The reference to the wide resources in art and letters commanded by ST. NICHOLAS was never more fully illustrated than by the extraordinary list of attractions which that magazine announces for 1884. The following will be some of the leading contributors:

Louisa M. Alcott, J. T. Trowbridge, Captain Mayne Reid, Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen, Maurice Thompson, Frank R. Stockton, Charles Dudley Warner, Joaquin Miller, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney, Julian Hawthorne, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, Lieut. Frederick Schwatka, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, E. S. Brooks, George W. Cable, Chas. G. Leland, Susan Fenimore Cooper, John G. Whittier, "H. H.," W. O. Stoddard, C. P. Cranch,

and scores of other distinguished writers. The best artists and engravers illustrate the magazine. It has been truly said that the reading of ST. NICHOLAS is for the boys and girls who are fortunate enough to have it. In no other book or periodical is instruction so happily blended with recreation and amusement.

The price is $3.00 a year, or 25 cents a number. Book-sellers, news-dealers, and postmasters receive subscriptions, or remittance may be made direct to the publishers, by money or express order, bank check, draft, or in registered letter.

The late Ex-Governor Head carried a life insurance of $60,000, of which $50,000 was in regular companies, and the balance in relief associations.

Keeping a diary is not what it is cracked up to be. Thirty days of accuracy is about the limit of the endurance; but Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has never yet disappointed any one who has used it; secure a bottle for that awful cough.

The Manchester Union says that W. E. Brockway, the famous counterfeiter and forger, was thirty-eight years ago a merchant at Peterboro.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.
Mrs. JULIA G. CUSHING.

A woman named Fitzgerald, of Portland, Me., was probably fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp Friday evening. She had retired, and tipped over the lamp in trying to put it out, when the oil ignited and set the bed on fire.

Just Married.

How loving they are; this is always a sure sign. After the first year sometimes it don't hold good. When Charles comes home to you grouty and cross, snapping and snarling, unable to relish the nice dinner you have cooked, and feels as if there was a ton of pig iron in his stomach, he is troubled with dyspepsia, and Sulphur Bitters is the only medicine that will cure him.

The president has appointed Surgeon Robt. Murray, chief medical officer at General Hancock's headquarters, to be surgeon general of the army.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humor in the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

A Stalwart Old Enemy.

One of the toughest old adversaries of human comfort, and most difficult to exterminate, is rheumatism. Many middle-aged people suffer torture with it, and the old folks who have it find it the pest of their lives. The case of a venerable lady of Lewiston, Mass., is of great interest to the victims of this tough old enemy. Mrs. Swett says: I have been using Perry Davis's Pain Killer for about eight years. As soon as I apply Pain Killer I have almost immediate relief from pain.

In Quincy, Mass., Nov. 21st, a girl named Lynch, four years old, had her neck broken by being run over by a loaded team.

Couldn't Eat.

Mr. Thomas Sullivan, Fire Engineer, San Francisco, says his throat was so badly affected from cold, that for days he neither ate nor slept. St. Jacobs Oil cured him.

A dam a short distance above Vincennes, Ind., burst on the night of Nov. 21st, and did great damage in the city.

Buy "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" if you want a pure Whiskey, and take no other. The genuine bears the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons on the label and over the corks. Druggists and Grocers have it.

Convict Labor.

The Manchester Union deplores the prospect of bringing convict labor into the state by means of the convicted from the District of Columbia being sent to our state prison. The fact that the state prison in its size far exceeds the wants of the state for its own purposes, and that there is a large space heated and at the same time unoccupied, would seem to be a reason why these convicts should be sent to Concord. They must be sent somewhere, because the government has no prisons of its own suitable for their keeping. Prisoners convicted by the Federal courts of the state are confined in this prison.

The prisoners from the District of Columbia are the prisoners of the whole country, and must be kept somewhere in the prisons of the states. They are not so numerous as to seriously affect outside labor, and certainly if motives of humanity are to have any weight, the sending of these men to a prison where they will be industriously employed, securely kept, and better cared for than perhaps anywhere else in the country, is a consideration not to be lost sight of.

Coon Hunting.

Messrs. Herbert F. Norris, Henry S. Clark and two other Nimrods left Manchester in the afternoon train of Thursday, and at Raymond left the cars for a hill in Nottingham, accompanied by a trained dog, for a night's sport at coon-hunting. This pastime, which for so many years delighted our esteemed friend, Col. J. B. Clarke of the Mirror, carries with it a no small amount of active work. The hunters, supplied with guns, pistols, knives, lanterns, lunch-pouches and other accessories for the fray, go to the woods where the hungry coon at night comes from his hole to obtain the wherewithal to accumulate the fat for his approaching hibernation. The faithful dog which accompanies the hunters discovers the game and starts it up. The coon either takes to the nearest tree, which he ascends, or seeks refuge in a cleft of the rocks, and the sport consists in killing him and taking him to Manchester, and having a glowing account of the exploit appear in the Mirror of the next day.

On Thursday night, while most of the people of the state were asleep, the vigilant hunters climbed over rocks, travelled through bushes and wild growth, and were rewarded by the canine's discovery of a stalwart coon. The animal, scenting danger, made for a fissure in a rock, while the enemy, guarding the points at which he might emerge, cut a small tree, and making a pry proceeded to open up the place of retreat. The night was warm, and big drops of perspiration stood upon the brows of the Amoskeag hunters, who, finally succeeding in dislodging the coon, shot him with a revolver. He was subsequently found to weigh over twenty pounds, with an inch of fat over his body. The prize was supplemented by the capture of a smaller coon, which was secured by way of contrast.

The successful hunters went back to Manchester on Friday morning, and as they emerged from the station after their arrival, they wore airs of returning conquerors, in comparison with which the visages of the ancient Romans returning from their triumphal achievements were comparatively tame.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

In the Circuit Court of the United States the suit of the New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton will be on trial a part of this week, the court adjourning for Thanksgiving until Monday, Dec. 3d.

Daniel C. Remick of Littleton and Thomas D. Luce of Manchester have been admitted to practice in this court as attorneys.

On the equity docket in case Cole & Nichols against Elizabeth Warner and several others, and the Mechanics' savings bank at Nashua, concerning certain real estate mortgaged to the bank, a stipulation to enter "neither party" was filed. Wadleigh & French of Nashua for compt.; Stevens for the bank.

Loring F. Snow, an Eastern railroad brakeman, gets ninety days in Portland jail for stealing goods in transit.

A Washington despatch of Nov. 23d says: "Lieutenant Commander Charles M. Anthony, U. S. N., having been found physically incapacitated for active service, has been placed on the retired list of the navy."

In the court of commissioners of Alabama claims at Washington, last week, cases No. 606, Albert T. Salter, administrator of the estate of John H. Boardman, vs. the United States, and 4505, Samuel Welch et al. vs. the United States, were argued and submitted by F. W. Hackett for the claimants, and J. A. J. Creswell on behalf of respondent. Judgment was awarded in the former case for the amount claimed.

A Boston paper says that "William Smyth and S. W. Foss of Portsmouth, N. H., are to take charge of the Lynn Union, and it is stated that the name of the paper will be changed to Saturday Union." Mr. Samuel W. Foss was graduated from the Portsmouth high school a few years ago, and then entered Brown university; he has done considerable work with his pen, and wrote a poem which was read at one of the recent reunions of the High School Alumni Association.

MEDICAL.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that Hood's Sarsaparilla will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1878, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1878) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the diseased parts that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. S. S. MOODY,

THE BARROWS MURDER.

Confession of the Assassin.

A Cold-Blooded Butchery.

The jury of inquest, late Friday evening, confirmed the previous verdict that Barrows was murdered, and did not commit suicide. The county attorney ordered the arrest of Mrs. Barrows, widow of the deceased, and her son-in-law, Oscar E. Blaney, and they were accordingly taken into custody on Saturday morning, Mrs. Barrows being arrested at her home, and Blaney as he was proceeding to his work near the Kittery end of the Portsmouth bridge; they were taken to Alfred in the afternoon, and committed to jail to await trial at the January term of the supreme judicial court for York county.

That Mrs. Barrows was either the principal in or accessory to the murder was evident from the first, as her story regarding the manner of the shooting was manifestly false; and Boston detectives (Wiggin and Wood) who were called to aid in the case by the county attorney as soon as he moved in the affair, on Friday drew from her an acknowledment that her story was in part at least untrue. Her statement to them was that the first shots were fired near the stable, as she first said, and that hearing the shots she went into her bedroom and looking out of the window saw Mr. Barrows upon the ground near the stable. She immediately went to the residence of her son-in-law, and found him sitting by the fire, having just removed his shoes. She said to him, "Thomas has shot himself. Come down to the house with me at once." Blaney immediately put on his shoes, hitched his horse into his carriage and drove to Mrs. Barrows' residence with her. On the way Mrs. Barrows told Blaney that her husband was not dead, and on arriving at the house he passed through the front door, through the hall into the bedroom, where Mr. Barrows was seated on the edge of the bed. She immediately heard two shots fired, and rushing into the bedroom she found her husband lying dead.

After Blaney was arrested he was confronted with Mrs. Barrows, and her account of the murder told him, when he broke down and made a full confession. The pistol with which the murder was committed he bought in Dover, he having been a section hand on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad. He bought one cartridge with the pistol, and the same evening bought at A. P. Wendell & Co.'s store in this city six more cartridges. On the afternoon of the murder Blaney met Barrows on the Portsmouth bridge, and Barrows did not notice him, which made Blaney very angry.

Blaney went home, did the chores about the house, and then, taking his revolver, he inserted five cartridges in the chambers, placed it in his pocket, and started to walk leisurely to the house of his intended victim. On his way he discharged one barrel to see if the revolver was in working order. He got to the house about 8:25 o'clock and took his position under the shed, which adjoins the barn. This shed is simply roofed in, and is supported by several strong posts. Crouching in the further corner he waited patiently for Barrows'. appearance. He was not kept waiting long. Barrows came out of the house in about ten minutes and started toward the barn to feed his stock. In one hand he carried a lantern. When within a dozen feet of where Blaney lay concealed, the latter opened fire upon him. Barrows dropped the lantern to the ground, the light going out, and Blaney, now thoroughly frightened, dropped the revolver, rushed around the rear of the barn and took the road for home.

Blaney had not been long at home when Mrs. Barrows rushed in, exclaiming excitedly, "Thomas has shot himself; I want you to come to the house at once." Blaney immediately put on his shoes and went to the stable, where he harnessed his horse, and the pair started in the carriage for Barrows' house. On the way thither Mrs. Barrows said: "He is not dead; I am afraid if he gets well he'll make trouble." When they reached the house Oscar hastened to the shed and groped about in the grass until he found his revolver. Taking the two remaining cartridges which he had purchased, he reloaded two chambers of the revolver. Then going around to the front of the house he entered the front door and passed into the bedroom, where he found his father-in-law sitting on the edge of the bed, and groaning as if in great pain.

On perceiving his son-in-law, the injured man exclaimed, "Oscar, I have got to go soon, I think." "Yes," said Blaney, "Your time has come now," and drawing his revolver he fired. The first shot took effect in the hip; the injured man gave a deep groan, and raised his arm to his head as if he would shield his face. At this point Blaney fired the second shot, which, cutting the fleshy part of the forearm, buried itself in the brain of the defenceless victim. [In the CHRONICLE of Nov. 17th we suggested that the wound in his arm was made by the bullet found in his head, which turns out to have been the case.] Without a gasp and without a single sigh Barrows fell back on the bed a corpse. After firing the second shot Blaney coolly walked out of the rear door, and threw the revolver under the shed into the same place from which he had taken it a few minutes before.

The guilty pair then proceeded to notify the neighbors of the alleged suicide, and when they reached the scene Barrows was found upon the bed, where his wife said he had crawled after the shooting.

Barrows and Blaney had never agreed well, Barrows having been much opposed to Blaney's marrying Miss Cate, Mrs. Barrows' daughter by her former husband; and it is said they had several fights at different times. It is suggested that Barrows' antipathy for Blaney was caused by the fact that the property of Mrs. Barrows would eventually be left to her daughter, and that he would obtain none of it; in fact, it is stated that he had asked his wife to deed the property to him, but that she had positively refused to do so. It further appears that Mrs. Barrows had talked with her daughter and son-in-law of the unpleasant relations existing between them and Mr. Barrows, and that she had complained bitterly of ill-treatment that she herself received at his hands, and expressed the hope that something would happen to him, or that he would get out of the way.

GOSSIPS SAY

That Mr. Reuben E. Gilpatrick of this city, tree agent for James F. Leclare of Rochester, N. Y., sold about town on Thursday last one hundred and fifty-five dollars' worth of fruit trees and shrubs.

That Mr. C. H. Hayes, already one of the largest apple raisers in Rockingham county, purchased of Mr. Gilpatrick four hundred baldwin apple trees.

That Reuben is a good fellow, a veteran soldier, and deserves all the success that his wit and persistency enables him to achieve.

That the dance in Mechanics' hall on Thursday evening was gotten up and managed by three self-possessed young ladies of the south end, who pocketed a handsome little sum from their venture.

That Mason's steam saw mill has been painted a blood-red color.

That Comrades Haynes and Freeman pronounced the exemplification of the work in Storer Post of this city the best they had ever seen.

That the skating rink will open this evening with a new band and new music, the old band having been re-organized and four first-class players added to it.

DIDN'T PAY THE BILL.

Mr. Henry Bean of Newington came into the city on Friday for the purpose of persuading the mayor and board of aldermen that the city of Portsmouth was liable for the killing of certain sheep in Newington by dogs, but his honor the mayor, with siren tongue, finally succeeded in leading Mr. Bean to believe that if any corporation were liable it must be the town of Newington, and could not by any possibility be the city of Portsmouth. One of the sheep, when pursued, jumped into the river, and after swimming a distance of six miles to Badger's island, was picked up by a boat containing navy yard workmen from Eliot and carried ashore, being afterward reclaimed by the owner. Whether Mr. Bean's sheep were killed by dogs from Portsmouth or not, there are scores of worthless curs in the city which had better be exterminated, as they are of no earthly use.

A NOVEL FISH-HATCHERY.

Mr. Charles White, who owns a farm at Newcastle, near the Hotel Wentworth, has upon his premises a considerable pond of salt water which is fed from the ocean through a salt marsh. In cultivating his land last spring he placed upon it as dressing a quantity of fish spawn, a part of which was afterward washed down from the high ground into the pond by the rains. Hearing a rippling in the pond one day recently, Mr. White investigated the cause, and found the waters well stocked with young cod and haddock two or three inches long, besides some other varieties of fish with which he was unacquainted. This is the story as told to us.

A POSSIBLE INJURY.

Mr. Editor: I notice that in a late issue of your paper you state that it is reported the Eastern railroad intends to partially fill in with earth the bridge leading to Freeman's point. Since then I have expected to see in the report of the doings of our board of aldermen some steps taken to prevent this being done, but so far have not; and if they do not intend to stop this encroachment upon the waters of our harbor, it is time the citizens took hold of the matter. If this is allowed, how long would it before we should have another stench-hole similar to what the north millpond is? (did you smell it last Tuesday night?) or we shall have another Puddle dock ten times the size of our present one. But aside from the sanitary part of the question is the great injury that would be done to that portion of our harbor if this plan is carried out, almost doing away with one of its channals, and eventually the filling in of all the flats between Noble's island and the main land. Does any one suppose this can be done without injury to the harbor? It is such inlets as this, drawing in the water and letting it out again with the ebb and flow of the tides, as also at Great Bay, that gives to our noble river the swift current that enables us to boast that our river never closes. I write this out of no spirit of antagonism to railroads, for I do not think we as a people have any such feeling; don't we give them all they ask for? build new streets for them, and allow them to block up the old ones (Vaughan) with their trains whenever they wish to do so? I only wish to call the attention of the public to this, as in my humble opinion if allowed it will be regretted in the near future.

CONFEDERATE X ROADS.

PORTSMOUTH Y. M. C. A.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, and all others of whatever denomination who are interested in the welfare of the young men of this city and vicinity, will be held in Bow Mission hall, Market street, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28th, at 7:30 o'clock. The special object of this meeting is to consider the feasibility of establishing a reading-room and place of entertainment for young men. A good chance seems now to present itself for doing just that thing, and it is hoped it may not pass unimproved. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

D. H. MONTGOMERY, Pres't.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Hope then began to take the place of doubt hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wr-ck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a cur-e. In the summer of 188 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dead disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. BLAKE, Merchant, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring Blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston. ☞ Mailed free, "How to Cure Skin Diseases." Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled, THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Fifth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the medical man may desire either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the money, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or confering w'th the author, who can be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Says the San Francisco Post: "One of the latest bits of society news is that a Nob Hill family will be tabooed in first circles this season, because, at a recent dinner given by the family, one of the items on the menu was boiled onions, printed in English. This is the most flagrant social offence that has been committed in San Francisco since 1849."

Positive Cure for Piles.

To the people of this County we would say we have been given the agency of Dr. Marchisi's Italian Pile Ointment—emphatically guaranteed to Cure or money refunded—internal, external, blind, bleeding or itching piles. Price 50c. a Box. No cure, no pay. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

white teeth are more frequently seen than formerly. This is because our ladies have given the seal of their aprobation to Sozodont, foremost among toilet articles. This superlatively pure and salubrious preparation checks the further decomposition of the teeth, removes impurities which obscure their natural hue, strengthens them and makes the gums as ruddy and hard as coral, and communicates sweetness and rosiness to the mouth.

Belle of the Kissing Bee.

It would scarcely be doing the proper thing for me to write the name of our host or any of his family, but to such an extent did one of his many girls attract me that I have called her the "Catamaran," and will endeavor to describe her. A girl of medium height, with a deep brunette complexion, hair as black as the raven's plume, eyes as deep as the sea and as black as coals, with long eyelashes and teeth like a miniature graveyard, white and regular as the tombstones, about five feet three inches high and as straight as an arrow. A calico dress adorned her shapely person, and we looked with admiration at her as we sat in front of the door and asked the distance to Coffeeville. She said not a word, but her rosy lips seemed to curl with mingled scorn and admiration. Dimples graced her cheeks, and when she laughed—as she did after a while—her whole face was lit up in a way that is indescribable. Mr. Dash said it was not far to Coffeeville, but urged us to stay with him... Jake seemed to know him, and we concluded to stay for the night. The home was much like all other houses in this section, but the wife was a New York (Owego) woman of culture, and we spent the evening very pleasantly. And here I will again notice the "Catamaran." She said but little, but seemed to be ubiquitous. Here and there, everywhere in a minute. I could hear her talk to the other children—for she seemed to be the general manager—and her tongue would swing like a bell-clapper, but before us she said but little.

At about 8 o'clock she disappeared, and I looked in vain for her. After awhile a wagon was heard coming, and in a moment more a strapping big fellow of about 20 came in and asked for the "Cattamaran." "I'll be there directly," said her voice from some invisible quarter, and in a moment more she came bounding into the room completely metamorphosed. But I will not speak of her dress—for beauty unadorned is adorned most. "Come, let's hurry" said she, pushing her gallant to the door; "we'll be back when we get here," said she as she passed into the darkness, and in a moment more the sound of a hay wagon rumbling over the gravelly way all that was heard. I asked where she was going to, and her little sister said she was going to a "kissing bee," about ten miles away. She spoke as if it was nothing unusual and no comments were made upon it, but I thought of it after I had laid down and wondered if such was the custom of the country. She returned about 4 o'clock and was up and working as usual in the morning.

A greater number of "grass widows" do not, I venture to say, live anywhere in the same number of miles than can be found in the counties of Labette and Montgomery, Kansas. I think that out of twenty houses we passed ten of them were inhabited by those peculiar kind of widows whose husbands (or sometimes the wife) had "lit out" and gone away to the East, West, or Indian Territory.—Coffeeville (Kansas) Letter.

The queerest of trees must be the baobab, or monkey bread. It grows to the height of forty feet, "but its girth is entirely out of proportion to its height, some trees being thirty feet in diameter." An old baobab in Africa is, then, more like a forest than a single tree. The age is incalculable. Humboldt considers them as "the oldest living organic monuments of our planet." Some trees are believed to be 5,000 years old. You can cut a good-sized room into the trunk of a baobab, with comfortable accomodations for thirty men, and the tree lives on and flourishes. It produces a fruit about a foot long, which is edible. As an example of slow growth in England, a baobab at Kew, though more than 80 years old, has only attained a height of four and one-half feet. A kindred species to the African baobab grows in Australia. They have been measured, being thirty feet high, with a girth of eighty-five feet.

The fact that on looking back to the Egyptian monuments and inscriptions of 4,000 to 5,000 years ago, several of the best-marked races of man were already in existence, including the brown Egyptian himself, the dwarf, white Semitic man of Assyria or Palestine, and the Central African of two varieties, which travelers still find as distinct as ever, has led some of the most eminent anthropological writers of the present time to the conclusion that the causes which brought about their differences in types of skull, hair, skin and constitution in their chief work ten times before history began. Since then—as the argument goes—the races which had become adapted to their geographical regions may have, on the whole, undergone little change while remaining there; and, though some alterations are traceable, as due to migration into new climates, even these are difficult to follow, masked as they are by the striking changes produced by intermarriage of races—changes which took place during a prehistoric period of vast length.

"Rather picturesque sort of old people—quiet life—simplicity—out of doors—nature." Old people in question: "Takin' a photograph of thim did apple trees is it he's doin'? Is the young mon in his right moind, d'ye think, Mr. Mulligan? Ah, it's wonderful, Missus Maginnis; there's wan has set three days in the lane below a drawn' of Pat Riley's pigs. It bates all what he's willin' to do to make a livin'."

The wealthy and aristocratic Mrs. Jewel, who is stopping at a summer hotel, and has been making some inquiries of one of the waiters in regard to procuring the services of a laundress, opens her door in answer to a loud and imperative knock just before dinner time, and discovers Mrs. Mahoney on the threshold. Mrs. Mahoney: "Shure an' are you the woman that was spakin' to one of the hotel jintlemin about gittin' a lady to wash for you?"

How they found out—On a train two gentlemen were discussing the nativity of a third who sat near them. "I'll bet he's a southern man." "No, he looks more like a westerner." "We can tell by asking him a question, can't we?" "All right, for the cigars; now, he's a westerner, and I'll ask him the question." So he went across the car and politely said: "I beg your pardon, sir; but what time is it?" "Well sah," he replied, looking at his watch, "it is' bout fifteen minutes befo' fo'." That settled it.

1831 THE CULTIVATOR AND Country Gentleman 1884

THE BEST OF THE AGRICULTURAL WEEKLIES.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is the LEADING JOURNAL of American Agriculture. In amount and practical value of Contents, in extent and ability of Correspondence, in quality of paper and style of Publication, it occupies the FIRST RANK. It is believed to have no superior in either of the three chief divisions of Farm Crops and Processes,

Horticulture & Fruit-Growing,

Live Stock and Dairying;

while it also includes all minor departments of rural interest, such as the Poultry Yard, Entomology, Bee-Keeping, Greenhouse and Grapery, Veterinary Replies, Farm Questions and Answers, Fireside Reading, Domestic Economy, and a Summary of the News of the Week. Its MARKET REPORTS are unusually complete, and much attention is paid to the Prospects of the Crops, as showing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell. It is liberally illustrated, and is intended to supply, at a cheap price, an increasing degree, and in the best sense of the term, a LIVE AGRICULTURAL NEWSPAPER.

Although the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has been GREATLY ENLARGED by increasing its size from 18 to 20 pages weekly, the terms continue as heretofore, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

☞ All NEW Subscribers for 1884, paying in advance now, WILL RECEIVE THE PAPER WEEKLY, free from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1884, WITHOUT CHARGE.

To the Judge of Probate for the County of Rockingham.

RESPECTFULLY represents Jane M. Vandewalker, of Kalamazoo, in the State of Michigan, that Susan S. M. St. Clair late of Washington, in the District of Columbia, has lately deceased, intestate, having, at the time of her death, Estate in said County of Rockingham; that the said Jane M. Vandewalker is Guardian of Charles M. Stephens, a minor and heir at law of said Susan S. M. St. Clair.

WHEREFORE she prays that Administration thereof be granted to John S. H. Frink, of Greenland, in said County, accordingly.

Dated the 13th day of November, A. D. 1883.

JANE M. VANDEWALKER.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.—Probate Court at Portsmouth, in said County, on the second Tuesday of November, A. D. 1883.

UPON the foregoing petition it is Ordered that a hearing be had thereon at a Court of Probate to be holden at Exeter in said County, on the Wednesday next following the second Tuesday of December next, at ten o'clock A. M.; and that the Petitioner notify all persons concerned or interested therein to appear at said Court, and show cause if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, by causing said petition and this order to be published three weeks successively in the PORTSMOUTH DAILY CHRONICLE, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth, in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge.

WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

For the Blood

Swift's Specific has been a blessing to thousands afflicted with Skin and Blood Disease of every kind.

I was suffering from Blood Poisoning and Mercurial Rheumatism, and had spent $500 for treatment with no benefit, and it seemed that I was doomed to die. Caught at Swift's Specific as a drowning man would at a straw, and it has saved me from a horrible death, and cured me sound and well. It is the greatest medicine in the world.

C. H. SMILEY, Quincy, Ill.

HEREDITARY.—Swift's Specific cured me sound and well of a Scrofulous taint inherited from my ancestors. J. A. MAY, Macon, Ga.

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with Malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific relieved me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age. C. G. SPENCER, Sup't Gas Works, Rome, Ga.

The trial of Lewis List and his son, Lewis F. List, for killing George B. Taylor, Sept. 8th, was finished at Wilmington, Del., Saturday, and the jury rendered a verdict that the son was guilty of murder in the first degree, and the father in the second degree. The sentences are death and life imprisonment, respectively.

There were all the evidences of a coming storm; the very air vibrated with the oder of danger! but when the kind father took from his pocket a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup then came calm, for the baby had the croup and would now get well.

William Frye, whose wagon was struck by a New York express train on the Pennsylvania railroad at a street crossing in Philadelphia, Friday, and whose son and wife were then instantly killed, died Satur-day.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

The New York Morning Journal is now one year old, and has secured 85,000 circulation during that time. It also has a magnificent Sunday edition, which is growing rapidly. Mr. Albert Pulitzer, the editor, is receiving congratulations from all sources. His genius and industry merit the splendid record which his journal is making.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

Messrs. Lee & Shepard of Boston have published a beautifully illustrated series of ballads comprising "Ballads of Home," edited by Geo. M. Baker, with forty full-page illustrations. These are bound in rich gold and colors in new and rich designs, and are sold at $2.00. There are are also "Ballads of Bravery" and "Ballads of Beauty," each edited by Mr. Baker, and similar in design and execution to the "Ballads of Home." Accompanying these is "Gems of Genius," being sketches of famous painters and their pictures, by Harry W. French, author of "Castle Foam," etc. These are selections made from studies of Europe of the last generation, from the works of artists of acknowledged celebrity, and the interesting stories upon which the paintings are founded are given. These books are beautifully bound, have gilt edges, are complete in each volume, and will make a tasteful and welcome present for the coming holidays. Sold by Goodrich.

"The Tinkham Brothers' Tide Mill," by J. T. Trowbridge. Boston; Lee & Shepard; price $1.25.

This is the latest of Mr. Trowbridge's stories, re-produced from the St. Nicholas, and has that peculiar charm for the boy of the period, so much to be enjoyed that the parent always has to be on the alert at this season, to supply a demand for this kind of literature. There are forty chapters, each full of interest, with a sad catastrophe, inserted by way of caution, perhaps, to boys with too much tendency to webfootedness.

A Stalwart Old Enemy.

One of the toughest old adversaries of human comfort, and most difficult to exterminate, is rheumatism. Many middle-aged people suffer torture with it, and the old folks who have it find it the pest of their lives. The case of a venerable lady of Lewiston, Mass., is of great interest to the victims of this tough old enemy. Mrs. Swett says: I have been using Perry Davis's Pain Killer for about eight years. As soon as I apply Pain Killer I have almost immediate relief from pain.

Sergeant Mason, who shot at Guiteau, has been pardoned by President Arthur, and will eat his Thanksgiving dinner with "Betty and the baby."

Couldn't Eat.

Mr. Thomas Sullivan, Fire Engineer, San Francisco, says his throat was so badly affected from cold, that for days he neither ate nor slept. St. Jacobs Oil cured him.

The republicans of Dover on the 24th inst. renominated Hon. James E. Lothrop for mayor.

Buy "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" if you want a pure Whiskey, and take no other. The genuine bears the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons on the label and over the corks. Druggists and Grocers have it.

Another Butchery.

An alarm of fire, about five o'clock Sunday morning, called the inhabitants of Laconia to the house of James Ruddy, but the flames were extinguished before the fire department arrived, when it was found that not only had there been incendiarism, but three of the most fiendish murders which ever disgraced New England, and a narrow escape by a fourth victim.

Ruddy, a man about forty-four years old, an employe in the Laconia car works, with his wife, about thirty-six, and their child, about a year and a half old, lived in the house. Ruddy and the child were found dead; Mrs. Ruddy, terribly wounded, had escaped by jumping through a window.

The murderer of Mr. Ruddy and his child was one Thomas Salmon, an Englishman about thirty-six years old, employed as a cook at the Flume house in the summer, and before that at the Pemigewasset house at Plymouth. He occupied the upper part of a tenement house in Laconia, of which the lower part was occupied by John Ford. It appears that Salmon left his house at eleven o'clock Saturday forenoon, with a wheelbarrow on which was a large trunk, and went to Ruddy's, nearly a mile distant, where he left the trunk, subsequently returning to occupy a room which he had previously engaged. Ruddy returned from his work at the usual hour Saturday evening, and the household retired as usual.

Shortly after four o'clock Sunday morning Mr. S. S. Andrews, who lives near Ruddy's house, heard a woman's screams, and rousing his son the two men hurried in the direction of the cries, and found Mrs. Ruddy lying below a front window, bleeding profusely. She said, "Pick me up; I'm cut all to pieces," and was carried across the street to the house of Charles Filgate, where she soon became unconscious. In a few moments flames were seen in the Ruddy house, but the door was burst open and the fire soon put out.

By this time the officers who had been telephoned for had arrived, and entering the house found lying upon the kitchen floor the body of Ruddy and his child, both cut in a horrible manner, and covered with the contents of a feather bed which had been saturated with kerosene and set on fire, both bodies being disfigured by the flames almost past recognition. Near by in the bedroom was the trunk before mentioned as wheeled from Ford's by Salmon, and also the lifeless body of a woman recognized to be Mrs. Ford, who was identified by her husband, who soon arrived. He said it was his trunk and wheelbarrow, but requested it to remain quiet. The bedclothes had been placed on the body and saturated with oil, as the can was found nearly empty, and an attempt had been made to burn it. An examination revealed that the legs had been chopped off and the limbs bound to the body with a clothes line, apparently to make the horrid burden go into the trunk.

Mrs. Ruddy, on recovering her senses, made a deposition substantially as follows:

"All went to bed about nine o'clock. At eleven o'clock Salmon came into the front room, went to the window, pulled the curtain one side and looked out; he said he was nervous and could not sleep. She got up and made him a cup of tea and went back to bed. At four o'clock Salmon came into the front room again, looked out of the window and went back into the kitchen. My husband and I got up, and he went into the kitchen also; I soon heard a fall, and going out found my husband hanging over a chair, arms down. Salmon started for me and struck at me with a hatchet, striking me on the head; I grabbed his arm, but he then struck me and threw me on the floor. He then went into the front room and killed the baby; the baby was crying quite loud. While he was there I tried to unlock the kitchen door, but he came back and struck me on the head, again knocking me down; I laid perfectly quiet. He then went back into the front room, got the baby, and came back, pouring feathers and straw over us, and going out. I got up and went to the front window; tried to get it up but could not; I then broke a pane of glass and jumped through. He was very nervous, walking in the kitchen nearly all night. I did not know but the trunk was all right."

Mrs. Ruddy's injuries consist of a cut nearly severing the left wrist, one finger cut off, and bad cuts on the face, neck and back. She is positive the murderer was Thomas Salmon.

Mrs. Ford, the first victim in this tragedy, at the time she married Ford was the widow of William Scales, who left her in comfortable circumstances; she was married to Ford less than a year ago. On Friday she told her husband he need not return from Lake Village that night, a request which he seemed ready to comply with. The supposition is that Mrs. Ford died from strangulation or being drugged, as she frequently indulged in strong drink. On Saturday evening Ford called at a neighbor's house, and leaving the family Bible, remarked that his wife had gone away with another man and he wished they should keep the Bible till called for, and if his wife should come and attempt to sell the household goods to immediately notify him. There being strong suspicion that Ford knew more than he told of the murder of his wife, he was arrested Sunday forenoon.

The murderer was arrested about two miles from Plymouth, and twenty from Laconia, Sunday afternoon, being met while walking toward Plymouth by Sheriff Brown. On being arrested Salmon acknowledged wheeling the trunk from Ford's to Ruddy's, but declared he did not know what was in it, nor that the Ruddys were dead, he having left the house at five o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Ford was unquestionably murdered in one of the rooms of her house, by Salmon. She had been on intimate terms with him, though her friends believe she was not guilty of flagrant immorality; but she had visited saloons with him, and it is said had got drunk several times recently. She was seen on the street in Laconia with Salmon about seven o'clock Saturday morning, and that is the last known of her being alive. Ford and Salmon were on the best of terms.

The general impression in Laconia on Sunday was that Mrs. Ford was unintentionally killed by Salmon; that in endeavoring to conceal the matter he took the body to Ruddy's house, and was discovered by Ruddy while attempting to remove the trunk at night. Others had the theory that he intended to burn the body in his room, himself leaving that part of the country, so that the skeleton when found in the ruins would be thought his, and that Ruddy detected him before he could set the fire.

A Southern Pacific railroad train was ditched fifteen miles west of Deming, New Mexico, Saturday, the engine and express car being thrown from the track by five masked men, who shot the engineer dead, and then passed through the passenger cars holding the conductor and one passenger before them. Their booty was not large.

The body of Frank Everett, a book agent for a Boston firm, was found in a mill trench at Lonsdale, R. I., Saturday. A jury of inquest has been summoned.

MEDICAL.

WE DO NOT CLAIM

that HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA will cure everything, but the fact that on the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system, and that disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause, we are naturally led to the conclusion that a remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it, as HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use; hence the field of its usefulness is quite an extended one, and we are warranted in recommending it for all derangements of the system which are caused by an unnatural state of the blood.

Why Suffer with Salt-Rheum?

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

Gentlemen—I was a great sufferer from Salt-Rheum on my limbs, for a dozen years previous to the summer of 1876, at which time I was cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. The skin would become dry, chap, crack open, bleed and itch intensely, so that I could not help scratching, which of course made them worse. At the time I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla (in the summer of 1876) they were so bad that they discharged, and I was obliged to keep them bandaged with linen cloths. The skin was drawn so tight by the heat of the disease that if I stooped over they would crack open and actually bring tears into my eyes. The first bottle benefited me so much that I continued taking it till I was cured. I used one box of Hood's Olive Ointment, to relieve the itching. Hoping many others may learn the value of Hood's Sarsaparilla and receive as much benefit as I have, I am,

Very truly yours,

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

MONDAY, Nov. 26th.

James Ennis and Jarold Haley, two tramps, were up for drunkenness, and were allowed half an hour in which to get out of town.

The schooner Ida L. Howard, bound from Bangor for Boston with a load of lumber, was towed into the lower harbor about nine o'clock Monday forenoon by a fishing schooner, being in a waterlogged condition. The Ida L. Howard has been rather unlucky recently; not many weeks ago she was bound to this port from one of the coal ports with a cargo for O. F. Philbrick & Co., and while at anchor in Dutch island harbor was run into by the schooner Diadem, losing her head gear and being so much damaged otherwise that she had to dispose of her cargo in Newport, R. I., and go to her home port, Portland, Me., for repairs.

Sea-Side Lodge, the pretty little cottage at Pocahontas point, Gerrish's island, owned by Mr. Joseph R. Curtis of this city, was burned Sunday evening last about half-past eight o'clock. Mr. Curtis with a few friends had been at the cottage during the day; the weather being warm no fire was kept after dinner, and the party left for this city about four o'clock P. M. The fire was seen from Kittery Point by Mr. Thomas Billings and Mr. John Safford, about eight o'clock, and they took a boat and went to the island, arriving there just before the walls fell in, but no person was seen near the burning building. The cause of the fire is unknown. Mr. Emery, manager of the Jennison farm, knew nothing of the fire until Monday morning. Insured to the amount of $450.

The brick fleet, some of the vessels of who had been lying in the lower harbor for a week or more, took advantage of the "slant" on Sunday to start for Boston, where the D. K. Ham, Triton, Lewis R. French, G. W. Raitt, Hattie Lewis, Gold Hunter and Wave arrived on Monday.

Mrs. Abby Badger, with the assistance of her father, Mr. Enoch Coleman, has collected eleven hundred buttons, all eye-buttons, and no two alike. They weigh three pounds and five ounces, and the string measures twelve feet eight inches in length, the buttons being strung as close as possible. This string of buttons will be on exhibition for a few days in the show window of O. M. Knight's bookstore, No. 37 Congress street.

The barque Harvard, Pray master, from New York for Yokohama, Japan, passed through Hell Gate on Friday, Nov. 23d, and anchored in Hart island roads on account of adverse weather.

It is suggested that perhaps some missionaries from Mississippi, Virginia, South Carolina or Texas, or possibly New Mexico, could be secured to venture into the wilds of Maine and New Hampshire in an endeavor to convert the people to Christianity. The missionaries would need to be daring men.

The schooner Mary Willey, Capt. Williams, arrived in the lower harbor on Sunday evening from Bangor, and came up to the wharf Monday, with 40,000 feet of long lumber, 100,000 laths, and 500,000 shingles, for John H. Broughton. The brig Glenarchy, from Sydney, Cape Breton, with 432 tons of coal to J. Albert Walker, arrived the same day; the brig was about two weeks overdue, having been detained by the bad weather.

The Portsmouth Cavalry have received an invitation from the Strafford Guards to be present at their ball in Dover on Thanksgiving eve.

We are glad to learn that the officers of the York County Fish & Game Protective Society intend to vigorously enforce the law against hunting or killing game or birds of any kind on Sunday. This law is not so generally understood as it should be. It not only prohibits the killing of game, but includes hunting likewise; hence, if any parties are found strolling about the woods, fields or marshes on Sunday with guns, it will be construed that they are out on a hunt. What other purpose could they have in roving about the country with guns?—Biddeford Times.

The Life-Saving Service.

The annual report of the superintendent of the life saving service shows that at the close of the year 194 stations were in operation, of which 140 were on the Atlantic coast. The results of all the disasters within the scope of the service aggregate as follows:

Total number of disasters, 416; total value of property involved, $7,242,720; value of property saved, $5,671,700; property lost, $1,500,000. Total number of lives involved, 4,036; number saved, 4,017; number lost, nineteen. Total number of shipwrecked persons succoured at stations, 651; total number of days succour afforded, 1879. In addition, twenty-two persons have been rescued who had fallen from wharves, piers, etc., and would have perished without the help of the life-saving crews.

The disasters during the year exceed by seventy-one those of the year preceding. The amount of property involved was $2,476,493 greater than in the preceding year, but the amount lost was $88,750 less, while the amount saved was $2,565,243 more. The number of lives lost was seven more than in the preceding year, but in proportion to the number of persons endangered was six per cent less.

The assistance rendered in saving vessels and cargoes has been much larger than in any previous year, 337 vessels having been worked off when stranded or otherwise assisted. There were besides 125 instances (thirty-nine more than in the preceding year) where vessels running into danger of stranding were warned off by the night signals of the patrols, most of them thus being saved from damage. The superintendent attributes much of the high efficiency of the service to its utter exemption from political influences.

A democratic paper, the Vicksburg (Miss.) Post, commenting on the political murder of the white republican, Matthews, at the polls at Hazelhurst, Copiah county, says: "A free ballot and a fair count does not seem to be the motto of the Copiah county democracy. In the attempt to cast his vote at Hazelhurst, Matthews received a charge of twenty-four buckshot in his face, killing him instantly. He went to the polls single-handed and alone, and in the attempt to exercise his privilege of American citizenship was shot down like a dog. This is the worst murder that has occurred in Mississippi since the Chisholm killing. It will injure the good name and material prosperity of the state. Every bullet that was shot into Matthews will be worth thousands of votes to the republicans, because it will be said, and it cannot be denied, that he was killed on account of his politics by intolerant democrats."

Paine is continually adding New Styles to his immense stock of fine furniture. Dining Room Tables and Chairs. New Styles in Chamber and Parlor Suites have just been added, also a number of New Styles in Book Cases are now being finished. Everything made and finished by him is warranted to be as represented and to give perfect satisfaction or money returned. One entrance is on Canal street, No. 48, opposite Maine depot.

At Bangor, Me., Saturday, Selden A. Brown, thirty-five years old, shot himself through the head with a revolver in his mother's dooryard, inflicting a fatal wound.

Mrs. Enos Bolton, aged ninety years, was burned to death in her house, which was destroyed by fire Saturday night, at Braintree, Vt.

Mrs. Samuel Snow, aged sixty years, committed suicide in Manchester, Me., Sunday morning, by cutting her throat with a razor.

Phebe Paullin, aged seventeen years, was found dead in a field near Orange, N. J., Sunday, having been outraged and murdered.

PORTSMOUTH Y. M. C. A.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, and all others of whatever denomination who are interested in the welfare of the young men of this city and vicinity, will be held in Bow Mission hall, Market street, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28th, at 7:30 o'clock. The special object of this meeting is to consider the feasibility of establishing a reading-room and place of entertainment for young men. A good chance seems now to present itself for doing just that thing, and it is hoped it may not pass unimproved. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

D. H. MONTGOMERY, Pres't.

Six million feet of lumber left Bangor, Me., last week, the number of vessels departing being fifty-nine. The ice has all left the river, and the prospect is that the port will keep open for some time yet.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD
SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain, gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 1881, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.
Sworn to before United States Commissioner. J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify the Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA, CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES.

An Evening Stroll.

One eve at the close of a bright Summer day,
As the clouds in the east sank to rest in array,
I strolled over meadows away and away.
To a fairy like forest unknown,
And I met a fair maiden of angelic hue
Tripping o'er the meadows, and then I saw, too,
A beautiful cloud drifting over the blue
Lovely bosom of heaven alone.

And I passed by a cottage that stood on the green,
Where children arrayed in a circle were seen
All shying and watching a sweet little queen
That ran with her kerchief around;
Still I heeded them not, but gazed in through the pane
Of the window, and lo! on the mantel again,
I saw the same form I saw on the plain,
That the rustical maiden had found.

Still onward I went till I came to a wood,
Where the rays of the sun slept in dim solitude,
So calm and profound that I feared to intrude
And disturb their angelic repose;
But inward I went and I found in a dell
Old moss covered logs and a lone water fell,
And a tenantless cabin and near it a well,
And an odorous bush of wild rose.

Just then a sweet melody rose with a swell
From the shadowy depths of this lone water fell,
And rang with the echoing sound of a bell,
And again it grew suddenly still;
And again it arose with an energy a tune
As ever enchanted a forest in June,
Or a nightingale sang in the light of the moon
On a tree waving over a rill.

A feeling delicious ran over my veins,
As I listened bewitched to its musical strains,
Intermingling in music all over the plains,
Like harpers that ripple their strings;
And this music reechoed around and around
In the twilight so dim of the forest profound,
As sweet as the mocking bird's musical sound,
That clings to a willow and swings.

UP THE FLUE.

"You must have some rare experiences to tell us, Mrs. Boswell," said persuasive Lieutenant Russel, while we waited for the mail stage. "You have been at this frontier post ever since Captain Boswell was stationed here?"

"Yes; we have been here eight years," she replied, with the rare smile that glorified her face. "I have passed through many trying ordeals here, but I really think that I had an adventure in the East, before I married the Captain, equal to anything that I have experienced."

"Will you relate it, and oblige us?" urged Russel.

"Thank you," said our little hostess, "I don't mind."

Three of us were sitting in an inner apartment of the small frontier hostelry. The bar-room was packed with miners, and we had chosen to have our suppers served by ourselves, as we had appointed to go on to Custer City in company.

"It was in 18—," she began; "I had just made the acquaintance of Captain Boswell, as he, having some business matters to arrange with father, had called at our place several times. Finally, there came a rare day in autumn, and he and father were closeted the greater part of the day, overhauling papers, memoranda, deeds, and receipts. My father at the time was doing a great deal of business as an attorney.

"At teatime father said to me: "Bess, you won't mind an evening alone, so long as Thomas is about, will you?'

"I said no, for although there were many robberies being committed in the neighboring cities, private families in the suburbs felt no fear. Our house was a mile from the city proper, and a half mile from neighbors either way.

"'We find,' he continued, 'that the Captain has got to hunt up some more papers, concerning his claim before he can give Barron a satisfactory title. We shall go to Judge Whitcomb's office, and our search may be so successful that 11 o'clock will find us home again. Still, we may be detained longer. Shan't I call and tell your cousin Milly to come down and spend the night with you?'

"'No—yes,' I contradictorily answered. 'Do as you please; I am not timid in the least, with Thomas about.'

"'But Captain Boswell is going to leave $5,000 here until he returns.'

"'Does anyone know about the money?'

"'Only ourselves.'

"'Then I am not afraid. Besides, you are likely to be back before graveyards yawn and thieves do walk abroad.'

"Thomas brought the horse round, and while father spoke to him I touched the Captain's sleeve:

"'Where is your money left?'

"'In your father's desk in the library.' Then he looked with a tender, inquiring glance into my face (how the little woman's cheek flushed at the memory) and said: 'Little girl, if you are the least afraid we will not go together, although it is absolutely necessary.'

"I told him, honestly, that I was not afraid. I never had that strata of timidity in my make-up peculiar to womanhood, and so they rode away.

"I sang about my work as I put things in shape around the room, and viewed the brilliant sunset, without a fear or care.

"Thomas, our new man-of-all-work, was very busy pottering about the grounds, tying up grapevines and mulching evergreens. I knew there was some coarse aftermath upon the hill that father was anxious to have put on the strawberry beds, and seeing Thomas go up there with his basket I tied a scarf over my head, took another basket and went up to help him.

"As I passed up the hill I saw a man in the highway speak to him. I hesitated about going on, but the man made only a moment's pause and then went down the hill, and was soon concealed by a turn in the highway.

"'Who was that, Thomas?' I inquired.

"'Oh, miss, it was a man from the mills, saying that my brother has had a bad fall on the dam, and is bellowing for me to come and see him. His legs are broken entirely.'

"'What will you do?'

"'I told the man I could not come to see him to-day—but if I went, miss, I would be sure to be back by 11 o'clock, if not earlier.'

"'You may go, Thomas, if your brother is hurt so bad. Papa will not be away long.'

"'But my young lady—'

"'Never mind me in such a case as this.' I always was very tender-hearted. 'You may go, and I will run right back to the house.'

"He talked a few minutes more, was profuse in his thanks for my kindness, and then started down for the city. I took up the two baskets and went singing to the house.

"I sat an hour by the open window, enjoying intensely this being alone, and the quiet beauty of the cool autumn evening.

"Perhaps you will wonder at this," and the dimples played about her pretty mouth, "but little birds were singing a new song in my heart, and the quiet let me hear the sweet echoes.

"But directly I chided myself for being rather careless, as the road was a thoroughfare, and a chance straggler might surprise me. I arose, closed my window, and obeying some strange, impressive power, I walked through the hall into the library, took my father's key from its accustomed place, unlocked his desk, found the package of $5,000, and placing it in my bosom, relocked the door, and returned to the sitting-room. I did not light a lamp; I had no need of a fire, as that from the kitchen stove warmed the sitting-room sufficiently in this mild weather.

"The house was old-fashioned, very, with a fireplace in the sitting-room opening up into a chimney of capacity sufficient for a foundry stack. We had cheerful, open fires later on; but the house being an ancestral pile, was getting somewhat dilapidated, and the partition separating the flues in the large chimney had fallen in. Men had been sent out to clear the rubbish and make repairs, but the work, half done, was suspended on account of the arrival of Captain Boswell and this important business affair.

"I would have enjoyed immensely to kindle a sparkling fire in the huge wide fireplace, but as affairs were I could not. So I mused in the darkness for hours. I really took no heed of the time, until my quick ear caught the sound of a foot-fall approaching, close up to the doorstep, I could have taken my oath. It was so light an echo that I sprang to my feet, thinking that my cousin Milly, absent when my father called, and returning later, had come to stay with me.

"I sprang up with a smile to answer her knock, albeit I was a bit jealous of her pretty face; but no knock came, and the echoes died out, and altogether I concluded I had deceived myself in regard to them. Anyhow I would light the lamp. I did so, and was startled to find it past 10 o'clock. I was sufficiently aroused from my reverie to want a book from the library shelves. I took up my lamp and went singing into the room.

"I obtained the desired volume, stepped down from the stool, and—

"If any one ever felt themselves dying I did at that moment. My song died on my lips, while a thousand thoughts seemed to flash into my mind in one instant. Involuntarily I gasped, and then with a strong effort of the will power, for which I am famous, I took up the song again and sang it to the close.

"Among other things I remembered that the lock was off the library door for repairs. I remembered the lateness of the hour and the probability that all the people were in bed and asleep. I remembered the footsteps in the dooryard, and—there was a fresh pungent smell of tobacco smoke in the room, A scent of smoke that was not in the room when I was there and placed the package of money in my bosom.

"Do you wonder that my brain reeled and they nearly stopped beating for an instant? Besides, whoever the robber was, he would soon begin work, not knowing how early my father and the Captain might return. And I should be murdered. Somewhere within a few yards or a few feet of me the robber assassin was concealed, either in the recess behind the cabinet or under the long, draped, paper-strewn table.

"A faint sound outside nearly made me set down the lamp; still I had unconsciously left my first song and was singing:

'For his bride a soldier won her
And a winning tongue had he.'

"I knew that temporary salvation—power and liberty to leave that room, even—depended upon my appearing unconscious of the robber's proximity.

"I got out of the library and found myself in the sitting-room. A hasty glance at the door showed the key absent from the lock.

"Treachery!

"I wonder that this new revelation did not suffocate me. The man on the highway—the injured brother—Thomas had betrayed us. He had overheard about the money. A robber was in the house and another was outside. My retreat would be cut off. How thoughts ran riot through my head! How would they kill me? Would I suffer long? At this instant I was sure that I heard a faint creak of the library door at the further end of the long hall.

"One swift, despairing glance around me, one wild idea of escape, and I extinguished the light upon the table, and crouching in the fireplace, I rested one foot upon the andiron, swung out the crane, stepped the other foot upon the strong support and rose up into the flue. Something touched my head. Thank God! It was the rope with which the dislodged bricks had been hauled out. Grasping this carefully with my hands, I held myself like a wedge in the opening. If I had envied large, noble-looking women before, I now had reason to be thankful for my diminutive form and ninety odd pounds of avoirdupois.

"I had little time, however, to think of anything except the imminent danger of knocking down a fragment of brick or mortar, and thus discovering my hiding place, for the clock began with sonorous peals to strike 11. Under cover of its echoes there were quick, soft steps in the hall, and the bolt of the outer door was withdrawn. The huge flue must have acted like a telephone, for I heard every sound with fearful distinctness. First there was a pause by the door of the sitting-room, then breathing in it, then whispering.

"I heard Thomas distinctly, when he said:

"'She isn't here; she's gone to bed, but the money is in the library.'

"'Be cautious,' advised a strange voice, 'and we may not have to hurt her.'

"They carefully retreated, and my heart struck off the seconds against my ribs in a way that was suffocating, for I knew that their search would soon be over, and what then?

"In less than five minutes they were whispering in the room again.

"'Confound her!' aspirated Thomas, 'she took the money with her.'

"'Then we will have it if—'

"'The pause meant all that the words could convey.

"The cold sweat was coming out of every pore of my body. The dust of the creosote had penetrated my mouth and nostrils, and I had to take one hand from the rope in their absence and place a finger upon my lips to prevent sneezing.

"'Come, hurry,' was the angry watchword exchanged between them, and I heard the stairs creak as they ascended to my chamber. Thomas was familiar with all the house.

"'Why did not I drop down and escape outside?

"'First, then, they had locked the outer door and withdrawn the key to prevent a surprise from without. Second, there might be a third confederate outside. But the most important reason of all was, it seemed to me, that I never could get out of the aperture that had allowed me entrance into the chimney. I ran the risk of discovery and death in any case.

"'Oh, why did not my father and his companion return? It might be hours first.

"They had found me absent from my chamber and the adjoining rooms. They no longer used extreme caution. They hurried from one apartment to the other. I could feel the jar of moving furniture, and closet doors were opened hastily. The upper portion of the house was ransacked, and then they came down stairs in haste the run. Time was precious to them now. With direful oaths they rummaged the lower floors, and finally returned to the sitting-room.

"'I saw the light here last,' said Thomas, moving with his lamp across the room, and here is the lamp on the table.'

"'She must have gone out.'

"'No; I watched for her, and every window is fastened on the inside.' Then he continued: 'Curse her! she's a witch!' and baffled, they stood and poured oaths after me. 'I'd like to catch her now.' How he ground it out between his teeth.

"'Shall we search more?'

"'It's no use; we've turned over everything under which a mouse could hide.'

"'What, then? Shall we waylay the old man and fix him?'

"'They haven't the money; it was left here.'

"'The cellar,' suggested the voice.

"'Once more they dashed out only to return in hot haste now; for there was the trot and rumble of a horse and carriage on the bridge between us and the city.

"'Stay,' urged the stranger, 'trump up some kind of a story, and we may secure the money yet.'

"'I would,' replied Thomas, 'but the girl is a witch, and I am just as sure that the girl is somewhere near us all the time, and would hand me over to justice——'

"'There was a scamper outside, and the sound of feet running toward the river came down the wide mouth at the top of the chimney. Father and Captain Boswell drove into the yard and up to the door just as the clock struck 12.

"'Thomas,' cried my father, in his ringing tones, 'come and take care of the horse.'

"Receiving no response from his usual prominent factotum, he sprang up the steps and uttered an exclamation of horror at finding the door open.

"'Boswell,' said he, 'we certainly saw a light here when we came down the hill.'

"'Quick, Jason,' said the Captain, 'there has been foul play here.'

"'Foul play! My God! my poor little girl!'

"'Father,' I strove to call, but the first attempt, choked in dust and soot, ended in a hysterical cough.

"'Where is that? What is it?' called my distracted father, and both men dashed for the library.

"I now strove to descend, but the movement brought down bushels of mortar and broken bricks from all sides and closed up the flue. I bethought me of the rope, and by sticking my toes in here and there I went up the chimney hand over hand.

"Agile as a cat, when I reached the top of the low chimney, I sprang down upon the roof and began calling loudly for father.

"You should have heard them run through the house and halloo before they located my voice. At last the Captain came out of doors.

"'Will you get a ladder, please,' said I; 'I want to get down from here.'

"'A ladder, Jason,' shouted the Captain, 'the little girl is on the roof.'

"'For the love of heaven, girl, how came you there,' said my father, as I landed upon the ground and began shaking the soot from my clothes.

"'I went up there through the chimney, papa. But you had better put up the horse—you will have to groom him yourself to-night—and then I will tell you all about it.'

"The Captain led me into the house, for I was trembling violently.

"'Now,' said father, being absent only a moment or two, without letting me have time to mop the soot from my face and hands; 'now tell us what this means—the little girl climbing the ridgepole like a cat at midnight?'

"In a few moments matters were explained.

"'Thomas, the villain!' ejaculated my father. 'I'll have him if I have to hunt the two continents for him, and he shall have his deserts.'

"He kept his word. Thomas got a term in the State prison.

"When I gave the Captain his money I should have burst out into hysterical sobbing, only I remembered the soot in time to prevent shading myself in black crayon; and Captain Boswell believed that stature and bulk were not always certificates of the best materials, and—"

"And," finished Dan, our jester, "it may be said, Mrs. Boswell, that you actually flew to his arms."

She smiled and bowed as the sonorous tones of the driver came in among us:

"Stage ready, gentlemen."

THE GREAT

German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work-shops; Clerks, who do not procure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities burst through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic. Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

SULPHUR BITTERS will build you up and make you strong and healthy.

Sulphur Bitters.

SULPHUR PLASTERS cure pain in the side. KAUFMANN'S PILLS do not gripe. 25 cents.

This porous plaster is absolutely the best ever made, combining the virtues of hops with gums, balsams and extracts. Its power is wonderful in curing diseases where other plasters simply relieve. Crick in the Back and Neck, Pain in the Side or Limbs, Stiff Joints and Muscles, Kidney Troubles, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sore Chest, Affections of the Heart and Liver, and all pains or aches in any part cured instantly by the Hop Plaster. ☞ Try it. HOP PLASTER

LAME BACK

— Proprietors, Boston, Mass. —

☞ For constipation, loss of appetite and diseases of the bowels take Hawley's Stomach and Liver Pills. 25 cents.

A FEW HINTS

FOR THE USE OF

AYER'S PILLS

DOSE.—To move the bowels gently, 2 to 4 Pills; thoroughly, 4 to 6 Pills. Experience will decide the proper dose in each case.

For Constipation, or Costiveness, no remedy is so effective as AYER'S PILLS. They insure regular daily action, and restore the bowels to a healthy condition.

For Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, AYER'S PILLS are invaluable, and a sure cure.

Heart-burn, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach, Flatulency, Dizziness, Headache, Numbness, Nausea, are all relieved and cured by AYER'S PILLS.

In Liver Complaint, Bilious Disorders, and Jaundice, AYER'S PILLS should be given in doses large enough to excite the liver and bowels, and remove constipation. As a cleansing medicine in the Spring, these PILLS are unequalled.

Worms, caused by a morbid condition of the bowels, are expelled by these PILLS.

Eruptions, Skin Diseases, and Piles, the result of Indigestion or Constipation, are cured by the use of AYER'S PILLS.

For Colds, take AYER'S PILLS to open the pores, remove inflammatory secretions, and allay the fever.

For Diarrhœa and Dysentery, caused by sudden colds, indigestible food, etc., AYER'S PILLS are the true remedy.

Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, and Sciatica, often result from digestive derangement, or colds, and disappear on removing the cause by the use of AYER'S PILLS.

Tumors, Dropsy, Kidney Complaints, and other disorders caused by debility or obstruction, are cured by AYER'S PILLS.

Suppression, and Painful Menstruation, have a safe and ready remedy in

AYER'S PILLS.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

How loving they are; this is always a sure sign. After the first year sometimes it don't hold good. When Charles comes home to you grouty and cross, snapping and snarling, unable to relish the nice dinner you have cooked, and feels as if there was a ton of pig iron in his stomach, he is troubled with dyspepsia, and Sulphur Bitters is the only medicine that will cure him.

—A young man, apparently a commercial drummer, got on the train, and, noting a pretty girl alone in the forward part of the car, approached her and smilingly asked, "Is this seat engaged, miss?" "No, sir," she quickly and pertly responded, "but I am, and he is going to get on at the next station." "Oh—ah—indeed—thanks—beg pardon!" and he quickly picked up his feet, after stumbling over them, and went into the smoking-car to be alone a while.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is designed to meet the wants of those who need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like Hood's Sarsaparilla. It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy. $1 a bottle; six for $5.

—Several people have been poisoned recently by eating bologna sausage. This is the result of allowing dogs to wear brass collars.

The constant feeling of being "played out" and "used up" can readily be removed by using Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

—Of course clothes don't make a man, but turn him loose on the street without any and see if anybody will speak to him but a policeman.

—"Yes," said an affectionate mother; "the first year of my daughter's marriage, I thought her husband was an angel; and I'm sure every year since I've wished he was one."

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

A Stalwart Old Enemy.

One of the toughest old adversaries of human comfort, and most difficult to exterminate, is rheumatism. Many middle-aged people suffer torture with it, and the old folks who have it find it the pest of their lives. The case of a venerable lady of Lewiston, Mass., is of great interest to the victims of this tough old enemy. Mrs. Swett says: I have been using Perry Davis's Pain Killer for about eight years. As soon as I apply Pain Killer I have almost immediate relief from pain.

The Holderness school for boys is to have a gothic brick church built early in the spring, costing $10,000, the gift of a wealthy young lady of New York city. She will also give the organ and furnish the interior completely, and pay the salary of janitor.

No medicine is half so good for a great variety of family complaints, as Ayer's Pills. They are easy to take, effective to cure, and are cheap and handy.

Levi W. Davis, a respected citizen of Wentworth, committed suicide by drowning in a watering trough Sunday evening.

Poisoned.

Thousands of persons are poisoned in America by the continued use of mercury, Iodide of Potassium and other minerals, for various diseases. The mercury works its way into the tissues, producing rheumatism and decay of the bones. The Iodide of Potassium eats away the coating of the stomach, and dries up the gastric juices which digest the food, and the patient lingers along in agony or is glad to die to get away from misery. Swift's Specific is a complete antidote to all this poison. It eliminates mercury from the system, removes the evil effects and of Iodide of Potassium, and brings back health and happiness. Send your address for a copy of Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases. The Swift Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

The Laconia Horror.

Mrs. Ruddy, the woman that Salmon wounded so terribly, and left dead, as he supposed, was comfortable on Monday, and there are strong hopes that she will recover. Salmon, the murderer, was brought from Plymouth to Laconia Monday forenoon, and was safely lodged in jail. The officers left the cars before arrival at the depot in the village to avoid the excited crowd that had gathered in anticipation of his arrival. He was not informed that Mrs. Ruddy was living. He denied all knowledge of what was in the trunk which he carried to Ruddy's house. Salmon's wife also came from Plymouth to Laconia, very much broken down and weeping. She is a woman of good reputation, and is not supposed to know anything about the murders committed by her husband. Salmon boarded at Mrs. Ford's, while her husband was away. Ford is a man of bad repute, but is not supposed to have had anything to do with the murder of his wife. Ford was at home for a short time on Friday, when Salmon was there, and all was well. Both Salmon and Mrs. Ford were hard drinkers at times. Opinion differs as to the motive of Salmon in killing Mrs. Ford, but after the murder he put the body in the trunk for concealment and conveyed it away. He put the trunk upon a wheelbarrow, and after wheeling it about, thinking what he should do with it, he appears to have become confused, and chancing to think of Ruddy's house, he wheeled it there, pretending that it contained part of his household stuff. It is supposed that during the night at Ruddy's he either told Ruddy what the trunk contained and asked his aid in concealing it, and then murdered him because he would not consent, and might expose his crime, or else he deliberately planned the murder of Ruddy and his family and the burning of the house to conceal the murder of the Ford woman. The coroner's jury are engaged in investigating the case. There is great excitement among the people of the vicinity.

"The Raven."

Among what Messrs. Harper & Brothers designate as their "sumptuous and entertaining books suited for holiday presents," recently issued, is "The Raven," by Edgar Allan Poe, illustrated by Gustave Dore. With comments by Edmund Clarence Stedman. A folio (uniform with Dore's "Ancient Mariner,") in illuminated cloth, with gilt edges, and published at $10 per copy.

This poem, which for four decades has fascinated so many readers and has been published in such a variety of volumes, comes with new zest with its comments by the New York poet, and accompanied also by illustrations from the conception of the genius of Dore in this his only set of illustrations to a work of an American author.

Mr. Stedman it will be remembered is the author of a very discriminating sketch of Poe, published a few years since by Houghton, Mifflin & Co., and dedicated to his friend Aldrich. He tells us in his comments that the poem first appeared in the American Review, a whig journal, and now appears with only the trifling changes from time to time made by its author. The present text, we are assured, is the most correct and effective review of this poem.

There is probably no living poet in our country, more capable than is Mr. Stedman of narrating with a clear and comprehensive knowledge the peculiar circumstances concerning the inception of this poem, analyzing its various phases, and leading us to a proper appreciation of its beauty, while he incites to Christian charity for the memory of the gifted genius whose excellences as a poet are described with the fervor of appreciative ability.

The illustrations are, as the publishers stated, "sumptuous." As we have always been accustomed to regard this as a personal poetic reminiscence, we had never supposed that the raven coming into the presence of the poet, found him surrounded with such magnificent accessories as we are shown in his chamber as he "opened wide the door," which in the artist's conception appears to have been the elegant double door which is found in fine houses, and seldom if ever in the retreats of poets of Poe's pecuniary circumstances. Less elegance and more simplicity would seem far more natural. But if the deceased artist, as it is claimed, had carried the poem in his mind for many years before the wondrous imagery it suggested took shape, we must defer to the ability displayed by this wonderful genius in this, the almost closing work of his life. The engravings are by the best engravers in this country. The cover is illuminated with a design by an American woman, the whole making one of the most magnificent volumes that has appeared for many a day.

THE NET CODFISHERY.

The Cape Ann Advertiser, of Gloucester, Mass., says the net codfishing fleet out of Gloucester now numbers twenty-six vessels, averaging fifteen fifty-fathom nets to a vessel. The nets are two and one-half fathoms in depth, of nine-and-one-half or ten-inch mesh, and if strung in line would reach a distance of nineteen miles. They cost about $14.50 each for netting, and with buoys, leads, etc., about $18 each, all fitted. Schooner "Morrill Boy," Capt. Russell G. Gill, Jr., in three hauls last week took fish enough to pay for her outfit of nets and leave a handsome surplus for her crew; her catch for the week was 43,000 pounds, giving her a stock of $1066.75, her crew sharing $124. This is the fourth season of this industry, which has now been established upon a firm and probably permanent basis. It was first suggested by Prof. Baird, when the United States Fish Commission was located in Gloucester for the summer of 1878. The professor then procured a Norwegian cod-seine, with which experiments were made on the "Old Man's Pasture," but without a very encouraging result, as the size of the mesh proved too small for our waters. In the fall of 1880, however, Capt. George H. Martin, then of schooner "Northern Eagle," secured an outfit of nets, and met with such success in Ipswich bay that other skippers were induced to follow his example. The result was full of encouragement, but the next winter, 1881-82, this method of fishery proved less satisfactory, and was abandoned. Last winter it was resumed, however, and again proved a success, and the outlook for this season is full of encouragement. The quality of the fish taken in gill-nets is much better than those taken on trawls, much better fares are ordinarily secured, and the saving in the cost of bait is an important consideration.

"The Story of Puff," by Mrs. C. M. Livingston, (Pansy's sister,) is one of the most fascinating stories of its kind ever written. It presents the autobiography of a canary, its haps, mishaps, reflections, etc., in the choicest and simplest language, with a rare blending of pathos and humor. The delightful little sketch is, indeed, worthy of comparison with the famous story of "Rab and his Friends," and will afford genuine pleasure to readers old and young. Sent postpaid on receipt of price, seventy-five cents. D. Lothrep & Co., Boston.

The many pleasure And health seekers visiting New Orleans should bear in mind that the 169d Grand Semi-Annual Drawing of The Louisiana State Lottery will take place on Tuesday, December 18th, 1883, under the sole vigilant care and honest management of Gen'ls G. T. Beauregard, of La., and Jubal A. Early, of Va., when over half a million of dollars will be scattered broadcast. Any information can be had on application to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La.

"The United Service" for December is the closing number of VOL. IX., and contains several papers of peculiar interest. The first article is on "the United States navy fifty years ago," and consists almost wholly of extracts from the journals of Dr. A. A. Adee, who was a surgeon in the navy from 1824 to 1844. "Suworrow" (conclusion,) by J. Watts de Peyster; "The Ships of the 17th century," by Rear Adm. G. H. Preble; and "Standing armies a necessity of civilization," by Capt. James Chester of the army, not only furnish entertaining reading, but good food for thought; and the editorial notes contain some valuable hints. L. R. MEDICAL.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

FARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I close. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cases, and my faith in its invincibility in curing scrofula has become absolute from the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not be slow in making the merits of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

A WORD CONCERNING THE

LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY.

In view of the recent unwarranted attacks made upon the honesty, integrity and fair dealing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," and the many doubts expressed as to the drawing and payment of prizes by this institution, we deem it but simple justice to make this voluntary statement regarding our dealings and experiences with the company, and to certify to the fact of having drawn and having been paid in full the prizes opposite our respective names.

These prize tickets were purchased of COL. B. FRANK MOORE, formerly of New York, but now of Chicago, to whose honest, straightforward, conscientious manner of conducting business, we bear willing testimony.

He never made a statement not absolutely true; never made a promise not strictly fulfilled, in connection with, and relative to the operations of "The Louisiana State Lottery." He never encourages to purchase of tickets by parties who are unable to take the risk or lose the amount of investment. On the contrary, he tells you not to invest if you haven't the money to lose, and certainly where there is no compulsion there should be no complaint if the investor fails to draw a prize.

As to the "viciousness and immorality" of Lotteries, we leave the world to judge. We are simply dealing in facts.

"Hat justitia ruat coelum."

These prizes were promptly paid on presentation of the tickets at the home office in New Orleans, which establishes beyond question the integrity and good faith of the company.

GOSSIPS SAY

That St. Mary's Benevolent Society will use to-night the handsomest covers for orders of dances ever seen in this city, at their ball in Congress hall.

That the most gorgeous sign in the city is that placed in front of Mechanic's block on Tuesday—a huge gilt horse-shoe, five feet long by three feet in width, bearing the name of O. M. Knight, bookseller and printer.

That the skating rink opened on Monday evening with a large audience of spectators and a crowded floor of skaters, every one of the hundred sets of skates being in use.

That the management offer special attractions for Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, which with the new and delightful music of the re-organized band will no doubt suffice to throng the hall.

That Sea-Side Lodge at Pocahontas point, burned Sunday night, is to be rebuilt early next spring.

That Valentine Hett, the enterprising city-expressman, has purchased the Langley residence on Deer street, and will soon occupy the same.

That the Hett Brothers are satisfied that Portsmouth is a good place to make money in.

That the young gentlemen who have so successfully conducted courses of assemblies the past two seasons will give an apron-and-necktie party in Congress hall Dec. 11th.

GETTING READY FOR WINTER.

Quite a number of the small crafts have taken up their winter quarters. A gondola is hauled up on the southerly side of Peirce's island, close in to the wall, where she will only float at the very highest tides. Most of the whaleboats employed at fishing during the summer and fall are lying in the channel between Peirce's island and the main land with their sails unbent, and one of them has been hauled out on Tuttle island. The fishing schooner Flying Dart is hauled up alongside the wharf next south of the Aqueduct Co,'s wharf, and the schooner yacht Wm. H Russell is moored off the head of the Foundry wharf. The schooner E. A. Creed, belonging to Laighton Brothers, is occupying the berth near Liberty bridge which she has filled for several winters past; and just across the dock are the Appledore island landing-stage and brow, a steam dredge and three or four scows, and the steam launch Bessie. The fishing schooner Storm King is hauled up at Herbert's wharf; and the fishing schooner Flying Eagle, the lobster smack Addie & Hattie, and the coasting schooner John Lenthall, at Randall & Caswell's. The Mary Willey, having made her last trip for this year between Bangor and this port, takes quarters at Broughton's wharf. The large schooner yacht Una, which has been lying idle for more than a year, is moored off one of the wharves at the Raynes shipyard; and two or three small coasters have put down their anchors for the winter in sheltered nooks behind the islands near Kittery point.

THE OLD CIDER MILL.

HILLSDALE, MICHIGAN, Nov. 23d.

Editor N. H. Gazette: In your issue of Nov. 8th I observed that your York correspondent, Mr. P——, says "the old cider mill has had a rushing business this season, working night and day; but no noise, as a liberal application of grease prevents it, so that if Elder Short were here now he would have to see, to believe."

Well, we are glad the old cider mill makes no noise grinding the apples; and probably the cider makes no noise running into the vat or barrel; and there is very little noise when it is working and getting ready to raise pandemonium. But O! what a hell it makes when the father and son drink it down, after it is taken from the mill to the home, where it causes a perfect bedlam, swearing at the wife and children, driving them out of doors to freeze and to starve.

Yes, Mr. P——, that "minister" was right; "liquid hell," sure. It makes a terrible noise, when the autioneer is selling the farm and household goods to pay the cider debt, and the funeral expenses of the father and son who went down to a drunkard's grave. Yes, there was some "damnation" about it, too. We guess our minister was right about it, after all. Oh! Mr. P——, if you will invent some kind of "grease" that will stop all the noise that cider makes, you shall have the thanks of all the temperance ministers in the land, and of all lovers of peace and quiet and happy hours.

Many thanks to Mr. P—— for the compliment paid us in placing us on the right side of the cider question.

ELDER H. SHORT.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

The documentary testimony of the defendants in the New Hampshire land suit occupied the time of the court on Monday and Tuesday. Among the papers put in was a copy of the will of Wm. King Atkinson, late of Dover.

On Tuesday Philip Carpenter, Esq., of Lancaster, and William H. Mitchell, Esq., of Littleton, were admitted to practice as attorneys.

The court will come in on Monday, Dec. 3d, at 3:30 o'clock P. M.

Daniel Mason's steam sawmill presents such an æsthetic coloring that it might be imagined that many homicides had been committed in that vicinity.

The schooner Ida L. Howard, before reported towed into the lower harbor in distress, on Tuesday rafted her deckload of lumber, in hope to lessen her draught of water sufficiently to enable her to haul on the flats and discover the leak.

Mrs. Barrows and Blaney are in Alfred jail, the latter charged with murder, and the former held in $20,000 as a witness. The woman is reported to be calm and apparently not much concerned, while Blaney is utterly broken down.

The gondola H. P. Spinney was on Tuesday loading with gas coal for Exeter, at the Gas-house wharf in this city.

The fishing schooner Fleur de Lis, at Russell's wharf, and the Albert Woodbury, at Randall & Caswell's, are being painted and otherwise fixed up in readiness for winter fishing.

Mr. Arthur Rand of Rye, who was so seriously injured about two weeks ago by a fall inside the eastern tower of the Portsmouth Machine Co.'s new building, has so far recovered as to be able to sit up for several hours at a time.

The masts and bowsprit of the schooner J. P. Nickerson, recently wrecked on the Eliot side of the Cocheco river about half a mile above its junction with the Piscataqua, have been hauled ashore near the old Foundry wharf at the south end. The hulk still lies where the disaster occurred, a large part of the cargo of bricks remaining on board; the vessel is worth nothing, and most of the bricks would cost more to save than they would be worth when landed. The masts were cut away at the deck, and the bowsprit was sawed off at the bow; the foremast is sound, but the mainmast is considerably rotten.

The blasting for the drain from the Pickering block through Commercial Alley was completed on Monday night, and the sewer pipe was laid and the ditch filled up Tuesday forenoon.

Hugh McDonald, a car coupler employed by the Concord railroad in Manchester, was instantly killed at Derry depot, on the Manchester & Lawrence railroad, Monday morning. He was substituting for a brakeman on the way freight, and as the train approached Derry he attempted to step from the engine tender to a brick car, and fell beneath the wheels. His head was cut off. He was twenty-five years old, unmarried, and resided in Manchester.

Five schooners of the brick fleet arrived from Boston on Tuesday.

Secretary of the Navy Chandler has approved the record of the court martial in the case of Ensign Guy A. Brown, tried on charges of culpable negligence, and inefficiency in the performance of his duties as officer of the deck of the United States tug Pinta, at the time of her collision with the brig Tally Ho on the passage from this port to New York, whereby the Tally Ho was sunk and became a total loss. The court found the officer guilty, and sentenced him to suspension from duty for the period of one year, to be reprimanded in public orders, and to retain his present number during his suspension.

In York harbor, last week were the schooner Karen Happuch, alias "Kicking Hannah," loaded with potatoes; the Gulnare, Goodwin, with produce, bound for a market; and the John & Frank, Perkins, loaded with bricks and lumber, for Hayti. The fishing schooners Flora Temple, Glynn; Rover's Bride, Bowden; and Young Selim, Philbrook, were also in port there.

Don't fail to see the "White" before purchasing a sewing machine.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Portsmouth Young Men's Christian Association, and all others of whatever denomination who are interested in the welfare of the young men of this city and vicinity, will be held in Bow Mission hall, Market street, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 28th, at 7:30 o'clock. The special object of this meeting is to consider the feasibility of establishing a reading-room and place of entertainment for young men. A good chance seems now to present itself for doing just that thing, and it is hoped it may not pass unimproved. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

D. H. MONTGOMERY, Pres't.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia.

E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.
NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those heretofore on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 186-, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel like a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, we offer the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purity and beauty the skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for remedies for diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. B. WILLIAMS.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 35c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston.

The Lime-Kiln Club.

Just previous to the opening of the meeting Prof. High Strung Smith entered the hall in great excitement and announced that some unknown person had followed him into an alley and attempted to assassinate him by aiming a blow at his head with a sand-club. A score of members rushed out, but the would-be murderer had made good his escape, and no clue could be found. Prof. High Strung is one of the only two men in America who can open his mouth clear back to his ears, and it is suspected that the other party, who lives in or near Toronto, has hired an assassin to put the Professor out of the way so as to have the entire field to himself. The Professor will hereafter arm himself with two revolvers and a Mexican dirk, and the public are warned not to approach him too suddenly or in a suspicious manner.

A FIZZLE.

In opening the meeting Brother Gardner announced that the Hon. Half-Shell Snyder, of Nashville, Tenn., was in the ante-room waiting to deliver a lecture on the subject, "The Progression of Man." The honorable reached Detroit out of money, hungry, hatless and almost discouraged. The President had boarded him for three days, lent him a shirt and other garments, and hoped to be repaid by listening to an interesting lecture upon a subject in which he had always taken a deep interest.

The committee then proceeded to the ante-room and brought in the celebrated orator. It was noticed as he entered the door that his face had a wild look and that his knees wobbled, but he reached the platform in pretty fair shape. Brother Gardner had stepped forward to receive and introduce him, when the Hon. Half-Shell suddenly wilted to the floor and his eyes began to roll like fish-balls flying around a circus ring. It was then discovered that he was overcome by the effects of whisky. Indeed, the odor could be scented all over the room, and Samuel Shin was just mean enough to sniff twice to any other man's once, in order to get all he could without pay. When it was apparent that the orator was overcome the President looked down upon him and said:

"Any fule kin git drunk, but it takes a man to keep sober. Ax dis man in his sober hours to put his foot agin a hot stove or to cut his fingers with a knife an' he would call you crazy, but he coolly an' deliberately purceeds to do wuss. He pours stuff inter his stomich to reduce himself to de level of a brute or lower. I can't strip him of de cloze I lent him, an' de food he has eaten at my table has gone to make fat on his ribs. Howsumever, in his departur' from dis locality he should be made to realize dat we know an insult when we see one, an' kin properly resent it. Brudder Stepoff Jones an' L Nelson Slabs will escort de celebrated orator down stars an' gin him an appopriate send-off."

The order was obeyed with great alacrity, and how well it was carried out may be inferred from the fact that next morning the boys picked up pieces of pantaloon cloth and several buttons and buckles on the other side of the ten foot fence in front of the entrance door. Detroit Free Press.

So Soulful.

Lawyer Bell, of Shreveport, can give advice outside of his profession.

"Oh, counselor," accosted a lady friend of his who had recently had presented to her a very small dog, "see my beautiful little dog," and she held up what might have been taken for a double handful of wool with a triangle of black dots in the middle. "It is so tiny—so fairy-like—so—er—so spiritu-elle—that I can think of no suitable name for the dear little thing. Please suggest a name."

"Call it Psyche."

Women Clerks and Their Pay.

A correspondent of the Brooklyn Eagle writes of the female clerks at Washington:

"There is not the smallest prejudice against allowing a woman to do a man's work, but it hurts their consciences for her to have a man's wages. It is estimated that not more than twelve women in government employ here get $1,800 a year, but there are hundreds who fill the places of $1,600 clerks. One woman clerk in the postoffice department has sat for ten years at an $1,800 desk, drawing all that time $900 a year. Another did the work of an $1,800 translator in one of the departments for $1,200 and foolishly got her pay raised to $1,500, when she was promptly discharged and a man put in her place. She now has a good place in the agricultural department, and some unwise friend among the senators proposed to have her pay again raised, but she had sense enough to decline. The work required of the $900 women clerks is what would command in any but government employ about $400, but the work of the men clerks for which they receive $1,200 is exactly the same. The average hours of work during the year are about the same; the women take a little more time throughout illness than men, but the men lose considerably more time from other causes. No theft has ever occurred in the treasury through women, but frequently through the men; it is accounted for by saying that the women have not the courage to steal. The women are much more expert in handling and counting greenbacks; it constantly happens that counterfeit notes are passed through half the banks in the United States and are undetected until they come into the hands of the women experts in the treasury. Three-fourths of the women in the public offices are honest and hard working, but of all the different specimens of humanity the average male clerk is about the poorest. As Chief Justice Chase said to a young man who applied to him for an office: 'No! I have ruined two or three young men that way, and I don't propose to do it any more. I will give you something better: Fifty cents to buy an ax with so that you can go to work.'"

Attention has been called to the supposed changes of level of the earth's surface in certain parts of Europe. Villages in the Jura, which were hidden from each other no longer than forty years ago, have gradually risen in sight, while in a village in Bohemia the inhabitants now see half of a distant church spire, of which only the top was visible thirty years ago.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I could not move!

I shrunk!

From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 8, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

To the Proprietors of Swift's Specific.

I was suffering from Blood Poisoning and Mercurial Rheumatism, and had spent $500 for treatment with no benefit, and it seemed that I was to die. Caught at Swift's Specific as a drowning man would at a straw, and it has saved me from a horrible death, and restored me sound and well. It is the greatest medicine in the world.

C. H. SMILEY, Quincy, Ill.

HEREDITARY.—Swift's Specific cured me sound and well of a scrofulous taint inherited from my ancestors. J. A. MAY, Macon, Ga.

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with Malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific cured me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age. C. G. SPENCER, Sup't Gas Works, Rome, Ga.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

"Calvert, Texas,
May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Four Chicago lottery agents have been convicted of sending lottery tickets through the mails. It is said to be the first conviction for this offence ever had in this country.

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

—A Baltimore drug clerk made a mistake in labelling a bottle, and his error killed a woman. To be perfectly safe make the drug clerk take the medicine and then rub yourself with the empty bottle.

—A lady at a Chicago hotel, whose unruly children annoy everybody in the house, the other day said to a noted teacher sitting near her at the table: "Professor, do you believe in the use of the rod in the management of children?" The professor glared at her annoying children and grimly replied: "Sometimes, madam; but there are cases when I should prefer a revolver."

A Stalwart Old Enemy.

One of the toughest old adversaries of human comfort, and most difficult to exterminate, is rheumatism. Many middle-aged people suffer torture with it, and the old folks who have it find it the pest of their lives. The case of a venerable lady of Lewiston, Mass., is of great interest to the victims of this tough old enemy. Mrs. Swett says: I have been using Perry Davis's Pain Killer for about eight years. As soon as I apply Pain Killer I have almost immediate relief from pain.

John Traverse, Stephen Traverse and William Benson have been bound over in the supreme court at Biddeford, charged with assault upon Leopold Fisher with intent to kill.

Cleveland, Ohio.—Chief Supt. Schmitt of the Police Force, recommends St. Jacobs Oil for the cure of pain.

Five masked men at Phoenixville, Pa., knocked down John McCloskey and his wife while on their way home from their restaurant at midnight, Nov. 26th. Both were badly beaten and $300 in cash taken from Mr. McCloskey. Their assailants are not known.

Buy "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" if you want a pure Whiskey, and take no other. The genuine bears the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons on the label and over the corks. Druggists and Grocers have it.

Thanksgiving.

Again we are at the season of enjoyment of our time-honored New England festival, "a day set apart for public acknowledgement of benefits and mercies received from God," and an occasion when we should, as did the fathers, cease from our toil and become mindful of the goodness of our great Creator.

Every one at this season has cause to be thankful for something. The rich and prosperous may ever be thankful for the abundance of this world's goods, but it is vouchsafed for every one to be thankful for the riches that make one truly rich at this season, when a contemplation of the prosperity common to us all is had. The Nation has prospered. Crops have been abundant, the labor of those who do not fear work has been rewarded, and peace and prosperity abound in our land.

The grateful editor offers his thanksgiving, because of the intelligent and appreciative corps of readers who honor him with a daily and weekly perusal of the feast of reason which he spreads for their enjoyment, and while others toil to lay up treasures on earth, he finds pleasurable satisfaction in a consciousness of having filled his place to the best of his ability, knowing that his indispensable duties must be performed.

Yes, we all have occasion for thanksgiving, as did the Pilgrim Fathers. Whatever adversities may be ours, whatever sad duties we may be compelled to perform, however hard may seem the lot of any of God's children, there always comes with the return of this festival, the grateful recollection of the goodness of God to his creatures, the blessings we are constantly enjoying, and the unnumbered benefits which all along the pathway of life are extended to us. Let us then, in our festivities, in our family reunions, in our churches and at the secret altar, remember the Giver of all Good, and in our thanksgiving show that as a people we cherish that grateful spirit which in the early days of our land instituted this festival, and which, through the years of its history, has been transmitted to us with all its pleasant memories, hallowed associations, and significant tokens.

Coming to their Senses.

The city councils of Columbus, Ohio, have without a dissenting voice rescinded the resolution adopting the "standard time" as being lunacy, and returned to the old system of true time.

The city of Bangor, Me., thanks to the sound "horse sense" of its mayor, will not have to rescind any such absurd resolution, the city councils not having been able to pass it over his veto.

In the course of a year or so, when the railroads are running on their own artificial time and the rest of the country has got back again to true solar time, the ridiculous craze over the railroad "standard" will be classed with the "tulip mania" and the South Sea and Mississippi bubbles.

The Laconia Murders.

The funeral of Mr. Ruddy and his child, both in one casket, took place from the Catholic church in Laconia on Tuesday forenoon, Nov. 27th, a wake having been held on Monday night, after the arrival of his relatives from Massachusetts. Mrs. Ruddy's symptoms were less favorable that day, and it was feared she would not recover.

Care has been taken to keep from the prisoner, Samon, the fact that Mrs. Ruddy is alive, and it is supposed that he still thinks all the Ruddy family perished by the wounds he inflicted and the flames. He speaks of the clothes in his trunk being burned up. Mrs. Samon, wife of the murderer, says that she expected Samon at Plymouth, Wednesday, as he said he would be there sure. But instead of his coming, a letter was received, which was written by Mrs. Ford, explaining his absence. She says she was greatly disappointed because he did not come, as she was making the necessary arrangements for them to go to housekeeping in Plymouth, and expected him to bring the household goods with him. Saturday evening she thought he would come, but did not, and she could not understand the cause of his long absence. She says she did not know of the murder until about an hour before she saw her husband at Little's hotel. He was then under arrest. She went to him and kissed him and asked him a few questions. He denied during the conversation all connection with the deed and said he had not seen Mrs. Ford since Friday evening. Mrs. Samon acknowledges that she at that time doubted him in his answers, and is positive of his guilt. She arrived at Laconia with the prisoner and has since been stopping there, and has, naturally, been considerably affected.

It is thought Mrs. Ford must have been killed Friday night; that she and Samon were in drink; and that while intoxicated, and in a quarrel, he accidentally killed her, and that all the rest came of his efforts to conceal the affair. Mrs. Ford's funeral took place at the court house in Laconia, Tuesday afternoon, a large concourse of people being present. Her husband was present, and was much affected. Mrs. Ford's two first husbands are buried in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn, N. Y., in a beautiful lot. Her first husband was wealthy. It is said she frequently expressed to acquaintances a desire to be buried in the same lot if she should happen to die suddenly. Very little money belonging to her has yet been found, yet it is generally understood that she possessed considerable. There is about $40 to her credit in the Laconia Savings bank, and $50 deposited in Judge Jewett's hands as surety for the good behavior of her husband, who was before the police court a year ago for shooting at boys.

A despatch to London from Hong Kong says the governor of Hong Kong has just returned from a trip to Pekin, where he saw the principal ministers of the Chinese empire. He is of the opinion that China is resolved to fight if she is forced much further by France in the Tonquin matter. China, he says, has 100,000 trained men available for operations against the French.

It is stated that it has been discovered that in a number of instances the postal notes have been counterfeited, or altered in such a manner as to defy detection. The post office authorities will shortly send out a new issue of a different design and color, which it is hoped will prevent such fraudulent practices.

France has cancelled the decree prohibiting the importation of American pork.

In the municipal election at Providence, R. I., Nov. 27th, Thomas A. Doyle was elected mayor for the fifteenth time, after three years' interval, by a majority of 2,358, greater by 700 than he ever before received. The vote stood—Doyle, republican, 3,593; Miller, democrat, 1,184; scattering fifty-one.

There is little doubt that an unknown vessel wrecked at Meat Cove, N. B., was the Norwegian bark Hitlero, from Mirimichi for France, with deals. It is supposed that all on board were lost.

News is received at Matamoras, Mex., that the schooner Buso was lost at sea on her voyage to Guayamos. Four of the crew and twelve passengers were drowned.

"What shall we do with our daughters?" "Superfluous Women," and other lectures by Mary A. Livermore. Boston; Lee & Shepard. Sold by M. Goodrich, price $1.25.

The substance of Mrs. Livermore's book has for several years been before the public in the shape of lectures delivered in various sections of the country. The author undertakes to change the lectures by eliminating the peculiarities of platform speech, without impairing the quality of her ideas. The subjects have been listened to from the platform, east and west, with no small degree of interest; and in book form Mrs. Livermore comes before increased audiences, who will admire her zeal, her practical handling of the subjects of which she treats, and of which her knowledge is derived from her life-long interest in all relating to woman, and a study of her wants and capabilities. The book cannot fail to attract a vast number of readers, who will thereby be well informed upon the woman question by the aid of a woman abundantly competent to discuss the problem.

Among the recent publications issued by the publishing house of D. Lothrop & Co., Boston, are the following:

"A Happy Year. A book for the pocket, with readings for each week, and blanks and texts for each day in the year, by Mary Bruce Lyman." Price twenty-five cents.

"Decorative Plaques. Picturesque designs by G. F. Barnes, each set to a harmony of words by Mary E. Wilkins." Will be equally welcome to lovers of illustrated poetry, and to decorators, amateur or professional. Price seventy-five cents.

"Half Year at Brouckton. By Margaret Sidney." A charming story of school life, by one of the most popular of writers. Price $1.25.

"Outline Pictures. Beautiful outline drawings, illustrative of child-life, by G. F. Barnes, with appropriate text." Price fifty cents.

"How the Rain Sprites were Freed." A quaint story, worthy of comparison with the writings of Hans Anderson or Grimm, in which two children are represented as searching for "the storehouse of the rain," with colored illustrations. Price $1.00.

"Ester Ried yet Speaking." Pansy's (Mrs. G. R. Alden's) latest book. Price $1.50.

MEDICAL.

SCROFULA.

A remedy that can destroy the germs of scrofula, and when once settled has the power to root it out, must be appreciated by those afflicted. The remarkable cures of young children and the more wonderful cures of those of middle age and late in life, as illustrated by our printed testimonials, prove HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA to be a reliable remedy, containing remedial agents which do positively cure scrofula and eradicate it from the blood.

WARNER, N. H., Jan. 21, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.: Gentlemen—For ten years previous to the early part of 1877 I had been a constant sufferer from scrofulous ulcers or sores, which had finally reduced me to a helpless condition, as described in my letter to you in September of that year. The continued excellent health which enables me to keep house for my aged father and to enjoy life, keeps alive my intense personal interest in Hood's SARSAPARILLA, and I cannot refrain from expressing my gratitude for the permanent cure this wonderful medicine effected in my case nearly two years ago, while living in Lowell, when all my physicians gave me up as being in an incurable condition. One thing before I close. I have recommended your Sarsaparilla to hundreds, and I think more than a thousand cures, and my faith in its invincibility in curing scrofula has become absolute by the wonderful cures it has effected aside from my own. I trust you will not be slow in making the merits of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA known everywhere, for it is a duty you owe to mankind. With best wishes I remain very truly yours,

Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that at a Court of Probate, holden at Exeter, in the County of Rockingham, on the tenth day of October, 1883, it was decreed and ordered that the petition of Aristia Prime asking that Edward B. Prime or some other suitable person be appointed guardian over Ida May Foote of Portsmouth, in said County, minor child of Frank A. Foote, be dismissed and the subscriber being interested in the guardianship of said Ida and aggrieved by said order and decree, on the sixteenth day of November, 1883, claimed an appeal therefrom to the Supreme Court, next to be holden at Concord, in the County of Merrimack, for said County of Rockingham, on the first Tuesday of December next, and filed in the Probate Office for said County of Rockingham her bond to prosecute the same that shall be awarded against her agreeably to the statute in such case provided said appeal will be entered and prosecuted at said term of said Supreme Court.

Dated the sixteenth day of November, 1883.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.

Services will be held in the North church this forenoon at 10:30 o'clock, when Rev. Mr. McGinley will deliver a sermon on "The Thanksgiving Festival." All are cordially invited to attend.

There will be no services in the Unitarian church to-day.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the sin of gluttony will be committed to-day.

That the doctrine that punishment is meted out in this world will be fulfilled in the gastronomic disturbances that will prevent slumber to-night.

That many a poor family will willingly take their chances on the "gastronomic disturbances," if the turkey is only provided.

That though the turkeys are attenuated and sour "by a large majority," your poorer neighbors will be thankful if the biped you present them is as good as you get for yourself.

That the Faith Home, Children's Home, almshouse and jail have been generously supplied with good things today, and

That it only remains for the benevolent to seek out the few destitute families in our city to make the day one of real Thanksgiving in Portsmouth.

That F. B. Randall, 1st assistant engineer on board the revenue cutter Hamilton, who has been on waiting orders several weeks, left town on the 28th inst. for continued duty on that vessel.

That the mammoth whistle at the Portsmouth Machine Co.'s works was giving forth most hideous sounds on Wednesday afternoon.

That a pair of roller skates invented in 1829, and in size and construction resembling toy wagons, will be propelled around the skating rink this afternoon by Prof. O'Rourke, of the famous double-trick-and-fancy-skating team of O'Rourke & Allison.

That the following rules have been posted in a South Berwick shoe factory:

"Take Notice. A reduction of time will be made on all stopping work before the whistle blows. No one allowed to leave the room without permission. No one allowed to leave or stop work in any way to talk, without permission. No whistling. All working by the piece will not be allowed to speak to the day help. No one will be allowed to make up time without permission."

That the difference in the management of the South Berwick establishment and a penal institution must be very slight.

That the reason is obvious why shoemakers from the up-river towns crowd the factory in this city.

THE COMET.

The new comet has been seen by the naked eye, and the Providence Journal tells how to find it. It says:

A brilliant star shines in the northwest as soon as darkness veils the earth. This is Vega or Alpha Lyræ, and may be certainly known by two small stars forming with it an equilateral triangle, as well as by being the only first-magnitude star in the vicinity. About thirteen degrees north of Vega is a red star of the third magnitude, known as Gamma Draconis. Between these two stars lies the present path of the comet. It is now not far from one-third of the intervening distance south and a little west of Gamma and is moving rapidly toward Vega. The clear evenings of the present week will be favorable for observation, as there will be no moon to put out the comet's faint light.

THE POULTRY MARKET.

There was a large amount of poultry offered for sale in this market on the 28th inst. at low rates, the quality in many cases being even lower than the prices; most of this inferior stuff came from other states and the provinces, and was not only poor in flesh but in bad condition; the trade in this was not brisk. Some of the imported lots were extra fine, but these were the exception.

Most of the poultry brought in from York county, Me., and Rockingham and Strafford counties, was fat, and of course freshly killed; and no difficulty was experienced by the farmers in disposing of their loads at remunerative prices. Turkeys sold from the wagons at twenty-five to thirty cents a pound, and geese and ducks at twenty-two to twenty-five cents, with quick sales.

THE DOVER ELECTION.

The municipal election in Dover on Tuesday, Nov. 27th, resulted in the re-election of Mayor James E. Lothrop, republican, and the election of two democrats and eight republicans as aldermen, and three democrats and twelve republicans to the common council. There were split tickets in several wards; in ward five the regular democratic candidate for alderman, Joseph B. Quaid, was defeated by a bolt, John F. Gorman, also a democrat, being elected. Mr. Quaid is a member of the present board of aldermen. In ward four, the largest ward in the city and the strongest republican ward, James Whitehouse, the democratic candidate for mayor, led Mayor Lothrop by sixty-seven. Mayor Lothrop's majority in the city was about 140.

WHAT WAS IT?

Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week, as soon as darkness sat in, the sky in the west and southwest presented a remarkable appearance, being lighted for a distance of ten or fifteen degrees above the horizon with a bright red glare, as though from an immense conflagration, all the more noticeable from the fact that the sky was clear of clouds, and apparently clear of fog. The same phenomenon was noticed in other places, and in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on Tuesday evening, the fire department was called out.

On Wednesday evening the display for a brief period was superior to those of Monday and Tuesday. About twenty minutes before five o'clock, "railroad time," the crimson belt extended from the northeast to the southeast, around by the west, the arch being highest at the west, with a brilliant streak of yellow light between the crimson and the horizon. The yellow light quickly turned to red, and clear around the eastern horizon there was a broad belt of greenish yellow, reminding one strongly of the brassy appearance of the "dark day" of a year or two ago. The light thown on buildings and trees had exactly the appearance of the light from a fire at night, but the colors rapidly faded, and at five o'clock the eastern horizon displayed only a dull gray, while in the west the red was only that of an ordinary sunset; but the red soon deepened again, and at about half-past five it more closely than ever resembled the glare from an immense fire, though its extent was much circumscribed. In the early part of the evening it was generally noticed that the gas-lights gleamed like electric lights, presisely as they did during the "dark day." Before six o'clock the show was over.

No paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

The joiners in the department of construction and repair at the navy yard remembered their former shopmate, Mr. Joseph T. French of this city, at the Thanksgiving season, and to notify him of the fact presented him with a fine turkey, with their best wishes for his future prosperity and happiness.

The officers of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, state of New Hampshire, visited Washington Chapter of this city on Tuesday evening of this week, and witnessed an exemplification of the work.

There was a continuous stream of travel to and fro over the Portsmouth bridge on Wednesday, the procession including pedestrians and vehicles of high and low degree and almost every conceivable appearance. The receipts of toll amounted to over $40 in the middle of the afternoon.

Clarendon Everett of this city lies dangerously ill with dropsy at the house of his sister at Dover.

The concluding performances of "An American Marriage" were given on Saturday, thus bringing to an end an engagement which has been most thoroughly enjoyable. Of the performance it is unnecessary to further speak in detail, save that the leading roles, taken by Miss Jennings and Miss Darrell, by virtue of their admirable finish and individual perfection, furnish an elaborate picture of artistic merit given in a manner that deserves unstinted praise.—Montreal Herald.

At Franklin theatre Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th. Tickets at Stavers' hat and cap store, Franklin block, on and after Saturday, Dec. 1st.

In the Court of Commissioners of Alabama Claims judgment has been awarded in favor of Mrs. Elizabeth Lambert, executrix of Wm. Lambert, for $2559, with interest from April, 1864. Chas. D. Kemball and several seamen of schooner Roan, of Newburyport, have each been awarded judgment in sums varying from $341 to $493; the admr. of Samuel E. Foss, mate, has been awarded $500. The cases of the last named claimants were argued by F. W. Hackett, Esq.

The Concord Gaslight Co. have made a further reduction in the price of gas. It will be furnished after Jan. 1st for $2.20 per thousand feet. Singular as it may seem, the transportation of coal from Portsmouth to Concord seems to improve its illuminating power, as the quality of gas at the capital is fifty per cent better than that used at Strawberry Bank. The Concord Gaslight Co., even with its low price to consumers, is able to pay dividends of ten per cent, and its shares have sold at a hundred per cent premium.

It is said that at the approaching election of directors of the Eastern railroad corporation three of the board will be invited to step down.

Don't fail to see the "White" before purchasing a sewing machine.

The New Hook and Ladder Truck.

The new hook and ladder truck, purchased last July by the city, will arrive this week. It is said that it will be a fine carriage and excellently equipped. It has been built under the personal supervision of Alderman W. J. Sampson, who having been connected with the fire department for 15 years, has a very good idea of what the city needs and has reason to expect of such a machine.

It will be of the skeleton pattern with body 22 feet long, mounted on platform springs and on wheels of the Sanborn pattern. There will also be a pole for two horses. The carriage will be equipped with 10 ladders of different sizes, four catch poles, four guy ropes with chains and hooks, four hand hooks, four plaster hooks, a battering ram, sledge hammers, shovels, gutter hangers, pick axes, buckets, lanterns, etc., etc. There will be a box under the frame for carrying rubber clothes, etc. The carriage has been made of the best quality of stock, and by the best workmen.—Times.

"Uncle" David Van Arsdale, who on every evacuation day since 1846 has raised the stars and stripes at the Battery in New York, did not help in the centennial celebration there on Nov. 26th, for Uncle David's funeral occurred on the previous Sunday. His father was the boy who climbed the flag-pole that had been greased by the English on sailing away, and nailed to it the American flag in the place of the British ensign.

A stable in Biddeford owned by Mrs. Porter Ford was burned Nov. 27th, and her house badly scorched. Loss $1200; insured.

The report of the loss of the steamer Manistee, with fifty persons, on Lake Michigan, is confirmed.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!
Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt the assertions made in the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decay, and all those diseases arising from the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt, price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single may either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Analyzer.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Blotches on the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that the effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which Mr. VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT RAPIDITY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until covered with them, and my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those historic on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 188 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has succumbed. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and twenty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clearse the Skin of Disfiguring Eruptions, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to restore the blood, skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have paid hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Pontiac, Mich. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

A Civilized Bear up a Tree.

"Great Scott, look at the bear!" a district messenger boy shouted to himself, halting suddenly above the Arsenal in the New York Central Park on Sunday afternoon and staring up into a tree. Sammy was in the tree, sure enough Sammy—his surname is Boocock—has passed the summer chained to a stake near the Arsenal. The chain broke on Sunday afternoon. Sammy made for a stubby tree a foot thick several rods away. The lower branches of the tree are just within a man's reach. Sammy clambered up to the third and squatted in a fork.

Supt. Conklin called half a dozen attendants, and said the bear must be got down. Jake Cooke volunteered to go up the tree and get the bear. He took the end of a rope in his teeth and began to shin up. This beautiful sight attracted a large crowd of spectators, and the spectators helped on the proceedings by encouraging remarks. The excitement began to interest Sammy. He waited until Cooke was quite up to him and was reaching out to grab his collar. Then he hitched himself up one fork higher. Cooke followed. The crowd, looking on and seeing how it should be done, began to volunteer advice.

"Thry 'im by the tail," said an attendant.

"Thrip 'im up," said another.

"Lasso him," said the messenger boy.

"Kick his shins," "Step on his toes," "Tickle his feet," "Shoo him," and a great variety of directions for disloding Sammy were contributed from below.

Cooke grabbed the bear's legs, and tried to pull him down. The bear kicked himself free, and hitched himself up one fork higher again. Cooke got up beside him. The bear seemed glad to see him, and folded his forelegs around him. Sammy is a young bear, but his hug is well grown.

"Now you've got him," said Supt. Conklin.

Cooke didn't say anything. Sammy had lost his temper, and began to scratch and bite. Cooke wanted to come down, but couldn't find time. Finally he got his thumb out of Sammy's mouth, and came down to see what ailed it.

Patrick Marn another attendant, went up the tree. He carried a bag that he hoped to get over the bear's head. He climbed up the tree on the opposite side of the trunk from Sammy and got above the bear, then he opened the bag and prepared to descend. The bear saw the point immediately, and dropped down a fork. Then Patrick came lower and the bear kept dropping from limb to limb until he finally reached the ground. Then he ran at the crowd. The crowd forgot how to catch bears and went away. With the aid of a squad of park policemen, Supt. Conklin, and his men drove Sammy into a kennel, and then put him in a cage.—New York Sun.

The Advantage of Knowing "Natur" When You Shoot.

"Shoot!" said Adirondack Jim. "Well, I should say so. The fellow I'm speaking of was called the best shot around the lakes; but I'll give you a yarn he told a couple of chaps from the city who was camping out with us. They were askin' him about shootin', and he says: 'I won a match once—not so much from shootin' as from knowin' about the habits of critters in general. I was in camp at Moosehead Lake, one summer, and the men got a-blowin' about shootin', and after they got blown out, I says: 'I'll show you suthin' in the way of shootin'. Take one of them turkeys and tie her 1,000 feet off.'" And after they did, I took six bullets and asked them to mark 'em. "Now," says I, "here's a piece of paper on which is writ where you'll find them marked bullets when I git through shootin'," and with that I handed the paper folded to one of the men and commenced to fire. When I was done, they looked at the paper and it read, 'Stomach,' and sure enough in the turkey's stomach they found the six bullets. How was it done? Why, jest by my mate's takin' advantage of his knowledge of natur'. He knowed turkeys would swallow anything, so he loaded light and struck the turkey's bill every time, so that the bullet stuck there. The bird would put its head down, scratch off the bullet, look at it a minute, and then swallow it, and so it did the whole six. Yes, it was fine shootin'," the old guide concluded, "but he was a fine hunter."—N. Y. Sun.

Advice to Children.

Don't sit still like a graven image, staring at vacancy. People will think you don't know anything.

Always howl when the nurse shows you the paregoric bottle, because that will prove you know a good thing when you see it.

When you smile, always look idiotic. This will give the neighbors a chance to notice how much you resemble your dear papa.

If mamma puts you in the cradle and tells you to go to sleep, shut your dear little eyes and don't cry—until she gets downstairs.

When papa puts his head down in front of you, pull his hair till he yells. It will remind him of how mamma acts when she's mad.

Whenever papa drops his collar-button on the floor, quietly creep around till you find it and swallow it. He will then know where to look for it.

While crawling around the floor always clutch the table-cover and pull like fury. This will enable your parents to select a new and more stylish set of French china.

When a fly lights on your left ear, try to kick it off with your right foot. If your father is holding you at the time he will exult in your capacity for making things lively.

The best time to begin your daily concert is when the clock strikes 2 a. m. It is then when your fond father is performing his great snoring act. He will fully appreciate your delicacy in calling his attention to the fact.

Your uncles and aunties will visit you quite frequently, at a very early period in your career. On those occasions never fail to scream until you are black in the face. Such action on your part will hasten their departure—a consummation devoutly to be wished.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system ssemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

SSS For those suffering from a Bad Blood Disease, we can say that our great S.S.S. has been of great benefit to us in every kind.

I was suffering from Blood Poisoning and Mercurial Rheumatism, and had spent $500 for treatment with no benefit, and it seemed that I was doomed to die. Caught at Swift's Specific as a drowning man would at a straw, and it has saved me from a horrible death, and cured me sound and well. It is the greatest medicine in the world. C. H. SMILEY, Quincy, Ill.

HEREDITARY—Swift's Specific cured me sound and well of a Scrofulous taint inherited from my ancestors. J. A. MAY, Macon, Ga.

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with Malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific relieved me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age. C. G. SPENCER, Sup't Gas Works, Rome, Ga.

$1000 REWARD will be paid to any chemist who will find, on analysis of 100 bottles of S. S. S., one particle of mercury, iodide potassium or any poisonous substance.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

"Calvert, Texas,
May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE GREAT German Remedy.

TRUTHS FOR THE SICK.

For those deathly Bilious Spells, depend on SULPHUR BITTERS, it will cure you.

Ladies in delicate health, who are all run down, should use SULPHUR BITTERS.

The Giant Dyspepsia is cured by using SULPHUR BITTERS.

$1,000 will be paid for a case where SULPHUR BITTERS will not assist or cure. It never fails.

Operatives who are closely confined in the mills and work shops; Clerks, who do not secure sufficient exercise, and all who are confined in doors, should use SULPHUR BITTERS. They will not then be weak and sickly.

Cleanse the vitiated blood when you see its impurities burning through the skin in Pimples, Blotches, and Sores. Rely on SULPHUR BITTERS, and health will follow.

General Debility needs a gentle tonic. Use SULPHUR BITTERS, and you will not be troubled.

SULPHUR BITTERS will cure Liver Complaint. Don't be discouraged; it will cure you.

Don't be without a bottle. Try it; you will not regret it.

LAME BACK

☞ For constipation, loss of appetite and diseases of the bowels take Hawley's Stomach and Liver Pills. 25 cents.

A FEW HINTS

FOR THE USE OF

AYER'S PILLS

DOSE.—To move the bowels gently, 2 to 4 Pills; thoroughly, 4 to 6 Pills. Experience will decide the proper dose in each case.

For Constipation, or Costiveness, no remedy is so effective as AYER'S PILLS. They insure regular daily action, and restore the bowels to a healthy condition.

For Indigestion, or Dyspepsia, AYER'S PILLS are invaluable, and a sure cure.

Heart-burn, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach, Flatulency, Dizziness, Headache, Numbness, Nausea, are all relieved and cured by AYER'S PILLS.

In Liver Complaint, Bilious Disorders, and Jaundice, AYER'S PILLS should be given in doses large enough to excite the liver and bowels, and remove constipation. As a cleansing medicine in the Spring, these PILLS are unequalled.

Worms, caused by a morbid condition of the bowels, are expelled by these PILLS.

Eruptions, Skin Diseases, and Piles, the result of Indigestion or Constipation, are cured by the use of AYER'S PILLS.

For Colds, take AYER'S PILLS to open the pores, remove inflammatory secretions, and allay the fever.

For Diarrhœa and Dysentery, caused by sudden colds, indigestible food, etc., AYER'S PILLS are the true remedy.

Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, and Sciatica, often result from digestive derangement, or colds, and disappear on removing the cause by the use of AYER'S PILLS.

Tumors, Dropsy, Kidney Complaints, and other disorders caused by debility or obstruction, are cured by AYER'S PILLS.

Suppression, and Painful Menstruation, have a safe and ready remedy in

AYER'S PILLS.

"The moon of Mahomet arose, and it shall set," says Shelley; but if you will set a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in some handy place you will have a quick cure for croup, coughs and colds, when your children are troubled with them.

A car containing sixty passengers went down an embankment near the depot at North Worcester, Mass., Nov. 28th, and thirty-seven persons were more or less injured. One woman had her back broken, and will die.

Denver Doings.

Mr. J. A. Mcbeth, Pacific Express Office, Denver, Col., was cured by St. Jacobs Oil of an excruciation pain in the neck, and also toothache. One application did the work.

While Samuel Butterfield, a clerk of the hotel Maverick, Boston, was assisting a lodger named Arthur G. Callicott up stairs in the hotel on the night of Nov. 29th, both fell over the balustrade to the marble tiling below, and Callicott was instantly killed. Butterfield was considerably bruised.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Turkish government has addressed a note to the European powers informing them that Turkey offered to send troops to suppress the rising in the Soudan, but that England refused the offer.

Dr. Benson's Skin Cure consists of internal and external treatment at the same time, and it makes the skin white and soft and smooth. It contains no poisonous drugs $1, at druggists.

The woolen mills in Saxonville, Mass., were burned on the night of Nov. 28th, involving a loss of $125,000 on buildings and machinery, and a heavy loss on stock. Five hundred operatives are thrown out of employment.

Vegetine has never failed to effect a cure of all murcurial diseases.

Frank Dubois, a supposed woman who has been masquerading in a man's clothes in Wisconsin, and who ostensibly married a young woman named Gertie Fuller, has confessed that she is a female, and that she married Gertie Fuller to save her from disgrace. Dubois is under arrest.

Decline of Man.

Nervous weakness, dyspepsia, impotence, sexual debility, cured by "Wells' Health Renewer." $1.

At Lancaster, Ky., Nov. 28th, Ex-County Judge Denny shot and killed James H. Anderson, who had threatened to shoot Denny on sight. Denny assisted in the prosecution of Hon. Phil Thompson at Harrodsburg, last May.

Daughters, Wives, and Mothers.

We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchisi's Catholicon a Female Remedy, to cure Female diseases, such as ovarian troubles, inflamation and ulceration, falling and displacement or bearing down feeling. Irregularities and barrenness, change of life, leucorrhœa, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like headache, bloating, spinal weakness, sleeplessness, nervous debility, palpitation of the heart, &c. For sale by druggists. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N. Y., for Pamphlet, free. For sale by Andrew F. Preston, Druggist.

At Orange, Mass., Nov. 29th, Frederick Armitage, a married man with two children, was instantly killed while fox hunting by the accidental discharge of a double-barrelled gun in the hands of a friend, C. A. Bullard.

Mother Swan's Worm Syrup.

Infallible, tasteless, harmless, cathartic; for feverishness, restlessness, worms, constipation. 25c.

At Allen's factory, Marion county, Alabama, Nov. 27th, a constable and a deputy named James Dobson went to arrest Wm. Standford for insulting Mrs. King, and met Standford on the road. The latter shot the constable in the head, and then ran. Dobson pursued. He and Standford fired at the same time, and both fell dead. The three were killed in ten minutes.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

Ayer's Pills are a convenient remedy to have always at hand. They are sugar-coated, easy to take, effective to operate, sure to bring relief and cure. They are effectual in a wide range of diseases which arise from disorders of the stomach and digestive organs.

The Merchant Traveller remarks: "'Sam'l J. Tilden of New York city has a new $40,000 dining room, and an old ten-cent appetite.' P. S.—This brief note was sent in by a reporter on a daily paper, who has a ten-cent dining room and a $40,000 appetite."

Just Married.

How loving they are; this is always a sure sign. After the first year sometimes it don't hold good. When Charles comes home to you grouty and cross, snapping and snarling, unable to relish the nice dinner you have cooked, and feels as if there was a ton of pig iron in his stomach, he is troubled with dyspepsia, and Sulphur Bitters is the only medicine that will cure him.

Maine papers say "a partridge with two heads was recently shot in Oxford county. One is smaller than the other and somewhat shriveled up, but is a perfect and distinct head. The bird was only wounded and both heads were found to be alive, and to move separately. It is a great curiosity, and has been seen by many."

That weak back or pain in the side or hips you will find immediately relieved when Hop Plaster is applied. It strengthens the muscles, giving the ability to do hard work without suffering. Take none but this, 'tis sure.

CHAPTER I.

"I was taken sick a year ago
With bilious fever."

"My doctor pronounced me cured, but I got sick again, with terrible pains in my back and sides, and I got so bad I
Could not move!
I shrunk!
From 228 lbs. to 120! I had been doctoring for my liver, but it did me no good. I did not expect to live more than three months. I began to use Hop Bitters. Directly my appetite returned, my pains left me, my entire system seemed renewed as if by magic, and after using several bottles I am not only as sound as a sovereign but weigh more than I did before. To Hop Bitters I owe my life."

Dublin, June 6, 1881. R. FITZPATRICK.

HOW TO GET SICK.—Expose yourself day and night; eat too much without exercise; work too hard without rest; doctor all the time; take all the vile nostrums advertised; and then you will want to know how to get well, which is answered in three words—Take Hop Bitters!

A Stalwart Old Enemy.

One of the toughest and universaries of human comfort, and most difficult to exterminate, is rheumatism. Many middle-aged people suffer torture with it, and the old folks who have it find it the pest of their lives. The case of a venerable lady of Lewiston, Mass., is of great interest to the victims of this tough old enemy. Mrs. Swett says: I have been using Perry Davis's Pain Killer for about eight years. As soon as I apply Pain Killer I have almost immediate relief from pain.

At Peterborough, November 23d, a lad named Carl H. Coffin fell from a bank and broke his left arm above the wrist. He fractured the same limb a few weeks ago by falling against a school house fence and had hardly recovered from the injury.

No medicine is half so good for a great variety of family complaints, as Ayer's Pills. They are easy to take, effective to cure, and are cheap and handy.

A Marlow correspondent of the Hillsborough Messenger is responsible for the following: "Some thirty years ago Hosea Town lost on the farm then occupied by him in Sullivan, now owned by Fred Wilson, a silver pencil. It was presented to him the other day by Mr. Wilson, he having found it in the mowing field some distance from the house. The pencil was as good as new."

Athens, Ga., Nov. 6, 1883.—I am averse on general principals to saying anything commendatory of proprietary articles, but there are a few on the market that force those of the profession who come in contact with the diseased and suffering to acknowledge their superiority. Among those I find Swift's Specific to rank high. One poor unfortunate requests me to tell you that he had long been a sufferer with terrible blood taint, and securing little if any relief from other treatment, finally resorted to Swift's Specific. He claims now that it has afforded him relief, that he feels that his blood is pure again and wishes me to express his deep obligations, with which I cheerfully comply. Yours respectfully,
Joseph Jacobs, Druggist.

On Monday, November 26th, at Francestown Mill Village, a little five-years-old named Horace J. Foote, while at play about a saw-mill was caught by a revolving shaft and whirled rapidly around. His legs, striking against an iron rail, were both broken. The bones were badly shattered, but hopes are entertained of saving the limbs.

Buy "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" if you want a pure Whiskey, and take no other. The genuine bears the signature of Chester H. Graves & Sons on the label and over the corks. Druggists and Grocers have it.

The true story of the riot and massacre at Danville, Virginia, is coming out. The democrats have published a statement of the affair, laying the blame upon the negroes; the witnesses called were mainly the white men engaged in the shooting. There were, however, two white democrats, leading citizens of the place, who saw the affair from a window overlooking the scene of the massacre, who were not called as witnesses by the whitewashing committee, and for a very good reason, it would seem. They tell substantially the same story. The affair began by a white man knocking down a negro whom he said had previously insulted him, and beating him over the head with a club. Some of the white man's friends stood by, armed to prevent interference by the excited negroes who had been drawn to the spot. One of the negroes did interfere, and was shot. Almost immediately fifteen or twenty white men, armed with revolvers, drew up in a line and commenced firing at the negroes, who hastily ran away. Both of these white democrats declare that they did not see one of the negroes have arms; the firing was all on one side, as all the negroes not killed or wounded ran away as soon as possible, making no resistance. And theirs is evidently the true story of the Danville massacre.

NORTH KITTERY, Nov. 28th.

Mr. Jefferson T. Lewis, an instructor of marked ability, is to teach the winter term of school in district three.

A party of about twenty members of the advent church in Portsmouth chartered Cottle's barge and came over to the 1st Methodist church last Thursday evening, and held a special meeting. The church was filled to its utmost capacity, and the meeting was conducted by the pastor, Rev. Alexander Hamilton.

The singing school in district three opened with flattering prospects; twenty-five scholars signified their intention to attend, and many more are expected. We understand that the professional gentlemen of the last session were present, and will be leading stars in this.

The entertainment given by Morrill Lodge, I. O. G. T., at their hall on Friday evening last, was not so well attended as it would have been with better weather, yet a good sum was realized. Some members of the lodge are considering the question of building a hall in the near future, such a place being much needed in this part of the town.

A Juvenile Temple is soon to be instituted in North Kittery, provided a suitable place to meet in can be secured. It is hoped such an institution will be looked upon with favor by all parents who desire that their children should form steady habits.

Mr. Samuel Paul, at the village, recently replaced the old fence in front of his house with a new one, and the old cedar posts were found in an excellent state of preservation, though they had been in the ground about forty years.

The people in this neighborhood are shocked beyond measure at the statements of Blaney concerning the recent murder. That a young man brought up as he had been, and of his excellent reputation, should commit such a deed is astounding. SUB ROSA.

MORE FISHERY DISASTERS.

Fears are entertained in Gloucester, Mass., for the safety of six vessels of the fishing fleet, now overdue, viz.: Schooner Mattie Chester and John McDonough, in the haddocking fishery; the Maud Leighton, Rutherford B. Hayes and Ruth Groves, in the Georges fishery; and the Sultana in the Bank fishery. They were exposed to the furious gales of Nov. 12th and 13th, and of the Mattie Chester and John McDonough there are scarcely any hopes, while the Ruth Groves has been absent six weeks, which makes it look bad for her. If these six schooners are all lost some seventy-five men have gone down with them.

Don't fail to see the "White" before purchasing a sewing machine.

It is of no use for a man to hold the pen of a ready writer unless the pen is of a kind which will do its share of work. Of late years all kinds of novelties in pens have appeared. Some of these have flourished for a while, but sooner or later have been discarded. A few weeks since a friend from New York city shew us a Waterman's "ideal" fountain pen, which is a gold pen attached to a cylinder which holds a supply of ink which is fed to the point of the pen in a quantity just enough for writing purposes. It works excellently. Always neat, reliable and uniform in its flow, it is the most nearly perfect result of the many attempts at a substitution for a quill pen we have ever seen. It is manufactured by L. E. Waterman, No. 136 Fulton street, who gives a certificate with each pen, warranting it for five years, and also allowing thirty days for trial. It is largely used by mercantile and professional men all over the country, and gives universal satisfaction.

Officers J. Frank Shannon and John Turner of the night police were suspended until further notice by the mayor, for some misdemeanor, Thursday. They are two good officers, and we are sorry if they have got into unnecessary trouble, and we hope that if their offence is not of too serious a nature they may be restored to duty.—Times.

On the night of the 27th of September last ten sheep were stolen from the barn of Mr. Samuel Fernald at Eliot cross roads. Mr. Fernald was in hope that at least some of the mutton would be sent to his house at Thanksgiving, but not an ounce of it did he receive, and he is now convinced that the thieves are as mean as they are dishonest, further than which statement language cannot go.

Important to Families.

BOSTON, Nov. 30.—The families of New England are all interested in the announcement of the Boston Daily Globe that it will give a prize of $10, and a second one of $5, for the best short story of ten to 100 lines. The story can be founded on the bright sayings of your little boy or girl. Get the Daily Globe to-day or to-morrow for full particulars.

On Dec. 1, order the Globe regularly of your newsdealer and try it a month.

☞ Be sure and get the Boston Sunday Globe to-morrow.

The Windsor theatre in New York was burned Thanksgiving night, the fire breaking out some time after the performance ended. The building is described as a death-trap of the worst kind, and many hundreds of lives must have been lost had the fire caught when the theatre was filled. It had seats for 3100 persons, and the exits were few and narrow, the parquette floor being six or eight steps below the entrances, with three immense galleries above.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod1m29,84

MEDICAL.

THE WONDER

is becoming universal as to how such an immense sale could be created in Lowell for HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. But, my friend, if you could stand behind our counter a week and hear what those say who are using it, the reason would appear as clear as the noon-day sun. The real curative power of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA demonstrates itself in every case where our directions are faithfully regarded. We would that we might get before the people a fractional part of the confidence that is expressed to us every day in this medicine by those who have carefully noted (without prejudice) its effects upon the blood and through that upon the whole system, stimulating all the functions of the body to perform the duties nature requires of them. Try a bottle and satisfy yourself.

Cold Hands and Feet.

LOWELL, Feb. 3, 1879.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.. Gentlemen—About one year ago my daughter commenced taking your Sarsaparilla. At that time she had very little appetite; could take no long walks, and her face was badly broken out with a humor. She was low-spirited; troubled with cold hands and feet; her blood seemed to be poor, and she was in a condition which caused us great anxiety. After taking one bottle of your Sarsaparilla she began to improve; and she now has a good appetite and can take much longer walks. Her humor is nothing compared with what it was one year ago. She is in better spirits, is not troubled with cold hands and feet as previously. All attribute this improvement in her condition largely to your Sarsaparilla. She has taken six bottles, and intends to continue its use. I was inclined to oppose the trial of it, at first. I now have great faith in it as a blood purifier. Very truly yours,

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

25th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Read now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every respect than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—Author.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

The Ivy.

Pushing the clods of earth aside,
Leaving the dark where foul things hide,
Spreading its leaves to the summer sun,
Boundless ended, freedom won;
So, my soul, like the ivy be,
Rise, for the sunshine calls for thee!

Climbing up as the seasons go,
Looking down upon things below,
Twining itself in the branches high,
As if the dull thing owned the sky;
So, my soul, like the ivy be,
Heaven, not earth, is the place for thee.

Wrapping itself around a giant oak,
Hiding itself from the tempest's stroke;
Strong and brave is the frolic thing.
For it knows one secret—how to cling;
So, my soul, there's strength for thee,
Hear the Mighty One, "Lean on me."

Green are its leaves when the world is white
For the ivy sings through the frosty night;
Keeping the hearts of oak awake,
Till the flowers shall bloom and the spring shall break;
So, my soul, through the winter's rain
Sing the sunshine back again.

Opening its green and fluttering breast,
Giving the timid birds a nest;
Coming out from the winter wild
To make a wreath for the holy child;
So let my life, like the ivy, be
A help to man and a wreath for thee.

—Henry Benton in Good Words.

THE ENGINEER'S STORY.

A Midnight Experience in the White Mountains.

It had been snowing steadily all day long, not in a boisterous, tempestuous way, but quietly and persistently, as if the feathery flakes which were now all piling themselves one upon the other on the frozen ground had come for a long stay. Towards night the wind began to rise, and when the darkness settled down a moderate winter's storm was raging. We were waiting in the little station at L—— for the down train, telegraphed an hour and a half behind time, and were endeavoring to keep warm around the small air-tight stove which served as the only heating medium in the low-studded apartment. L—— is a place of little importance except as a railroad center, for here two trunk lines cross each other, and it is also the point where locomotives were changed on the different trains. With the exception of the bustle and excitement incident to a junction station, there was but little to attract a tourist, and the few natural charms the place possessed at this time were hidden beneath the soft covering of snow. So the weary waiters were forced by dearth of amusement, as well as the storm, to while away the time as best they could in the dingy depot. The different timetables were perused, the flaming advertisements scrutinized, all to no purpose, for the hands of the monotonous-ticking clock crept around the dial with that tardy pace peculiar to railroad timepieces when one is waiting for a belated train.

The conductor who was to take charge of the express came in to warm his hands by the little stove, and soon the party was increased by the engineer, whose machine could be dimly seen far down the track ready for its expected charge.

"Bad night, Bob," said the conductor. "Better come in and warm up. She won't be here for an hour yet."

The engineer made some reply and joined the circle around the stove. He was a man of slight build, drooping shoulders, and perhaps not up to the average height. Rather effeminate at first sight, until one noticed the square, firm chin, the quick, steady eyes, and the lines about the mouth, which showed that beneath that calm face and quiet manner lay the will to both do and dare. He had been selected especially to run this night express on account of the danger of the position, for the down train was frequently late, and the lost time must be made up before reaching the end of the road in order to meet connections. Time and again nothing but the coolness and judgment of the engineer had brought this train to its destination in safety, and Bob Jennings, as he was called, had been remarkably fortunate, and had never met with a serious accident. The running of the two trains up to L—— and back to the city constituted his day's work. The position was a responsible one, and remuneration good, and the "job," as the boys termed it, was looked upon with envy by Bob's fellow engineers.

After some minutes passed in conversation between the engineer and conductor, the latter suddenly remarked:

"How was it, Bob, you happened to get this express? The superintendent of the Portland and Ogdensburg helped you to it, didn't he, on account of that affair up in the mountains? Tell us about it?"

"Yes, yes," spoke up several who had overheard the conversation. "Let us hear the story by all means."

"Well, boys," said Bob, as he bit off a generous chew, and deposited the quid lovingly in his cheek, "it ain't much of a yarn, and it'll make you laugh, for you'll think me spooky like. How somever, it's as true as gospel, and if Dan was here he'd say so, too.

"'Twas when I was running 49 on the P. & O. road, which hadn't been agoin' more'n a couple of years. You may perhaps be acquainted with the line. She runs through the White Mountain Notch, and is built right on the side of the hills. How they ever had the spunk to start such a road beats me, for at first sight it seems next to hopeless to get around some of them short curves, to say nothing of the big upgrades. Neal Crawford's is that spider-like Frankenstein trestle you've heard so much about, where the track spans a chasm eighty feet wide and one hundred feet deep. Strong enough, I suppose, but it makes a man feel skittish to go over it for the first time. Well, my good luck is all owing to that trestle. We lived in Portland then, Nell and I. She is my wife, we were as happy as could be. The only drawback was that every other night I had to take the late express up to Fabyan's, and come back next day on the accommodation. Nell used to be afraid to have me go, particularly as the road was new, and accidents could happen in spite of all we could do. I kept telling her it was safe enough, and the pay was good, so I'd better stick to my place for a while anyway, though, to tell the truth, I didn't like the route, 'twas so awful gloomy-like. No big towns to go through, only now and then a little village, and they would be asleep, and it would seem as if we struck one at night. Summers it wasn't so bad, but winters it was awful. Well, one night in January, when it was my turn to stay in Portland, the superintendent sent for me and said:

"'Bob, there's a party of directors as wants to get through the mountains to-night, and they're going to start about 10 o'clock. I'll have to send a special, but I haven't an engineer that I can trust. Now, it's your night off, I know, but if you'll pull the throttle for them fellows I'll make it all right with you.'

"'Well,' says I, 'I'll go, of course; but it's goin' to be a bad night on the mountains.'

"'That's so, Bob,' says the super, 'but I know I can rely on you, and them directors says they must go through, anyhow.'

"So I went back to our little cottage and told Nell as how I'd got to go. She took on very queer like, and seemed distressed to have me away, though she never acted like that before.

"'It's an awful night, Bob,' says she, 'can't they send some one else? I don't like to have you go.'

"'Nonsense,' says I, 'the storm won't hurt me, and I'll be back again to-morrow. The super's promised to do the square thing, and it'll come out all right.'

"She seemed a little reassured, and I got out my great coat and muffler, and in 'em I prepared to start out.

"'Well, Bob,' says my wife, 'if you must go, why you must, but,' she added thoughtfully, and there was the queer look passed over her face, 'be careful of that Frankenstein trestle.'

"I scarcely heard what she said, but bidding her good-bye was soon on my way to the roundhouse. It was a wild night, and no mistake; seems to me I have never seen it blow harder or snow faster. Once or twice I had to turn my back to the blast to keep from blowin' over. Well, I was soon on board my machine, and, backing into the station, hitched on the two cars which were to make up the train. As 10 o'clock approached the directors began to arrive, pompous-looking men, with plenty of money and feeling all their importance.

"'Them fellers,' says I to myself, 'feel their steam pretty well. I don't suppose they'd look at an engineer.'

"Dan Smith, my fireman, was on the watch for the conductor's signal and when the clock struck 10 we got the swing of the lantern and off we started.

"I've seen some pretty bad nights, but that one was the worst I ever remember. The storm to-night is hard enough, but it don't begin to blow as it did then. Why, every now and then we would get a blast that would make the whole machine tremble, and as the country around Portland is pretty level, we took the full force of the wind. As we got further inland it wasn't so bad, and by the time we were forty miles out, it had turned to a summer's gale and was pouring torrents.

"And now comes the singular part of the story. We had the right of way, and our dispatcher was to keep the whole up to Fabyan's open for us, my instructions being to stop only at North Conway for water. So I gave her the throttle, and we bowled along at a good rate of speed, making perhaps thirty or thirty-five miles an hour. As we went whizzing through Sebago Lake Station, I had a kind of feeling come over me that there was something wrong. I didn't notice it at first, but every now and then it would come back to me that all was not as it should be, yet I couldn't think of anything that wasn't right. I allers examine my machine before I start, give 'her a good oilin', look well to the bolts and packing, let rods, try the levers and such; and so I knew when we left Portland old '49' was in perfect workin' trim. Yet the feelin' grew on me until it was a steady thing. I tried to shake it off, but 'twan't no use. I felt it in my bones that somethin' was up.

"Now you gentlemen will laugh at me for being a fool, and I don't blame you, for we was a-goin' along all right, everything from the water-gauge to the cylinders was a workin' in good time, and I knew that it was only imagination, but, to tell the truth, I began to feel uneasy. I had been an engineer for ten years, and had been through some pretty tough scrapes without blowin' for brakes, and the boys all said as how I had a good deal of pluck. Now I began to lose all confidence.

"'Bob,' says I to myself, 'this won't do. You're gittin' nervous, and all for nothin'. You've no business to be superstitious at your time of life. Brace up!'

"'Twan't no use, however. I could have stood up in court and sworn that there was a kink somewhere. Well, meanwhile we was sliding along, and pretty soon reached North Conway, where we was to give the machine a drink. 'Dan,' says I to my fireman, 'there's something out of the way with this machine, and I don't know what it is.'

"'What makes you think so?' says Dan.

"'I can't tell,' I replied; 'she works all right, but I feel it in my bones.'

"'Guess you're thinking of your wife,' returned Dan with a laugh.

"But while we were gettin' in the water I took a lantern and went all round the engine. Looked at every part of her, rapped the bars, knocked the wheels, tried her at every point, and couldn't find nothin'.

"And I tried to think no more about it, but the feeling was there all the same, and do the best I could I wasn't able to throw it off. Well, we had got a pretty good distance in the mountains, and with that light load '49' didn't make nothing of the up grades.

"Perhaps, gentlemen, you have never been through the hills in winter. It's some different from summer, I can tell yer. The mountains loom up dark and solemn, and with their snow-covered sides they seem kinder like big, ghostly giants that have been turned to stone standing guard over the valley. The silence and desolation sorter awes one, and it didn't seem right to go shrieking and screaming along their sides in the dead o' night. This time it was worse than ever. The storm had let loose all the evil spirits in the air. The wind swept down the valley with a roar that could be heard above the rush of the train. It whistled and yelled at the cab windows, and blew the rain and sleet so hard agin the winder frame I could scarcely see the short distance in by the headlight. The great trees rocked to and fro, and seemed to hold out their arms in warning. It was a solemn place for any one, and I felt it particularly, as I had this awful weight of anxiety on my mind that had been a growin' stronger and stronger each minute.

"Well, we had passed Bartlett's, goin' through there at a pretty good jog, when, like a flash of lightning, the parting words of my wife came back to me: 'Be careful of that Frankenstein trestle!'

"That set me to thinkin'. Could this be a presentiment of some disaster? Was there anything the matter with the bridge?

"'Nonsense,' says I. 'I'm a natural-born fool.' If anything was wrong the train two hours ahead would have found it out and signaled me at Bartlett's. I'll think of it no more, but tend to business.'

"But in spite of me, 'Be careful of the Frankenstein trestle,' kept comin' into my head; even the wind seemed to shriek it. I pictured to myself a broken rail and the yawning gulf on each side. What an accident it would make! what a frightful chasm in which to plunge! Then I remembered Nell, and the queer look that came over her face when she gave me that singular caution, 'Be careful of the Frankenstein trestle.' We was a nearin' the bridge, sure enough. On the up grade '49' was making about twenty miles an hour, and in less than ten minutes we would be over the bridge or— I caught my breath, for at that moment those warning words flashed into my mind once more.

"'If I'm ever to be cured of such stuff,' says I to myself, 'now's my chance. What could Nell know about the bridge? I'll put her across at full speed.'

"A tall white birch that stood on a spur of the mountain was the landmark which showed me that we was acomin' to the straight piece which led across the bridge. I put my hand on the throttle to throw open the valve when—

"Well, gentlemen, I don't suppose you'll believe me, but as true as I'm standing here my wife's voice whispered in my ear, 'not that one, Bob, the brake!'

"It gave me such a start that before I knew what I did I had opened the Westinghouse for all she was worth, and the train came to a standstill in less than two lengths. Not waitin' to answer any questions from Dan, I grabbed my lantern and rushed up the track to the bridge, and walked along the middle plank until I reached the other side, and then back again. Not a thing was out of place, every rail secure, and the bridge was as sound as when first put up!

"'Idiot!' cried I, 'so much for your foolish nonsense. This freak will cost you your job.'

"I could see the lights of the conductor and brakeman, who had with a number of passengers come out to see what was the matter. How the boys would laugh, I thought. I should never hear the last of it. I was sneaking back to the cab when I came to the switch of a short siding that had been laid on which to run gravel cars. It warn't a very long track, not more than a hundred odd feet, and ended within a couple of yards of the precipice. Noticin' somethin' peculiar, I held up my lantern and found a large tree that had just blown down and fallen against the switch-rod, breakin' the fastening and throwin' the rails of the main line into the siding!

"I tell you, boys, it made my hair stand on end. In two minutes that whole train and them directors would a gone off that cliff, and not a one would have lived to tell about it.

"'What's the row, Bob?' says the conductor.

"'Row enough,' says I. 'Look at that switch. I reckon I pulled her up just in time.'

"'Great heavens!' exclaimed a fat director who was standing by. 'Where does that track lead to?'

"'To the other world,' says I, 'and we came almighty near makin' the trip!'

"Well, you never see a more grateful set of men. They made up a purse of $500 on the spot, and when we got to Fabyan's they telegraphed the super as how I was to stay with them during the excursion, and I went to all the sights in Montreal with 'em just as though I had been one of the regular party. Not content with that, they gave me an elegant gold watch and chain, the President of the road, who happened to be among 'em, making a neat speech. I tell you a peep into the jaws of death will put rich and poor men on the same level; nothing like it to take the bigness out of them.

"Well, the boys all made a lion of me when I got back to Portland, and Nell never seemed so glad to see me. That night's work was the making of me, for the Superintendent gave me a good show, and finally I got this job. I never told the boys why I stopped the train, for I knew they would laugh at me, and I don't know as I told my wife for a long time. One day, however, she came to me and says:

"'Bob, I had a queer dream about you, the night of that affair at the Frankenstein. I dreamed I was on the engine with you somewhere, and we was agoin' at a frightful rate. Way in the distance I saw what seemed to be a big gulf, and you thought by gettin' good headway you could jump it. I knew, of course, you couldn't, so I said, 'Not that one, the brake!' then I woke up.'

"I told her then the whole story and, gentlemen, whenever I hear a similar yarn, and I've heard a number of 'em, I don't turn up my nose and say, 'Nonsense!' There's more in one's feelings than most people thinks for, leastwise, minding my feelings saved my neck that night on the Frankenstine trestle. There comes the express; good-night."

The cheapest postal service in the world is that of Japan, where letters are conveyed all over the empire for 2 sen—about 7-10 of a penny. This is more wonderful considering the difficulties of transit over a mountainous and irregular country which has less than 100 miles of railway, while wagons can only pass over a few of the chief roads, and the steamers connect but a small number of coast stations.

Died in the Harness.

Rev. Warren H. Cudworth, pastor of the Central Square Congregational church of East Boston, Mass., died in his pulpit Thanksgiving day. Just as he had concluded the closing prayer he muttered some unintelligible sentences, and sank down upon the platform by the side of the desk. He was stricken with apoplexy, and was dead before any of the congregation reached him. The scene in the church cannot be described. After a few moments of confusion and excitement the truth was known, and the large audience passed out. The remains were soon after removed to his residence. Mr. Cudworth was fifty-eight years old, and has long been popular as a lecturer and a preacher. During the late war he was chaplain of the First Massachusetts volunteer regiment.

"Died of ammonia, poor fellow," said the renowned Mrs. Partington, on learning of a friend's death from pneumonia. "I believe I should have died, too, but for Dr. Bull's Cough Stirrup. It stirred up my cold and drove it away." Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup she meant, of course.

MEDICAL.

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS,

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew no: what it was to be an hour free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a cur e. In the summer of 188 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dread disease has not returned. All the bone beneath where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-five pounds to one hundred and fifty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the CUTICURA REMEDIES. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
December 1, 12:00 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—Colder, partly cloudy weather, light rain or snow in southern portions, winds shifting to southwest to southeast, rising followed by falling barometer.

The Thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 23 degrees above zero.

Sky clear.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the store fronts in Mechanics block have been painted the "dry blood" color, giving the building a very elegant and esthetic appearance.

That a little six-years-old girl, the child of a veteran soldier who is in somewhat straitened circumstances, being in doubt as to the quality and quantity of her Thanksgiving dinner, on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving told her mother she had that morning prayed for some one to bring them a turkey.

That the family were overjoyed in the afternoon at the receipt of two turkeys, with all the "fixings" for a good dinner, the gift of a wealthy and benevolent lady.

That Knight is the first to make a special display of holiday goods—and elegant goods they are too.

HAULING UP.

The schooner D. K. Ham, Capt. Garland, is laid up for the winter at C. E. Walker & Co 's wharf at the foot of State street, her sails having been taken off on Thursday, and stored in Drown's sail-loft. Capt. Garland, after several months of hard service, will rest for a time at his home in Newington. The schooner G. W. Ralit, Capt. Coleman, is laid up at Call's wharf, inside the Noble's island bridge. The cabins of both these vessels were occupied last winter by persons not entirely known, but it is not intended there shall be any conveniences for lodgers this winter, as the bedding has all been taken out of them. The schooner Chilion, Capt Call, will lie up at the same wharf as the G. W. Ralit. The schooner Active, Capt. Hontvet, will lie at Rollins' wharf.

The steamer Fearless, of the Kittery Point line, is hauled on the beach near the old wharf on Badger's island. The steamer Appledore occupies her usual winter quarters alongside of Appledore wharf, and a schooner yacht belonging to the Laighton Brothers is moored in the same dock.

THE WHEELMEN.

The Rockingham Bicycle club, now the largest club of the kind in the state, has secured for the winter riding of the members the two Franklin upper halls, and will remove the partition between them, making a single hall nearly 150 feet in length.

This club has one of the best road records in the country. Four of its members have made the distance from this city to Boston and return, 125 miles, within twenty-one hours, including stops; two members have made 126 miles each, within twenty-four hours; one member has made a run of thirty-five miles without dismounting; and one has ridden 15,000 miles on his wheel since 1879.

THE RED SUNSETS.

A despatch of Thursday, Nov. 29th, from Phelps, N. Y., says: "Professor Brooks, of the Red House observatory, while searching for comets near the sun last evening, discovered a wonderful shower of telescopic meteors, some of which were moving northward and others southward. He believes that this display has some connection with the remarkable red light seen near the sun at sunrise and sunset for several days, and that the earth is passing through a mass of meteoric dust or is enveloped in the tail of a gigantic comet."

THE RAILROAD LEASE.

The Portland Argus says there is a change in the status of the proposed lease of the Eastern railroad to the Boston & Maine. So strenuous has been the opposition that the Boston & Maine now regard the lease as "up," and will drop all efforts to consummate it. It is now asserted the Boston & Maine managers have adopted a new plan, and will leave no stone unturned to carry it out. They will try for "practical consolidation," and propose to bring it about by controlling the annual elections of the Eastern and Maine Central railroads, which occur in December, and electing such boards of directors as will put the three roads under one management. With such an arrangement the Boston & Maine can easily draw up a new lease and "put it through." They propose to put out all directors of the Eastern who oppose the lease, and have those elected who will aid them. What the opposition to the lease will do now this new development has appeared, remains to be seen. Indications are that unless something new turns up the consolidation will be one of the events of the not distant future.

The Boston Traveller of Friday evening says: "Mr. H. J. Stevens has issued a circular asking for proxies to be used at the coming annual meeting of the Eastern railroad company, in the re-election, as he asserts, of the old management. Well-informed parties, however, assert that his object is not to secure the re-election of the old board of directors, but that it is a move towards the consummation of a 'deal' which contemplates the retirement of Messrs. French, Jackson and possibly Cummings. S. C. Lawrence is said to be talked of as the successor to Mr. Jackson on the Eastern road, and Arthur Sewall as his successor on the Maine Central. Richard Olney, the counsel of the Eastern, is also mentioned as the possible successor to the presidency of that line. All this is understood to be planned in order to secure harmony in the Boston & Maine lease project, and will in all probability be carried out as talked."

THE S. M. B. A. BALL.

A grand ball was given in Congress hall on Thanksgiving eve by the St. Mary's Benevolent Association of this city, and the assemblage was the largest that has been in the hall for years, if indeed it was ever equalled there. The name of this association indicates its purpose, and it has done much good in a quiet way for years. Mr. Daniel J. Hurley has been president of the association for three years; previous to his accession to the chair there had been a decline in the interest evinced, but recently there have been fifty new members added, and more are expected. The fund now amounts to several hundred dollars. At the ball on Wednesday evening were present visitors from Boston, Portland, Dover, Newmarket and other places.

Tickets to "An American Marriage," at Franklin theatre Tuesday evening, go on sale this forenoon at ten o'clock, at O. M. Knight's bookstore in Mechanics' block.

The correspondence of the Portsmouth itemizer of the Manchester Union contains insinuations against the family connections of Mrs. Barrows of Kittery. Now her family is an old one, which requires no particular defence, and the members of it are not responsible for the doings of any individual. VIATOR.

George F. Thompson, of the Rockingham house, returned on Thanksgiving morning from a fortnight's deer hunting in the region of Moosehead lake.

"An American Marriage" is an emotional play written by Celia Logan for Miss Helene Jennings, who takes the principal part in its presentation. It was first performed in Providence, R. I., in August last, and has had a great success ever since.

A return-line of the steam heating apparatus in National block bursted on Thursday morning last, but the fires were at once drawn, and the pipe soon repaired. Had the accident happened at night it might have caused considerable damage to the building.

Mr. Charles Perkins of Hampton recently shot seven wild geese from one flock, bringing down four with one barrel of his gun, and three with the other.

Mr. Fred P. Howard arrived in this city on Friday, to introduce the "Eureka fruit and vegetable knife, or parer, slicer and corer combined," a very simple and cheap, and apparently serviceable implement for effecting the purposes designed. It will be on sale at the kitchen furnishing stores.

There arrived at one of the hotels in this city on Thursday night about ten o'clock, a boatman from Kittery Point, who being very much chilled could yet manage to navigate. He announced that he had been capsized out of his boat somewhere on the river, he could not say exactly where, but he thought near Portsmouth bridge. He was covered with burrs of the dock plant, ("cockleburtons,") which he thought had stuck to him on Noble's island, where he swam ashore. About a gallon of water ran from his clothes as he stood warming himself by the stove.

A number of the vessels composing the Piscataqua river brick fleet have hauled up for the winter, but the old Triton, Capt. Freeman, which arrived from Boston on Thanksgiving day, went up the river after another cargo. We believe the Triton opened the season last spring, being the first schooner to start out with a load.

Mrs. Eva M. Blanchard and her daughter Lucy, of St. Paul, Minn., and Miss Mary S. Huse of Princeton, Minn., who have been spending a few months in the east, left for the west on Friday morning.

The list of pensioners, as published, shows but one pensioner in Newington,—"Doctor" Wm. C. Hodgdon, a veteran of the war of 1812.

A valuable horse belonging to C. H. Hayes got cast in the stable on Tuesday night, Nov. 27th, and was so badly injured that it died on Friday morning.

Jacob C. Brown, of South Seabrook, has been granted an invalid pension of $2 per month commencing November 8th, 1864.

The clock at the navy yard was on Friday three minutes ahead of "standard" time, and gains about five minutes weekly. It is in bad condition.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

"Calvert, Texas,
May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

On Saturday afternoon, at the Church of Our Father in East Boston, as many persons were viewing the remains of Rev. Warren H. Cudworth, who dropped dead in the pulpit on Thanksgiving day, Mr. Lewis G. Smith, who was tending one of the doors, fell dead from heart disease. Mr. Smith served in Mr. Cudworth's regiment during the war, and was a member of Joseph Hooker Post, G. A. R., and was secretary of the Sunday school of Mr. Cudworth's church. He had felt keenly the sudden death of his beloved pastor.

"My skin, which has been covered with scaly sores, has become clean, smooth and soft as a lady's. My hands were covered with little dry scabs. They have disappeared and I'm better than I have been for twenty years, using Dr. Benson's Skin Cure.—A. M. Noble, Selma, N. C., July 3, 1882.

At New Washington, Ohio, on the night of Nov. 29th, four burglars robbed a safe, and then escaped on a stolen handcar to Vernon, where they dumped the car in a creek and walked to Shelby. The marshal of Shelby, being warned by telegraph, met the burglars and ordered them to go with him, when they opened fire, hitting him with four bullets. The marshal retared the fire, killing one of the thieves, when the others fled, pursued by the citizens. Two miles from the town one of the pursuers was fatally shot, the murderer being captured soon afterward, and lodged in jail. A third member of the gang was next overtaken, and was riddled with bullets, and the fourth one was caught and jailed. One of the ruffians had nearly $3000 of stolen money on him when he was killed. The city marshal will recover.

The schooner Eliza Ann, from Boston for Bangor with kerosene, foundered off Cape Ann on the morning of Nov. 29th, and one man, a passenger, was drowned. The captain and one seaman, composing the crew, were saved.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

The navy department has received three of the new electric search lights from France. Two have been placed on the United States ship Trenton, and the other will be used at the torpedo station at Newport, R. I. It is likely that these lights will be adopted for general use in the navy.

Extreme Tired Feeling.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla." A second bottle effected a cure. No other preparation contains such a concentration of vitalizing, enriching, purifying and invigorating properties as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Assistant Engineer George E. Bird has been detached from the navy yard at Boston, and ordered to the Shenandoah. Lieutenant H. L. Tremain has been detached from the New York navy yard and ordered to the Shenandoah. Lieutenant Henry McRea, and Naval Cadets P. J. Ryan and Charles E. Sweeting, have been detached from the Yantic, and ordered to the Shenandoah. These orders complete the complement of officers for the Shenandoah, and she will be ordered to join the Pacific squadron in a few days.

Lieut. E. S. Prime has been ordered to the New York navy yard.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teethingts. Its value is incalculable It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world Price 25 cents a bottle coeltanys,84

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up to pass cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat were all filled up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Mrs. JULIA G. CUSHING.

The coroner's inquest in the Laconia murder case ended on Saturday, with a verdict that Mr. Ruddy and his child were killed by blows from a hatchet in the hands of Thomas Salmon, and that Mrs. Ford's death was caused by a heavy blow or pressure on the chest.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analyzed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

The Speaker.

The democratic caucus to nominate a candidate for speaker of the national house of representatives was held in Washington at seven o'clock Saturday evening, and John Griffin Carlisle of Kentucky was nominated by a vote of 104, to fifty-two for Randall of Pennsylvania and thirty-two for Cox of New York.

Game Fish, and Angling.

The publishers of "The American Angler," now in its fourth volume, announce that the illustrated series of essays on The Game Fishes of America which have been issued each week by them during the year 1883, will be continued into 1884. These essays on angling are exhaustive, embracing over seventy-five engravings drawn from nature of the representative fish of American waters, with copious letter press giving the habits and habitat, popular and scientific description, coloration, etc., of each fish; also, the tackle used, and when, where and how to capture them. These articles are written by the best angling writers in America, and form a complete text book for anglers, a want not filled by any other existing publication. The twenty pages of the American Angler are issued weekly, and in addition to these valuable essays, contain sterling illustrated contributions and editorial articles on fish, fishing and fish culture; notes and queries as to the habits and modes of capture of game fish; reports of fishing (in season) from all parts of the country, etc., etc. It is the Fisherman's paper—the only one on the continent. The publication offices are at 252 Broadway, New York, and the subscription price is three dollars a year.

"The Mate of the Daylight, and Friends Ashore;" by Sarah Orne Jewett. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $1.25; sold by M. Goodrich.

Miss Jewett's numerous friends and more numerous readers in this region need only be told that a volume containing a collection of tales from her pen has appeared, to make all eager to possess it. The present volume of two hundred and fifty-four pages contains eight of her charming stories, all written in that peculiarly attractive style which has won for her a prominent place among writers of short stories.

In the confessions of a house-breaker we seem to see the very quiet of the early darkness before dawn in the reposing village as she walks abroad in "the Parish of Unity," the solemn stillness broken only by the sound of the waters at Quamphegan falls. We can by aid of her descriptive powers almost inhale the fresh morning air and hear the bird concert so faithfully portrayed after the early rumble, the only startling episode of which appears to have been the novel mode of re-entering the peaceful region from which she had emerged to take her enjoyable pre-sunrise saunter, so happily described for our pleasure. The volume is dedicated to one of the gifted writer's dear friends.

"The Art Amateur" for December is a number of holiday size and excellence. It contains working designs for a tea-pot (Japanesque decoration,) a dessert plate (wild geranium,) a hand screen (shepherdess,) embroidery (a fan, Christmas-card box, doilies, and mitres,) repoussé work (cockatoos and dolphins,) wood-carving and jewelry; two beautiful designs of children, with minute directions for painting in oils and in mineral colors; an illustrated report of the Fernandez-Cesnola trial; a biography of Charles Sprague Pearce, with numerous original drawings; an illustrated notice of the Huntington gift to the Metropolitan Museum; reviews of the National and Pennsylvania Academy exhibitions, the Sketch Exhibition, and the National Exposition at Paris; dramatic and musical feuilletons; some fine illustrations of Derby gymkhana; practical articles on decoration, needlework and china-painting; correspondence, literary and editorial notes. Price thirty-five cents; $4 per annum. Montague Marks, publisher, No. 23 Union square, New York.

The fishing schooner Hattie Chester, one of the Gloucester vessels given up as lost, registered seventy-four tons, was built in 1878, and with her outfit was valued at $7,500; she sailed from Boston on the 7th of November, for Georges, and carried a crew of fourteen men, of whom only two are known to have been married. The John McDonough, another of the missing vessels, was on her first trip, and was valued at $11,000; she carried sixteen men, of whom only one is known to have been married.

Mr. John Stimpson of Limerick, near Ossipee Mills, on going to his barn one morning recently found that the floor had broke down during the night, letting four of his oxen through into the cellar. One of the oxen was dead, and the others considerably injured.

Rev. Mr. Dick, of the Calvin Baptist church in Limerick, and Rev. Mr. Smith, of the Free Will Baptist church, aided by two travelling evangelists named Allen and Jones, have been holding revival meetings in Limerick, afternoon and evening, but the interest awakened was not what was hoped for.

The two old citizens of Kennebunkport who were reported as having recently engaged in a fight on the highway, were Melville Clough and Joseph Harrop, the latter being over sixty years of age. Mr. Harrop says that as he was going home on the highway, Mr. Clough drove against him, hitting him in the back with a wheel, and on his remonstrating, struck him in the face and threatened to kill him. Mr. Harrop moved away, but was followed by Clough, at whom he threw a stone, whereupon Clough knocked him down, and then pounded him about the head and face with a stone until he was insensible.

—Has it ever occurred to baseball men that a milk pitcher is general by a good fly-catcher?

—The world is full of change. A good many wish they could say the same of their pockets.

—"Yes," said the Texas man, "I voted for Tom Ochiltree and would again, but I'm hanged if I'd play poker with him unless he tied up his sleeves."

—A young wife at the east, who lost her husband by death, telegraphed the sad tidings to her father in Chicago these succinct words: "Dear John died this morning at ten. Loss fully covered by insurance."

—Dried apples are used in Kentucky for making applejack, but the beverage must be stored in stone jugs or glass bottles, as it will eat out of a wooden barrel. And yet Kentucky people resent any slur on their liquor and say it won't wake up the snakes.

—"How much do you think you can get along on, my son? I want to allow you enough to make a decent appearance in society, but yet I will not countenance extravagance." "Just my idea, dad; I think say about $10,000 a year—and—er—expenses, you know, would be about the thing."

The schooner Emily Holden, a small craft of about twenty-two tons register belonging to Portland, Me., was run down on the night of Nov. 28th by the schooner Railroad, of Waldoboro, and cut nearly in two, sinking in two minutes after being struck. The Emily Holden had just left Cape Porpoise, and was about four miles off shore when the accident occurred. The captain and one man of each schooner were on deck, Capt. Frank Tanner, of the Emily Holden, being at the tiller of his vessel; the men of neither craft saw the other until they struck. Six of the crew of the Emily Holden were below at the time of the collision, and had barely time to get on deck when the vessel went down, leaving them struggling for their lives among a lot of wreck stuff; two of them could not swim, but all were picked up by a boat from the Railroad. The crew of the sunken schooner, who all belong in Cape Porpoise, were taken into Wood island roads by the Railroad, and sent home in a coach in time to enjoy their Thanksgiving dinners.

MEDICAL.

PURE BLOOD IS THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITY OF HEALTH.

THE marvellous results of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA upon all humors and low conditions of the blood (as proven by the cures effected) prove it the best of GOOD MEDICINE. Such has been the success of this article at home that nearly every family in neighborhoods have been taking it with the same time. It eradicates scrofula, vitalizes and enriches the blood, thereby restoring and renovating the whole system. Hood's SARSAPARILLA purifies the blood. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures dyspepsia. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures biliousness. A peculiar point in Hood's SARSAPARILLA is that it builds up and strengthens the system, while it eradicates disease, and as nature's great assistant proves itself invaluable as a protection from diseases that originate in changes of the seasons, of climate and of life.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

SCROFULA.

135 HOWARD STREET, LOWELL, MASS., Jan. 17.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—I have used HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA in my family for scrofulous humor with wonderful success, and am happy to tell you that it is the best medicine we ever used. I do sincerely advise any one who is troubled with scrofula to give this valuable remedy a trial, and assure them they will not be disappointed. Very truly yours, (Coburn Shuttle Co.) C. C. PICKERING.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.

THE NEW HOOK & LADDER TRUCK.

The new truck for the Hook & Ladder company arrived on the morning of Thanksgiving day, and was put to a number of tests, the most important of which was the going 'round corners at a good rate of speed, drawn by two horses. The old truck had a bad habit of capsizing every time it was hauled around a corner at a rate faster than a moderate walk, and several persons had been injured by it, while hairbreadth escapes were common to the members of the company; indeed, we believe the ill-planned old cart killed one or two men in some other city, before it was sold to Portsmouth. The new truck was driven around short corners at a rate of speed quite as high as is safe in our streets, without evincing any design of turning over, or alarming the dozen men who were standing on the foot-boards on either side, and holding to brass handrails placed at a convenient height for the purpose. It was demonstrated that the truck can be taken to a fire without imperilling the lives of the firemen on the way.

The body of the truck is both light and strong, and is mounted on springs and wheels of the most approved patterns. It is fitted with a pole for two horses, but can easily be drawn by one horse if the company go on foot. There are ten ladders, aggregating 300 feet, the longest two being fitted for splicing together, making a single ladder seventy feet long if needed; a heavy metal battering-ram for staving in doors; hook poles, guy ropes with hooks and chains, sledges, gutter hooks, axes and picks, buckets, lanters, and all the other parphernalia required.

The new truck will, it is considered, be quite as effective with fifteen men as the old one has been with twenty-five, which will make a decided difference in the quarterly pay roll of the company.

A NEEDLESS ANNOYANCE.

The most unearthly screams are heard in the early morning from the engines on the Eastern railroad, by those who are so unfortunate as to reside within ear-shot of the station in this city. If the gates (not the Green street ones, which are yet in embryo, notwithstanding the order of the court) are not just right, or the switches are not properly attended to, or something else is wrong which is a secret to outsiders, the offended engineer takes his revenge—not on the offending party or parties, but on the innocent sleepers who when aroused from their slumbers fervently wish the engine and engineer, and the switches and gates and railroad, all in a place where snow is unknown—by giving with the whistle a long-continued, ear-piercing howl, as discordant and offensive as it is needless. The time was, and not long ago, when it was thought impossible for a train to pass over a crossing or enter a station in safety without howling with the whistle for about ten minutes; and during the night, at the station in this city, the shrieking was so nearly continuous that it meant nothing at all. This nuisance has within a few years been abated, and all general warnings and working signals are now given by the bell; and the whistle, not being used on every trivial occasion, attracts much more attention when it is used. It would be a good thing if the railroad management would suggest to the engineers that they moderate their whistling zeal in the early morning, and restict their howls to a minute or so, except on special occasions.

DARING ROBBERY.

On Saturday evening last Mr. Norman Lord closed his saloon in Franklin block at eleven o'clock, and after spending a short time in the office of Beacham's stable, went to his home (he resides in the Parry house on Fleet street) and went to bed. At about half-past two o'clock Sunday morning Mrs. Lord was awakened, and saw a man leaving the room. Rousing her husband, he quickly discovered that his vest, containing $150 in money and a gold watch and chain, had been taken from beneath his pillow, and hastening across the street to the stable he telephoned to the police station, the call being quickly answered by the appearance of Asst. Marshal Cole. The officer found that the thief had made his exit by a kitchen window, and started to follow his tracks, which were quite plain in the new-fallen snow, continuing the chase through Fleet, Hanover, High, Dover, Market, Green and Vaughan streets to Christian shore, and thence across the city farm and patches of woods, etc., to a point not far from the trotting park, where the trail was lost, Mr. Cole arriving back at about eleven o'clock in the forenoon. It is thought probable the thief concealed himself in the house before it was closed, as no tracks were found leading toward the house, and the snow commenced to fall about one o'clock. In a pocket of Mr. Lord's pantaloons, lying on the chair in the room, were $150, which was not touched.

Mr. Herbert Manson has taken the place of Oscar E. Blaney, as section hand on the Portsmouth & Dover railroad. Mr. Daniel McCarthy has taken the place of Herbert Manson on the night shifting gang in the Eastern railroad freight yard in this city.

Mr. Daniel J. Lynch, a hard-working man, lost $15 on Water street last Thursday, probably through pulling it out of his pocket with his handkerchief. The numbers of the bills are known, and the police have been notified. It is to be hoped the bills were picked up by some honest person who will restore them to Mr. Lynch, who cannot afford to lose so much of his hard earnings.

We call attention to O. M. Knight's new advertisement. In his opening he shows many novelties, among which are pocketbooks with side pockets in which are memorandum books, very ingenious as well as useful; and ladies' card-cases, made the same way, to keep a record of calls. And his combination Christmas card and sachet is useful as well as ornamental.

Mr. Israel S. Hoyt of Newington one night last week caught in a trap an owl measuring over five feet from tip to tip of the extended wings.

The "Spanish students" gave a concert in Dover on the evening of Thanksgiving day, assisted by several other artistes, among whom was Miss Mollie Mack, soprano, formerly of this city.

A South Berwick correspondent of the Dover Republican, under date of Nov. 28th, says: "We are glad to notice that Mr. O. M. Lord, for some years principal of Berwick academy, has a similar position in Portsmouth at $1,500 or thereabouts, per year." The correspondent didn't hurry with his information; the gentleman named left this city for Portland several months ago.

Agricultural authorities agree that nothing on the farm pays better than a good orchard; and any farmer in this vicinity who contemplates setting out a new orchard or replenishing the old one, the coming spring, cannot do better than to engage his trees now of Mr. Reuben E. Gilpatrick, who is the agent in Rockingham county for the extensive nursery of James F. Leclare of Rochester, New York. Mr. Gilpatrick is well known here as a reliable man, and those who engage trees or shrubs of him can depend upon receiving just what they order, and in the best possible condition.

The Dover papers of Nov. 30th announced that "King David," a well known demented tramp belonging in North Hampton or Hampton Falls, was in that city that day, resplendent in a military suit. A year or so ago a barn was burned in Berwick, Me., and a skeleton supposed to be King David's was found in the ruins; he had been in that vicinity the day before the fire, and had applied for lodgings at a house near by, and been refused; and it was supposed he had crawled into the barn, and accidentally set the hay on fire while smoking. As he is now alive, it is most likely the skeleton found in the ruins of the barn belonged to somebody else.

Five persons were baptised at Noble's island on Sunday.

The schooner Free Wind, formerly owned at this port, arrived at Philadelphia on the 28th ult. from Providence, R. I., having lost both anchors and chains in Delaware bay; she had also lost her jibboom and head gear by collision with another vessel, and sustained other slight damage.

There will be given on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week a humorous entertainment representing an old-fashioned singing school, in which will appear a large company of young people in the garments of ancient times. The programme abounds in old-time music and mannerisms, and is under the direction of "Aunt Polly Bassett," whose success in these entertainments is well known throughout New England; and as it is given by the young people of the Universalist church for the benefit of the Ladies' Social Circle, it is hoped they will be supported by a liberal patronage.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Lodge, F. & A. M., was held Friday evening, and the following officers were elected: W. M., Lemuel T. Davis; S. W., John H. Broughton; J. W., John Tanton; treasurer, Wingate N. Ilsley; secretary, Samuel M. Joy; standing committee, John Christie and Wallace Hackett; representative to Grand Lodge, John Pender; sick committee, Harry G. Tanton and Frank Battin.

The fishing schooner Mary S. Hontvet, Capt. Peter Anderson, sailed on Saturday for George's banks. She has hitherto been very successful, and we hope her good luck may continue.

All friends of temperance are invited to meet in Temperance hall, (over Fay's store,) Congress street, this (Monday) evening, Dec. 3d, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Joseph Morrison, engineer of the Portland and Boston express train on the Eastern railroad, while looking out of the cab window on one of his trips last week, when between Salem and Ipswich, was struck in the head by a stone which knocked him senseless, and made a bad gash over one eye. He was taken to the hospital in Salem, and it was thought would recover in a few days. It is supposed the stone was thrown by a boy standing on the overhead bridge at Beverly, near which place it is said there has been stoning of trains by boys before. The young scoundrels should be sent to state prison.

In the Massachusetts supreme court at Boston, Nov. 30th, Judge Holmes gave a further hearing on the questions of law involved in the suit between the trustees of the Eastern railroad and the Eastern railroad company, to determine which of the two parties have the right to vote on the 15,202 shares of the stock of the Maine Central railroad company acquired at the time of the consolidation of the two roads. The case will be advanced on the law docket so it will be argued before the full court at the January term.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder.'
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

'Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent; equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JANY 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt their condition should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vigor impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Sixth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology, ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can either require or wish to know but what is fully explained. Address, Lucius Lamont, is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every respect than any to obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—Address as above.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE-AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or Self-Preservation. The author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humor in the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that no good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any mineral compound, for eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood. It has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

The Great Blood Purifier.

Dr. W. ROSS, Writes.

Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been practising medicine for 25 years, and is a remedy for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness, and all diseases of the blood. I have never found its equal. I have sold Vegetine for 7 years and have never had one bottle returned. I would heartily recommend it to those in need of a blood purifier.

DR. W. ROSS, Druggist,

BAD BLOOD

SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my lower limbs was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, and of a purple color. The flesh was open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Ulcers began to take the place of those hitherto on the surface. I became a helpless cripple. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life from a hopeless to a cure. In the summer of 188 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the Vegetine. I was cured, and after ten years of consistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The dead ill-case has to remember. All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption, I now enjoy a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and forty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES R. SHELDON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner. J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD

of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, we offer the following Cuticura Remedies: Racking Torture, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. They are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES.

The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have spent hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Providence, R. I. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS.

Lokoni, Ark., October 26, 1883.—For the sake of the balance of mankind who may be suffering, I wish to give you my experience with one of your Georgia remedies. I have been afflicted with scrofula for more than twelve years—have had sores on me as large as a man's hand for that length of time, and last summer was so bad off that I could not wear any clothing. Everybody, including myself, had given me up to die, and said I would be a dead man in three months. I had taken hundreds of bottles of all kinds of medicines, had spent hundreds of dollars with physicians and had ruined my system with mercury and potash, when a friend told me of the wonderful cures made by Swift's Specific. I got it and began its use, and soon found it was just what I wanted. In a short time it cured me sound and well. Thousands of dollars could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. The county officials, and in fact everybody in the country will bear witness to what I have written, for I was a well-known case. Yours respectfully,

R. L. High.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Greatest Blood Purifier ON EARTH.

This Great German Medicine, a compound of Yellow Dock, Mandrake, Prickly Ash, Dandelion, Juniper Berries, etc., combined with the Extract of Sulphur, which makes it the Greatest Blood Purifier known. Do not confound this with the cheap and worthless preparations called Sulphur Bitters, or Blood Purifiers, which are made of Molasses, Alcohol and Water, and sold at a low price. Do not take BLUE PILLS or any mercurial, they are deadly. Your Kidneys, your liver, your Stomach, your bowels, are all out of order when you need SULPHUR BITTERS. If you feel Dull, Drowsy, Nervous, Low Spirited, Have a Bad Taste in your Mouth, Your Tongue Coated, Have a Bad Appetite, Are Costive, Have Sick Headache, Feel Dizzy, Have a Cough with yellow sputum, Have Pimples, Blotches, Boils, Tetter or Ringworm, Have Dull Pains in your Back, Have Cold Feet, Have Cold Sweats, Have Nightmare, Have Frequent Headache, Have Bad Taste in your Mouth, Have Dull Feeling in your Head, Have Bad Dreams, Have Dizziness, Have Dull Pain in the Eyes, Have Pain in the Shoulders, Have Cold Chills, Have Hot Flashes, Have Dull Appetite, Have Pain in the Stomach, Have Sour Stomach, Have Sick Headache, Have Pain in the Side, Have Pain in the Back, Have Pain in the Joints, Have Pain in the Kidneys, Have Pain in the Bowels, Have Pain in the Liver, Have Pain in the Lungs, Have Pain in the Chest, Have Pain in the Bladder, Have Pain in the Rectum, Have Pain in the Nerves, Have Pain in the Muscles, Have Pain in the Ankles, Have Pain in the Feet, Have Pain in the Hands, Have Pain in the Arms, Have Pain in the Head, Have Pain in the Ears, Have Pain in the Eyes, Have Pain in the Nose, Have Pain in the Mouth, Have Pain in the Teeth, Have Pain in the Throat, Have Pain in the Neck, Have Pain in the Shoulders

"Fox's Book of Martyrs"
Contains the history and pictures of hundreds of people who were stoned, burned, beaten, pulled to pieces and otherwise tortured on account of their conscientious convictions as to their duty. They suffered incredible torments and have come down to the present age as martyrs. It is not now customary to torture people thus, but there are many martyrs by rheumatism until they suffer almost as much as did the heroes of the martyr ages. There was no relief for the old-time martyrs, but there is happy relief for those who suffer from rheumatism. Cashier Charles F. Moorill, of Manchester, N. H., suffered terribly from frequent attacks of this painful disease, but he has been cured. He writes: "I was a martyr to rheumatism, and, although I tried many other remedies, I found nothing that relieved me like Perry Davis's Pain Killer." Other rheumatic martyrs may wisely take the hint.

Rev. D. A. Mack, agent of the New Hampshire Orphans' Home, died at Franklin on the 1st inst.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.
MRS. JULIA G. CUSHING.

Thomas Clark Hovey of Dover, a respected citizen aged sixty-one years, fell dead on the street in Dover last Friday evening.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analyzed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

Mrs. Moses Ferrier's barn at Plymouth was burned Nov. 29th, with thirteen cattle and twenty tons of hay. Insurance small.

It is a positive Luxury,
to brush the teeth with Sozodont, so fragrant and refreshing is it, and so pleasant is the taste it leaves in the mouth after the operation. Then how gratifying is the effect and how complacent feels the beholder who views in the glass a row of ivories rendered spotless. Only a few drops on the brush, a rag or sponge is needed for an ablution and yet it is wonderously effective.

The Forty-Eighth Congress.

The 48th Congress assembled in the capitol at Washington at noon on Monday, Dec. 3d. The roll call of the house showed that 316 members were present. John G. Carlisle of Kentucky, democrat, was chosen speaker by a vote of 191 to 112 for Kelfer, republican, and five scattering.

In the senate the credentials of Beck of Kentucky, Thomas W. Palmer of Michigan and Austin F. Pike of New Hampshire were submitted. Several senators whose credentials were submitted at the last session were sworn in, and a recess was taken to three o'clock; and at three o'clock the senate adjourned to Tuesday.

The Laconia Murderer Confesses.

A despatch of Dec. 3d from Laconia says that Salmon, the murderer, has broken down completely, and has made a full confession of his crimes. He says that he alone is the guilty party, and that no one else had any part in the committal of the crime. He says he killed Mrs. Ford about nine o'clock on Saturday morning; that he did not attempt to outrage her, and that she was killed in a drunken squabble; that in the squabble he threw her upon the floor and put his foot upon her left breast, which caused the injury that resulted in her death; that she showed signs of life for about ten minutes, and that he made several attempts to resuscitate her; that failing in this he became frightened, and chopped the body, put it into the trunk and started off aimlessly to dispose of it, and finally brought up at Ruddy's house, where he was acquainted. He left the trunk outside on the ground, where it remained for some two hours. He took it into the house about dark, and says that during the night he became very nervous, could not go to bed and was unable to sleep; that as it was nearing morning and no opportunity had offered itself to dispose of the body of Mrs. Ford, he resolved upon the plan of killing the Ruddy family, burning the house, and thereby destroying the evidence of his guilt.

Referring to the new standard of time in its connection with the almanacs already published for next year, the Boston Herald says that the only way to do, until a standard-time almanac is published, is to take a reliable almanac, calculated for the old standard, and subtract sixteen minutes from the time given. For instance, if sunset is announced for 5:16 o'clock, the true time will be five o'clock standard time.—Exchange.

That plan of finding the "standard" time by subtracting sixteen minutes from the true solar time as given in a reliable almanac, will do well enough for Boston, but it will not do for Portsmouth or Portland, or any other place not due north or south of Boston. As to a "standard-time almanac," it is an absurdity to speak of, as much so as "cold heat" or "dry moisture." It is an impossibility to make a practical almanac which shall give the time of the rising and setting of the sun and moon by "standard" time.

"There are counties on the black belt in Georgia in which the majority doesn't rule, and in which it isn't going to rule."

Had the above appeared in a northern republican paper as a charge against the Georgia democrats, we should have known just what to call it, viz., a black republican lie and a waving of the bloody shirt; but as it appears in the Telegraph, a Bourbon democratic sheet of Macon, Georgia, in the shape of a boast, we do not know exactly how to classify it.

Monday, Dec. 3d, was the 24th anniversary of the hanging of John Brown, at Charlestown, Va. He was the most remarkable illustration of the virtues of Puritan ancestors which this century has witnessed, he being only the fifth generation from Peter Brown of Mayflower fame. The calmness and self possession he displayed during his trial and imprisonment, and especially at the time of his execution, are without parallel in modern times, and canonization would surely have been awarded him had he lived in the 12th instead of the 19th century. His name and fame have an enduring place in history.

At Newry, Ireland, on Sunday, the Protestants were assaulted on their way to church; four companies of infantry, supplied with twenty rounds of ball cartridge per man, were ordered out, and also a lot of extra police. The Irish movement seems to be rapidly becoming a squabble between religious sects, from which of course no hope of good to Ireland can be entertained. This has always been the end of all such movements in Ireland; and that the religious disputes are fostered by the ruling powers does not alter the fact that such disputes are fatal to Irish liberty.

Secretary Folger, of the treasury, on the 1st inst. had all the clocks in the treasury department at Washington set to "standard" time. We are glad Folger was defeated for governor of New York by 200,000 majority; wish it had been 500,000.

Freeman, the Pocasset, Mass., child murderer, who was released from an insane hospital on the ground that he had become sane, is to be tried this week for murder.

A respectable young lady of New Bedford, Mass., made preparations for her wedding, to take place Thanksgiving day. Her clothes were marked "Mrs.," and joy, contentment and comfort were mapped out for the future, but on Thanksgiving eve she was informed by her worthless intended that he did not care to get married just then, and he left her to bewail her fate. She is lucky to escape such a fellow, though she does not fully appreciate her good fortune just now.

The people of Eastport, Me., have abandoned the humbug called "standard" time, and gone back to true time.

The Masonic Temple in New York city was damaged by fire on the 1st inst. to the amount of $1 0,000. The fire was confined to the mansard roof and story, all below being fire-proof.

Benjamin F. Bigelow, the late receiving teller of the Bank of the Republic at Washington, D. C., recently convicted of embezzlement, was on Saturday sentenced to five years imprisonment in the New Hampshire state prison. He is the first criminal to be sent to that prison under the agreement recently made between the state and national authorities.

The mackerel season is over, all the Gloucester fleet having arrived at home. The largest stock of mackerel of the season is claimed for the schooner Edward E. Webster, Captain Soloman Jacobs; this vessel made three trips to "the bay," and the gross value of her cargoes is put down at $27,440, or $25,700 net; the crew of seventeen men shared $709.10 each. The schooner Nellie N. Rowe, Captain Lewis, comes next, with a gross stock of $26,320.

A letter from Deer Isle, Me., says: "Without doubt this is one of the hardest years of fishing that Deer Isle has ever had. Even the weir and small-boat fishing has been a failure."

For Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Depression of spirits and General Debility, in their various forms; also as a preventive against Fever and Ague, and other intermittent Fevers, the "Ferro-Phosphorated Elixir of Calisaya, made by CASWELL, HAZARD & CO., New York, and sold by all Druggists, is the best tonic; and for patients recovering from Fever or other sickness, it has no equal. The gross earnings of the Eastern railroad for October were $39,178.34, against $22,700.47 in October, 1882, being a gain of $16,477.87. No wonder the Boston & Maine wishes to get control of the Eastern.

MEDICAL.

PURE BLOOD IS THE ABSOLUTE NECESSITY OF HEALTH.

THE marvellous results of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA upon all humors and low conditions of the blood (as proven by the cures effected) it is the best BLOOD MEDICINE. Such has been the success of this article at home that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. It eradicates scrofula, vitalizes and enriches the blood, thereby restoring and renovating the whole system. Hood's SARSAPARILLA purifies the blood. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures dyspepsia. Hood's SARSAPARILLA cures biliousness. A peculiar point in Hood's SARSAPARILLA is that it builds up and strengthens the system, while it eradicates disease, and as nature's great assistant proves itself invaluable as a protection from diseases that originate in changes of the seasons, of climate and of life.

"AUNT POLLY BASSETT'S SINGING SKEWL."

This unique entertainment, though it has proved highly popular in other places is a novelty here. It is a living picture of a singing school of "ye olden tyme," with Aunt Polly Bassett as "Skewl marm," and Belindy, her "darter," as the old-fasioned girl. The music and mannerisms of the colonial days are faithfully reproduced, and the dresses are in keeping with the rest. An evening of wholesome fun will be enjoyed by all who attend at the Universalist church on Wednesday or Thursday evening.

GOSSIPS SAY

That "Topsy took the turkey" is a name given to one of the young men lasters at the shoe factory who won a twenty-five pound turkey at pool playing on Wednesday evening of last week.

That the young man had to "set 'em up" so often that his poultry stood him about forty cents a pound.

That the spring like weather previous to the last cold snap caused the buds to swell and burst on lilacs and other shrubs in sunny places, and also induced tulips to peer up through the ground.

That Horace P. Kent and wife will this week take up their residence in Salem, Mass., for the winter.

That "Harry" has been appointed aide-de-camp on the staff of Gen. Challis, commander-in-chief of the Sons of Veterans in New Hampshire.

That Mr. Jos. E. Amazeen, formerly employed in the Western Union telegraph office in this city, arrived home from his western trip on Saturday last.

That Fred C. Badger and his wife and child, of Greely, Colorado, are visiting the old home in Newington, where they will remain for the winter.

That the Iron Steamboat company will have a half dozen of their iron boats in New England waters next summer.

That one of their fastest boats will go on the route between Boston and this city by the middle of June.

YORK CORNER, Me., Dec. 3d.

Editor of Gazette: In the last issue of your paper I saw a communication from Elder Short about the cider mill, etc., and was glad to hear from him, but the remarks were entirely unexpected when I wrote my "little peice." I fully concur with the elder as to the damaging and damning effects of hard cider, when used to excess. I presume he will be glad, however, to learn that of all the cider made at "the old mill" this season, none will be exposed for sale as a beverage, and no goods or farms will be sold at auction to settle the bills.

I am pleased to say that the cider is all housed by the parties who made it; some of them are good Christian people and members of the several churches, and never sell any nor drink any, but usually are necessitated to buy vinegar, "to eat on cabbage, you know."

Then there are some good, respectable farmers and others, whose stomachs require an acid at some seasons (or all the seasons) of the year. It those cases it acts as a medicine, and "doeth good like a medicine." Then there are others who need a little stimulant, and being strictly temperate as to intoxicants, will have it in the shape of a cup of good strong tea—"the cup that cheers but not inebriates." Knowing that the elder is devoted to his tea as strongly as the dram drinker to his dram, I must say that looking at the matter squarely I fail to see the moral difference of the different forms of taking stimulants. True, different stimulants produce different results. The best and most noble minds in our nation have lain dormant until aroused by stimulants, or have done their best work under their influence. Daniel Webster must have his tumbler of brandy before he could make a powerful plea for his client; and many clergymen who don't use brandy (some do) fall back on tea! For what? To arouse their intellect so they can preach a good sermon; "only that and nothing more."

Now I am not much of an inventive genius, but if I could I would gladly invent something to annihilate everything intoxicating from the town. I should however save the tea, for the old maids, the clergy and myself—for I am fond of good tea, have much regard for the maids, and a full and respectful reverence for the clergy. Now, Mr. Editor, knowing that the elder appreciates a little pleasant controversy, I have answered his communication, and trust he will receive it in same kind spirit in which it is written. I am glad to see that the elder appreciates a good paper, as is shown by his careful reading of the GAZETTE.

A few days ago Mr. Elijah Blaisdell put an end to the existence of his horse, thirty-one years old, which he raised from a colt.

Miss Betsey Barrell, one of the owners and occupants of the Barrell mansion, near York harbor, was found dead in bed on the morning of the 15th ult. She had been in good health up to retiring the previous evening. She was born and has always lived in the mansion where she died. Her age was eighty-four years.

Mr. James Weare had one of his fingers taken off in a planing machine at Cape Neddick a few days ago.

On Friday, Nov. 30th, Mr. Bradford S. Woodward, while engaged in felling oak trees for Mr. Henry Moulton, the ladder manufacturer, was severely injured about the head by the falling of a limb, cutting a deep gash of over four inches in length, and rendering him insensible. He was attended by Dr. Stewart, who at first thought stitches would be necessary, but after shaving the hair off applied adhesive strips, and Mr. Woodward was conveyed to his home, where we trust that under the doctor's skillful hand and the ministrations of a faithful wife he will soon be among us again.

On Monday, Nov. 19th, in riding in a stage (closed) due west, with a good breeze blowing from the west, an old, strong and offensive-smelling pipe in the mouth of a gentleman (?) on the front seat was not very pleasant for the two ladies who sat on the rear seat, as Mrs. L. C. Putnam and Mrs. Nancy Ramsdall will state on application.

The town hall is being painted outside and in, in parti-colors of "Railroad paints." The work is being done by Messrs. John A. Plaisted and Geo. W. Freeman, under charge of Capt. John B. Fernaid, special agent for the purpose.

Mr. Titcomb, the victim of the Sewall's bridge disaster, has made an offer of settlement with town authorities, but nothing has been done further. The offer has not been made public, but we think it will take about three thousand dollars.

Yours, P.

U. S. S. PORTSMOUTH,
NORFOLK NAVY YARD, Nov. 29th.

Editor of Chronicle: The flag-ship Tennessee, and the Vandalia, arrived at Hampton roads on the 28th inst.; the Tennessee anchored off Norfolk to-day at noon. The training-ship Portsmouth came out of the dry-dock on the 28th, and moored alongside the dock for the winter. Commodore Mayo, commandant of this yard, returned on the 28th; as did also Lieut. Porter, U. S. M. C., after a brief visit to his family in Washington. Work is progressing favorably on the practice-ships Dale and Constellation. The Tallapoosa left yesterday (the 28th) for northern navy yards, with new boilers for the U. S. S. Marion at the Portsmouth yard, and new sails for the U. S. S. Ossipee at the League island yard; also a small draft of men for the U. S. S. Galena at the New York yard. The training-ships Saratoga and Jamestown will winter in New York. The gunboat Shawmut, and the old sailing frigate Savannah (condemned and sold.) were towed to Long island to be broken up. The naval apprentices of this vessel were treated to a substantial dinner Thanksgiving day; and in the afternoon a match game of base ball was played between the men and apprentices, while another party kept a foot ball going pretty lively over the parade ground. H.

The Chase Home for Children has recently received $500, the gift of a lady in New York.

The Eastern railroad workmen are driving piles at Hampton Falls, upon which to lay a double track.

The gondola H. P. Spinney will make her last trip for this season on Thursday, with bricks from Rose's yard at Dover point, and will then be hauled up at the wharf of Hon. Moses H. Goodrich's lumber yard, to wait for the opening of the upper river next spring.

Farmers who drove into the city on Monday from the neighboring towns were warmly wrapped up. They reported the roads in good condition.

At Boston, last Friday, Judge Holmes gave a decree for the complainant in the suit of the Eastern Railroad Co. vs. W. C. Rogers and others, trustees [illegible] the bill in equity in which [illegible] road sought to enforce the general [illegible] to one on 15,202 shares of the stock of the Maine Central railroad, which it owned and which were transferred to the respondents as trustees. The respondents will appeal to the full bench.

The tugs Ann, Three Brothers and Clara Bateman were all lying at the northend wharves on Monday, the wind blowing heavily from the northwest.

Lieut. Charles A. Dayen, U. S. M. C., attached to the Portsmouth navy yard, and Miss Laura B. Dennison of Suncook, were united in marriage on Tuesday of last week at the residence of the bride's father, Harvey Dennison, station agent at Suncook.

Albert W. Lane, of Greenland, has been appointed station master of the Eastern railroad at Hampton. G. E. Merrill, late of Eliot, will take Mr. Lane's place as station master at Greenland.

The stock and fixtures in the saloon on Vaughan street recently occupied by James W. Robertson were sold Monday forenoon for about $300, to a Great Falls man, who it is said will soon again open the place to the public.

The tug Confidence put into this harbor on Monday, on her way to Boston from Portland, to which latter port she had towed two schooners from Boston.

—When a man gets left by a train he gets bewildered and doesn't know where he is going. That's why he generally goes into the first saloon he sees.

—Lady Lansdowne, wife of the Dominion governor general, is said to be "the sort of creature one cannot help falling hopelessly in love with." This is no sort of a paragraph to have going round. It will set the Dominion ladies to being so watchful of their husbands that they'll have no sort of comfort.

—A young lady of six years, who was noticed by her mother to appear rather partial to the society of the male youth of her age with whom she was acquainted, was addressed by that relative the other day with the remark: "Well, Gracie, I think you like the little boys who go to your school better than you do the little girls." "Yes, mamma," said Gracie," "I think I do. I believe I am beginning to love boys; and oh!"—with a great burst of confidence—"I do think it's horrid!" Thus at times, but happily not habitually, does the female mind break out in rebellion against menifest destiny.

—Mr. Vereker had occasion to leave home for a couple of weeks lately, so he signed a dozen blank checks and left them with Mrs. Vereker that the housekeeping might not come to an untimely end during his absence, and that the lady might have wherewithal to console herself during her grass-widowhood. When Vereker returned the other day he found a notification from the bank that his account was overdrawn. Considerably exercised he called Mrs. Vereker's attention to the fact. "Here, my dear, you must have been spending money like water while I was away. I find my account is overdrawn." "Oh, that's impossible," replied the lady; "I have several of your checks on hand yet."

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz., of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia.

E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

BAD BLOOD SCROFULOUS, INHERITED, CONTAGIOUS.

IN 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until my breast was one mass of corruption. Some of these Ulcers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and seemingly dead, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. Gradually the bone itself became diseased, and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone follows bone, and they began to take the form of those hitherto on the surface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme soreness.

COULD NOT TURN IN BED.

Knew not what it was to be an hour even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life itself as a curse. In the summer of 188 , after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer was healed. The great disease has succumbed, and I prove the blood where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and forty-six pounds, and the good work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Remedies. JAMES E. RICHARDSON, Custom House, New Orleans.

Sworn to before United States Commissioner, J. D. CRAWFORD.

TO CLENSE THE BLOOD of Scrofulous, Inherited and Contagious Humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the Skin of Disfiguring Blotches, Itching Tortures, Humiliating Eruptions and Loathsome Sores caused by Impure or Poisoned Blood, to purify and beautify the Skin, and restore the Hair so that no trace of disease remain, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diaphoretic and Aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great Skin Cures and Beautifiers, are infallible. These are the only remedies that succeed when physicians and all other means fail.

GREAT BLOOD MEDICINES. The half has not been told as to the great curative powers of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. I have spent hundreds of dollars for medicines to cure diseases of the blood and skin, and never found anything yet to equal the CUTICURA REMEDIES. CHAS. A. WILLIAMS, Providence, R. I.

Price of CUTICURA, small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA SOAP, 25c. CUTICURA SHAVING SOAP, 15c. Sold by all druggists. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston. Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

CATARRH

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1. A single dose of Sanford's Radical Cure relieves in five minutes. One application of Sanford's Radical Cure, clears the Head as by magic, stops watery discharges from the Nose and Eyes, protects Ringing Noises in the Head, relieves Nervous Headache, and subdues Chills and Fevers. In Chronic Catarrh it cleanses the nasal passages of foul matter, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing when affected, frees the head, throat, and bronchial tubes of offensive matter, arrests and purifies the breath, stops the cough and arrests the progress of Catarrh towards Consumption.

One bottle Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent and Sanford's Inhaler, all in one package, of all druggists for $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., BOSTON.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now being up at the office of Eliot Frothingham, No. 23 Court street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the register, and any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office, to Mr. JOSHUA BLANE, a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, and producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the voting register will be closed on the fourth day of December, 1883, between which time and the Annual Meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, 883, no registration will be made. Per order of the Trustees,

The Concord Monitor says: "The Manchester Union suggests that the next centennial celebration in connection with the founding of the general government should be the ratification of the United States Constitution by New Hampshire, June 21st, 1788, our state being the ninth and necessary one to complete the starting of the machinery of the nation. The suggestion is a good one, and should be acted upon in due season. The session of the convention which ratified the constitution was held in the Old North church edifice that stood on the site of the present Walker school house, until destroyed by fire on the night of Nov. 28th, 1870."

H. M. Hall, formerly of Claremont, was arrested near the Canada line and lodged in Newport jail, Dec. 1st, charged with stealing a large quantity of wool from Dr. Silas Sabine, of Claremont, in August, 1882. He is also wanted in Michigan and other states, upon similar charges.

Honest.

In these days of adulteration and fraud, in all branches of business and pursuits, it is pleasing to know that there is one medicine prepared which is strictly pure. Such a medicine is Sulphur Bitters in curing scrofula; you can depend on them every time. W. B. Everts, A. M., Charleston, S. C.

Manchester has a new paper, the Semi-Weekly Record, published on Wednesdays and Saturdays by Frank H. Challis, at one dollar a year; single copies one cent each. Want of Memory.

One of the chief causes that underlies a great many of the ills and misfortunes of life is the want of memory. Even in childhood this defect is often manifest, and causes much of the troublesome conduct complained of by teachers and parents. Rewards and punishments excite in them respective emotions of gladness or suffering; but, though strong at the time, these impressions appear to fade quickly away, and impulse soon leads them into the same fault, to undergo the same experience. The same sinning and repenting character is seen in mature life, and is the germ of many of its failures. A young man has the habit of unpunctuality. He suffers from its effects in various ways. He is unhappy for the time being, when he is reproved by his employer, or loses some fine opportunity, or offends a valued friend, or misses his train, or finds a cold and spoiled dinner. Yet the next day the recollection of this misery is too feeble to supply a motive sufficient to prevent the same thing, and again he goes the round of delaying, suffering and forgetting. Another person thus offending and reaping the penalty has such a vivid remembrance of the shame or loss, that he takes good care to prevent its repetition. A business man makes a false step which costs him dear, but, though he smarts under the necessary effect, he does not on a future occasion recall the emotion with sufficient vividness to deter him from a similar blunder. Another remembers so keenly the pain that no temptation will be strong enough to induce him again to incur the risk. A mechanic, through carelessness or unskillfulness, performs a bungling, imperfect piece of work. He may in consequence lose his situation or a good customer, or suffer from his own self-reproach; but whether he steadfastly directs his energies to avoid the recurrence and to perform better work, or not, will depend greatly upon whether he remembers vividly his former uncomfortable feelings. As success in an undertaking demands a constant correction of mistakes, and avoidance of past faults, it must largely hinge upon a retentive memory of pains and pleasures.—Columbus (Ga.) Sun.

A Foolish "Dare" that Resulted in a Wedding.

Quite a party of girls were at the station at Delaware Water Gap Railway, one day awaiting the arrival of the evening train, when, in a spirit of mischief, one of them dared the gayest of the party, a girl from Pittsburg, to rush up behind some new arrival, seize him by the arm, and exclaim, "Oh, George! I'm so glad to see you!" The young lady "did dare," as the saying is, and, selecting a good-looking fellow, went through the programme; but by the time her words were uttered her confusion was so genuine that the gentleman really thought she had mistaken him for some other person. He accepted her stammering apologies, watched her take the "bus" for home, and took the route himself. The next morning they met at breakfast, a most unromantic meal; but Cupid had done his work, and a mutual liking ensued, which several weeks of constant companionship strengthened, and now they are discussing trousseaus and marriage bells.

Couldn't Do It.

One of those curious incidents which every now and then serve to enliven the marriage license department of the recorder of deeds took place several days ago. A young man, evidently from one of the out wards, applied for a license, and as an earnest of his good intentions accompanied it with a dollar of the fathers. After answering the usual questions, he emphasized the statement that the young lady in the case was just 24 years of age. The recorder filled the necessary blanks, and notified the youth to hold up his right hand and swear to his statements as required by law. The youth was unnerved at a 2:40 gait, when suddenly the uplifted arm dropped, and a sorrowful voice exclaimed:

"Hold on, judge, I can't take that oath."

The recorder stopped short, biting off a sentence in the middle, and inquired what the matter was.

"Well, you see, she's 28, and I can't swear to that 24 business," was the conscience-stricken reply.

A look of holy horror overspread the countenance of the recorder, as he informed the youth of his narrow escape from the perils of the law made and provided for perjury. The license was then readjusted to suit the occasion, and the young man departed happy.—Kansas City Journal.

Self-Imposed Risks.

Railroads are built for a well defined, specific purpose, which does not include the business of pedestrianism. This principle is so well recognized in Europe that it is made by law a penal offense—in England and in some continental countries—for persons to walk on the tracks. In this country there are portions of railroad tracks, particularly in the vicinity of manufactories, that are so constantly trodden that the earth has become almost as solid as a pavement. The railroad managers put up warning signs, but they are disregarded, and once in awhile "an awful accident" horrifies the community; a man or a woman walking on the track is torn to pieces by the remorseless locomotive, one track having a train coming in one direction, and another track one going in the other direction, a step on either track being probably fatal. There is a curve under a high bank, in close vicinity to a railroad depot, which is occupied by two important railroads with their network of tracks, and at no hour of the day are all these tracks clear. This curve leads to large manufactories, and the the roadbed is the common route of at least two thousand workmen twice if not three times a day. On account of the killing of two persons who were walking the track, the railroad companies were blamed and the managers put up warning signs—as far as they could go in prohibition, in the lack of law, with its penalties and enforcements. Yet the use of the track is not wise abated for a pedestrian route, and it never will be abandoned until a law, that shall be enforced, compels those riskers of life and limb to use the general and public highway, that is a trifle longer but is absolutely safe.—Scientific American.

Swift's Specific Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which cured me entirely and well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope any who doubt will write me here.

After suffering twenty-five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully commend it to all similarly afflicted.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs; none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1867 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL; a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried.

A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles.

E. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

A despatch of Dec. 3d from Digby, N. S., says that while the government steamer Newfield was towing a new ship on the previous night near that place the hawser parted, and the vessel went ashore near Point Prim lighthouse, striking against a rock. Capt. Brown of the Newfield was on board the new ship, with nine other men, two of whom were saved. Capt. Brown and seven others were drowned.

John Mitchell, Portland, Oregon, was sick a-bed for two years. St. Jacobs Oil cured him.

Eldredge F. Johnson, thirty-nine years old, a farmer of Madison, Conn., was found dead Monday near a coal-pit, with his skull crushed. He had been working for his brother Edgar. One leg was burned nearly off, and traces of blood were found in the vicinity. His axe and lantern could not be found. Circumcumstances indicate murder, and the case is enveloped in mystery.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

The steamship Alaska, which arrived at New York Dec. 3d, when seventy-five miles east of Fire island ran down a New York pilot schooner, and sank her with all on board.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

William Richardson of Cheshire, Conn., was arrested Monday night for highway robbery committed Thanksgiving night on John Barry, he taking $65 and a silver watch, and beating him, leaving him for dead. He was lodged in jail in default of $2000 bonds. The prisoner is twenty years old, and has a bad reputation.

Letters From Senator Jacobs.

SENATE CHAMBER.

Albany, N. Y., March 31st, 1882.

For a long time it has been my habit to use Brandreth's Pills. In fact, I have seldom had occasion to use any other medicine, and it affords me great pleasure to say that for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and the other ills of the system, to which men in public life are more apt than others to be subject, they are an invaluable remedy. JOHN C. JACOBS.

For Constipation, Indigestion, Foul stomach, Dizziness and Headache, no medicine equals "Brandreth's Pills." Pure and simple, containing no mercury, they are the family medicine-chest and safe-guard.

A pastoral letter from Cardinal McCabe was read in the Catholic churches in London on Saturday last. It strongly denounced secret societies, which, it said, seem to possess a fatal charm for Irishmen, ending generally with a hangman's rope or the infamy of an informer.

ALLSTON, MASS.—Mr. J. J. Bowen, the expert handler of trotters, whose valuable racing stallion was mysteriously attacked with severe lameness, gives this to the public. After our best veterinary surgeon had him under treatment for a long time, without benefiting the horse, I used St. Jacobs Oil. The animal entirely recovered, and is as well now as ever. St. Jacobs Oil is superior to every thing that has come to my notice in thirty years. Mr. Bowen drives to win.

"Fox's Book of Martyrs"
Contains the history and pictures of hundreds of people who were stoned, burned, beaten, pulled to pieces and otherwise tortured on account of their conscientious convictions as to belief and duty. They suffered incredible torment and have come down to the present age as martyrs. It is not now customary to torture people thus, but they are made martyrs by rheumatism until they suffer almost as much as did the heroes of the martyr ages. There was no relief for the old-time martyrs, but there is happy relief for those who suffer from rheumatism. Cashier Charles F. Morrill, of Manchester, N. H., suffered terribly from frequent attacks of this painful disease, but he has been cured. He writes: "I was a martyr to rheumatism, and, although I tried many other remedies, I found nothing that relieved me like Perry Davis's Pain Killer." Other rheumatic martyrs may wisely take the hint.

J. H. Hunt, of Leavenworth, Kansas, shot a man named Lewis because Lewis went into his house and played with his infant child.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

The Houston Post, the leading Democratic paper in Texas, in an article on the speakership contest recently said: "Mr. Randall may be defeated, but if he be defeated, good-bye to the splendid hope of victory in 1884." And Randall has been defeated.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analyzed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

It is a positive Luxury,
to brush the teeth with Sozodont, so fragrant and refreshing is it, and so pleasant is the taste it leaves in the mouth after the operation. Then how gratifying is the effect and how complacent feels the beholder who views in the glass a row of ivories rendered spotless. Only a few drops on the brush, a rag or sponge is needed for an ablution and yet it is wondrously effective.

The Forty-Eighth Congress.

On the 4th a number of bills were introduced in the senate. The house elected the democratic candidates for office, the clerk, doorkeeper and chaplain all being men who served in the confederate army.

The president's message was communicated to Congress, and makes important recommendations regarding our relations with foreign countries, Chinese immigration, our coast defences and the improvement of the navy, the surplus revenue, postal telegraphy, the Mormon question, etc.

Saturday night a young woman giving the name of Maud Gray was arrested in Ottawa, Ont., for breaking hotel windows while under the influence of morphine. In her cell she attempted suicide by hanging herself with a handkerchief. She was cut down in time to save her life. In the police court on Monday a Boston drummer claimed her as his wife. Upon her promise to leave the city she was released.

There arrived at Paris from Nice on Monday three boxes, one addressed to M. DeLesseps and the others to M. Couvreux, a contractor for work on the Panama canal. When M. Couvreux opened one of the boxes, a cartridge concealed inside exploded, but no harm was done. M. Couvreux immediately warned M. DeLesseps, who smiling, merely said: "They treat me like a sovereign."

A mob at Wexford, Ireland, Sunday night, attacked a theatre in which an evangelical service was being held, and attempted to burn the building. The mob took full possession of the town, broke the windows of a Protestant church and of those of nearly all the houses occupied by Protestants. The dresses of ladies who attended service at the churches and theatre were torn off, and gentlemen accompanying them were stoned and several of them injured severely. The mob paraded the streets for several hours, singing "God save Ireland."

A despatch from the Austrian consul at Khartoum, Egypt, says that letters received from Kordofan announce that one-third of Hicks pasha's troops, including the English officers, were killed in the recent battle, and that the remaining two-thirds are encamped at Rahad, receiving provisions from Takell, and asking for reinforcements. Khartoum is reported tranquil.

The Ipswich, Mass., post-office "has been broken into five times since 1877, and in three instances, the tools used in the operation have been taken from the same building belonging to the Eastern railroad. Putting the amounts secured at the several times together, the whole which the robbers have secured is probably less than $50," says the Ipswich Chronicle.

—"Why are you so distant?" said a tramp to the beefsteak in the restaurant window.

—"Smith can't stand a joke," said Perry; "I hit him on the head with a brick and he got mad."

—The earthquake in Java will not affect the sale of Java coffee. We can still get it from Cuba.

—"I'm getting disgusted with everything and everybody!" exclaimed Brown, peevishly; "wherever I go there is fraud."

—There is a Sioux chief who calls himself Two Skunks. His specialty lies in keeping large forces of pale faces at a distance.

—A burglar was shot to death in a Michigan village the other night. Burglars have a tough time in places where there are no police.

—The word "cops" as applied to policemen, is said to have originated from the copper badges they were first given to wear under Fernando Wood in New York.

—The British army is in high glee, the war department having abolished the order subjecting the soldiers to regular shavings, and the whiskers are sprouting all along the line.

—The real pale of civilization is the ice-pail, with a bottle of dry monopole in it. A Japanese the other night at the Travellers' club had never tasted champagne, and on putting away the third tumbler he squeaked out in his odd oriental voice, "Civilization very good. I like civilization."

—A tailor, anxious to get the views of the press on the subject, wrote to different editors, asking: "What do you think of knee breeches? Would you object to appearing in them?" One reply, filled with bitter indignation, he discovered owed its venomous spirit to the fact that the writer was a woman.

—A boy of eight years was asked by his teacher where the zenith was. He replied: "The spot in the heavens directly over one's head." To test his knowledge further, the teacher asked: "Can two persons have the same zenith at the same time?" "They can." "How?" "If one stands on the other's head."

EASTERN RAILROAD COMPANY

THE Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of this Company, and of the holders of Certificates of Indebtedness for the choice of 7 Directors, six by the certificate holders, and three by the stockholders, will be held at the Mechanics Tremont street, Boston, Mass., on the twelfth day of December 1883, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. The records of the Directors will then be examined. Transfer Books will be closed from 4 P. M. on Dec. next '06, 1883, until after said annual meeting.
By order of the Directors.
FRANCIS E. AMORY, Clerk.

At the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sawyer of Lawrence, Mass., last week, among the guests were a sister and three brothers of the bride, aged respectively 83, 81, 75, 72 and 70 years. The original marriage was solemnized in Andover by Rev. Mr. Loring, father of Hon. Geo. B. Loring, and Mr. Sawyer is well known from his twenty years' connection with the Eastern railroad.

Recently a party of Americans, composed of fifteen men and forty dogs, secured a large number of deer in the country back of Kingston, Can. About 100 carcasses were sent into the United States, and a large number were left in the woods. The Dominion parliament will be asked to provide a remedy for such wanton hounding and killing of deer.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA
Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like
HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA
It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.
My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON N. H., Nov. 19, 1879.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.
Yours truly,
C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

☞ A gentleman who has been suffering from the Debility and Languor peculiar to this season, says: "HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA is putting new life right into me. I have gained ten pounds since I began to take it." Has taken two bottles.

THE WEATHER.

U. S. SIGNAL OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
December 5, 12:00 A. M.

Probabilities for New England:—Warmer fair weather proceeded by occasional very light rain, southerly veering to westerly winds, falling followed by rising barometer.

The thermometer at the CHRONICLE Office, at 4:00 o'clock this morning, indicated 30 degrees above zero.

Cloudy.

"AUNT POLLY BASSETT'S SINGING SKEWL."

"Aunt Polly Bassett's Singing Skewl" at the Universalist church will afford the public an opportunity to enjoy a very amusing and interesting exhibition of juvenile talent for music, and a choice collection of ancient costumes. The young folk have been thoroughly drilled in old-fashioned manners and in the songs of by-gone days, under the management of Aunt Polly, and will doubtless give their audiences rare enjoyment on Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

THE EUREKA POOL ROOM.

The contest for the combination pocket-book at the Eureka pool room, No. 31 Congress street, closed Saturday evening, Dec. 1st, when two players who had a score of twelve balls each played off the tie; this was the lowest score to take a prize since the room was opened. To the player who shall pocket the largest number of balls on the break between now and the 22d of January, a large and costly photograph album will be presented; all ties, if any, to be played off in the same way on that evening, which is the anniversary of the opening of the room. By this method, the amateur will have about as good a chance as the professional to win. The generous patronage bestowed on this room at the first still continues, showing that a well conducted establishment of the kind, with no objectionable features attached, is appreciated. In the front shop Messrs. Preble and Hersey, two of the best tonsorial artists in the city, continue to carry on their old business with the same strict attention as formerly.

Mr. Daniel S. Broderick, formerly of this city, treasurer of the Bronx Wool & Leather Co. of New York, has recently entered into two partnerships—one matrimonial, of which we have before spoken, and a business partnership with Mr. T. P. O'Reilly, as brokers in hides, skins, sumac, etc., under the firm of O'Reilly & Broderick, their place of business being at No. 29 Spruce street, New York city. Both the young men have had valuable experience in the handling of such goods as they propose to deal in, while in the employ of the Bronx Co., of which Mr. Broderick will continue as treasurer for the present.

A farmer living on the Ocean road in Greenland recently sent to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for an officer who would go to Greenland and shoot a horse which was too old to properly masticate his food. The humane gentleman wished his servant to have a swift and easy exit from the troubles that aged horse-flesh is heir to, and a decent burial on the land which had been his home for thirty years. A skilled officer of the S. P. C. A. was sent, and the old horse died instantly and without a struggle. The gentleman had refused to sell the horse, which had served him so long and faithfully, although he was offered a considerable price for him the day before he was killed.

A grand dinner was given at the Revere house in Boston on Monday evening, to Mr. Ferren of that hotel. Alderman Caswell of this city was one of the speakers on the occasion.

An order has been received by the commandant of the Boston navy yard, permitting the apprentices of the steam engineering in that yard to complete their apprenticeships either at the Portsmouth or New York navy yards. The boys generally, it is said, prefer the New York yard, and desire to be sent there. It is expected they will start about the 7th inst., unless the order is revoked. This does not look as though there was any expectation of the Portsmouth navy yard being closed just at present.

A despatch of Dec. 3d, from Jacksonville, Fla., says: "The steamer Frederick DeBary was damaged by fire to the extent of $60,000 at her wharf here this morning." The steamer named is one of the DeBary Merchants' Line of St. Johns river steamers, of which Capt. J. W. Fitzgerald, formerly of this city, is general manager. Capt. John L. Amazeen, formerly of this city, has for years commanded one of the finest steamers belonging to this line.

Two hundred casks of molasses are at the Eastern railroad station awaiting transportation to Wm. Ward & Sons' distillery, where four hundred casks are to be stored for use.

A stick of white pine timber was taken in to Fernald's shipyard last week from Alfred P. Hammond's farm on the Back road in Eliot; it is seventy-eight feet long, squared fifteen by sixteen inches, and is intended for the mainboom of the schooner now being built by Mr. Fernald. There was some difficulty in turning the corners of the streets with it. Mr. Hammond has another stick at the Eliot depot ninety feet long, and free of knots to within twelve feet of the top. Each of these sticks lost several feet by breaking in being felled.

The ship Paul Jones, of this port, Gerrish master, sailed from Hong Kong, China, for New York, on the 18th of October.

The contractor's sloop which during the summer has been moored over the point of Badger's island ledge, has been removed, the work contracted to be done by her owners having been completed; the "band-stand" has also been taken up, and the sloop, which has for several days been lying at the Concord railroad wharf, will be towed to Bath, Me., to winter. There yet remains much work to be done in removing the ledge. The contractors for the removal of Gangway rock are continuing operations, and will keep at it until forced to desist by the weather.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, Lieut. John F. Merry commanding, arrived at this navy yard at 1:30 o'clock (railroad time) in the afternoon on Tuesday, the 4th inst., from Washington and intermediate naval stations, having on board the new boilers for the U. S. S. Marion, now undergoing repairs at this yard. When she leaves she will carry away, for transportation to the New York navy yard, the gear which was borrowed at the time the U. S. S. Plymouth was hauled out of water into one of the ship houses at this yard, including three nine-inch hawsers, each 300 fathoms long; three crabs, or back-action capstans, with the bars, etc., belonging to them; six enormous brass purchase-blocks, leading blocks, and other heavy gear, of no use excepting when some very great weight is to be moved.

Geo. Bancroft Griffith is in town, to deliver to subscribers the copies of the "Poets of New Hampshire," a new publication in which are the poems of thirty of the poets of Portsmouth.

A number of insurance adjusters, representing about twenty of the companies doing business in this city, arrived here on Tuesday. The object of this gathering is understood to be a revision and increase of rates.

A large post of the Grand Army of the Republic will be organized in Kittery on the evening of Dec. 21st, by the department officers of Maine. The ex-soldiers and sailors of Kittery have for a long time felt the need of a post in their town, but no one seemed desirous of taking the responsibility of the organization. A few days since that veteran of recruiting fame, Asst. Quartermaster-General Beals, of Auburn, Me., made his appearance in town, and with his usual vim got a petition signed by a large number of noted (former) G. A. R. men of Kittery. There will be a fine time at the organization, participated in by Dept. Comdr. Shaw, now of Great Falls, N. H., and Rev. Thomas Tyrie, a thorough Grand Army man, also now of Great Falls, formerly of Auburn and commander of the largest post in Maine, Burnside No. 47, of Auburn, numbering 383 members. The muster will be made by Asst. Adj. Gen. D. Horace Holman, of Lewiston, formerly of Portsmouth, assisted by the above-named officers. A Grand Army post will also be mustered at South Berwick on the 20th inst., the night previous to the mustering in of the Kittery post.

KITTERY, ME., Dec. 3d.

Mrs. T. J. Pettigrew has been visiting for a week past in Newburyport.

Mr. Sheldon Manning, who has been employed by Mr. Charles H. Bartlett for several years past, is soon to leave for Manchester, N. H., where he will be employed lumbering.

Mr. Joshua Gerry has been confined to his house for some weeks with erysipelas, and is still very sick. Last week his mother, an aged lady, had a paralytic shock, and fears are entertained for her recovery.

We are informed that a man is soon to be employed to take charge of the Barrows farm at North Kittery, which we understand is well stocked with choice Jersey cows, and fancy breeds of fowls.

The following scholars attending the summer term of the Austin grammar school, in district seven, were not absent one-half day during the term: Laura Kimball, Emerson Rogers, Harry Moore, Walter Fernald, Lizzie Ray, Auville Young, Charles Prince, and Katie Pinkham. Whole number of scholars attending school, thirty-two; average attendance, 26 2-3. Those not absent during the fall term were Fred Locke, Bertie Moore, George Fernald, Auville Young and Charles Prince. Whole number attending, thirty-three; average attendance, 28 32-60. This school was taught by Mr. Edward R. Fuller, who has met with excellent success as a teacher in this town, and is worthy of success; he is at present teaching the winter school in district one. SUB ROSA.

A naval general court martial convened at the Boston navy yard on the 3d inst., for the trial of Capt. Andrew W. Johnson and Lieutenant Charles A. Stone of the navy, the detail of officers for the court being as follows: Commodores William G. Temple, Francis A. Roe, E. T. McCauley, William F. Truxon, James E. Jouett and T. S. Fillibrown; Captains George E. Belknap, James A. Greer and William P. McCann; Lieutenant Samuel C. Lemly, judge advocate. The charges were preferred jointly, and are—culpable negligence and inefficiency in the performance of duty. The specification is that on the 15th of October, 1883, between the hours of four and six o'clock P. M., at sea, Johnson commanding and Stone being officer of the deck of the U. S. S. Powhatan, they, severally, by their culpable negligence and inefficiency, allowed that vessel to come in collision with the barque Druid, of Nova Scotia, damaging the latter so greatly that it became necessary to transfer her officers and crew to the Powhatan, and tow the vessel into port.

James Boyd shot and killed his son Alfred, aged seventeen years, on the 1st inst., at his home in Cumminsville, Ohio. Boyd reproached him for not working, and roughly caught the boy by the collar and dragged him home, a distance of 100 yards. Upon reaching the porch door the boy struggled, and catching hold of the door, refused to enter. His father then drew a revolver and deliberately shot his son through the chest.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia.

E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.
NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chaps and roughness, prevent co-ds, ious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanitive redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsams, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Incredible as it may seem, physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,500,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

"Lacry, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and to heal the most scrofulous sores, cannot fit, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know my sufferings. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mi an, Mich.

Swift's Specific Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which cured me sound and well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope any who doubt will write me here.

E. C. HAWES, JR., Clarksville, Ga.

After suffering twenty five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully commend it to all similarly afflicted.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a lurking taint of Scrofula about your system, it will develop in the form of scrofulous tumors, or SCROFULA AYER'S SARSAPARILLA will dislodge it and expel it from your system.

For constitutional or scrofulous Catarrh, CATARRH AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is the most efficacious remedy. Physicians told me that a few bottles of this medicine would stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

ULCEROUS "Hutto, Tex., Sept. 28, 1882. "At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with ulcerous sores running sores on its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. SORE EYES Physicians told me that a powerful alterative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendencies; and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results.

Yours truly, E. F. JOHNSON."

WILL VAN LEAF'S WATERMELON APOLOGY.

A Story for the Boys.

"Talking about apologies," said Will VanLeaf, "did I ever tell you about my watermelon apology?"

"You never told me," replied Ned Morningstar. "You may have told some of the other fellows."

"You never told me," chorused the "other fellows."

"Come to think, I might have known I hadn't," said Will, "'cause I've only been back to school three days, and in three days you fellows have scarcely given me a chance to get a word in edgeways," as my grandmother says; you've had so much to say yourselves."

It was a fine day in October. School was just out and the boys were lingering on the school house steps. They had been listening attentively—with the exception of Will Van Leaf who listened impatiently—to something Frank Smith was telling them, when at last Will found an opportunity of introducing his story of the season. He had not returned to school until a month after the fall term began, and since his return, though he had been fairly inundated with accounts of summer-vacation adventures and fun, he himself, to quote his own quotation had scarcely "found a chance to get in a word edgeways." But now his chance came in this way: Frank Smith, describing a wonderful squirrel he had seen in the woods one day, declared that its tail was four feet long.

"I refuse to believe it," said Ned Morningstar. "I never saw nor invented a squirel with a tail longer than three feet and a half, and I'll bet I've seen and invented more squirrels than ever you have."

"Ah! ha! So you accuse me of falsehood," said Frank Smith, placing his hat on the extreme back of his head and throwing himself into a fighting attitude, "and that is something my proud spirit cannot and will not stand. So come on, or make an apology."

Then it was that Will Van Leaf said: "Talking about apologies, did I ever tell you about my watermelon apology?"

And receiving a unanimous negative, followed by a unanimous request to "go on," he went on: "Well, you know, our folks spent most of last summer at Uncle John's; he owns a big farm on Staten Island, and there was a lot of boys boarding up on the hill at Widow Pratt's, and of course I soon got acquainted with them. And didn't we have jolly times boating and swimming, and playing ball, and acting theatricals, all made up by ourselves; you bet!

"Well, just half-way between Uncle John's and the boarding house was old Bartholomew's place. 'Old Bear' most everybody called him behind his back, 'cause he had such shaggy hair and eye brows, and growled instead of speaking, and was so awfully ugly in every way. And he had the biggest watermelon patch for miles around. And one day three or four of the hill chaps and me—"

"And I," corrected Ned Rowe, called by his comrades "Grammar Ned." "Oh, bother!" said Will, "let me go on with my story in my own way, Grammar Ned: you can save up the mistakes and give 'em to me when I'm through," but he seven in the correction all the same.

"Well, three or four of the hill chaps and I were standing one morning peeping through a crack in the fence at Old Bear's watermelons, and oh! we did feel such a longing for 'em, they were so jolly ripe and fat, when along came 'Serious Dick.' "

"Who was 'Serious Dick?'" asked Frank Smith.

"A fellow 'bout 16 years old, who worked for Uncle John, and always looked and talked as though he was preaching," explained Will. "Well, he came along and he stopped and peeped through the crack in the fence, too, and then he says very solemn, 'Ain't them beauties!' Don't you correct again, Grammar Ned,' Dick said 'them' I didn't. 'Ain't them beauties?' says he, 'and there's a dozen of 'em so ripe they are ready to burst and ought to be picked this minute. They won't be no good in a day or two. And won't it be a sin and a shame to see 'em a-rotting, for Old Bear don't go to market till day after to-morrow, and he wouldn't give one away, no, nor sell one to anybody 'round here, no matter what happened. I say, boys,' says he, 'I wouldn't blame you a bit if you borrowed a few of them melons to-night. If you do, save me one, and I'll do as much for you sometime or other,' and then he winked and walked off, looking as serious as ever. Well, that set the ball a-rolling, and we boys talked it over and agreed that it would be a shame to let those melons rot on the vines, and so that night we pried a board off the fence and crawled into the patch and borrowed a dozen of 'em. Eleven of 'em we ate on the spot, and the twelfth we saved for Serious Dick. I carried it home—pretty heavy it was, too—and stowed it away in one corner of the barn under the hay. And the next afternoon—I didn't see him before 'cause I had gone to New York with a load of cabbages—I saw Serious Dick going into the barn and I ran out and whispered to him, 'your melon's in there in one corner under the hay.' But Dick started back and rolled up his eyes, and acted as though he was half scared to death. 'And,' says he, 'let it stay there. I wouldn't touch it for nothing.' 'Why, what's the matter?' says I. 'There's a dreadful row 'bout them melons,' says Dick, speaking very slow and deep, 'a dreadful row. Old Bear's missed 'em and he swears they was the choicest of the lot, and he marked 'em himself 'cause they was to be sold this werry day for a dollar apiece. And he says, in langwidge it would have made your blood run cold to hear, that he'll find and punish the thieves if it costs him t-w-e-n-t-y dollars.

"'Good gracious!' says I, feeling myself turn white; 'how do you know?'

"'Met the constable a-looking for 'em as I come along the road from York,' said Dick. 'Oh! dear, what shall we do?' says I. 'I'havn't got a cent, and I don't believe the other fellows have either. If we had we might pay him for 'em; but we spent all our money last Saturday, 'cause we expected to go back to school so soon.'

"'Guess you won't go back to school for a week or two,' says Dick, getting solemner and solemner every minute: 'I'raid you'll spend that much time in the lock-up.' 'Is there no way of getting out of the scrape without my telling my mother about it?' says I. 'I don't want to tell her. She'd feel so awful bad—though she'd get me out of it somehow I know. Boys' mothers always do. I'm ought to help us,' says I. 'Cause you were the first one to speak about taking the melons.'

"'Speaking and taking's two different things,' says he. 'But if you want my advice, I'm willing to give it to you. P'raps the old man isn't such a bear as he looks. Most folks ain't 'zactly what they looks, and if I was you boys I'd go to him and make a handsome apology, and I shouldn't wonder if he let you off.'

Well, I didn't stop for any more advice, but hurried as fast as I could to the house on the hill, where I knew the other fellows were at dinner, and I give one signal shout and pretty soon they came out with their mouths full. Hobe Berry, he had his pie in his hand, and he offered me a bite, but I did't feel like pie just then—neither did he, nor any of the rest of 'em when I told about the constable and the lock-up. They all looked as serious as Serious Dick then, and some of 'em were for saying right up and down that we hadn't been near the watermelon patch for weeks. 'But,' says I, 'I for one ain't going to tell any lies about it. We stole the watermelons, and that's bad enough without lying about it, and I propose that we own up and make an apology to old—I mean to Mr. Bartholomew.' 'I second the motion,' Ted Higgins chips in. 'But who's going to do the talking? We can't speak all together like the chaps in the primary,' 'I'll do it,' says I, 'for knowing Uncle John so long perhaps he'll take it better from me. And it better be done at once. I saw the old man in the patch as I came along. So, fall in—right about face—march!'

"And off we marched brave enough until we came in sight of Old Bear and his men loading a big truck with melons for market. Then our knees began to wobble, and Hobe Berry he whispered, 'Let's cut and run.' But I kept right on and the rest followed until we stood in front of the old man and I began: 'Mr. Bartholomew.' 'Hay!' he shouted so loud and fierce that I fell back on Ted Higgins' sore foot and he yelled fit to be heard a mile, and I felt sorry I hadn't cut and run when Hobe Berry wanted me to, but it was too late then, and so I went on: 'We boys are very sorry we took those watermelons last night, and we've come to ask you to forgive us, and to let us pay for 'em as soon as we can.' 'Stole some of my watermelons did you?' says he when I was through. 'That's the first I knowed about it. But you've come just in time with your 'pology. Off with your jackets and help load up. That's the kind of pay I'll take.' And we did help load up until our arms and backs ached—oh! how they did ache—and I don't believe there was a happier set of fellows anywhere when Old Bear let us put our jackets on again. And after we'd got 'em on and was wiping the perspiration from our heated brows—that's like they say in printed stories—'long comes Serious Dick. 'I thought it would be all right,' says he, 'and so I ate the watermelon you kindly left for me, and I found it werry cool and refreshing.'"

A Den of Sea Lions.

In among the ragged rocks, over which the waters lazily lashed themselves into froth and foam, Larco rowed us. We looked up in awe and wonder at the dark black rocks, upon whose higher points could be distinctly seen the nests and the maternal portion of the eagle families who reside there. Through a narrow pass between these rocks and we are in a rock-inclosed basin almost between the precipitous cliffs of the main island. A pile of smoothly washed stones afforded a landing place, and we were at the mouth of a large cavern and near a tunnel worn by the waters through a mass of rock. A railroad train could pass through this tunnel at low tide; at high tide it is sacred to the wild waves and breakers. To the right there is a cave, and such a den, too. Here were seen at least two hundred little sea lion pups or cubs rolling and tumbling over the rocks, wholly unconscious of our presence. It was not until a shot had been fired and rocks thrown at them that the large sea lions became alarmed. They were not brave and made no attempt to protect their young. On the contrary, as soon as they saw us looking in their nursery they gave loud barks, snorts, or roars, and dived deep into the water, which rose and fell in foamy breakers at the mouth of the cave. A hundred could have been caught with ease, so stupid did they appear to be.

A second visit made to the den by other members of the party resulted in the capture of two of the young sea lions or seals. A little boy, 10 years of age, ambitious to own a sea lion cub, followed Mr. Seely, of Goleta, into the den. He at once threw himself upon a young cub almost as large as himself, wrestled with it in an attempt to force it into a sack, and, as he rolled into the water with his finny antagonist, he yelled lustily for help and a larger sack. With the assistance of Mr. Seeley the little fellow secured a captive cub and brought it to the sloop, where he shed his wet clothes and lay basking on the sunny deck until his clothes dried. He had got his sea lion pup.—Santa Barbara Press.

Great excitement has been caused in the village of Odessa, Ontario, by the attempted abduction of a daughter of Rev. T. H. AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1837 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me.

HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,

MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Sylacauga, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung trouble. E. J. BRAGDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been practising medicine for 25 years, and as a remedy for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness, and all diseases of the blood, I have never found its equal. I have sold Vegetine for 7 years and have never had one bottle returned. I would heartily recommend it to those in need of a blood purifier.

"Fox's Book of Martyrs"
Contains the history and pictures of hundreds of people who were stoned, burned, beaten, pulled to pieces and otherwise tortured on account of their conscientious convictions as to belief and duty. They suffered incredible torment and have come down to the present age as martyrs. It is not now customary to torture people thus, but they are made martyrs by rheumatism until they suffer almost as much as did the heroes of the martyr ages. There was no relief for the old-time martyrs, but there is happy relief for those who suffer from rheumatism. Cashier Charles F. Morrill, of Manchester, N. H., suffered terribly from frequent attacks of this painful disease, but he has been cured. He writes: "I was a martyr to rheumatism, and, although I tried many other remedies, I found nothing that relieved me like Perry Davis's Pain Killer." Other rheumatic martyrs may wisely take the hint.

At Eastport, Me., on the night of Dec. 1st, as Stephen Somers, aged twenty years, was returning home, he was knocked down and robbed of his watch and $20. A young man named Harris has been arrested for the crime.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.
MRS. JULIA G. CUSHING.

W. S. Nickerson has been arrested at Bangor, Me., for the abduction of an infant child of Etta Jones one year ago. She claims that Nickerson is the father of her child, and says he took it to be taken care of. The child has not since been seen, but recently Nickerson brought a child to her, claiming it to be the one he took away; this she denies, and believes her baby was murdered by its father.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analysed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

The Forty-Eighth Congress.

In the senate, on the 4th, it was announced that Mr. Edmunds intended to resign the office of president pro tem., and that Senator Anthony's health was such as to preclude his acceptance of the position. Mr. Ingalls of Kansas was informally agreed upon for the place.

Edmunds of Vermont and Plumb of Kansas announced that they should oppose any move for displacing the senate officers, which secures these officials in their places.

A large number of important bills were introduced in the senate. One of the most important is the joint resolution offered by Senator Wilson of Iowa, proposing the following amendment to the constitution: "Congress shall have power by appropriate legislation to protect citizens of the United States in the exercise and enjoyment of their rights, privileges and immunities, and to assure to them the equal protection of the laws." Senator Sherman introduced a bill permitting national banks to issue notes to amount of ninety per cent of the market value of the bonds held by them. Two bills were introduced by Mr. Edmunds for securing to colored citizens their civil rights under the recent decision of the supreme court; one by Mr. Edmunds establishing a postal telegraph; one by Mr. Edmunds substituting a modification of the simple oath of office in place of the ironclad oath; one by Mr. Beck abolishing the ironclad oath. Mr. Hoar introduced the Lowell bankruptcy bill and the Hoar presidential succession bill.

In the senate, on the 5th inst., Mr. Blair of New Hampshire submitted a resolution of the legislature of the state, against the granting of land subsidies to railroads; also a resolution of the legislature asking the establishment of a government postal telegraph.

"The Bay of Seven Islands, and other poems," by John Greenleaf Whittier. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co. Sold in Portsmouth by M. Goodrich; price $1.50.

This new book of Mr. Whittier's poems has a fine portrait of the Quaker poet, and contains twenty-two of his later poems, among them the "sad story in rhyme of the Newburyport skipper and his experience at the Labrador," "how the women went from Dover," "a summer pilgrimage," etc. The little volume is dedicated to his friend Edwin P. Whipple. It is neatly issued, and will be heartily welcomed by Mr. Whittier's numerous readers.

HOISTING THE STATUE.

Charles F. Thomas Recalls His Dizzy Experiences on the Capitol.

Charles F. Thomas, the mechanical engineer who placed the statue of Freedom on the capitol in Washington, lives with his family in a cottage at No. 32 Eleventh street, Brooklyn. He is of stalwart proportions. A long, gray beard gives him a venerable appearance, but his keen eyes are restless and sparkle when he talks.

"You see that framed certificate on the wall?" he said. "Well, that was signed by Abraham Lincoln twenty years ago, a month before he was assassinated. It testifies that Mr. Thomas, superintendent of construction of the new dome, placed the statue of Freedom on the dome on December 2, 1868, at 12 M., and that the scaffolding whereby the tholus was built and the statue was raised to its position was designed and erected by him.'

"I was eight years building the dome and placing the statue in position. You see under that glass bell on the table yonder a model of the top of the new dome, the statue, and the circular scaffolding, whose top is above the head of the statue. That little model, a few inches high, and whose largest timbers are no bigger than matches, will sustain a weight of one hundred pounds. The elevation of the top of the scaffolding on the western face of the capitol was 390 feet. Two workmen and myself only were allowed to go on the structure. We climbed to the top by means of cleats fastened to one of the uprights. Washington is a windy place. Gusts used to come from the most unexpected quarters on that lofty place.

"The head of the statue was hoisted to its position by means of an eyebolt in the cluster of feathers in the helmet of the statue. The instant it settled into place thirty-four guns were fired by a park of artillery east of the capitol, and the guns of all the forts near Washington responded.

"It was by the wish of Jefferson Davis that the head of the statue was crowned with the helmet, surrounded by a circlet of stars and topped off with an irregular but picturesque bunch of feathers. Mr. Davis was secretary of war in 1855. The sculptor, Crawford, designed a statue of Freedom with the liberty cap. To the cap Mr. Davis objected, because, he said, the cap was worn by freed slaves among the ancient Greeks. Mr. Davis objected that the design suggested that Americans had been slaves. Mr. Crawford objected to a change. Nevertheless he prepared a design similar to that now in the capitol. Mr. Davis approved it, and it was adopted. At once newspapers opposed to Mr. Davis in politics said that his motive in securing the change in the design was that he did not want an emblem on the capitol which indicated that slaves could ever be made free.

"After the scaffolding was partly removed I stood on the feathers of the helmet, while a photographer took my picture. He couldn't say, 'Look pleasant,' or 'Hold your chin a little higher, please,' because he was at South First street and New Jersey avenue. I tied a rope through the eybolt in the centre of the top of the head, so that a bight was formed which hung down the sloping side of the head. I placed my right foot in the bight. The left foot was on top of the head. Standing thus the photograph was taken."

In the stereoscopic view which Mr. Thomas has, his form looks like that of a blackbird newly lighted on Liberty's head.

"After the photographer had dropped his handkerchief to signify that he had done with me, I dropped on my right knee and took a hammer from one pocket and some steel dies of letters from another pocket. With a blow on each die I stamped words on the topmost feather of the plume. They have never been seen by anyone but myself, and will not be in a thousand years. I believe the statue will never need repairs. The words are as follows:

"'A. Lincoln, President of the United States; Thomas Hugh Walter, architect; B. B. French, commissioner of public buildings; Charles F. Thomas, superintendent of construction of the new dome.'"

"Is it a fact that Vulcan's face in the allegorical painting in the eye of the dome, over the rotunda, is your portrait?"

"It is a fact."—New York Sun.

A Congregationalist in a Universalist's Pulpit.

A good and a true story is going the rounds of Boston about the adventure of a worthy Congregationalist pastor who ministers to a suburban church. He had agreed to supply a Roxbury pulpit for an absent brother. He came into Boston and promptly took a Highland car for the scene of his evening's labor. In due time he descried a steeple, and, reaching the church, got out, walked in, took off his overcoat in the vestry, and went straightway to the pulpit. He glanced around on the congregation and proceeded, after a minute or two's delay, to give out a good old standard Congregational hymn. The congregation proceeded to find the place, the organ gave the tune, and the singing began. Whilst it was in progress the sexton walked up the pulpit stairs and said to our suburban friend:

"Mr. —— will be here in a few minutes."

The situation flashed upon him, but suppressing his emotions, he quietly asked:

"Why, isn't this Mr. ——'s church?"

"No, sir," calmly replied the sexton; "this is the Universalist church."

There was an exchange of places a few minutes later. The friends of the suburban minister are now fond of asking him how he came to enter the Universalist ministry. He laughs and solaces himself with the remark:

"Well, I got them to sing a good orthodox hymn, anyway."—Boston Traveler.

"This Is Horrible" was the headline a Cleveland editor wrote to go over an account of the defeat of the local baseball club. But the straw-headed printer got things mixed and put that headline over a poem by a prominent poet, and the poet wouldn't believe that it was the printer's fault, and somebody is going to get hurt.

KITTERY, ME., Dec. 3d.
Kittery free high school held its fourth reunion at Trefethen's hall on Friday evening, Nov. 30th. One of the largest companies convened since the first, having every term for ten years past represented. In the first part of the evening were entertaining literary exercises, varied by choice selections of music by the present and former members of the school. At the close of the literary exercises Mr. Charles Lavell, in behalf of the members of the term just closed, in his usual happy manner presented Mr. Rowell, the principal with an elegant silver butter dish, and Mr. Rowell feelingly but briefly expressed his thanks. Then followed a grand march, and various merry games, which the most dignified seemed to enjoy whether participants or not. The writer does not think a finer looking or better bred company could be found in a school reunion anywhere; and the good feeling appearing in their cordial greetings must have gone far toward making Mr Rowell the happy man he seemed. We never passed a more delightful evening, but could not help regreting that while among them we were not of them.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA
Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA
It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "It's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON N. H., Nov. 19, 1879.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.
Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

M. R. Fletcher, who was recognized to appear on Tuesday to answer to a complaint for swearing to illegal charges for services rendered a deceased pensioner, appeared before United States Commissioner Hackett at Concord, and was further recognized to appear at Concord on the 1st day of February next to answer to the complaint.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

In the circuit court, on Tuesday, James C. Willey, son of James Willey, former land commissioner of the state, was cross examined by the plff's counsel as to conversations by his father in 1831, when witness was sixteen years of age.

The day was occupied in hearing the evidence for the defendant, which will be probably concluded some time this week.

Thomas Coggswell of Gilmanton, and Lewis W. Fling of Bristol, were admitted to practice in this court.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the Rockingham Bicycle rink in Franklin upper hall was opened on Tuesday evening of this week, a large number of local wheelmen being present.

That Thomas Samon, the Laconia murderer, was a member of one of the numerous political campaign clubs in this city in 1880.

That the gray horse recently purchased by the city has been able to work but four or five days since coming here, owing to sore shoulders.

That a new lighthouse clock has been put in the inspector's room in the custom house.

That new and elegant bookcases have been put in the office of the clerk of the United States circuit court, in the custom house building.

That proposals are out for the building of a five-story hotel to contain one hundred rooms, on land in York owned by Hartley W. Mason of this city.

That after the recent cold term the weather had so far moderated on the 5th inst. that many house plants were placed out of doors.

That extensive preparations are being made for the apron and necktie party to be given in Congress hall on the evening of the 11th inst.

That a very large dancing party was in attendance at the assembly given by New Hampshire Lodge of Odd Fellows on Wednesday evening.

That Aunt Polly Bassett's "Singin skewl" is a great success.

That Floron Barri is engaged in the coal business in Boston, and will remove his family to that city early in January.

That the managers of the skating rink endeavored to get Batty and Hackett, the champion roller-skaters, for Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, but they were engaged in Boston.

A LIVELY BONFIRE.

On Tuesday of this week a big fire was kindled on Seavey's island, at the navy yard, for the purpose of breaking up two old ships' sternposts of composition, weighing about two and one-half tons each, several smaller pieces of the same metal being also put in the fire at the same time. The large masses of metal, when heated to a dull red, were easily broken to pieces with sledge hammers. While the sternports were heating there were three explosions, the first one throwing a piece of oak timber four feet long and ten inches square over the top of a neighboring apple tree; the second blow-up threw a piece of composition weighing about ten pounds a distance of fifty feet or more, causing a workman who saw it coming to move with such alacrity as is not often witnessed on the navy yard; the third explosion made a big noise, but did nothing more. The wood used to make the fire was old ship-wood, full of iron bolts and much of it strapped with iron, so that a double purpose was accomplished by burning it, the iron being obtained without labor. The explosions are supposed to have been caused by water in the wood, or possibly in defects in the castings.

ROLLER SKATING.

At the skating rink in Franklin hall, this evening, Messrs. Batty and Hackett, the phenomenal skaters from the Winslow rink in Boston, will give the spectators an illustration of what can be done on roller skates; their evolutions are said to be marvellous, and as graceful as they are astonishing. Admission twenty cents; skate checks ten cents.

MASONIC ELECTION.

At the annual communication of St. John's Lodge, No. 1, A. F. & A. M., the following were elected officers for the ensuing year:

W. M., William G. Billings;
S. W., William S. Hazel;
J. W., Edward W. Riley;
Treasurer, Oliver G. Fernald;
Secretary, John H. Cheever;
Howe Call, Representative to Grand Lodge:
Samuel S. Fletcher, Thomas J. Mitchell, Members of Standing Committee.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE EASTERN RAILROAD.

Below is given in full the annual report of the directors of the Eastern Railroad company for the year ending September 30th, 1883.

To the stockholders of the Eastern Railroad company.

The directors respectfully report the earnings and expenditures of the Eastern railroad for the year ending Sept. 30th, 1883, as compared with the preceding year, as follows:

	Year ending Sept. 30, 1882.	Year ending Sept. 30, 1883.
From Passengers	$1 963,856.60	$1,959,575.68
Freight	1,3 3 69 .64	1,45 ,878 43
Miscellaneous	160,325.27	170,055.08
Total	$3,463,077.51	$3,585.5 6.19

Showing an increase of $181,428.68.

The operating expenses for the previous year were $2,292,967.84, and for the year just closed, $2,310,830.59, showing an increase of $17,862.75.

Included in operating expenses are, in addition to the ordinary expenditures on that account, the following amounts for improvements and additions to property of the road, viz.:

Two eight-wheeled caboose-cars built	$1,838.12
Paid toward reduction of Car-Trust, representing value of thirty box cars and twenty flat cars ($22,56) less value of old cars dest oyed ($4,236.55)	17,763.45
Paid for five new locomotives and two spare tenders	63,60 .00
1324 tons steel rails and 409 tons iron rails	36,636.24
12 982 ties	4 290.32
Renewal and repairs of bridges	76,133.58
Water-stations	19,414.98
Repairs of buildings, including new stations at Conway Junction and West Everett, and machine shop	112,1 7.57
Total special expenditures	$369,887.26

The net earnings have been $1,273,675.60, as against $1,110,109.67 the preceding year, showing a net gain of $163,565.93

From the net earnings have been paid the interest accrued for the year ending Sept. 30, 1883, on all the debt	$837,986.16
For rental of leased roads	218,3 0.00
filling Charlestown flats	5,571.57
electric signals at Salem	3 243.98
land at East Boston	7,800.00
land at Bar Harbor	1,000.00
Chelsea Beach R. R. construction	1,822.46
acct. warehouse at East Boston	48,093. 9
	$1,143,347.76

Leaving a surplus for the year of $130,337.84.

Greatly needed improvements have been made in the station grounds; and it is believed that the train service has been generally satisfactory to the patrons of the road.

No serious accidents have occurred; and the officers and employees have worked together, loyally and earnestly, to bring good results from the business of the year.

Our interest account is now at its highest point; and we are glad to chronicle that it has been met without difficulty, notwithstanding extraordinary expenditures in maintaining the value of the property.

The experience of the year has demonstrated the fact that the road can easily meet its fixed charges from its present revenue.

Negotiations between this company and the Boston & Maine railroad company for a lease of the property of this road to the Boston & Maine resulted in an agreement therefor, which has been ratified by the stockholders of both corporations. Pending a suit which has been brought to test certain questions arising therefrom, this lease has not been executed. Meanwhile the road continues to be operated as before. The details of the year's business are exhibited in the table appended.

The miles run by passenger trains have increased from 1,084,615 in 1878-79 to 1,416.595 in 1882-83, an increase of thirty-one per cent; whereas the number of passengers carried has increased in the same time 2,722,548 passengers, a gain of sixty per cent; and the passenger earnings have increased from $1,451,857 in 1878-79 to $1,959,575 in 1882-83, a gain of $507,718, or thirty-five per cent.

The freight traffic has also largely increased, the earnings of the past year being $466,834 in excess of those of 1878-79, a gain of forty-seven per cent.

Aunt Polly Bassett's Singin Skewl will hold another session in the Universalist church this evening. Lots of fun.

The steamer Allentown, Swasey master, with 1050 tons of coal, and the schooner Mattie A. Holmes, Burr master, with 889 tons, both from Philadelphia to J. Albert Walker, arrived at this port Dec. 5th.

Dr. John S. Perry, dentist, who has for several weeks been unable to practise his profession in consequence of illness, has fully recovered, and is now receiving patients at his office, No. 20 Congress street.

Kearsarge Fire Engine Co., No. 3, at their annual meeting on Monday evening, Dec. 3d, voted not to give a ball this year. On the same evening it was voted by Moses H. Goodrich Fire Engine Co., No. 4, to give a ball in Franklin hall on New Year's eve, serving a supper at the Kearsarge house.

Water is now flowing from the Eastern railroad wells near the Plains to the company's wood-preserving works on Noble's island.

J. O. Downs & Co., (at C. Sullivan & Co.'s old stand,) on Wednesday of this week received from Ingerbretsen, at Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, eight hundred live lobsters, which were at once boiled for sale to the customers of the firm. They were of regulation size, and hard shelled.

The schooner Lucy, Capt. Randall, came in from Smuttynose island, Isles of Shoals, on the 4th inst., with a load of salted herring, which will be stored to await a better temper in the market.

There has been a great abundance of water fowl at the Shoals recently, flying to the southward.

The street commissioner has in a neat pile in the city yard about 400 tons of stone, to be crushed for use on the streets. Mr. King, we understand, drove a very sharp trade with Mr. Pickering for about twenty tons blasted out of the drain in Commercial Alley, getting the whole lot for two loads of gravel.—Times.

The New York pilot boat destroyed by the steamship Alaska is supposed to have been the Columbia, No. 8.

Young Nutt, the slayer of Dukes, who murdered Nutt's father, has been put on trial at Unionstown, Pa.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar and Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 23 Court street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office, to Mr. JOSHUA CRANE, a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the voting register will be closed on the fourth day of December, 1883, between which time and the Annual Meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, 1883, no registration will be made. Per order of the Directors.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Fifth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can ever require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

It is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—Atlantic.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of brunettes, to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from coarse and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative refresher with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsam, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,0 ,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents in a neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this he editary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so bad and so tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times was intolerably itching and burning and most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. HUXTON, Milan, Mich.

Paying for Kissing his Wife.

There have been many cases in which kisses have been considered in courts of justice, and not only considered, but valued in money and paid for. But we have never heard until now that husbands could be sentenced for kissing their wives. The district court of this city, by a recent decision, now warns all husbands that it is not always safe for them to kiss even their own lawful wives.

On August 6 the case of "Kochergin vs. Kochergin" was tried in the district court. Catherine Kochergin sued her husband, Ivan Kochergin, for 1,000 roubles, due on two bills of exchange given by him to her. The plaintiff, a young and pretty woman, and well dressed, appeared in person.

"Ivan Kochergin!" cried the Court.

In answer to the call the defendant appeared. He was a merchant of middle age, having the manners and characteristics of his class. He was in a jolly state.

"Here we are," he said, coming up before the bench, and then turning to his wife he added, sweetly smiling: "Catherine Stepanovna, why should we quarrel?"

"You are in court," said the presiding Judge severely. "This is not the place for personal explanations."

Mrs. Kocherin then presented two bills of exchange to the Court.

"Is this your signature on these bills?" the defendant was asked.

"Yes, it is mine," was the answer; "there is no use of denying that. But I am not going to pay them, for they are worthless and invalid. I will tell you how I came to give them. Catherine Stepanovna, my wife, several times left my house and went to her father, Mr. Sheustof. But I love her so fondly that I could not stay long without her; so I went to see her. 'Do you want your wife?' asked Shustoff; 'if so sign this bill.' And I did sign it; I signed two of them. I gave the bills, not in exchange for money, but on account of my love, for kisses from my wife. Oh, how fond I am of her. If your Honor orders me to pay these bills it will be highway robbery!" roared the defendant.

"Behave yourself," admonished the Court.

"Ah, my dear soul, I understand."

"I am not your soul at all," roared the Court, "and I will punish you if you do not come to your senses."

But the defendant would not listen to the Court. He turned his smiling face to his wife, flung her kisses with his hand, and said:

"Catherine Stepanovna! how dearly I love you!"

Roars of laughter shook the courtroom. For a moment even the judges could not control their features. The plaintiff blushed, and the defendant continued ardently to profess his love for his wife. When order had been restored the court announced the verdict. The defendant was ordered to pay one thousand roubles to his wife, and in case he did not pay, his house was to be attached.

"It is a downright robbery!" shouted the defendant.

The Court ordered Mr. Kochergin to leave the room at once. Meanwhile Mrs. Kochergin started out with her father, but the defendant rushed after, crying: "Catherine Stepanovna! Kate, I love you!"

The auditors rushed after them, laughing, stamping, and applauding. The pretty little plaintiff took a droshki and hurried away, and poor Ivan Kochergin ran after her with his arms outstretched and shouting:

"Oh, Kate, how I love you!"—Moscow (Russia) News.

A New Air Ship.

A Bridgeport, Conn., telegram to the New York World says: Charles F. Ritchel, of this city, has invented a ship designed to sail through the air. Mr. Ritchel claims that it can be made to rise or fall as desired, without throwing over the ballast or losing gas, as in balloons, and will always float right side up. It is cylindrical in form, and the ends are cut off square. To this great cylinder, which is intended to float in the air in a horizontal position, is attached by ropes the framework of the machine. There is no rudder, Mr. Ritchel having found that with the present progress of invention it is impossible to steer an air ship with any degree of accuracy and certainty. Under the floor, or network, as it might more properly be called, is a series of canvas shutters on iron frames lapping one over the rther when closed, thus making a permanent, air-resisting floor.

This latter feature is one of the principal features of Mr. Ritchel's invention. He says that the tendency of a balloon, when in mid-air, is to move either up or down from one stratum to another with ever-increasing velocity. These movements have been prevented hitherto by ballast throwing and by the loosing of gas. He proposes to remedy this by the floor shutters and by the means of a canvas screw propeller rigged below this floor and geared to several cranks which may be driven by men from the net-work of the basket above.

The propeller worked one way tends to push the balloon or ship upward, and by being reversed tends it toward the earth again. When an ascent is about to be made the balloon is cut loose from the earth, the shutters are opened so as to afford no resistance to the air as the machine rises upward, and, if necessary, the screw propeller is worked to aid in fanning the machine toward the clouds. After the desired altitude is reached the screw is stopped, the shutters are closed, and the voyage proper commences. The descent can be made in the same way.

Another new feature which Mr. Mitchel has introuced in ballooning is a new style of cloth for balloon covering—a light and very strong substance, which rain will not affect in either cold or hot weather. It is so strong that it can not be torn with the hand, and, though very thin, is almost impervious to light.

A man in Louisiana has a horned horse. The animal is in all respects a well-formed two-year-old colt, without the slightest peculiarity with the exceptions of his horns, which are about 15 inches long, protruding from either side of his forehead, about two inches above the eyes, and curving back beautifully like a Rocky Mountain goat. It is to be sold to a showman.

A GREAT SUCCESS

☞ The best family pill made—Hawley's Stomach and Liver Pills. 25c. Pleasant in action and easy to take.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1837 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 67 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER."

Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, MRS. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 125th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE."

Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Bylgalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRADDON."

Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

If we would have powerful minds, we must think; if faithful hearts, we must love; if powerful muscles, we must labor; if we would get rid of a bad cold, we must take Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Three negro children were burned to death in Columbia county, Georgia, Dec. 5th, during the absence of their parents, who had locked the children in a cabin.

H. D. Mason, Esq., of the N. Y. Hotel Stables, New York, states that St. Jacobs Oil is the best pain-cure for man and beast.

Two boys about eight years old were drowned in Spencer, Mass., Dec. 4th, while skating.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had taken it a week she had a rousing appetite, and did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested." C. L. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

At the trial of Ex-Judge George Denny at Lancaster, Ky., for the murder of James H. Anderson, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty. The public regard the shooting as justifiable on the ground of self-defence.

"My skin, which has been covered with scaly sores, has become clean, smooth and soft as a lady's. My hands were covered with little dry scabs. They have disappeared and I'm better than I have been for twenty years, using Dr. Benson's Skin Cure.—A. M. Noble, Selma, N. C., July 3, 1882.

Two law officers quarreled in a court room at Prescott, Arizona, and came to blows. While they were fighting, the defendant in the suit killed two men with his knife, and was shot dead as he was about to stab the court reporter.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Letters From Senator Jacobs.

SENATE CHAMBER.

Albany, N. Y., March 31st, 1882.

For a long time it has been my habit to use Brandreth's Pills. In fact, I have seldom had occasion to use any other medicine, and it affords me great pleasure to say that for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and the other ills of the system, to which men in public life are more apt than others to be subject, they are an invaluable remedy. JOHN C. JACOBS.

For Constipation, Indigestion, Foul stomach, Dizziness and Headache, no medicine equals "Brandreth's Pills." Pure and simple, containing no mercury, they are the family medicine-chest and safe-guard.

F. H. Campbell, depot agent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Paris, Tennessee, shot and killed Frank Williams on the 4th inst. The difficulty grew out of the discharge of Williams, who had been employed as a clerk by Campbell.

The general assembly of Virgina met at noon on the 4th inst., and organized by the election of the democratic caucus nominees, in both houses.

An unknown two-masted schooner drifted past the east side of Nantucket on the 3d inst., about four miles off shore; her jib and mainsail were down but not furled, and she appeared to be abandoned. She was boarded the next day by wreckers, and taken into Nantucket; she proved to be the British schooner Annie Currier, bound from New York for St. Johns, N. B., with an assorted cargo, and leaking considerably. No clue as to the fate of the crew was found.

Poisoned.

Thousands of persons are poisoned in America by the continued use of mercury, Iodide of Potassium and other minerals, for various diseases. The mercury works its way into the tissues, producing rheumatism and decay of the bones. The Iodide of Potassium eats away the coating of the stomach, and dries up the gastric juices which digest the food, and the patient lingers along in agony or is glad to die to get away from misery. Swift's Specific is a complete antidote to all this poison. It eliminates mercury from the system, removes the evil effects and of Iodide of Potassium, and brings back health and happiness. Send your address for a copy of Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases. The Swift Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

"Fox's Book of Martyrs"

Contains the history and pictures of hundreds of people who were stoned, burned, beaten, pulled to pieces and otherwise tortured on account of their conscientious convictions as to belief and duty. They suffered incredible torment and have come over to the present age as martyrs. It is not now customary to torture people thus, but they are made martyrs by rheumatism until they suffer almost as much as did the heroes of the martyr ages. There was no relief for the old-time martyrs, but there is happy relief for those who suffer from rheumatism. Cashier Charles F. Morrill, of Manchester, N. H., suffered terribly from frequent attacks of this painful disease, but he has been cured. He writes: "I was a martyr to rheumatism, and, although I tried many other remedies, I found nothing that relieved me like Perry Davis's Pain Killer." Other rheumatic martyrs may wisely take the hint.

Charles L. Hayes of East Lebanon, Me., thirty-four years old, and married, was killed by the cars on the Nashua & Rochester railroad at East Lebanon on the evening of Dec. 4th, his head and one arm being cut off, and his body shockingly mangled.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.
I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.
MRS JULIA G. CUSHING.

Some months ago, in Ireland, a Mrs. Smith was shot dead while riding home from church in a carriage with her husband. A man named Elliott has been indicted for the murder; and fourteen other men have been indicted for conspiracy to murder, in connection with the same crime.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analyzed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

Portsmouth Chronicle.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1883.

In the court at Barnstable, Mass., Dec. 5th, the jury found Charles F. Freeman, who murdered his little daughter some years since in a religious frenzy, "not guilty by reason of insanity," and he was committed to the insane asylum at Danvers for life. This is proper ending of the Pocasset tragedy. There is no doubt that Freeman was a religious moodomaniac at the time he committed the crime, and not responsible for his acts; and most of the people in his neighborhood were about as crazy as he, on the same subject. He did not deserve the gallows or the penitentiary; neither was it safe to let him loose entirely, lest he might imagine another "command from God" to commit another murder.

Peng Yu Lin, whom the emperor of China sent to Tonquin to investigate the position of affairs there, has returned to Canton. He has notified all foreigners that war between China and France is imminent, and has ordered the massing of all available land and sea forces for the protection of Canton. The admiral holds France answerable for precipitating a war, and warns the neutral powers to observe their treaty stipulations and the rules of international laws.

The hydrographic office of the navy department has issued 2000 copies of a new pilot chart of the North Atlantic ocean for the month of December. It is intended to publish these charts monthly, and by-and-bye weekly if a sufficient appropriation can be secured. They show the prevailing winds and currents for the month, and the location of any floating wrecks dangerous to navigation. The charts will be sent to maritime exchanges for distribution, and to all United States shipmasters, and it is thought the information contained therein will be found of great value to seafarers.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. eod jan 24

One Hundred Years Ago.

It was the 25th of November, 1783.—a brilliant day, that an excited crowd surged and shouted about Mr. Day's tavern in Murray street, near the road to Greenwich. Cunningham, the cruel and vindictive British provost-marshal, stood at the foot of the flag-pole, from which floated the stars and stripes, the flag of the new republic. "Come, you rebel cur," he said to Day, "I give you two minutes to haul down that rag.—I'll have no such striped clout as that flying in the faces of His Majesty's forces!"

"There it is, and there it shall stay," said Day, quietly but firmly. Cunningham turned to his guard.

"Arrest that man," he ordered. "And as for this thing here, I'll haul it down myself," and seizing the halyards, he began to lower the flag. The crowd broke out into fierce murmurs, uncertain what to do. But, in the midst of the tumult, the door of the tavern flew open, and forth sallied Mrs. Day, armed with her trusty broom.

"Hands off that flag, you villain, and drop my husband!" she cried, and before the astonished Cunningham could realize the situation, the broom came down thwack! thwack! upon his powdered wig. Old men still lived, not 20 years ago, who were boys in that excited crowd, and remembered how the powder flew from the stiff white wig, and how, amidst jeers and laughter, the defeated provost-marshal withdrew from the unequal contest, and fled before the resistless sweep of Mrs. Day's all-conquering broom.

Sir Guy Carleton, K. C. B., commander-in-chief of all His Majesty's forces in the colonies, stood at the foot of the flag-staff on the northern bastion of Fort George. Before him filed the departing troops of his king, evacuating the pleasant little city they had occupied for over seven years. The waves of the bay sparkled in the sunlight, while the whale-boats, barges, gigs and launches sped over the water, bearing troops and refugees to the transports, or to the temporary camp on Staten Island. The last act of the evacuation was almost completed; and, as to the strains of appropriate music the commander-in-chief and his staff passed down to the boats, the red cross of St. George, England's royal flag, came fluttering down from its high staff on the north bastion, and the last of the rear-guard wheeled toward the slip. But Cunningham, the provost-marshal, still angered by the thought of his discomfiture at Day's tavern, declared roundly that no rebel flag should go up that staff in sight of King George's men. "Come, lively now, you blue jackets," he shouted, turning to some of the sailors from the fleet. "Unreeve the halyards, quick; slush down the pole; knock off the stepping cleats! Then let them run their rag up if they can." His orders were quickly obeyed and the marshal left the now liberated city. In a few moments, Colonel Jackson, halting before the flag-staff, ordered up the stars and stripes.

"The halyards are cut, Colonel," reported the color-sergeant; "the cleats are gone, and the pole is slushed."

"A mean trick, indeed," exclaimed the indignant Colonel. "A gold jacobus to him who will climb the staff and reeve the halyards for the stars and stripes!"

"I want no money for the job," said a young sailor lad as he tried it manfully once, twice, thrice, and each time came slipping down covered with slush and shame. "I'll fix 'em yet," he said. "If ye'll but saw me some cleats, I'll run that flag to the top in spite of all the Tories from 'Sopus to Sandy Hook!"

Ready hands came to his assistance. Then, tying the halyards around his waist, and filling his jacket-pockets with cleats and nails, he worked his way up the flag-pole, nailing and climbing as he went. And now he reaches the top, now the halyards are rove, and as the beautiful flag goes fluttering up the staff a mighty cheer is heard, and a round of thirteen guns salutes the stars and stripes and the brave sailor boy who did the gallant deed.—St. Nicholas.

Mary Anderson and Wales.

Said the Prince, on being introduced to Mary Anderson: "I understand your exposition at Louisville is a big thing." "You just ought to see it," said Mary. "I am just burning to see how those chickens are hatched without any mamma," said the Prince. "Yes, but you'd be scared when you saw the man hold up the little alligator by the tail," said Mary. "You forget how I hunted the tiger in India," said the Prince. "But an alligator is a good deal awfuller than a tiger," said Mary. Here Dr. Griffin, seeing that a dispute might arise, involving the peace of two friendly nations, adroitly put in and directed the talk in another channel.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

San Francisco papers complain that their city is being overrun with Chinese lepers.

Don't Be Too Credulous.

Don't believe all you read. Don't believe too quickly half you read. Don't believe anything as regards thought, opinion or assertion till you have run it through the mill of your own judgment and seen if it emerges without a flaw. Remember that a book is generally one man's talk on paper. Remember that his conclusions and deductions are generally based on other men's statements which time may prove partly or wholly wrong. Remember that it is as easy to err with the pen as with the tongue. Remember that for two men to give the same account of the event of which both are witnesses, is extremely rare. Remember that no conscientious scribe can read what he wrote twenty-five years ago without finding many opinions and assertions which will make him warm and feel like hunting a hole to hide his head in. Remember that the man, be he writer or not, who all his days sticks to one opinion, simply because it is his opinion, ceases to grow intellectually and imprisons himself in his own dogmatism. Remember that the man who is searching for the truth must give up his mistaken convictions, no matter how dear they may be to him or how sorely it may hurt his pride to own up that he has been mistaken. Remember to apply all the foregoing remarks to this article after you have read it.

Among the attractive publications of Messrs. Lee & Shepard, of Boston, is an original series of illustrated hymns and poems which are given in new and attractive styles of cloth, full gilt, and the unique and beautiful golden floral fringed, which this house tells us was first applied by their firm to book manufacture, and which they claim as their trade-mark and patent. Among this charmingly attractive series are Mr. Tennyson's "Come into the garden, Maud," with appropriate designs by Edward H. Garrett; Ray Palmer's "My faith looks up to Thee," with illustrations designed by Lisbeth B. Comin; Alfred Domett's Christmas hymn, "It was the calm and silent night," which is accompanied with illustrations designed by W. L. Taylor; "The Lord is my Shepherd," the twenty-third psalm in song, by W. C. Richards, the illustrations by Miss L. B. Humphrey and several other ladies; Rosa Hartwick Thorpe's "Curfew must not ring tonight," with illustrations by E. T. Merrill and E. H. Garrett; and "That Glorious Song of Old," by E. Hamilton Sears, with illustrations by Alfred Fredericks. The beautiful designs which accompany this rare and unique series challenge our admiration, and will attract every one who can appreciate the perfection of good taste. They are sold at $1.75 each, for the golden floral flexible fringed; in cloth, full gilt, at $1.50.

The fishing schooner William A. Pew, of Gloucester, Mass., seventy tons register, McDonald master, went ashore on the South head of Grand Manan island on the night of Dec. 4th, and it was supposed would go to pieces. The first report said the crew had not been heard from.

MEDICAL.

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Is designed to meet the wants of a large portion of our people who are either too poor to employ a physician, or are too far removed to easily call one, and a still larger class who are not sick enough to require medical advice, and yet are out of sorts and need a medicine to build them up, give them an appetite, purify their blood, and oil up the machinery of their bodies so it will do its duty willingly. No other article takes hold of the system and hits exactly the spot like

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

It works like magic, reaching every part of the human body through the blood, giving to all renewed life and energy.

My friend, you need not take our word. Ask your neighbor, who has just taken one bottle. He will tell you that "it's the best dollar I ever invested."

LEBANON N. H., Nov. 19, 1879.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO. Dear Sirs—Although greatly prejudiced against patent medicines in general, I was induced, from the excellent reports I had heard of your Sarsaparilla, to try a bottle, last December, for dyspepsia and general prostration, and I have received very gratifying results from its use. I am now using the second bottle, and consider it a very valuable remedy for indigestion and its attendant troubles.
Yours truly,
F. C. CHURCHILL,
(Firm of Carter & Churchill.)

MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, Dec. 6th, Mayor Treat in the chair.

Present the full board.

The records of the last meeting were read and approved.

Bills from the several departments to the amount of $1667.77, were ordered paid. Also bills of Peter Neal, lamplighter, $30, and A. D. Jenness, lamplighter, $37.70; and bill for oil, $38.88.

Two applications for the use of the south ward room for the purpose of having dances, were referred to the committee on city lands and buildings, with power.

The Gaslight Co. offered to place in Market square a lamppost with one or three burners, to burn all night, free of expense to the city, provided the city will care for the same after erection. Referred to the committee on street lights, with power.

In answer to a question by Ald. Sampson, the city clerk reported four vacancies existing in the board of trustees of the public library. The mayor appointed the following, who were confirmed by the aldermen: Mary A. Foster, E. P. Kimball, three years, Mary E. Prescott, Wm. H. Sise, two years.

Adjourned for two weeks.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

THURSDAY, Dec. 6th.

Edward Foster, regular customer, drunk, was fined $3, costs $6.90; Brentwood in default of payment.

Albert L. Chamberlain, charged with larceny, was held in $300 for his appearance at the April term of the supreme court.

PORTSMOUTH MACHINE SHOP.

A part of the employes of the Portsmouth Machine Shop are now at work in the new building, one wing being so nearly completed as to permit of this. The two stories will be heated by steam from the boiler. The engine has also been turned over. A second boiler is being built at the old shop, and foundations for some of the heavy machinery is being put in. As soon as the shafting can be got out, work will be commenced in the main building. Mr. F. W. Hoyt, late of the Swampscott Machine Company, has been engaged as foreman of the pattern shop and draughtsman. The company has already several contracts, and are now at work rebuilding the engine of the Clara Bateman, which is to have a new bed plate, crank, crank shaft, connecting rods, cross heads, propeller shaft and pumps.

BEARDING THE LION IN HIS DEN.

Some months ago Albert L. Chamberlain was sent to the jail in this city for drunkenness, and before his term expired was arrested on a capias writ for stealing a dog from a Mr. Carpenter of Exeter, so that his stay in the jail has been somewhat extended. During his residence there he has been employed by Sheriff Kent to take care of his horse, and do other work; and when he was discharged Tuesday of this week, Carpenter having probably got tired of paying his board, Col. Kent paid him about twenty dollars for his services. Next day the sheriff learned that his late boarder had been selling harness oil, pieces of harness and articles of clothing, and on inspection found that just such articles had disappeared from the stores at the Islington street hostelry; and further investigation showing that some of the articles sold by Chamberlain were certainly the sheriff's, the irregular speculator was on Thursday scooped in, held for trial before the supreme court, and again lodged in jail from lack of sureties. As he will have to lie in jail about four months before his trial comes off it is doubtful if he gets a chance to steal anything from anybody again for a year or so.

GOSSIPS SAY

That the Thomas Samon of Laconia and the Thomas Salmon who marched in political processions in this city in 1880 are not one and the same person.

That the Daily Journal enterprise is sleeping.

That six hundred Canada turkeys are fattening for Christmas in Dixon's poultry yard at Eliot.

That a large crowd were at the skating rink on Thursday evening to witness the splendid exhibition of fancy skating by Messrs. Batty and Hackett, the roller champions.

That there is nothing "snide" about them.

That the "Singin Skewl" drew another large audience on Thursday evening, "ye singers" "doing themselves proud" and receiving generous applause from "ye towne folk."

That the "spinnet," an elegant and modern cabinet organ, was hardly in keeping with "ye ancient costumes."

That a juvenile operetta, Red Riding Hood, will be given at the Methodist church on Friday evening of next week.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

THURSDAY, Dec. 6th.

In case New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton and others, the trial of which began Nov. 30th, the examination of Mr. Ray T. Giles, surveyor for the defendants, which began on Tuesday, was concluded at noon. The defendants' testimony was continued. The case will not be concluded until the middle of December.

Hon. William L. Foster of Concord has been appointed commissioner of this court. Judge Foster held this appointment before he went upon the bench of the state court.

Dec. 17th has been assigned for hearing the case Bruce and others vs. the Manchester & Keene railroad and others.

A complimentary supper was given to Mr. George F. Thompson by a score or more of his friends, at the Rockingham house on Thursday evening.

Meagher's family clam chowder, which has become one of the recognized "institutions" of the city, will be delivered to-day on the order of his patrons, in time for dinner.

The annual supper of the Mechanics' Fire Society takes place this evening, with Mr. Thomas S. Nowell as host.

The following-named gentlemen constitute the committee having in charge the arrangements for the grand ball to be given by Moses H. Goodrich Fire Engine Co. on the evening of Dec. 31st: C. H. Foote, foreman; C. H. Smart, 1st assistant; J. McCarthy, 2d assistant; W. O. Holmes, clerk; A. Frisbee, pipeman; Augustus Ham, steward.

The gondola Edgar Weston, Capt. Charles F. Philpott, will continue her trips up the river for the next two weeks, previous to hauling up for the winter, unless the ice should prevent. Thus far the season has been remarkably favorable for river navigation.

The schooner Water Lily, of Eliot, is hauled up alongside the old fish wharf at Noble's island.

A horse which was at one time the largest in this city, and had been used for many years in the street sprinkling business, was quietly put out of the way on the 4th inst., being too old for further service.

It is said that the beneficial effects of the laws passed by Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts for the protection of lobsters are plainly visible in the increased average size of those taken, and their greater abundance. Those exposed for sale in this market are not astonishing from their great size, but it is explained that the larger ones are sent away into the interior. One provision—and a most important one—of the New Hampshire law, which prohibits the taking, offering for sale or having in possession any female lobster carrying eggs, is alleged to be systematically evaded by many of the fishermen, who scrape away the eggs and then sell the lobster as a male.

Agreeably to the request of the New England Exchange Board of Fire Insurance Underwriters, a local board has been organized in this city, to be known as the Portsmouth Board of Underwriters, with John Sise as president, and Samuel Dodge as secretary and treasurer. The exchange proposes a revision of the rates of insurance, not only in Portsmouth but in Newcastle and Rye, Greenland, Newington, Stratham, North Hampton, Kittery, Eliot, York, and other near towns.

The schooner Golden Gate, Capt. Amee, of this port, arrived from Boston on the 5th inst. with salt for E. F. Sise & Co. On the 6th inst. the British schooner Circassian, Capt. Gayton, arrived from the Grand Turk, Turk's island, West Indies, with a full cargo of salt to the same firm. The Circassian on the previous day, when twelve miles off the Highland lights, Cape Cod, picked up twenty-five barrels of kerosene.

A large steam yacht, schooner rigged, named the Leila, arrived at this port early in the morning on the 5th inst. from Bangor, Me., and after a brief stop continued her voyage. She is bound to Florida, and has on board a family who will spend the winter in that region.

It is rumored that Hon. Frank Jones contemplates putting up another large brewery in this city the ensuing spring, and disposing of his interest in the Bay State brewery at South Boston.

Thomas Samon, the Laconia murderer, who is said to have been a member of one of the political campaign clubs in this city in 1880, is not to be confounded with Mr. Thomas Salmon, a reputable citizen who is now employed in the boiler shop at the navy yard, and who was a "Boy in Blue" during that campaign, having been a member of the Kearsarge's crew.

Bishop Niles of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire will visit St. John's church in this city on Sunday, Dec. 16th, for the purpose of conferring the rite of confirmation.

Among the recent transfers of real estate in York county are the following: Eliot—James W. Emery of Eliot to Emma L. Leach, woodland for $50; Emma L. Leach to James W. Emery, woodland for $50; Sylvester Bartlett to Samuel Clark, ten acres of woodland for $600; William L. Kennard to Charles L. DeCoff, "Little marsh" in Eliot for $75. South Berwick — Alonzo R. Gilman to Charles E. Twombly, land and buildings for $800; Josiah Paul to Nellie A. Rankin, real estate for $400.

A French Canadian named Ancelme Inellette, on his way to Newmarket, got off the train at Dover on Friday, the 30th ult., and had not been heard from up to the 6th inst.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."

Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life and the secret vice practiced, are treated of in this work. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

126th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Address post-paid six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can desire to know or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

It is marvel of art and beauty, and is entitled to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded to every purchaser of the work.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin; to remove freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chaps and roughness; prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery emollient redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsams, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881, 1,050,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

"Leacy, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this so called poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating scruples, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA, RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any good. I was a perfect mass of sores. Now how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them. I cut the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

MRS. S. A. BROWN, Malden, Mass.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement.

A clerk employed by the Credit Lyonnaise of Marseilles, France, went to a house on the 4th inst. to collect a sum of money due on a bill. Immediately after he had received and receipted for the money he was seized by a stalwart man, who strangled him and robbed him of 50,000 francs.

It is a positive Luxury

to brush the teeth with Sozodont, so fragrant and refreshing is it, and so pleasant is the taste it leaves in the mouth after the operation. Then how gratifying is the effect and how complacent feels the beholder who views in the glass a row of ivories rendered spotless. Only a few drops on the brush, a rag or sponge is needed for an ablution and yet it is wondrously effective.

His Uncle Is Sick.

A girl might as well be up and down about such things as to sulker herself to be imposed on and have the feeling gnawing at her heart from one year's end to another. The other evening when a certain young man in this city dropped himself down in the parlor alongside of the girl he hopes to marry some day or other, she began:

"Harry, New Year's is almost here."

"Yes."

"Three years ago you presented me with a pair of earrings. They were from the dollar store."

"Y-e-s."

"Two years ago you presented me with a pair of $50 bracelets. They were rolled-plate and only cost $6."

"Um."

"Last year you placed in my hand a diamond ring. The ring is washed and the stone is from Lake George, and they retail at about $3 per bushel. Harry."

"Yes, dear."

"Are you thinking of making me a present this year?"

"Of course."

"Then do not seek to cheat and deceive me. Do not throw away your money in trifles and baubles, but buy something that I can show to the world without fear of criticism. Here is an advertisement in the paper of a lady's saddle pony and saddle for only $300!"

Yesterday morning Harry left for Denver to nurse a sick uncle through a case of bilious fever, and he won't be back until after the holidays. Still, it was a wise policy on the part of the girl. That very day he had figured with a jeweler on buying an $8 silver watch and having it gold-plated and marked: "18K—$150—Harry to Susie—1884."

"French Flats" at Home.

We learn in "Glimpses of Paris," a profusely illustrated article in the Century, by J. D. Osborne, that the Parisians do not find French flats conducive to domestic happiness. He says: "The Parisians themselves are getting tired of their many storied houses. The people of the provinces, and especially those of French Flanders and of the countries on the German and Swiss borders, say (it is a proverb with them) 'A Paris house is a hell.' Life is one long quarrel in most of them. Tenants must put up with a great many annoyances, if they would not be constantly in hot water. A Frenchman once told me that a servant of the story below him complained that his footman threw dust out of the window, and appealed to the hall-porter to stop it. The servants of the higher stories heard the complaint and resented it. All of them threw buckets of dust out of the window upon the luckless servant of the first floor.

"There is more unhappiness, less happiness, in Paris than any other place on earth. There can be no happiness where houses are built as dovecotes and families are huddled like pigeons. Did you ever read Dickens's description of a London rookery tenanted by Irish? It is a true picture of the incessant warfare waged in Paris houses."

The Way to Cook Oysters.

The oyster is eaten in a variety of styles. He will be eaten to-day fried, broiled, stewed, steamed, scalloped and raw. Some people in Chicago eat them pickled. No matter, Chicago is young yet and will learn better after awhile. So wealthy and enterprising a city can not remain forever uncivilized. The best way to eat oysters is in the old-fashioned Maryland stew. Shuck your oysters, and on pain of death, let not a drop of water or milk touch them. Let them repose for a few moments in their own liquid, while you cut up a very small quantity of fat pork bacon, with a shred here and there of lean with it. About an ounce of bacon to a quart of oysters. Ham is not the best, neither is midling; good, new shoulder is the article. Put the bacon in a frying-pan and heat rapidly over a vigorously burning fire. When the bacon is done to a crisp pour in the oysters. Stew for two minutes and a half or three, no longer. Pepper to suit taste while stewing. If the oysters are good salt-water bivalves, they need no salt. Then pour out and eat, thank God you live in a land where the art of cooking oysters properly is not wholly lost. If you eat oysters cooked in this style you will never eat them in any other way if you can help it.—Washington Republican.

An Indian Folk Story.

A man wanted a wife, so he looked about for one to please him, but could not find one among all the girls he knew. One day he met one called the Beaver. She had lovely teeth; this he noticed when she laughed; so he made up his mind to marry her. He went to her father and asked him for his daughter, and was told to marry her if he liked, but that if he did he would have a lot of trouble; and the father refused to part with her unless the suitor promised to make a bridge across every stream he came to for her to pass dry-footed. This the suitor promised to do. He married the girl and lived very comfortably with her for two years, when he went, as usual, owl-hunting, leaving his wife to make a new camp. As usual, he made bridges over all the creeks he came to. At last he came to a dry one. Over this he made no bridge, but walked on for about a mile, where he hung up his bag to show where he wished the camp to be made. He then went on and made his snares. It rained while he was doing so, and he returned early, expecting to find the camp. But when he came to the place there was the bag but no camp. Going back to look for his wife he came to the creek which had been dry in the morning, but was now full of water; and what astonished him more was that a large beaver house was built that he had not noticed before. He then determined to break it, but while he was trying to break it in he heard his wife's voice inside telling him to go away, for his neglect to put up a bridge had changed her into a beaver. He tried many times to take the house, but always failed. His forgetfulness cost him his wife and two children.

Swift's Specific

Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which has cured me very well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope all who doubt will write me here.

E. C. HAWES, JR., Clarksville, Ga.

After suffering twenty five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully commend it to all similarly afflicted.

HENRY F. GERRISH

A WORD CONCERNING THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY.

In view of the recent unwarranted attacks made upon the honesty, integrity and fair dealing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," and the many doubts expressed as to the drawing and payment of prizes by this institution, we deem it but simple justice to make this voluntary statement regarding our dealings and experiences with the company, and to certify to the fact of having drawn and having been paid in full the prizes opposite our respective names.

These prize tickets were purchased of COL. B. FRANK MOORE, formerly of New York, but now of Chicago, to whose honest, straightforward, conscientious manner of conducting business, we bear willing testimony.

He never made a statement not absolutely true; never made a promise not strictly fulfilled, in connection with, and relative to the operations of "The Louisiana State Lottery." He never encourages to purchase of tickets by parties who are unable to take the risk or lose the amount of investment. On the contrary, he tells you not to invest if you haven't the money to lose, and certainly where there is no compulsion there should be no complaint if the investor fails to draw a prize.

As to the "viciousness and immorality" of Lotteries, we leave the world to judge. We are simply dealing in facts.

"Fiat justitia ruat coelum."

These prizes were promptly paid on presentation of the tickets at the home office in New Orleans, which establishes beyond question the integrity and good faith of the company.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER." Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours, MRS. EMMA GEDNEY." 159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE." Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN." Dyhalla, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. F. BRADDON." Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

Daily Chronicle.

"A bull in a china shop" is out of place, but a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the china closet, or any other handy place, is something that every sensible housekeeper likes to to have. For croup, bronchitis, sore throat and colds it is a prompt and sure remedy.

Lieut. Comdr. C. W. Kennedy died at Las Vegas, New Mexico, Nov. 30th. His death promotes Lieut. John F. Merry, now commanding the Tallapoosa, to be a lieutenant commander.

Col. Graham Dukehart, of Baltimore, Md., Commander of the G. A. R. writes that he has received very great benefit from the use of St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism.

Capt. E. G. Potter took command of the Lancaster Nov. 16th, at Marseilles, relieving Capt. Gherardi, who has been granted leave of absence.

Daughters, Wives, and Mothers.

We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchisi's Catholicon a Female Remedy, to cure Female diseases, such as ovarian troubles, inflamation and ulceration, falling and displacement or bearing down feeling. Irregularities and barrenness, change of life, leucorrhœa, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like headache, bloating, spinal weakness, sleeplessness, nervous debility, palpitation of the heart, &c. For sale by druggists. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 per bottle. Send to Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N. Y., for Pamphlet, free. For sale by Andrew P. Preston, Druggist.

Lieut. E. P. McClellan has been ordered to the Galena.

Dr. Benson's Skin Cure consists of internal and external treatment at same time and it makes the skin white, soft and smooth. It contains no poisonous drugs. $1, at druggists.

Lieut. R. H. Townly has been ordered to duty at the university of Nebraska.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

Lieut. Comdr. F. A. Miller has been granted leave of absence for three months, with permission to leave the United States.

"Buchu-Paiba."

Quick, complete cure, all annoying kidney, bladder and urinary diseases. $1. Druggists.

Chief Engineer E. D. Robie is ordered from the Boston navy yard to the Brooklyn yard on temporary duty. In his absence Chief Engr. C. H. Boker will have charge of the steam-engineering department.

Get it, Sure!

Wells' "Rough on Rats" Almanac, at druggists, or mailed for 2c. stamp. E. S. WELLS, JERSEY CITY.

Passed Assistant Engineers John A. Tobin and Absalom Kirby, Chaplain D. H. Tribou, and Passed Assistant Surgeon J. H. Byrnes have returned to duty on the Powhatan. Passed Assistant Surgeon W. K. Van Reypen of the Powhatan is on leave.

Humor in the Stomach.

Much of the distress and sickness attributed to dyspepsia, chronic diarrhœa and other causes is occasioned by humor in the stomach. Several cases, with all the characteristics of these complaints, have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Other cures effected by this medicine are so wonderful that the simplest statement of them affords the best proof that it combines rare curative agents and when once used secures the confidence of the people.

News has been received of the safety of the crew of the fishing schooner Wm. A. Pew, recently wrecked on Grand Manan island.

Avoid cheap goods. The Hop Plaster cures pains and aches where other plasters simply relieve; 25 cts., at all drug stores.

A correspondent of the Bangor Whig thinks it would be eminently proper to celebrate next month the hundredth anniversary of the departure of the red coats from Castine, Me., the very last place from which the last of the British troops took their leave, and suggests that the governor, if requested, might send a battery of artillery to wake up the echoes of Penobscot bay. He might also honor the occasion by his presence, attended by his council and his military staff. The idea of the celebration is taking form.

It Is Useless

for young ladies who are troubled with freckles, pimples, moth and tan and a bad skin generally to use liquid paints or dry powders, for they only make the skin look well for the time being. To have a good complexion you must have pure blood. Use Sulphur Bitters and your skin will be fair and complexion rosy.—Young Ladies Magazine.

Mrs. May Hyde, aged sixty years, who had lived as a recluse for years and died alone in Chicago on the 3d inst., claimed to be a niece of the Duke of Argyle and cousin of the Marquis of Lorne. She lost her connection with Clan Campbell by marrying below her station. Her husband was murdered by Indians many years ago, during an overland trip to California. She had amassed considerable money as a music teacher, but took to drink and dissipated it.

Inflammation, coughs, catarrhs and pneumonia, resulting from colds, may be cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It allays the inflammation, removes the irritation and soreness, soothes the organs, and restores the sufferer to health.

Senator Edmunds' plan for a government telegraph does not contemplate the purchase of existing lines, but gives to the government the right to use any patents without remuneration to the patentee. The bare possibility of such a scheme terrifies the managers of the Western Union company. President Norvin Green is in Washington looking out for the interests of that company, and has made a call upon Speaker Carlisle; that gentleman could give him no assurances as to what the action of the house would be in the premises.

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

The Belgian steamship Plantyn, from New York Nov. 13th for Antwerp, is causing much anxiety by her non-arrival. She had about sixty persons on board.

Vegetine

WILL CURE

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humors in the Face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

For full particulars of the Grand Semi-Annual Drawing of the 14th inst, see scheme in another column of this paper to-day.

"Fox's Book of Martyrs" Contains the history and pictures of hundreds of people who were stoned, burned, beaten, pulled to pieces and otherwise tortured on account of their conscientious convictions as to belief and duty. They suffered incredible torment and have come down to the present age as martyrs. It is not now customary to torture people thus, but they are made martyrs by rheumatism until they suffer almost as much as did the heroes of the martyr ages. There was no relief for the old-time martyrs, but there is happy relief for those who suffer from rheumatism. Cashier Charles F. Morrill, of Manchester, N. H., suffered terribly from frequent attacks of this painful disease, but he has been cured. He writes: "I was a martyr to rheumatism, and, although I tried many other remedies, I found nothing that relieved me like Perry Davis's Pain Killer." Other rheumatic martyrs may wisely take the hint.

The panic at Khartoum, Egypt, caused by the defeat of the Egyptians, is subsiding. It is not now believed that El Mahdi contemplates making an early advance on Khartoum from El Obeid. This is a big blunder for him to make. When he does advance he will meet a disciplined army instead of a panic-stricken rabble.

Purge out the lurking distemper that undermines health, and the constitutional vigor will return. Those who suffer from an enfeebled and disordered state of the system, should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla to cleanse the blood, and restore vitality.

The owners of the barkentine Fanny H. Loring, of Portland, Me., have given her up for lost, and suppose she went down in the gale of Nov. 9th and 10th, with her crew of ten men all told.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880. I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

Mrs. JULIA G. CUSHING.

In New London, Conn., Dec. 4th, was begun the trial of eight women charged with forcibly entering a schoolhouse at Wequetoquock, and with assaulting several men. The building was locked against them, and guarded by men, but the women broke in and held Sunday school services.

Dr. H. L. Bowker, Massachusetts State Assayer, purchased himself from several wholesale druggists the samples he analysed of "G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey. It cannot, therefore, be said that the samples were different from the article sold by Chester H. Graves & Sons, Boston. He pronounced it of remarkable purity and excellence. Buy it of your druggist or grocer.

Improving the Navy.

The following is the allusion to the navy by the president in his late message to Congress:

The secretary of the navy reports that under the authority of the acts of Aug. 5th, 1882, and March 3d, 1883, the work of strengthening our navy by the construction of modern vessels has been auspiciously begun. Three cruisers are in process of construction, the Chicago of 4,500 tons displacement, and the Boston and Atlanta, each of 2,500 tons. They are to be built of steel with the tensile strength and ductility prescribed by law, and in combination of speed, endurance and armament are expected to compare favorably with the best unarmored war vessel of other nations. A fourth vessel, the Dolphin, is to be constructed of similar material, and it is intended to serve as a fleet dispatch boat. The double turreted monitors Puritan, Amphitrite and Terror have been launched on the Delaware river, and a contract has been made for the supply of their machinery. A similar monitor, the Monadnock, has been launched in California. The naval advisory board recommend the secretary recommend the completion of the monitors, the construction of four gunboats, and also of three additional steel vessels like the Chicago, Boston and Dolphin, as an important measure of material defence. The secretary urges, also, the immediate creation of an interior coast line of water ways across the peninsular of Florida, along the coast from Florida to Hampton Roads, between the Chesapeake bay and the Delaware river, and through Cape Cod.

An attempt was made in a lonesome part of Bangor, Me., Dec. 3d, to abduct Mira Eldridge, a sixteen-year-old girl. The ruffian put his fingers in the girl's mouth to stop her screams, but was severely bitten. He then tried to choke her, but the girl's cries finally attracted the attention of two men, and the wretch fled. The police are now looking for him. The girl belongs to a good family.

"Peterson's Magazine" for January reaches us in advance, and is the most supero number we have seen of, this favorite lady's book. There are two beautiful steel-engravings: "In the Orchard," after a picture by Millais, and "Lost on the Alps," by the hardly less famous Riviere. In addition, there is a double-size fashion-plate, engraved and printed from steel, and colored by hand; an exquisite affair. "Peterson" is now the only magazine that gives these fashion-plates. But the gem of the number is a colored pattern for a border for a curtain, or a chair-stripe, etc., etc., perhaps the costliest single embellishment ever given in a fashion magazine; as the publisher says, it would alone cost fifty cents at retail. This is presented to every subscriber as a New Years gift. The price of this popular lady's-book is but two dollars a year, with great deductions to clubs, and valuable premiums to the person getting up the club. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for, to those desiring to get up clubs. Address "Chas. J. Peterson, 306 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, Pa."

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. of Boston have just published a new edition of the Portrait Catalogue of their publications. It embraces a list of the thousands of books they publish, under the names of the authors arranged alphabetically, and in many instances describes the books or gives their contents. It contains portraits of several of their distinguished authors—Aldrich, Hans Christian Andersen, Bjornsen, John Burroughs, Cooper, Dickens, Emerson, Fields, Bret Harte, Hawthorne, Holmes, Howells, James, Longfellow, Lowell, Owen Meredith, Scott, Scudder, Stedman, Mrs. Stowe, Bayard Taylor, Tennyson, Charles Dudley Warner, Mrs. Whitney, and Whittier. In addition to the works of the above-named authors, this catalogue comprises those of Agassiz, Bacon, the British poets from Chaucer to Wordsworth, Dr. John Brown, Browning, Carlyle, Alice and Phœbe Cary, James Freeman Clarke, Joseph Cook, Richard H. Dana, Jr., De Quincy, Goethe Sarah Orne Jewett, Starr King, Lucy Larcom, Mrs. Thaxter, Thoreau, George Ticknor, Whipple, Richard Grant White, and hundreds of others. This catalogue will be sent free to any one requesting it.

We have received "The Season" for December, which contains the usual quantity of useful information for ladies' costumes and needle work. This is the only magazine which confines all its space to fashions alone; its explanations are clear, and its illustrations profuse. Ladies should secure this number in order to obtain new ideas for Christmas gifts. Published by International News Co., New York; price thirty cents per number.

MEDICAL.

WHAT WILL convince you of the wonderful curative properties combined in Hood's SARSAPARILLA, if the remarkable cures that have been effected by its use fail to impress upon your mind this repeatedly proven fact? Thousands are using it, and all declare that it is a medicine possessing all and even more than we claim for it. My friend, if you are sick or in that condition that you cannot call yourself either sick or well, go and get a bottle of Hood's SARSAPARILLA, and realize yourself how this medicine hits the right spot, and puts all the machinery of your body into working order. WILL CONVINCE

From the Registrar of Deeds for Middlesex County, Northern District.

LOWELL, MASS.

MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO.: Gentlemen—It affords me much pleasure to recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. My health has been such that for some years past I have been obliged to take a tonic of some kind in the spring, and have never found anything that hit my wants as your Sarsaparilla. It tones up my system, purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite, and seems to make me over. Respectfully yours,

J. P. THOMPSON.

One of our prominent business men said to us the other day: "In the spring my wife got all run down and could not eat anything; passing your store I saw a pile of Hood's SARSAPARILLA in the window, and I got a bottle. After she had been taking it a week she had a raising appetite, and it did her everything. She took three bottles, and it was the best three dollars I ever invested."

May, A. W. Odiorne, Joseph B. Upham, Jr., Dr. Francis E. Langdon, Miss K. M. Haven; secretary and treasurer, Dr. James R. May; counsel, J. S. H. Frink; state agent, T. E. O. Marvin.

THE KITTERY TRAGEDY.

Counsel for Mrs. Barrows, now in the York county jail at Alfred, were not allowed to communicate with Blaney on Tuesday of this week, the sheriff, under the instruction of the county attorney, absolutely refusing an interview. Blaney's wife, who went to Alfred to see her husband the previous week, was also denied an interview.

Blaney it is said does not in any way vary from his first account of the affair given at Kittery—that is, from his first confession.

Mrs. Barrows has concluded that she has talked too much, and hereafter will be more reticent. The report on the 30th ult. that Mrs. Barrows had been liberated on bail, and arrested upon complaint while on her way home, was incorrect: no bail has been offered in her behalf, but should it be, she would no doubt be arrested and recommitted, and probably no attempt will be made to bail her. Her demeanor is as cool and unconcerned as ever, and no shadow of a suspicion that she had guilty knowledge of the crime confessed by Blaney would arise from an interview with her. She is a woman of great nerve, whatever else may be true of her.

John B. Donovan, Esq., of Biddeford, of counsel for Blaney, on Thursday last went before the supreme court judges, and procured an order for all the defendant's counsel to visit him whenever necessary.

The iron water tanks, sixteen in number, taken out of the ship Guard, were sent to Boston by rail this week, filling two platform cars. Some of them were in fair condition, while others were little more than masses of iron rust.

The steamer Three Brothers hauled through the draw of the Noble's island bridge on Thursday last, and made fast to the bridge pier for the winter.

Some slight changes have recently been made in the running time of the Kittery steamers. The corrected time-tables can be found elsewhere in this paper.

The Flying Yankee train on the Eastern railroad, due in this city from Portland about half-past seven o'clock on Thursday evening, broke an axle under a car between Wells and North Berwick, and its passengers, about one hundred in number, were brought forward by the Pullman train Friday morning. A wrecking train was sent out from Portland. The damage was slight.

Everything changes with time. All up and down this river there used to be seen large flocks of the tame mallard ducks; and a good variety it was, too, but the white duck has largely taken its place. Augustus Dixon, of Eliot Neck, has the largest flock of these birds on the Piscataqua, numbering about three hundred, all white, which he is getting ready for the local markets at Christmas time. Mr. Dixon also fattens large numbers of Canada-raised turkeys, a month of corn feeding making them equal in quality to those raised in York and Rockingham counties, which cannot be beaten.

The south pond was skimmed over with ice the first of this week, clear down to the bridge, and the ice was still remaining on Friday, though not strong enough to skate on at any time during the week. There was some skating over the very shoal water at the western end of the pond, and on the narrow creeks and ditches which make up into the marsh.

The schooner Satellite was lying at the draw of Portsmouth bridge on Friday, light, having just arrived from Boston; it was reported she was intending to haul up. There was also at the same time a coal schooner at the bridge, bound up the river to Dover.

It is now stated that the large schooner rigged steam yacht which came into this port early one morning this week, and left again after a brief stop, was on her way home to Bangor, Me., instead of to Florida, as before reported. She had started for Florida some days previously, with the owner and his family on board, but got no farther than Gloucester, Mass., when the party became discouraged at the rough weather they experienced, and turned back.

The old ship Guard, now transformed into a coal barge, registers 797 tons, and will carry 1500 tons or more of coal. The work on her is completed, and she does not not look bad at all. Her three lower masts have been left standing, and each has been fitted with a spencer, giving her sail enough to lie-to under in case she should at any time break adrift from a tow in bad weather. Her decks are pretty much all hatches. She has a quite powerful engine for hoisting, warping ship, picking up the anchors, and aiding in other heavy work; and altogether she seems well fitted for the trade in which she is to be placed.

The receipts of internal revenue for this district during the month of November were $29,669.75, against $21,355.62 for the corresponding month in 1882, an increase of $8,314.13.

Four hundred and twenty-three books were taken out of the public library last week.

The Times of Friday evening says "Officers Shannon and Turner have been reinstated."

Capt. Gayton, master of the British schooner Circassian, advertises for the owner of twenty-five barrels of petroleum picked up by the schooner off Cape Cod on the 4th inst. to prove ownership, pay charges and take away his property.

A large metalic buoy, lighted with compressed gas, was anchored on Sandy Hook shoals several months ago by the lighthouse board, as an experiment. The trial has been thoroughly successful thus far, the light being steady and very strong; and it is claimed that the light will last for nine months longer without the supply of gas in the buoy being renewed. Neither wind nor sea, nor both together, can extinguish the light; and the value of the invention for marking dangers off shore, such as Anderson's rock and White island ledge at the Shoals, or Boon island ledge, can hardly be overestimated.

Surveyors were engaged this week in laying out a road on the Jennison farm at Gerrish's island, Kittery, extending both ways from the Seawards road, so-called, the whole length of the farm. It is said the whole sea front of the farm is to be cut up into lots for summer cottages, every lot to abut on the road in the rear, and have its section of beach and an extended sea view in the front; and that the Messrs. Jennison will at once put up eight nice cottages, for sale, to be ready for occupation next season. There is no more available location for summer cottages all along the coast, than the beautiful stretch between Pocahontas point and Sea point on Gerrish's island; and the only wonder is that it was not utilized years ago, in preference to many places with far less natural and artificial advantages, which have become popular watering places.

The plans for the new hotel to be built at York beach have been given to contractors to figure on. The plans provide for a building 150 feet long, forty-two wide, and five stories high, with two towers on the sea front. A piazza will extend entirely around the building. The building is to be ready for occupancy next season.

Phineas D. Hoytt, an Eastern railroad employe, on Thursday evening stumbled over a rail in the freight yard of the station in this city, and dislocated his right shoulder.

Smelts are in the market, being brought from York river, and are of good size. In consequence of Great bay not being frozen over, it is not known whether the smelts are running there at present or not.

H., to Edgartown, Mass.; Dallas—from Mt. Desert, Me., to Cape Ann, Mass.; Dexter—from Edgartown through Long island sound to Whiteside point, going both inside and outside of Block island; Grant—from Block island along the outside of Long island to Delaware breakwater.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quantity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man! Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled, THE SCIENCE OF LIFE, OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decline of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Fifth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either sex, price of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1 25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is no doubt but that every married or single man can offer inquire or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be purchased elsewhere for three dollars, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Am. Eclectic.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can have much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chaps and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative resident with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsam, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians as absolutely pure and medicinally and highly medicinal. Sales 1-83 2 1,0 ,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents who have scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this be entirely potent, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore nothing but the pure blood and a healthy complexion, use the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment did me any good, and I did not any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES, my limbs were covered and I feared that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

Mrs. S. A. BROWN, Malden, Mass.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper and lower parts of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching so that most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement.

WIT AND HUMOR.

A medical student says he has never been able to discover the bone of contention, and desires to know if it isn't the jaw-bone.

"Wood is the thing after all," as the old man said when the mad dog bit a large splinter out of his wooden leg and got choked with it.

When you ask the old gentleman how his daughter is coming on, and he irascibly snaps back at you "well enough," take our advice and let well enough alone.

A young man in South Carolina, only 20 years of age, has been engaged nineteen times. It is seldom that a youth of his age has been the hero of so many narrow escapes.

Two new comets have made their appearance in the starry field, but they will not attract much attention, as it is getting too late for young people to sit on the front steps.

"How is the earth divided?" asked a pompous examiner, who had already worn out the patience of the class. "By earthquakes," replied one boy, after which the examiner found that he had enough of that class.

A lot of women voted in Binghamton, New York, the other day, and when their tickets were handed them they wanted to take them home and run a hem around the edges so they wouldn't ravel out. A woman knows lots about the ballot.

It was at the close of the wedding-breakfast. One of the guests arose, and, glass in hand, said: "I drink to the health of the groom—May he see many days like this." The intention was good, but the bride looked as if something had displeased her.

Literary: Wanted—A story of a burglary for ghosts in which the night is not very dark without, and the wind does not blow in fitful gusts, and the old oak in front of the house does not groan dismally. On receipt of such we agree to return the manuscript.

In setting a hen a farmer made a mistake and put a number of porcelain eggs under the fowl. She is doing the best she can, but her eyes have a far-away gaze, and she looks like a man who has just bitten off the end of a cigar and has no match.

Every subscriber for a country paper can do much for the paper by becoming a reporter for it. That would greatly help the editor in getting out a readable sheet. The trouble with the average subscriber is that he is not content with being a reporter. He wants to write the editorials.

It was a temperance meeting, and the speaker, with a smile of modesty, began: "Ladies and gentlemen, were I to talk lengthily upon this subject I would no doubt bore you. In a moment, however, a voice from the gallery was heard to retort, "Na fear, mister, you're no sharp enough for that."

"But can any one who has never reached man's estate feel the blighting agony of an error that the victim must understand alone?" asks a modern philosopher. No, respected sir; no person but the man who bursts his suspender-button in a crowded drawing-room can do that.

Women have tact always, and frequently a talent for making themselves agreeable to new acquaintances. A lady sojourning at a certain New England resort last summer was introduced to another lady who had registered from Cleveland. "So you are from Ohio, graciously commenced the former; "what is your husband a candidate for?"

A new taste in men and women—She: "What a fine-looking man Mr. O'Brien is!" He: "H'm—hah—rather rough-hewn, I think. Can't say that I admire that loud-laughing, strong-voiced, robust kind of a man. Now, that's a fine-looking woman he's talking to!" She: "Well—er—somewhat effeminate, you know. Confess I don't admire effeminate women!"

Ethel: "I can't see what Maud can see in that ungainly, awkward Capt. Heavitree." Madge: "My dear, it's becoming perfectly absurd. Only think, the gardener told the cook yesterday that he hoped the Captain would stay for another fortnight, for positively there was no necessity to roll the gravel walks while they kept perpetually promenading up and down!"

A man going home at a late hour in the night saw that the occupant of a house standing flush with the street had left a window up and he decided to warn them and prevent a burglary, putting his head into the window he called out: "Hello! good peop—" That was all he said. A whole pailful of water struck him in the face and as he staggered back a woman shrieked out: "Didn't I tell you what you'd get if you wasn't home by 9 o'clock?"

A young man who was desirous of marrying the daughter of a well-known merchant, after many attempts to broach the subject to the old gentleman, in a very stuttering manner commenced: "Mr. O——, are you willing to let me have your daughter Jane?" "Of course I am," gruffly replied the old man; "and I wish you could get some other likely fellows to marry the rest of them."

Out in Illinois they hadn't heard of the Java earthquake till a lightning-rod man came along and told it. Then they said they could stand a good deal of lying from one of his profession, but the idea that they'd believe that whole ranges of mountains had become a hole in the ground was an insult to them, and so they tarred and feathered him and ran him out of the region.

The other day old Dave received a telegram from a man down in the country who wanted him to come down and clean out his well. After someone had read the dispatch to the old man, he said: "De Lawd hab mussy on sich a man as I is. Gettin' more 'portant ebery day. Got a letter yestiday, an' now I'se dun got a spatch. Oh hub! When da kain't reach me wid a Post Office da stretches airter me wid de tillygraph wires."

A Williamsport, Pa., young lady was asked by her "feller" what she desired for Christmas. She said: "Call around for me Christmas morning and bring a minister with you." Two souls, two hearts.

Swift's Specific

Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which cured me outright and well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope any who doubt will write me here.

E. C. HAWES, JR., Clarksville, Ga.

After suffering twenty five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully recommend it to all similarly afflicted.

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a lurking SCROFULA in your system, Ayer's Sarsaparilla will dislodge it and expel it from your system.

For constitutional or secondary CATARRH Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the true remedy. It has cured hundreds of cases, and will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharges, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

"Hutto, Tex., Sept. 28, 1882.

ULCEROUS "At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with ulcerous running sores on its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore.

SORE EYES Physicians told us that a powerful alterative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendencies; and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results.

Yours truly, B. F. JOHNSON."

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clear and smooth. Pimples and Blotches, which mar your beauty, are caused by Impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Rheumatism? Why let the terrible Headache split your head? Why let your nerves jump? What makes you irritable, low-spirited, and good for nothing? Why do you wish that you were dead? Because you are bilious, and are out of order. Your nerves are all unstrung, and need a gentle, soothing tonic to assist nature to repair the damage which your excesses have caused. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap rum, or poor whiskey drink, to be sold by the glass, the other proportions will take the place of Doctors' Bills and Doctors, combined with the choicest TONIC OF SULPHUR BITTERS, which, in such proportions as to make it NATURE'S GREAT REMEDY.

SULPHUR Bitters

The Dose is small—only a Teaspoonful. It is the best and cheapest medicine. Try it and you will be satisfied. Get it of your druggist. DON'T WAIT. GET IT AT ONCE. A. P. ORDWAY & Co., Chemists, Sole Proprietors for U. S. & Canadas.

SULPHUR PLASTERS cure pain in the side. KAUFMANN'S PILLS do not gripe. 25 cents.

SHARP PAINS

Crick, Sprains, Wrenches, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, Pleurisy Pains, Stitch in the Side, Backache, Swollen Joints, Heart Disease, Sore Muscles. Pain in the Chest, and all pains and aches either local or deep-seated are instantly relieved and speedily cured by the well-known Hop Plaster. Compounded, as it is, of the medicinal virtues of fresh Hops, Gums, Balsams and Extracts, it is indeed the best pain-killing, stimulating, soothing and strengthening Porous Plaster ever made. Hop Plasters are sold by all druggists and country stores. 25 cents or five for $1.00. Mailed on receipt of price. Hop Plaster Co., Proprietors and Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

HOP PLASTER

☞ Coated tongue, bad breath, sour stomach and liver disease cured by Hawley's Stomach and Liver Pills, 25cts.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me.

Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

The Head and Eye.

Since last October I have suffered from acute inflammation in my nose and head—often in the night having to get up and inhale salt and water for relief. My eye has been twice, for a week at a time, so I could not see. I have used no end of remedies, also employed a doctor, who said it was impure blood—but I got no help. I used Ely's Cream Balm on the recommendation of a friend. I was faithless, but in a few days was cured. My nose now, and also my eye is well. It is wonderful how quick it helped me. Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. Only 50 cents a package.

Athens, Ga., Nov. 6, 1883.—I am averse on general principals to saying anything commendatory of proprietary articles, but there are a few on the market that force those of the profession who come in contact with the diseased and suffering to acknowledge their superiority. Among those I find Swift's Specific to rank high. One poor unfortunate requests me to tell you that he had long been a sufferer with terrible blood taint, and securing little if any relief from other treatment, finally resorted to Swift's Specific. He claims now that it has afforded him relief, that he feels that his blood is pure again and wishes me to express his deep obligations, with which I cheerfully comply. Yours respectfully,

Scrofula, Scrofulous Humor, Cancer, Cancerous Humor, Erysipelas, Canker, Salt Rheum, Pimples or Humor in the face, Coughs and Colds, Ulcers, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Pains in the Side, Constipation, Costiveness, Piles, Dizziness, Headache, Nervousness, Pains in the Back, Faintness at the Stomach, Kidney Complaints, Female Weakness and General Debility.

This preparation is scientifically and Chemically combined, and so strongly concentrated from roots, herbs, and barks, that its good effects are realized immediately after commencing to take it. There is no disease of the human system for which the VEGETINE cannot be used with PERFECT SAFETY, as it does not contain any metallic compound. For eradicating the system of all impurities of the blood it has no equal. It has never failed to effect a cure, giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease. Its wonderful effects upon the complaints named are surprising to all. Many have been cured by the VEGETINE that have tried many other remedies. It can well be called

The Great Blood Purifier.

Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness.

H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON:

I have been practising medicine for 25 years, and as a remedy for Scrofula, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Weakness, and all diseases of the blood, I have never found its equal. I have sold Vegetine for 7 years and have never had one bottle returned. I would heartily recommend it to those in need of a blood purifier.

The Old Men,s Home.

One of the most beneficent charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

—A country subscriber writes to us asking, "Do hogs pay?" We are not in business at the stock yards, but we have some on our subscription list that have not paid a cent in five years.—Exchange.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The purification of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

Secretary Chandler's Annual Report.

The report of Secretary Chandler of the navy devotes much space to the construction of new ships of war. The secretary indorses the report of the naval advisory board, and in addition advises the construction of one of the five steel rams recommended by the first advisory board, November 7th, 1881; and by the report of last year, of one cruising torpedo boat, at a cost of $380,000, advocated by the same board, and by the present board in its memorandum of Nov. 21, 1882; and of two of the ten harbor torpedo boats recommended by the first board, of the kind asked for in the ordnance report of this year.

He recommends the construction of seven additional unarmored steel cruisers, three of which should conform to the types already adopted, as represented by the Chicago, the Boston and the Dolphin. Of the other four, two should be heavily armed cruising gunboats of about 1500 tons displacement; these would be of the same size as the Dolphin, but constructed on a different plan because intended to supply a different want. In the Dolphin, which is designed for a specific purpose, actual fighting and working qualities are limited in order to obtain the maximum speed and endurance possible with her size, while in the proposed vessels the aim will be to secure the highest amount of efficiency for general service, both in peace and war.

He recommends the construction of two gunboats of about seven hundred and fifty tons displacement, and not more than nine feet draft. The estimated cost of the proposed types is as follows: Chicago, $1,295,000; Boston, $936,000; Dolphin, $482,000; heavy gunboat, $519,000; light gunboat, $269,000.

The total cost of the five vessels, one of each type, if built, will be $3,495,000, and adding the cost of two additional vessels of the last two types, the total cost of the seven vessels, aggregating 13,500 tons, will be $4,283,000.

In the police court at New Haven, Conn., Friday, Sarah Langdon, a notorious keeper of a house of ill-fame, was fined $100 and costs and sent to jail for six months, while an inmate of the house, Agnes Murray, alias Estelle Stewart, was fined $50 and costs and sent to jail for three months. In addition she was held for trial under bonds of $1,000 for enticing to the Langdon house Annie Welsh, aged twenty years, of New Britain, Conn., with intent to accomplish her ruin.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhœa, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs Winslow's Soothing syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. ed1jan1,84

MEDICAL.

PROBABLY NEVER

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon Hood's SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of Hoop's VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of Biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (average) doses. Sold by all druggists.

To the Holders of Certificates of Indebtedness.

THE Voting Register of Certificate-holders is now making up at the office of the Trustees, No. 23 Court street, Boston, Mass. The names of parties to whom certificates were originally delivered have been placed in the register. Any subsequent purchaser or holder desiring to register may do so by presenting at said office, to Mr. JOSHUA CRANE, a written statement of his name, address, and the denomination and number of each certificate held by him, or, if so required by the Trustees, on producing the certificate held by him, or a written order from the last registered holder.

In accordance with regulations fixed by the Trustees, the voting register will be closed on the fourth day of December, 1883, between which time and the Annual Meeting, on the second Wednesday of December, 1883, no registration will be made. Per order of the Directors.

YORK COUNTY COURTS.

At the Court of Probate for York county, holden at Alfred, Me., on Tuesday, the 4th inst., wills of the following-named persons were presented for probate: Betsey Brown of Alfred, Joseph B. Davis of Newfield, Paul H. Hayes of Lebanon, Moses Worster of Berwick, William Brown of South Berwick, Clarissa H. Jellison of Kennebunk.

Administration was asked upon the estates of the following-named persons: Ralph Hilton of Wells, Loammi Hill of Lyman.

Presented, accounts of estates of Frederick W. Bartlett (a minor) of South Berwick, Lucy F. Roberts of North Berwick, Thomas B. Smith of Acton, Thomas Witham of York, Rufus Knights of Waterboro, John W. Reed (a minor) of Newfield, Isaac N. Clifford of Biddeford, Anne Rourke (a minor) of Biddeford, William C. Waymouth of Sanford, Margaret Harmond of North Berwick, Emeline S. Parsons of York, Charles H. Rogers of Newfield, Isaac N. Ricker (a ward) of Lebanon, Mary E. Ricker (a ward) of Lebanon, Charles Moulton of Buxton, Anna P. Huff of Saco, John Strout of Limington, Mary J. Stuart of Saco.

Administration was granted on estates of Thomas Parcher of Waterboro, James Ladd of Saco, Samuel M. Burbank of Newfield, Oliver H. Lord of New London, N. H., Benjamin Bennett of Sanford, John Lord of North Berwick, Addison R. Stevens of Newfield.

Wills allowed: Mark Dennett of Kittery, Sarah Wells of Wells, John Wells of Wells, Annie H. Downs of Kennebunk, Sally Mooney of Berwick, Francis Chase of South Berwick, Lucy Haley of Alfred, Ezekiel True (foreign will) of Rochester, New Hampshire.

In the Court of Insolvency on Monday, the 5th inst.,—

Frank A. Sawyer, of Biddeford, was adjudged an insolvent, and a warrant ordered to issue.

First meeting of creditors was held in the case of Susan J. Tukey of Old Orchard; Cheever assignee.

In the case of the Springvale Mills, denial of insolvency was filed by counsel for the corporation, Hon. Wm. L. Putnam, and the hearing on the adjudication was adjourned to the January term at Saco. An adjustment of its affairs is in progress by the parties in this case, which comes into court upon the petition of creditors.

Examinations of debtors Wm. E. Lowell of Saco and Erastus Hilton of Wells were ordered for this term; that of Lowell was not finished, but continued to be finished before the Register, and Hilton's was adjourned to the January term at Saco.

All Probate and Insolvency courts in this county for January and February will be held in Saco.

ROLLER SKATING.

At the Franklin hall skating rink, this evening, Miss Mabel F. Sylvester will give exhibitions of fancy skating. This young lady recently appeared in Biddeford, and the Times of that city next day said she "performed wonderful feats in both trick and fancy skating. It is safe to say that she is far in advance of any and all professional skaters who have appeared in these parts. * * Mr. Macomber deserves the thanks of the community for his endeavors in giving his patrons the privilege of witnessing the remarkable exploits of this wonderful skater." Admission twenty cents; skate checks ten cents.

An extra train will leave this city for Boston on Wednesday morning, at twenty minutes past seven o'clock, for the accommodation of the stock and bondholders who wish to attend the annual meeting of the Eastern railroad. See advertisement.

Mr. Albion S. Carroll, who lives on Jones avenue, has for sale the modern explosives, dynamite, giant powder and atlas powder, with electric firing-apparatus if required. Mr. Carroll contracts for any kind of brick or stone mason work, or the removal of ledges, etc., making a speciality of out-of-town work. During the late summer he smashed several ledges in York, where they interfered with builders' purposes; and he also finished the blasting of a sewer through the hard ledge in Commercial alley in this city, recently completed. He is now working for Mr. Samuel Longdon on Lafayette road, removing an ugly-looking ledge from the field opposite his house; several grades of giant powder are being used, as the ledge is found to run in streaks of different degrees of hardness.

If persons driving across the railroad tracks on the Noble's island bridge, where the tracks cross the highway at an acute angle, would be a little more careful, and so guide their horses as to cross the tracks as nearly at right angles as possible, it would prevent the "springing" of very many wheels and some axles.

The schooner Royal Arch, of Boston, Crowell master, a three-masted schooner of 422 tons register, arrived at this port on the 6th inst. from Philadelphia with a cargo of coal, and hauled alongside the Concord railroad wharf. On the 7th she was seized by the United States marshal for this district, on libels filed by the late captain of the brig O. C. Clary, by the mate and owners of the brig, and the owners of her cargo. The brig was an old vessel of 236 tons, built at Camden, Me., in 1855, and was owned in Portland; and it is charged that she was sunk off Cape May, N. J., recently, while on the passage to Providence, R. I., with a cargo of coal, by collision with the Royal Arch. The libel is returnable on Thursday of this week before the United States District court in this city.

The French Canadian, Anselme Onellette, before reported as having got off the train at Dover while on his way to Newmarket with his family, Nov. 29th, turned up in Newmarket on Wednesday morning, the 5th inst. He reported that he had slept under cover but two nights out of the six he had been absent, the others having been spent in travelling; he is unable to speak a word of English, and cannot tell what towns he visited or how far from Newmarket he managed to get.

At the Eureka pool rooms Mr. Preble has quite a museum and menagerie, including some rats with white bodies and black heads and tails, which are very tame, and decidedly popular with the habitues of the rooms. One of these rats has ten young ones, which have just got their eyes open; they are comical-looking little creatures, about half as big as a man's thumb.

On Saturday last Stacy G. Bragdon of Biddeford, about twenty years old, son of C. H. Bragdon, started in a boat on a gunning excursion down the Saco river, and shortly afterward the boat was found on the beach at the narrows, with the young man's dead body beside it. He had evidently been shot through the breast with his own gun, one barrel of which it is supposed was accidentally discharged as he was taking the weapon from the boat.

The U. S. S. Tallapoosa, Lieut. John F. Merry commanding, arrived at the Boston navy yard on Friday, from the Portsmouth yard, to take on board a cargo of goods for distribution to the several naval stations between Boston and Washington. Ensign C. H. Tappan, of the Tallapoosa, was sent to the naval hospital for treatment.

The little fishing schooner "I Am Here," which drove ashore on Star island, Isles of Shoals, several weeks ago, while at anchor in the roads, and sank in deep water close to the shore, was still there last week, sitting nearly upright on the bottom, with her masts yet in position, and the hull apparently in good condition; but it was thought an easterly blow would break her up. It is reported that $100 was subscribed in Rockport, Mass., to aid the captain in getting his boat raised. Capt. Josiah Haley on Wednesday of last week succeeded in recovering two anchors and chains, of the three she had out when she dragged on the rocks.

The schooner Ida L. Howard, towed into this port several weeks ago by a fishing schooner, having sprung a leak while on the way from Bangor to Boston with a load of lumber, started again for Boston on Friday last, having effected temporary repairs on the beach in the lower harbor.

The Haley house on Smuttynose island, Shoals, has been hired for the winter by Mr. Rufus Preble of Newcastle, who it is said will engage in lobstering and fishing.

Change Your Drink, Boys.

Captain W. L. Green, keeper of the life-saving station at Long Branch, New Jersey, reports to the general superintendent of the service, under date of November 24th, that five of his crew who were fishing in the ocean a few days before, saw a hideous sea serpent a short distance from their boats. According to the story told by the crew "the serpent was fully ninety or 100 feet long and thirty feet wide, and we did not see his entire length." They also say that "there were two blow holes about nine feet long and two feet wide about twenty feet from the end of his nose. The body was black, the head was short, and near the nose were two stubby horns." Capt. Green adds that the serpent was also seen from the station, making its appearance on the surface at intervals of ten minutes. He closes his report with the remark that "this is the truth."

This story is a startling commentary on the quality of the supplies which New Jersey fishing parties take with them. Amateur fishermen in New England are often able to see snakes a hundred feet long, when real fishermen can't see a mackerel; but no New England beverage yet invented will supply a fish one hundred feet long with two blowholes "nine feet long and two feet wide;" any fish to work such a pair of blowholes as those would need to measure at least 600 feet on the keel.

A five-story building with a freestone front on Congress street, Boston, and a freestone and brick front on Federal street, was damaged to the amount of $35,000 on Saturday morning, the tenants of the building suffering about $65,000 more, the Standard Paper Bag Co. losing $18,000 to $20,000. The Exeter Machine Works had about $5000 worth of blowers and other articles on the lower floor of the Federal street side, and suffered to the amount of about $1500, mostly from water. Frank Jones & Co., and Jones & Cooke, proprietors of the Bay State Brewery Depot, who occupied the first floor and basement of No. 147 Congress street, were uninsured; their principal loss was on their store fixtures, valued at $3000; the stock consisted mostly of barrels of beer, which were floating around in the water with which the cellar was flooded, but received no damage.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

BEAUTY SOAP

To keep the pores open, the oil glands and tube active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes resulting of infancy, to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chapped and rough ness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsa, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1st-3 1, 0 ,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE [illegible] misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a legacy to children by parents who have been scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin and shapely limbs, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were in such condition that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED. I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, M. in, Mich.

Letters From Senator Jacobs.

SENATE CHAMBER.
Albany, N. Y., March 31st, 1882.

For a long time it has been my habit to use Brandreth's Pills. In fact, I have seldom had occasion to use any other medicine, and it affords me great pleasure to say that for Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and the other ills of the system, to which men in public life are more apt than others to be subject, they are an invaluable remedy. JOHN C. JACOBS.

For Constipation, Indigestion, Foul stomach, Dizziness and Headache, no medicine equals "Brandreth's Pills." Pure and simple, containing no mercury, they are the family medicine-chest and safe-guard.

—It is a singular and unfortunate thing that people who "didn't know the gun was loaded" never shoot themselves. They're always sure to kill somebody who is of some use to the world.

From the Proud Standpoint

of superior "style" the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical short comings of her rustic female cousin. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses Sozodont, and the metropolitan belle does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

Ladies of Seville at a Bull Fight.

Charles Dudley Warner's humorous account in the November Century of a fashionable bull fight at Seville (illustrated by Blum) describes the ladies in attendance as follows: "The ladies of Spain, except in some remote towns in the mountain regions, have laid aside the national costume, and dress according to the dictates of Paris, preferring even the French fans to their own decorated with the incidents of the bull fight and the serenade. In Seville, the black lace mantilla is still worn at church, and to some extent on the street; but the hat is the cover of the new fashion, more's the pity, and the high combs have gone altogether. I do not know why a woman, even a plain woman, should be so utterly fascinating in a mantilla, thrown over a high comb and falling gracefully over the shoulders, stepping daintily in high heeled shoes with pointed toes, and moving her large fan with just that nonchalant air so accurately calculated to wound but not to kill. In the whole assembly I saw only one or two national costumes; the mantilla and the high comb, with the short petticoat, brilliant in color. Nothing could be more becoming, and it makes one doubt whether woman's strongest desire is to please, and whether it is not rather to follow the fashion, when we see a whole nation abandon such a charming attire.

"But the white mantilla is de rigueur for a bull fight, and every lady wore one. It was a little odd to see ladies in the open light of a brilliant, cloudless day, and in the gaze of the public, in full (as it is called) costume of the ball room; but the creamy white mantillas softened wonderfully the hot brilliant display, and threw over the whole the harmony of subdued splendor. What superb Spanish lace, blonde, soft, with a silken luster, falling in lovely folds that show its generous and exquisitely wrought figures, each leaf and stem and flower the creation of dainty fingers! Such work as this, of such a tone and fineness, in such large mantillas, sweeping from the head to the train, is scarcely to be found in the shops nowadays. These were heirlooms—great-great-grandmother's lace, long yellowing, and growing rich in locked chests, worn only on state occasions, and now brought forth to make a bull's holiday.

"We spent a good deal of the waiting time in scrutinizing the packed seats for beautiful women, and I am sorry to say, with hardly a reward adequate to our anxiety. I am not sure how much the beauty of the women of Seville is traditional. They have good points. Graceful figures are not uncommon, and fine teeth; and dark, liquid, large eyes, which they use perpetually in œillades destructive to peace and security. And the fan, the most deadly weapon of coquetry, gives the coup de grace to those whom the eyes have wounded. But the Seville women have usually sallow, pasty, dead complexions. Perhaps the beauty of the skin is destroyed by cosmetics, for there was not a lady at the bull fight who was not highly rouged and powdered. This gave an artificiality to their appearance en masse. Beauty of feature was very rare, and still rarer was that animation, that stamp of individual character, loveliness in the play of expression, and sprightliness, that charm in any assembly of American women. No, the handsome women in the ring were not numerous enough to make any impression on the general mass, and yet the total effect, with the blonde lace, the artificial color, the rich toilet, and the agitation of fans, was charming."

The Polar Hare.

Far away to the north of us stretches a land white with snow during most of the year, where bleak winds in unobstructed fury sweep over deserted wastes; where night hangs like a sombre cloud for months and months unbroken, and where the crystal mountains called icebergs are born. There is the home of the polar hare. There, where man aimlessly wanders in a vain search for food or shelter, this dainty creature thrives.

Strangely enough, however, it sometimes happens that men are overtaken by starvation in the midst of numbers of polar hares. This is because the little creature has a peculiarity which makes it difficult for the inexperienced hunter to shoot it.

When approached it seems to have no fear at all, but sits up, apparently waiting for the coming hunter. Just, however, as the probably hungry man begins to finger the trigger of his gun and to eat in anticipation the savory stew, the hare turns about and bounds actively away to a safe distance, and once more rising on its haunches, sits with a provoking air of seeming unconsciousness until the hunter is again nearly within gun-shot, when it once more jumps away.

Notwithstanding, however, the apparent impossibility of approaching near enough to the hare to shoot it, there is in reality a very simple way to accomplish it. The plan is practiced by the natives, who no doubt have learned it after many a hungry failure. It consists in walking in a circle around the animal, gradually narrowing the circle until within the proper distance. Simple as this plan is, it is so effective that, with care, the hunter may get within fifty yards of the hare, which seems completely bewildered by his circular course.

Perhaps the sad story of the heroic suffering and final loss of Captain De Long and his brave comrades might never have had to be told, had it not been for their probable ignorance of a matter of no more importance than this of how to shoot a polar hare. When they left their ship, the "Jeannette," they took with them only rifles, thinking, no doubt, that they would fall in with only such large game as bears, reindeer, and wolves.

As a matter of fact, such large animals were very scarce, while ptarmigan, a species of grouse, were plentiful, and would have supplied food in abundance to the whole brave band had there been shotguns with which to shoot them. As it was, the rifles brought down but few of the birds, and thus, in the midst of comparative plenty, the brave fellows starved.—John R. Coryell, in St. Nicholas.

A WORD CONCERNING THE LOUISIANA STATE LOTTERY.

In view of the recent unwarranted attacks made upon the honesty, integrity and fair dealing of "The Louisiana State Lottery," and the many doubts expressed as to the drawing and payment of prizes by this institution, we deem it but simple justice to make this voluntary statement regarding our dealings and experiences with the company, and to certify to the fact of having drawn and having been paid in full the prizes opposite our respective names.

These prize tickets were purchased of COL. B. FRANK MOORE, formerly of New York, but now of Chicago, to whose honest, straightforward, conscientious manner of conducting business, we bear willing testimony.

He never made a statement not absolutely true; never made a promise not strictly fulfilled, in connection with, and relative to the operations of "The Louisiana State Lottery." He never encouraged to purchase of tickets by parties who are unable to take the risk or lose the amount of investment. On the contrary, he tells you not to invest if you haven't the money to lose, and certainly where there is no compulsion there should be no complaint if the investor fails to draw a prize.

As to the "viciousness and immorality" of Lotteries, we leave the world to judge. We are simply dealing in facts.

"Fiat justitia ruat coelum."

These prizes were promptly paid on presentation of the tickets at the home office in New Orleans, which establishes beyond question the integrity and good faith of the company.

SULPHUR BITTERS

THE BEST AND GREATEST MEDICINE

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in a short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier, SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with boils, fly-specks and other eruptions, when a few bottles will make you smooth and healthy? Why suffer with that terrible headache? Why toss all night with that terrible pain in the back, and that feeling as if your back would break? Why groan with rheumatism? Why have that horrid cough? Your nervous system is unstrung, and need gentle, soothing tonic to assist nature, to regain its due strength. Your appetite is poor, your food does you no good, you are constipated, your liver is torpid, your blood is impure, your whole system is out of order, and you need a good, old-fashioned, honest medicine, such as SULPHUR BITTERS is to assist nature to regain its due strength. Sulphur Bitters is not a cheap, glaring, flashy, worthless preparation, but is a good, old, reliable medicine, composed of the purest and most valuable medicinal ingredients, combined with the Extracts of Roots, Herbs and Barks, which are known to be the most powerful and healthy tonic and alterative in the world. Sulphur Bitters is a powerful stimulant, and is recommended by the faculty for its medicinal properties as a tonic, alterative, and stimulant. Sulphur Bitters is a powerful tonic

The Old Men's Home.

One of the most beneficent charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

Francis J. Parmenter, fifty-two years old, of Providence, R. I., a dealer in fuel, was found dead in a horse's stall in his barn on Saturday night, with his skull crushed in. Murder is suspected, though it is possible he may have been trampled on by the horse.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The purification of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

A new steam sawmill was started up for the first time last Thursday morning, in Branchville, Va. In the afternoon the boiler exploded, wrecking the building and scalding six men, four of them fatally.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

The captain, mates and four seamen of the barque Benefactress, of Greenock, Scotland, were landed in New York on the 9th inst. by the steamship State of Pennsylvania, which took them from the wreck as she was breaking up. Fifteen of the barque's crew left her in the long boat previously, against the captain's advice.

Lokoni, Ark., October 26, 1883.—For the sake of the balance of mankind who may be suffering, I wish to give you my experience with one of your Georgia remedies. I have been afflicted with scrofula for more than twelve years—have had sores on me as large as a man's hand for that length of time, and last summer was so bad off that I could not wear any clothing. Everybody, including myself, had given me up to die, and said I would be a dead man in three months. I had taken hundreds of bottles of all kinds of medicines, had spent hundreds of dollars with physicians and had ruined my system with mercury and potash, when a friend told me of the wonderful cures made by Swift's Specific. I got it and began its use, and soon found it was just what I wanted. In a short time it cured me sound and well. Thousands of dollars could not buy from me what Swift's Specific has done for me. The county officials, and in fact everybody in the country will bear witness to what I have written, for I was a well-known case. Yours respectfully,

R. L. High.

Enlarging the Scope of the Navy.

In his late report, Secretary Chandler of the navy department again urges the adoption of his pet scheme for enlarging the duties and powers of his department, and renews his recommendation that the navy should be employed to perform all the work of the national government upon or in direct connection with the ocean. This includes the lighthouse department, the coast survey, the revenue marine, and the life-saving service. It proposes the transfer to the navy department of the cruising cutters, their officers and seamen, excepting the harbor boats used by the inspectors of customs, which do not require a special corps of officers; the organization of the officers as a revenue marine corps in the navy, upon a footing similar to that of the present naval officers, and the gradual employment of junior officers of the navy in this service, as vacancies occur, at the bottom of the list.

Possibly the lighthouse department and coast survey might be transferred from the treasury to the navy department without prejudice to their efficiency or increase in their running expenses; but, as far as the lighthouse service is concerned, we doubt it. Our lighthouse service is not only the most extensive in the world, but the best; and the introduction of any larger amount of naval red tape than is at present used in it we do not believe would add to its value in any way. The transfer of the life-saving service to the navy department would result in making a byword of what is now the most admirable, effective and economically-managed life-saving service in existence.

As to the "organization of the officers as a revenue marine corps in the navy," that would do well enough up to a certain point. If any class of public servants is worthy of enjoying the extremely liberal pension advantages of the naval "retired list," it is the officers of the revenue marine service, whose duties are [illegible] those of the naval officers, and demand a proficiency in seamanship which a large proportion of naval officers never obtain. As to the gradual employment of junior officers of the navy in this service, by their appointment at the bottom of the list as vacancies occur, that also would do if only the best men were appointed, and if, once appointed, they were ever after retained in this special service; but it will be a bad day for the efficiency of the revenue marine when its commanding positions are filled by ordinary naval officers, whose only experience as seamen is gained on an occasional pleasure cruise in a government yacht.

"Littell's Living Age" for 1884. For forty years the Living Age has been published with uninterrupted success, and has enabled its readers, at small expense of time and money, to keep pace with the literary progress of the age. Frequent in issue, and unequalled among periodicals in amount of matter, it furnishes an unrivalled compilation of a great and growing literature which embraces the productions of the most eminent living writers in all departments of literary and scientific work. And as this literature grows year by year in extent and importance, the Living Age becomes more and more valuable. Filling the place of many periodicals, it can hardly be dispensed with by any American reader who desires a thorough compendium of the best literature and thought of the time. Its prospectus for 1884 is commended to the attention of all who are selecting their reading-matter for the new year. Reduced clubbing rates with other periodicals are given, and to new subscribers remitting now for the year 1884 the intervening weekly numbers are sent gratis. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

About two years ago several hundred migratory quail brought from Italy were turned loose in the vicinity of Biddeford, in the hope that they would multiply, and add another variety to the game birds of the country. Recently the papers of Biddeford suggested that the experiment had proved a total failure, so far as that part of York county is concerned, none of the birds having been seen this year, though a few were reported the first year after they were liberated; but on Friday last a cat caught one in the outskirts of the city, showing conclusively that at least one bird of the species had remained alive in the vicinity up to that date.

The Annisquam mill at Rockport, Mass., was burned Sunday; loss $400,000, with $300,000 insurance. The storehouse, containing 400 bales of cotton, was saved.

The jewelry store of S. D. Bacon & Co., under the Quincy House, Boston, was burglarized some time between Saturday night and Sunday morning, and valuables to the amount of $9000 stolen from the safe.

A large saw and grist mill at Wells, owned by Hon. James N. Buffum, was burned at one o'clock Sunday morning, it is supposed by an incendiary fire. Loss $10,000; insured.

The New York Evening Post records a laughable incident of Lord Coleridge's visit to this country. The chief justice was entertained at dinner one evening by a local magnate of a western New York city. The caterer furnished the refreshments and the china on which they were served, which, by the way, was a new and beautiful hand-painted set. During the course of the dinner it is related that Lord Coleridge said to his charming hostess: "You will excuse the comment, but I really must compliment you on the exquisite beauty of your china." My lady calmly appropriated the compliment, and gracefully replied: "Thank you, my lord. It is used for the first time in your lordship's honor." Then the dinner moved on to a successful close. Judge of his lordship's surprise when, at a breakfast given next morning by a legal luminary, he was confronted with the same beautiful set of china. But his surprise was augmented when, on the following day, the banquet in his honor, given in a rival city ninety miles away, was graced with the hand-painted china "used for the first time in his lordship's honor."

MEDICAL.

PROBABLY NEVER

In the history of proprietary medicines has any article met success at home equal to that which has been poured upon Hood's SARSAPARILLA. Why, such has been the success of this article, that nearly every family in whole neighborhoods have been taking it at the same time. Every week brings new evidence of the wonderful curative properties of this medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Combines the BEST Remedies of the vegetable kingdom, and in such proportion as to derive their greatest medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. In fact this preparation is so well balanced in its action upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the circulation of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, that can hardly be credited by those who have not seen the remarkable results that have followed its use. If the Sarsaparilla does not prove sufficiently laxative, take a few doses of HOOD'S VEGETABLE PILLS. It is well in all cases of biliousness to take these pills in connection with the Sarsaparilla for the first ten days. That dull, sleepy, sick feeling can be wholly overcome by the use of these remedies. Will you give them a trial and be yourself again?

An ex-alderman of this city says of Hood's Sarsaparilla, "It is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw."

Each dollar bottle contains one hundred (averages) doses. Sold by all druggists.

POLICE COURT--BATCHELDER, J.

MONDAY, Dec. 10th.

Samuel Reed, a fisherman, was fined $5, costs $6.90, for drunkenness, and paid it.

Philip McGowen, a sailor belonging to one of the coasting schooners now in port, was up for drunkenness. His face looked as though it had come several times in violent collision with some hard substance, which was explained by the statement that he followed a respectable young girl on the street, and at the door of her home was met by her two brothers, who proceeded to bang the pursuer and carry him to the police station. A find of $5, with $5.76 costs, was imposed; county farm in default of payment.

Patrick Quinlan, regular customer, was before the court on the usual charge, drunkenness, and was assessed the usual amount, $9.90, which he will pay in the usual way, by boarding it out at Brentwood.

GOSSIPS SAY

That Mr. Whalley, the superintendent of the Portsmouth Machine Works, purchased in Boston last Saturday an iron-planing machine for the new shop, weighing 28,000 lbs.

That Aleck Robinson, Jr., of this city, has been admitted to the Institute of Technology in Boston.

That the new Western Union telegraph building on Daniel street will be ready for occupancy Jan. 1st.

That lobsters of good size are being taken in traps outside the harbor in considerable quantities.

That a large flock of sheep are being wintered at the Goodwin farm, Gerrish's Island.

That work at the Portsmouth Shoe Factory is more brisk at the present time than for some months past.

That the manager of the Jennison farm at Kittery Point is authority for the statement that the compass used by the surveyors in laying out lots on that farm would not work owing to the abundance of iron in the rocks and ledges on the island.

That a seaside mine would be a bran new idea.

That the yacht Truant and the pleasure boat White Cap are hauled up for the winter at the old ferry way at Kittery.

That yellow hammers, robins and blue jays are still to be found in our woods in large numbers.

That some very elaborate and handsome aprons have been made by the young ladies who will participate in the apron-and-necktie party at Congress hall this evening.

That many of our people will witness the picturesque scene presented on the floor, from the cosy and comfortable gallery, a large number of tickets having already been sold.

TEAM COLLISIONS.

There was considerable travelling up and down on Market street, Monday afternoon, a large proportion of the teams being from across the river. Between three and four o'clock there were two accidents, but a few minutes apart. In the first instance a wagon containing two men had a wheel taken off near Pryor & Matthews' store, by collision with another team; the men were not thrown out, and their horse, which started to run, was almost immediately stopped. Directly afterward a horse started to run from in front of Garrett's store, going toward Market square, but soon struck a heavy two-horse wagon going in the other direction; both shafts of the one-horse wagon were broken and the vehicle otherwise demoralized, and the horse stopped, by the collision. No person was hurt by either of these accidents.

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICE.

We are glad to note an improvement in the receipt of the New York mails. Formerly the mail which left New York in the morning, being due in Boston at 1:55 via the New York & New England railroad, and seldom arriving on time, was taken to the Boston post-office, distributed, and thence sent to the various stations, so that frequently the connection with trains on the Eastern at 3:15 and the Boston & Maine at 3:30 P. M., was missed. By direction of the superintendent of the New England mail service persons living east of Boston will now receive their mail matter with more punctuality, as the mail made up in the car of the New York road is sent direct to the Eastern, the Boston & Maine and the Fitchburg railway stations, without the delay of being sent to and handled in the Boston office. The only wonder is that such a proper mode of expediting the transmission of mail matter was not adopted years ago. But let us be grateful that the suggestions of the Chronicle have been heeded by the officials of the post-office department. Residents on the lines of the Eastern and Boston & Maine railroads will be greatly accommodated by this improved arrangement.

THE NORTH POND NUISANCE.

Mr. Editor: Notwithstanding the citizens of Portsmouth many months ago voted almost unanimously in favor of abating the north millpond nuisance, the most odoriferous scents, far surpassing those of Cologne, continue to be emitted from that celebrated sheet of water—water and other ingredients. Last summer a little steam yacht was placed in action there, but only succeeded in stirring up the smells still worse. The gates at the bridge have been much left open of late, except when the country people were graciously permitted to have a little corn ground, thus exposing the flats, which when the sun shines on them do not cease to exhale a malaria. On Friday a force of city employes put in an appearance, it was said for the purpose of removing the gates; whether that purpose was carried out I am not informed. To cap the climax, the residium of the gasoline used in the manufacture of gas is emptied into the pond, and floating on the surface of the water, smells worse than the slop; added to which, it is reported that other gas works are to be erected by the Portsmouth Machine Co., which will tend to intensify matters still further. The $500 per annum paid by this gem of a city to the Eastern railroad corporation for the use of the water of the pond, is worse than thrown away; it amounts to a total bonus of $2500 to the railroad, for what was not worth a cent to the road and is worth less to the city. And eventually heroic measures, by the building of a drain and the clearing out of the pond, will have to be resorted to, or the neighbors will have to vacate the premises. Boys' play is of no use there.

OLFACTORIES.

Elvin Newton has commenced buying fish on Water street. On Saturday he received 12,000 frozen herring by rail from Boston, they having arrived there from Eastport by water.

Mr. Michael Burke, formerly of this city and at one time a compositor in the Times office, but for about two years past a resident of Boston, died in the Boston city hospital on Saturday last of disease of the heart.

The many friends of Mr. G. Alexander Emery, the chiropodist, will be glad to learn that his eyesight has been almost entirely restored, and that he will shortly resume business among us again. He has just undergone a secondary course of treatment at the Boston Eye & Ear Infirmary, which has been successful in every way.

The schooner Emma F. Angell, Tripp master, arrived at this port on Monday from Baltimore with coal to J. Albert Walker. She is a ship in point of size, and brought in 1298 tons of black diamonds—the largest schooner-load ever received at this port.

Mr. John Leach was struck on top of the head and severely bruised, Saturday, by a lump of coal which fell upon him while at work in the hold of a vessel at the Concord railroad wharf.

Miss Cora L. Grant, youngest sister of Rev. Eugene M. Grant, formerly of this city, died at Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 4th. She had been an invalid for years.

The Manchester Union announces the dissolution of the copartnership for several years existing between Stephen W. Clarke and J. E. Dixon, jewellers, both formerly of this city, Mr. Dixon retiring from the firm on account of failing health.

In South Newmarket, Thanksgiving eve, two tramps attempted to force an entrance into the house of Mrs. Ephraim Hill, tearing off a blind and breaking several panes of glass, about midnight. Two of Mrs. Hill's neighbors, George and Samuel Tarlton, caught the fellows and took them to Newmarket, where they were held for trial in a higher court; they were half drunk when they committed the offence.

A large lot of old railroad ties have been gathered on the line of the Concord & Portsmouth railroad, and piled near Holmes' steam grist mill near the C. & P. R. R. station in Greenland, to be used in firing the boiler for the engine at the mill.

George Edgerly, a young man of Epping, died on Wednesday of last week from the effects of a wound in the leg, inflicted several weeks before by the slipping of a knife with which he was whittling.

The schooner Railroad, of Castine, Me., which recently ran down and sank the fishing schooner Emily Holder of Cape Porpoise, a few miles off the latter named port, has been libelled for damages, it being claimed that the Railroad was wholly in fault for the collision, as she was running free, while the Emily Holder was sailing close to the wind and on the starboard tack. It is more than likely that the true cause of the collision was a careless lookout on both vessels.

In Lowell, Mass., Thursday, Wm. Hobbs, a lumber dealer in North Carolina, was united in marriage to Miss Lizzie R. Hill, daughter of Wm. Hill of Eliot. They start for the south at once.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES--LOWELL J.

In case New Hampshire Land Co. vs. Tilton and others, the defendants rested their case on Saturday, the 8th inst., and the plaintiffs resumed on Monday. One of the jurors, whose wife's mother had died, sought to be excused for Tuesday, that he might attend the funeral. Counsel seemed not inclined to agree to go on with the trial with a panel of eleven. The granting the request would cause great delay and cost to the parties, but the counsel were of course quite willing that the juror should be allowed to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of his wife's deceased mother; accordingly the session on Monday afternoon was adjourned to Wednesday, when the trial will proceed and probably take all of the week.

The Best Baking Powder.

The best baking powder is made from pure Cream of Tartar, Bicarbonate of Soda, and a small quanity of flour or starch. Frequently other ingredients are used, and serve a purpose in reducing the cost and increasing the profits of the manufacturer.

We give the Government Chemist's analyses of two of the leading baking powders:

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Flour.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar,
Bicarbonate of Soda,
Carbonate of Ammonia,
Tartaric Acid,
Starch.

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

NOTE.—The Tartaric acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D

NEW YORK, Jan'y 17th, 1881.

The above analyses indicate a preference for "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," and our opinion is that it is the better preparation.—Hall's Journal of Health.

MANHOOD

KNOW THYSELF.

A Book for Every Man!

Young, Middle-aged and Old.

THE untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt these assertions should purchase the new and revised edition published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION. Exhausted vitality, nervous and Physical debility, premature decay of man, or vitality impaired by the errors of youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

Fifth edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings, and more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either sex, and which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.50; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION

Is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published. There is nothing whatever that the married or single can ever require or wish to know but what is fully explained.—[London Lancet.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION.

Is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the money, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—[Am. Star.

N. B.—YOUNG and MIDDLE AGED MEN can save much time, suffering and expense by reading the Science of Life, or conferring with the author, who may be consulted on all diseases requiring skill and experience. Address

BEAUTY SOAP

TO keep the pores open, the oil glands and tubes active, and thus furnish an outlet for impurities in the perspiration and blood which cause humiliating blotches, blackheads, and minor skin blemishes especially of infants; to cleanse, whiten and beautify the skin, remove tan, freckles, sunburn, and oily matter; to keep the hands soft, white and free from chaps and roughness, prevent contagious skin and scalp diseases, and to provide an exquisite skin beautifier and toilet, bath and nursery sanative redolent with delicious flower odors and CUTICURA healing balsam, use the CUTICURA SOAP. Indorsed by physicians and chemists as absolutely pure and highly medicinal. Sales 1881-2 1,600,000 cakes.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

Misery, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents is neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of this hereditary poison, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, itching tortures, humiliating eruptions, and loathsome scrofulous sores, caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment cured me. I despaired of ever being free from my disease. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and tender that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

MRS. A. BROWN, Malden, Mass.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper parts of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I have used blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used carelessly and irregularly, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make all this to the truth of this statement.

My Wife Said

to me last night: How much do you suppose we have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year. I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars worth of Sulphur Bitters has kept health in our family. L. Andrews, 12 Bowdoin St., Boston.

The schooner Sultana, with fourteen men; the Maud F. Leighton, with twelve men; and the Ruth Groves, with twelve men, all belonging to the Gloucester fishing fleet, have been given up by their owners, and are supposed to have foundered in the gale of Nov. 12th and 13th. The Hattie M. Chester and John McDonough, previously given up, carried fifteen men each. A sixth schooner, the Rutherford B. Hayes, had been five weeks absent on the 5th inst., on a George's trip, and will probably never be heard from again.

From the Proud Standpoint

of superior "style" the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical short comings of her rustic female cousin. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses Sozodont, and the metropolitan belle does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

LISBON.

An Interesting Description of the Portuguese Capital.

Lisbon, as seen from the bay on entering the harbor, is a very beautiful city. It is built upon the slopes of the low hills that hem in the Tagus on the north. These hills gradually flatten out to the sandy beach, which is the first object descried on entering the port. There are but few trees on these hills, scarcely more than are to be seen on those of Contra Costa; but the fields are green, there are plenty of buildings scattered about on the hillsides and the absence of trees is not so noticeable as on the shores of the bay of San Francisco. You scarcely leave the sea to enter the estuary of the Tagus before you strike the famous castle of Belem, which guards the entrance to the picturesque harbor. Imagine that the uncouth structure at Fort Point was almost square in shape, three times as high as it is and built of colored stone in a mixed Morisco style, with lots of bizarre balconies, porches, and queer little windows, and you will have Belem castle. The next landmark is the Church of San Geronimo, a tall gothic structure, whose middle tower fell down about five years ago and killed forty-five persons, among them a lot of too curious tourists. Next, the whole city comes into view, built like San Francisco, from the water's edge to the tops of the hills and beyond. As you enter the Tagus the city is on the left hand. In the distance straight ahead are the hills of Torres Vedras, made famous by Wellington's operations during the peninsula war. On the right hand are the shores, the farms, and in the background the hills of Portuguese Estremadura. There are no wharves or docks in Lisbon. The ships all lie at anchor and load or discharge by means of lighters. The river opposite the city is several miles wide, and from a spacious basin in which the navies of the world might ride at anchor secure from storm and swell. So much for the exterior view. Now let us go ashore.

Imagine the water-front of San Francisco built of stone; the streets either macadamized or paved with stone, and kept perfectly clean; the sewerage well arranged; the air pure; no sand, no smoke, no fog; the public buildings of stone; the private houses of brick and stone and plaster; the hackmen civil; the car conductors polite; the cars not permitted to take any more passengers than they can seat; no vacant lots; no uncovered hills of yellow sand or dusty streets; no rotting planks for side-walks; no forest of telegraph poles or network of wires to offend the vision—imagine San Francisco thus metamorphosed, and you will have Lisbon. The population of the two cities is about the same in numbers, but it is different as day from night in customs and appearance. In San Francisco there is movement, bustle, directness of action. In Lisbon quiet and dreamy decay prevail everywhere. Water is mainly only procurable at public fountains; hence men with pails and women with jars on their heads, filled with water, throng the streets. Industry is inactive and labor cheap, hence a bare-footed woman carrying a heavy trunk on her head, or a man with a chest of drawers on a sofa on his back, are by no means uncommon sights. Poverty and paucity of invention unite to perpetuate the bullock cart of Pharaoh, of which numbers, drawn by oxen, rumble through the stone streets and amidst the protesting echoes. The people are handsome, both men and women, and of good build; strong, hearty, and cheerful looking. The records of the public institutions show that these are the survivors of a vast host who perish every year because the land, as at present governed, can not support them.—Cor. San Francisco Chronicle.

"Sorry F'r Poor Folks."

Gazing into the show-windows of a Woodward avenue store was an individual who was considerably "corned," and as he was attempting to balance on his heels and take in the show at the same time along came a woman and child and halted behind him. Both were poorly dressed and evidently hard up, and the child's exclamation of delight soon attracted the attention of the befuddled individual.

"Sho you wan' one 'er 'em dolls in yer Christmas stocking, eh?" he queried as he patted the child on the head.

"Oh, yes, sir, but we are poor," she eplied.

"Poor, eh? Too baz—too baz. Sho you want doll, eh?"

"Yes, sir, but I can't have one. Can I, ma?

"No, indeed," answered the woman. "We have hard work to even get bread."

"Is thas so? Thas too baz—too baz. Jus' hol' on lizzie while."

He began feeling in his pockets for money, but the search revealed only a piece of tobacco, a bottle with a little whisky in it, and a pawn ticket for a watch.

"Want 'er doll, eh? Want it purzy bad?"

"Yes, sir, but ——"

"You nezzer mind 'bout that! Poor, eh? Sorry f'r poor folks. No Chrismus presens, eh? Sorry 'bout that. Shay!"

"Yes, sir."

"You waiz right here till I cum back."

He at once pushed his way into the store, was absent about five minutes, and then returned, carrying a doll by the leg. Handing it over to the girl he said:

"Thas dolly f'r you. Sorry f'r poor folks—very sorry. Thas my Chrismus presens. Run now, hard as you can!"

The woman and child hurried away, and they were only well out of sight when the man was arrested and walked off for stealing the doll. He went willingly, calling back to the crowd:

"You bez I'll make somebody glad on Chrismus! Sorry f'r poor folks—very sorry!"

Jesse George, of Hickman county, Tenn., was the first man in the State who sold peanuts. He made his first crop before the war—about 1850. The processes of planting and plowing are very different now from what they were then. The crop in Tennessee now amounts to about 600,000 bushels, of which about two-thirds are of the white variety.

Swift's Specific Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which cured me entirely, and well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope any who doubt will write me here.

E. C. HAWES, JR., Clarksville, Ga.

After suffering twenty five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully commend it to all similarly afflicted.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases the blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me.

Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN,
148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

"But John P. Robinson, he sez, they didn't know everythin' down in Judee." They certainly knew little, if they did not know that the safest, quickest and most pleasant cure for croup, bronchitis, cough, cold in the chest, etc., is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Thirty citizens of Waterville, Me., have been indicted by the grand jury for selling liquor, on information of two men supposed to be "spotters" from Boston.

Human Blood.—On the purity and vitality of the blood depend the vigor and health of the whole system. Disease of various kinds is often only the sign that nature is trying to remove the disturbing cause. A remedy that gives life and vigor to the blood, eradicates scrofula and other impurities from it as Hood's Sarsaparilla undoubtedly does, must be the means of preventing many diseases that would occur without its use. Sold by dealers.

The bodies of Captain Quick and his son, of Pelee island, were washed ashore at New Glasgow, Ont., Sunday night. They had been fishing and were driven out into the lake, and perished from exhaustion.

ASHBURNHAM, MASS., Jan. 14, 1880.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

WINSTON, FORSYTH CO., N. C.

Gents—I desire to express to you my thanks for your wonderful Hop Bitters. I was troubled with dyspepsia for five years previous to commencing the use of your Hop Bitters some six months ago. My cure has been wonderful. I am pastor of the First Methodist Church of this place, and my whole congregation can testify to the great virtues of your bitters.

Very respectfully,
REV. H. FERREE.

The Head and Hay Fever.

Since last October I have suffered from acute inflammation in my nose and head—often in the night having to get up and inhale salt and water for relief. My eye has been twice, for a week at a time, so I could not see. I have used no end of remedies, also employed a doctor, who said it was impure blood—but I got no help. I used Ely's Cream Balm on the recommendation of a friend. I was faithless, but in a few days was cured. My nose now, and also my eye is well. It is wonderful how quick it helped me. Mrs. Georgie S. Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Blood Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

John L. Holt, hailing from Augusta, Me., was arrested at Gloucester, Mass., on Monday, on a charge of breaking and entering the store of the Cape Ann granite company at Pigeon Cove on Saturday night, and rifling the money drawer. He had a ticket for Salem when searched by the officers, and $43 in bills and specie was found in a hat stowed away in his pocket. He confessed.

Poisoned.

Thousands of persons are poisoned, in America by the continued use of mercury, Iodide of Potassium and other minerals, for various diseases. The mercury works its way into the tissues, producing rheumatism and decay of the bones. The Iodide of Potassium eats away the coating of the stomach, and dries up the gastric juices which digest the food, and the patient lingers along in agony or is glad to die to get away from misery. Swift's Specific is a complete antidote to all this poison. It eliminates mercury from the system, removes the evil effects and of Iodide of Potassium, and brings back health and happiness. Send your address for a copy of Treatise on Blood and Skin diseases. The Swift Specific Company, Drawer 3, Atlanta, Ga.

The Old Men's Home.

One of the most meritorious charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

George Staples has been lodged in the Strafford county jail, to await trial for stealing a horse and buggy from Jonathan Wentworth of Rochester.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The purification of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

The drug store of C. C. Davis, at Walpole, was broken into early Sunday morning, the safe blown open, and between $7,000 and $8,000 in securities and money stolen.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

The counting room of the cotton factory at Pittsfield was broken into on Saturday night, and about $50 in silver stolen. An attempt was made to enter a store in that town the same night, but failed.

The residence of William McQuestion, at Reed's Ferry, Merrimack, was destroyed by fire Dec. 10th, with a portion of the furniture. Loss $5,000; partially insured. Origin of the fire unknown.

The China savings bank at Suncook, considered one of the strongest in the state, closed its doors on Monday in consequence of a run, which is claimed to have been without cause, the bank being entirely sound.

Eminent Medical Testimony.

New York, March 15th, 1883.

I have used Allcock's Porous Plasters in my practice with remarkable success, and found them peculiarly efficacious when applied to the back for Weak Spine and Nervous Exhaustion; they afford almost instant relief in Cough, Colds and Liver Complaint. I cordially recommend them as the best and safest Plaster ever made, and would caution the public against the numerous other so-called Porous Plasters that are sought to be palmed off on a credulous public; they are worthless and oftentimes dangerous.

David Lamonte was arraigned at Hanover on Monday, on a charge of murderous assault with a knife upon William Mansell, and was held for trial. Lamonte is also suspected of entering G. W. Randlett's store and the post-office, Friday night, and stealing $40 worth of stamps and a small quantity of merchandise.

Nothing is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for colds, coughs, in short for any and all derangements of the respiratory organs, which tend towards consumption. In all ordinary cases it is a certain cure, and it affords sure relief for asthma and consumption, even in advanced stages.

"Pure Demagogism."

During the call of the states for the introduction of bills in the house of representatives, Monday, the call was interrupted to allow Mr. Hewitt of New York to introduce the following:

Resolved, that the house bring to the notice of the president the case of Patrick O'Donnell, claiming to be a citizen of the United States, and now under a sentence of death in Great Britain, in hope that the president may secure such a reasonable delay in the execution as will enable the president to ascertain whether said O'Donnell is a citizen of the United States, and, if so, whether he was tried and convicted in accordance with the provisions of the municipal law of Great Britain and the requirements of international law.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post comments on this as follows:

Mr. Hewitt's resolution concerning O'Donnell, which passed the house to-day unanimously, was pure demagogism. It is impossible for the doomed man to escape, and all efforts that will be made must be fruitless. It is probable that a request for a suspension or postponement will be made, but it will avail nothing. The only thing that can be done is to thrash England, and that we cannot do in the limited time at our disposal.

Mercedes and later lyrics: by Thomas Bailey Aldrich. Boston; Houghton, Mifflin & Co.; price $1.25.

Mercedes is a sketch suggested by an incident related in the memoir of the Duchess d'Abrantes, comprising a Spanish love incident with much cold poison at its close. It is beautifully written. Its dialogue is entertaining, its plot full of interest.

As a poet, Mr. Aldrich needs no introduction to our readers. From his earliest efforts, when he at once attracted by his writings the attention of the best critics in the country, his poems have been read, admired and praised by the large number of readers who appreciatingly claim that his afflatus was in a measure derived from the inspiring atmosphere upon the Piscataqua. His poems have so much in them to be enjoyed, that as each new volume appears it is eagerly sought, and not to have read and admired this last publication is simply an admission of one's being far behind in current enjoyment. The book is sold by M. Goodrich.

It was reported Tuesday evening that Gen. Martin, the citizens' candidate for mayor of Boston, was elected by 2000 majority. There was much scratching, and the counting was slow.

At Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 8th, a farmer named Trenton fatally stabbed a negro boy, and was shot through the head in return; both are dead.

A force of 500 black troops and 200 Bashi Bazouks, on a reconnoitering expedition outside of Suakim, Egypt, on the 5th inst., was attacked by five thousand "hill men" and cut to pieces, only fifty escaping. The blacks fought with determined bravery, and would have repulsed the assailants but for the cowardice of the Bashi Bazouks.

Eagerness manifested by the newly elected officials of the house to displace the republican employees holding over from the last Congress has been remarkable. Scarcely born into office on Tuesday, they set the guillotine at work Wednesday, and a number of republican heads dropped into the democratic basket, and staunch, dyed-in-the-wool democrats were quickly ensconced in the places thus made vacant. While a few republican senators were talking about civil service reform and of not interfering with the present democratic officials of the senate, their opponents at the other end of the Capitol were making haste to turn out just as equally efficient republican officials, and thus show how they practice civil service reform when the power falls into their hands.—Washington despatch.

Murder by Contract.

At Sligo, Ireland, on the 10th inst., John Flaherty and nine other men pleaded guilty of conspiracy to murder Martin Leyden, who was afterward murdered by other parties. Counsel for the prisoners urged in extenuation of their crime that they had been tempted by the leaders of a secret organization in Sligo, who had fled, leaving their dupes to suffer for their misdeeds.

In the trial of a large number of alleged conspirators at Dublin on the same day, Patrick McKeon testified that before the murder of Mrs. Smith, who was shot dead in her carriage while riding home from church, the prisoners met in a barn and formed an assassination society, the avowed object being the removal of tyrants and bad landlords.

The New York Tribune gives figures showing that the department of public works in that city is little better now than it was when the late lamented Tweed wanted to know "What are you going to do about it?" In this department alone it shows that the tax-payers have been swindled out of more than $6,000,000 in the last seven years. The reform democracy have controlled the city all the time.

It was not a republican editor, but Major Edwards, a prominent democrat of Missouri and editor of the St. Joseph Gazette, who telegraphed from Washington to his own paper over his own name the following, after the completion of the organization of the house of representatives: "The Southern Confederacy is again in the saddle."

MEDICAL.

If it were possible to get the testimony of the multitude who have used HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA for debility, languor, lassitude, and that general feeling of stupidity, weariness and exhaustion which every one feels during this season, we should be able to present to our readers such an overwhelming mass of commendatory messages, that the few who have not tried it would do so at once. It is a positive fact, and has been so effectually demonstrated that no one to-day denies it, that Hood's Sarsaparilla contains more real medicinal value than any article before the people.

What a Man Did with Kidney Complaint

DRACUT, MASS.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & CO., Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sirs—I have suffered from kidney complaint and biliousness for fifteen years. Have tried everything and never got any good. Last January, before I commenced taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, everything I ate bloated me all up, pain in my chest and arms, headache and dizzy. I could not get up without feeling weary and all fagged out. Many mornings I was obliged to lie down on the lounge. To do any work seemed almost impossible. But I commenced taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and it does not press me at all. Feel just like work; in fact, like a new man. Can heartily recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and hope all who desire to know anything about it will come to me and ask what I think of it. Very truly yours,
JONATHAN J. COBURN.

"Railroad Day" to-day.

Liversey, the champion skater in America, will be at the skating rink Thursday evening.

The Corinne Opera Troupe will be here next Saturday night. The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "Here, as well as elsewhere this talented company appear, the audience seem to increase with each performance. The elegant costumes, gorgeous stage-settings, sweet singing, and pretty faces, all tend to make the entertainment enjoyable.

Hon. Samuel F. Cary of Ohio is to lecture in Music hall in this city Tuesday evening, January 1st, under the auspices of a local organization. The subject of Gen. Cary's lecture will be "Mistakes of Moses or Ingersoll, which?" The people of Portsmouth should congratulate themselves upon having an opportunity of hearing so able and talented a speaker. We understand that an effort will be made to have Gen. Cary deliver a temperance lecture on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 30 at Music Hall, as he will be in this vicinity about that time. Gen. Cary was one of the originators of the Washingtonian movement, and has been in the temperance work fifty-two years.

The irrepressible Marcus P. Norton popped up in the United States circuit court in Boston on Tuesday with his Knibbs' patent-valve suit, asking the trifle of $400,000 from the city of Boston for infringement.

The schooner Hattie Lewis, Capt. Brewster, sailed from the lower harbor Tuesday morning, bound to Boston with a load of fifty-five cords of wood from York; she will make one more trip after this, if the weather continues favorable, before hauling up somewhere in this harbor. The schooner Satellite, Capt. Aderton, from Eliot with a load of bricks for Boston, was at Portsmouth bridge on Tuesday afternoon.

The unusual redness of portions of the heavens at sunrise and sunset still continues, but has ceased to attract special attention except from scientists, who however have so far wholly failed to explain the phenomenon, which has been noticed throughout the northern hemisphere, and possibly the southern, the latter not having been heard from on the subject.

A large pear tree in a yard on Chapel street, next to the old Warner mansion, was taken down some weeks ago, having died. This tree it is said was of quite a good size at the time of the burning of St. John's church in 1806, and was badly scorched on one side at that time by the intense heat; and the scarred and withered appearance of the side toward the church to a certain extent verified the tradition; the tree bore fruit up to last season. At the time of that fire the premises whereon this tree stood formed a part of the Warner estate.

Samuel P. Treadwell, Esq., and wife, are spending a portion of the winter with their son in New York.

The gondola Sturgeon, Capt. Wm. Nason, came down the river on Tuesday with a load of bricks, and discharged at Plaisted's wharf.

The attention of physicians and householders is invited to an advertisement of the board of health in another column.

T. S. Gay & Co. are making a suit of sails for the schooner Albert Woodbury, Capt. Levi Downs; the material used is the best yacht duck, manufactured in Lawrence, Mass., and the work is done in the best manner. The Albert Woodbury has been a successful vessel, and is as good a boat to-day as on the day she was launched; she has been laid up several weeks on account of the illness of Capt. Downs, who however has now fully recovered, and will go into the frozen herring business after the Christmas holidays.

An exchange says that "Ex-President Thomas Hill of Harvard University has edited an almanac in which the computations have been made according to the new eastern standard time, the first thing of the kind published." We should like to see that wonderful production. An almanac giving the time of the rising and setting of the sun and moon, and the time of full tide, by "standard" time, would be a work of art compared to which the famous "fifteen puzzle" would be simplicity itself.

The schooner Addie & Hattie, Capt. Wm. Randall, came in on Monday with 3000 lbs. of fish. The Josie Johnson, Capt. Joe. Haley, also brought in a moderate fare. The following-named persons and firms are reported as buying fish on Water street this week: Randall & Caswell, Daniel Clark, James Kehoe, Elvin Newton, and Hiltz & Shea. Prices have ruled low, on account of the warm weather and because fresh fish have been carried into other ports in considerable quantities. A number of good fares were brought in on Tuesday, aggregating 30,000 lbs.; the schooner Clyde, Capt. Short, brought in 4000 lbs.

Quite a large delegation of Freemasons from St. John's and St. Andrew's lodges have accepted the invitation of Winnicut lodge of Greenland to visit them on Thursday evening of this week, the occasion being the annual visit of the officers of the Grand Lodge.

The ship Dashing Wave, of 1054 tons register, which was built at this port in 1853, is now owned in Tacoma, Washington territory, and has for some years been successfully employed in the coal trade between San Francisco and the coal ports on the northern Pacific coast of the United States. Not long since the ship was inspected, and though thirty years old was found to be worth thorough repairs, which she received at Tacoma. While the work was in progress a six-pound cannon ball was found solidly embedded in the wood, it having remained there ever since it was fired into her during the war of the rebellion as she was leaving the harbor of Galveston, Texas, with a cargo of cotton on board.

Assistant Engineer John D. Sloane, formerly attached to this navy yard but now serving on board the U. S. S. Tallapoosa, was recently ordered to the Shenandoah, but these orders have been revoked, and he will remain on the dispatch boat. Asst. Engr. F. C. Bowers has been detached from the Tallapoosa, and ordered to the Shenandoah.

The books of the collector of internal revenue for the district of Maine show that in Biddeford the number of persons paying the special United States tax as retail liquor dealers is this year twenty-nine less than last year, and the number in Saco eight less, a decrease of thirty-seven in the two cities from last year. The better enforcement of the prohibitory law probably accounts for this.

Joshua Wagg, head stone mason on the Maine Central railroad, was crushed by a falling derrick in the yard at Lewiston on Saturday. His hip was broken, and he received internal injuries which it was feared would be fatal.

A small schooner of about forty tons register, supposed to be a fishing vessel, was passed bottom up on Saturday about thirty miles east of Boston light, by the British steamship Acadia.

Springfield, Ohio, reports the elopement of Miss Laura Skilling, the pretty and accomplished daughter of Eben Skilling, a wealthy farmer. James Rogers, a young Englishman, has been employed by Skilling for several years as hired man. Laura fell in love with him, and their clandestine meetings became the talk of the town. Recently Rogers left for Virginia to visit relatives, and Laura soon afterward disappeared very mysteriously. Saturday her parents received a letter from her, in which she stated that she was with Rogers and was going to marry him.

The Government Chemist Analyzes two of the Leading Baking Powders, and what he finds them made of.

I have examined samples of "Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder," manufactured at Albany, N. Y., and "Royal Baking Powder," both purchased by myself in this city, and I find they contain:

"Cleveland's Superior Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Flour

Available carbonic acid gas 12.61 per cent, equivalent to 118.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

"Royal Baking Powder."
Cream of Tartar
Bicarbonate of Soda
Carbonate of Ammonia
Tartaric Acid
Starch

Available carbonic acid gas 12.40 per cent, equivalent to 116.2 cubic inches of gas per oz. of Powder.

Ammonia gas 0.43 per cent, equivalent to 10.4 cubic inches per oz. of Powder.

Note.—The Tartaric Acid was doubtless introduced as free acid, but subsequently combined with ammonia, and exists in the Powder as a Tartrate of Ammonia. E. G. LOVE, Ph. D.

NEW YORK, JAN'Y 17TH, 1881.

The above shows conclusively that "Cleveland's Superior" is a strictly pure Cream of Tartar Baking Powder. It has also been analyzed by Professor Johnson of Yale College; Dr. Genth of the University of Pennsylvania; President Morton of the Stevens Institute; Wm. M. Habirshaw, F. C. S., Analyst for the Chemical Trade of New York, and other eminent chemists, all of whom pronounce it absolutely pure and healthful.

THE HERITAGE OF WOE

"Leprosy, shame and agony often bequeathed as a sole legacy to children by parents in neglected scrofula. To cleanse the blood of all impurities and humors, and thus remove the most prolific cause of human suffering, to clear the skin of disfiguring humors, including tortures, burning eruptions, and loathsome sores caused by it, to purify and beautify the skin, and restore the hair so that no trace of the disease remains, CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, diuretic and aperient, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, the great skin cures and beautifiers, are infallible.

I HAD SALT RHEUM

In the most aggravating form for eight years. No kind of treatment, medicine or doctors did me any permanent good. My friends in Malden know how I suffered. When I began to use the CUTICURA REMEDIES my limbs were so raw and inflamed that I could not bear my weight on them without the skin cracking and bleeding, and was obliged to go about on crutches. Used the CUTICURA REMEDIES five months, and was completely and permanently cured.

COPPER-COLORED.

I have been afflicted with troublesome skin disease, covering almost completely the upper part of my body, causing my skin to assume a copper-colored hue. It could be rubbed off like dandruff, and at times causing intolerable itching and the most intense suffering. I took much blood purifiers, pills, and other advertised remedies, but experienced no relief until I procured the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which, though used externally and internally, cured me, allaying that terrible itching, and restoring my skin to its natural color. I am willing to make affidavit to the truth of this statement. S. G. BUXTON, Mt an, Mich.

From the Proud Standpoint

of superior "style" the languid city beauty surveys the imaginary physical short comings of her rustic female cousin. Yet if the latter possess a finer set of teeth, as she probably does if she uses Sozodont, and the metropolitan belle does not, that striking contrast so much in her favor enables her to turn the tables with a vengeance. Pearly teeth are better than "style."

Christmas Decorations—Centre Pieces.

For many years we had hung our Christmas greens in the same way. The evergreen roping was festooned from window to window, carried over the doors and wound around the gas-fixtures; the leaves of green laurel and the sprays of holly with its bright red berries were fastened here and there, and the old-time wreaths hung in the window.

All this was not without its cheer, but yet there was a monotony about the arrangements being precisely the same year after year.

I wish I had something novel to place over the piano, I thought, or a new design to hang between the windows or under the favorite painting. The wish brought to mind a large dry-goods box of grain, grasses, autumn leaves, etc., that I had gathered the summer before in New England, and I concluded that by using a little ingenuity I might devise something out of the common order.

At the bottom of my trunk were several fungi taken from the base of a dead oak tree, and I had preserved their whiteness and prevented moulding by placing them in strong salt water and putting them over the fire until the water boiled, and then drying them in the sun.

I selected a shelving piece for the base of a bracket, and after smoothing off with a knife, glued it to the lower part of a piece of cigar-box wood twelve inches long and three wide. I left it over night to dry; then crushed a handful of hay into ball shape and attached it with glue above where the fungus was fastened to the wood; then dipped the ends of several long ferns and grasses in the glue and stuck them into the hay, close to the board. This served as a back ground, then I filled in the front with autumn leaves, catkins of the alder, seed vessels of several plants, and dried grasses. I afterwards attached several of the "Thistle Butterflies" (or "Painted Ladies") and the orange-and-black "Berenice" so lightly to the grasses that with the slightest jar they would tremble as if swayed by a breeze.

To complete the ornament I attached some of the beautiful Florida moss to the underside of the fungus and allowed it to hang naturally and loosely. This moss, if obtained from the florist, is quite expensive, but if sought for among the fruit dealers, large quantities can be bought for a small sum, as they value it only for packing fruit. When all was finished I tacked a ring to the back of the board and hung it between the front windows just below some drooping evergreens.

I next sought to design something to fill the space over the piano, and not wishing to duplicate the fungus, concluded to fill ornamentally a fancy basket, and went to the florist's in search of one, and some of the white, silky German grass known to florists.

My first thought was to fasten all material to the wall by driving in fine; long pins, but it would require so many the wall would be defaced, and I decided that the design might be made on white tarlatan with material fastened on with a piece eighteen inches long and twelve inches wide.

As the basket could not be made to lie flatly, I cut it in half sections and sewed one to the tarlatan.—I selected some of my longest ferns for a background, placed the stems in the basket and tacked them in several places above to the tarlatan.

I then added shorter and finer ferns, intermingled with brown (dead) oak leaves and ripe yellow wheat.

Within both sides of the basket I placed the grass, and just above fastened several sprays of young acorns in the cup, and two or three cocoons of the Cecropia moth which I had broken from the maples in the fall. When the ferns or leaves did not come closely together, I placed sprays of the white immortelles and then hung the Florida moss from the lower part of the basket.

All completed, I cut away the parts of tarlatan not brought into use, and fastened the ornament with two tacks to the wall.

Arranging another basket afterward, I left the tarlatan as first cut out, and glued a piece of narrow black walnut moulding across the top and bottom, and hung it like a picture.

These ornaments were really "things of beauty," and if not "a joy forever," are nicely preserved at the end of nine months. I blow the dust from the leaves occasionally with a small bellows, and pin over them tissue paper on sweeping day.

In early April I was sitting with my work one day, when I heard a crackling, and looking towards my basket, saw a moth slowly emerging from a cocoon. It hung to the outside of its silken home until the wings were dry, then toward evening tried to fly.

As there were no flowers for it to suck honey from, I filled a toy saucer with a syrup of sugar and water, from which it sipped a little several times. I think the heat from the lamps in which the cocoon had been kept hastened the transformation, for the moth seemed very weak from the first, and at the end of the second day drooped and died.—Youth's Companion.

Berlin tradesmen are so excited by the proposed opening of co-operative stores that they have asked the Emperor to forbid members of the army and navy to have anything to do with them.

A young man who had been assisted away from the home of a girl whose society he yearned for, wrote next day to the cruel parent as follows: "I did not mind what you said to me, though your language was pretty rough, but when you kicked me with that No. 11 boot you hurt my feelings. I shall make no further effort to win your daughter. If she inherits your style of feet and any of your versatility in the use of them, I feel that I could not be entirely happy with her."

A dentist was asked whether gentlemen or ladies gave him the most trouble, and he replied, "O, gentlemen, beyond question. I operated upon a great many officers just before they went to the recent War, and I assure you that many of them who are now heroes behaved in a very unheroic way indeed in the chair in which you are sitting. Women scream a little, but are always ready to thank me for what I do for them. Men moan, and groan, and abuse me."

Swift's Specific Is a complete antidote to all kinds of Blood Poison and Skin Humor.

INHERITED IT.—My family all have Scrofula—some mildly, but my case was of the worst type, and resisted all treatment until I used Swift's Specific, which cured me sound and well by forcing all the poison out through the pores of the skin. It is the greatest medicine in the world, and I hope my case will be made public.
E. C. HAWES, JR., Clarksville, Ga.

After suffering twenty five years with a painful Dry Tetter, and trying many physicians, I was at last relieved by the use of Swift's Specific, and I cheerfully commend it to all similarly afflicted.

An Old Soldier's EXPERIENCE.

"Calvert, Texas, May 3, 1882.

"I wish to express my appreciation of the valuable qualities of

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

as a cough remedy.

"While with Churchill's army, just before the battle of Vicksburg, I contracted a severe cold, which terminated in a dangerous cough. I found no relief till on our march we came to a country store, where, on asking for some remedy, I was urged to try AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

"I did so, and was rapidly cured. Since then I have kept the PECTORAL constantly by me, for family use, and I have found it to be an invaluable remedy for throat and lung diseases. J. W. WHITLEY."

Thousands of testimonials certify to the prompt cure of all bronchial and lung affections, by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily.

SCROFULA

and all scrofulous diseases, Sores, Erysipelas, Eczema, Blotches, Ringworm, Tumors, Carbuncles, Boils, and Eruptions of the Skin, are the direct result of an impure state of the blood.

To cure these diseases this blood must be purified, and restored to a healthy and natural condition. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has for over forty years been recognized by eminent medical authorities as the most powerful blood purifier in existence. It frees the system from all foul humors, enriches and strengthens the blood, removes all traces of mercurial treatment, and proves itself a complete master of all scrofulous diseases.

A Recent Cure of Scrofulous Sores.

"Some months ago I was troubled with scrofulous sores (ulcers) on my legs. The limbs were badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy I tried failed, until I used AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, of which I have now taken three bottles, with the result that the sores are healed, and my general health greatly improved. I feel very grateful for the good your medicine has done me."

Yours respectfully, MRS. ANN O'BRIAN."

148 Sullivan St., New York, June 24, 1882.

☞ All persons interested are invited to call on Mrs. O'Brian; also upon the Rev. Z. P. Wilds of 78 East 54th Street, New York City, who will take pleasure in testifying to the wonderful efficacy of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, not only in the cure of this lady, but in his own case and many others within his knowledge.

The well-known writer on the Boston Herald, B. W. BALL, of Rochester, N.H., writes, June 7, 1882:

"Having suffered severely for some years with Eczema, and having failed to find relief from other remedies, I have made use, during the past three months, of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, which has effected a complete cure. I consider it a magnificent remedy for all blood diseases."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

stimulates and regulates the action of the digestive and assimilative organs, renews and strengthens the vital forces, and speedily cures Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, Catarrh, General Debility, and all diseases arising from an impoverished or corrupted condition of the blood, and a weakened vitality.

It is incomparably the cheapest blood medicine, on account of its concentrated strength, and great power over disease.

Catarrh.

The remarkable results in a disease so universal and with such a variety of characteristics as catarrh, prove how effectually Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the human system. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged only by its results. We point with pride to the glorious record Hood's Sarsaparilla has entered upon the hearts of thousands of people it has cured of catarrh.

I have been sick over two years. They all gave me up as past cure. I tried the most skillful physicians, but they did not reach the worst part. The lungs and throat would fill up every night and distress me, and my throat was very bad. I told my children I never should die in peace until I had tried Hop Bitters. I have taken two bottles. They have helped me very much indeed. I am now well. There was a lot of sick folks here who have seen how they helped me, and they used them and are cured, and feel as thankful as I do that there is so valuable a medicine made.

The interests of humanity seem to demand the publication of the following facts: Two months ago my attention was called to the case of a poor woman who was said to be afflicted with a cancer. I found her with an ulcer on her shoulder at least five inches in circumference, angry, painful, and giving the patient no rest day or night for six months. I obtained a supply of Swift's Specific, which I persuaded her to try. She has taken five bottles, the result of which is that the ulcer is entirely healed up, nothing remaining but a small scab, not larger than one's finger nail, and her general health is better than for five years past. She seems to be perfectly cured.

An old man of sixty-seven years has been subject to scrofulous sores five years. He had one on his cheek as large as a silver dollar, swollen, raw and constantly exuding very offensive matter. Another on his foot of the same character, and several on his hands, all of about two and a half years standing. His general health was poor, and he could scarcely get about at all. He has taken two bottles of Swift's Specific. The sores are all well, leaving scarcely a vestige of their former existance, and his general health better than it has been in ten years. I consider its effects wonderful—almost miraculous. Rev. Jesse H. Campbell, Columbus, Ga., October 17, 1882.

Important to the Sick.

To those who have used Swedish Remedies, they know full well the value of them. To those who from prejudice have not used them, we can say that they are the very best medicines for the diseases for which they are recommended. Swedish Lung Balsam cures coughs, colds, and all diseases of the lungs. When taken together with Swedish Botanic Compound (the great blood purifier), it will cure consumption in the first and second stages.

In the Hop Porous Plaster the virtues of fresh hops are combined with strengthening and stimulating balsams, and its cures of weak back, pain in the side, rheumatism and neuralgia, or pain in the chest are simply marvellous, it being more efficacious and thorough than any liniment or liquid remedies. You'll say so after using.

A Boston paper of Monday, the 10th inst., had the following: "It is stated that Hon. Frank Jones, who has hitherto strenuously opposed the lease to the Boston & Maine, will accept a position as director on the new board, which it is said will be largely in favor of the lease. General Lawrence and Col. French, of the board of directors, will make a strong fight against the proposed lease; and Col. French will, it is understood, take the matter to the Massachusetts legislature, where a strong effort will be made to secure a repeal of the act passed several years since granting power of consolidation in Massachusetts."

The Old Men's Home.

One of the most beneficent charities in existence is that which provides a resting place for weary and worn out old men. They have many infirmities and diseases, one of the most common of which is rheumatism. Just here comes in the advantage of Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which has relieved the sufferings of many an old man by driving away the most severe rheumatic pains.

The excitement caused by a run on the China bank at Suncook has subsided. Its liabilities to depositors are $160,000; convertible securities, $152,000; cash on hand, $8,000 or $9,000. The commissioners have not yet completed their investigation, but will employ an expert and are confident the bank will pay dollar for dollar to all depositors.

The ills which flesh is heir to are more often due to impurities in the blood than is generally supposed. The pur fication of this vital fluid enables the system to ward off its worst enemies. There is no doubt that Hood's Sarsaparilla is one of the best blood purifiers in the world, and we feel confident that those who give it a trial will not be disappointed.

C. C. Davis of Walpole, who with his wife, children and maid, was in the recent accident on the Boston, Barre & Gardner railroad, is the man who had his store robbed of $7,000 or $8,000 in bonds and securities on the night of Dec. 8th.

"G. O. Taylor Old Bourbon" Whiskey was introduced by Chester H. Graves & Sons six years ago, when it was approved by S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Massachusetts. It at once established a reputation as a perfectly pure Whiskey, and we learn it has just received a fresh endorsement from the present State Assayer of Massachusetts. Leading druggists and grocers sell it.

The Naval Joke.

It is painful to notice how democratic papers fail to see Mr. Chandler's bit of sarcasm relative to eliminating politics from the navy yard operations before the government can successfully compete with Mr. Roach and other contractors.

Mr. Chandler knows how it is himself, and of course intended the assertion as a little piece of jocose verbiage, and yet it is solemnly attacked by such papers as the Brooklyn Eagle, Philadelphia Telegraph, etc., as if the versatile secretary could be in earnest even in a state paper.

The "Graphic" in Trouble.

A petition was served upon Sir Francis Hincks at Montreal on the 10th inst., for the winding up of the affairs of the Graphic newspaper company of New York, and the appointment of liquidators; and the petitioners, who are claimants for $91,000, allege that its assets are $40,000 and its liabilities $779,500. A meeting of stockholders and creditors will be held next week, and it is not believed that this petition will be contested, as the shareholders in Canada are thoroughly sick of their venture in New York.

Ernest C. Brown of Chicago has brought suit in New York against the Graphic publishing company, to recover $25,000, which he claims is due him for services as agent, and Judge Lawrence on the 10th inst. issued an attachment against the property of the company in New York.

The vote of Boston for mayor was 27,540 for Gen. Martin, citizens' candidate, and 25,997 for Mr. O'Brien, democrat; the citizens elected their ticket for aldermen, and the street commissioner. The victory of the citizens was a sweeping one.

Commodore Phelps, commanding the South Atlantic station, reports that the flag-ship Brooklyn arrived at Capetown, South Africa, November 4th. The Brooklyn will be put in dry-dock at Capetown for repairs, as her sail and steam power, taken separately or together, are inadequate to produce satisfactory results. When ready she will sail for Madagascar.

In Newburyport, on the 11th inst., Mayor Wm. A. Johnson was re-elected by 386 majority, and the entire citizens' ticket for aldermen was elected. The city voted to license the sale of liquors by a vote of 1187 to 357.

Mayor Hill of Salem and Mayor Donovan of Lowell, Mass., were re-elected on the 11th inst.

In the United States senate, Mr. Blair is chairman of the committee on education and labor, and a member of the committees on agriculture, on public lands and on woman suffrage. Mr. Pike is a member of the committees on claims, on District of Columbia, on civil service and retrenchment, and on improvement of the Mississippi river.

Miss Florence Guipe, the daughter of a very wealthy and influential citizen of Elkhart, Ind., eloped Friday night with Lane McGavan, who had been for years a hackman for the Clifton house. They were married at Sturgis, Mich., from which place they went to Toledo.

A Card in a Vase.

On New Year's eve Baron C. took one of his visiting cards, penciled a few words on it, and put it in an envelope, which he carefully sealed. Then he went to Boissier's candy shop. On his way his thoughts ran thus: "My Ninish is very fond of candies. She adores them. Therefore besides the diamond necklace which I have just sent her, I will buy her some candies. Here is Boissier's."

The Baron entered the shop selected a costly old Japanese vase, put his card at the very bottom as a final surprise, and had it filled with the best candies. He left word where it should be sent, and then retired quite contented with himself.

Two hours later Mlle. Ninish was conversing in her boudoir with a young actor, Adalbert. Her maid entered with a Japanese vase in her hands.

"More candies, madame," she said.

"Who sends that?"

"No card Madame."

"Put it anywhere," said Ninish, carelessly. The young actor looked at the vase.

"What a beautiful vase," he said.

"If you like it, take it."

"Well if you give it to me as a souvenir—"

In an hour Adalbert was entering the room of a singer.

"Adelaide, I have brought you a surprise, some candies," cried Adelbert, opening the door.

"Well, leave them here."

"In a few minutes Adalbert left.

"I will give them to Justine," said Adelaide,

"Who is talking about me?" cried a silvery voice.

"Here is my Justine."

"Ah, what a fine vase!"

"It is for you."

"Thanks, thanks. I will give it to my professor, who has promised to arrange my debut."

"On the next day the beautiful Justine, after her music lesson, said to Senor Fadiezini:

"That is for you." She handed him the vase. "My debut shall be soon? Yes?"

"Yes, soon."

Senor Fadiezini went home in a happy mood.

"That is just in time," thought he. "I have no money to buy a gift for my wife. How glad she will be! Times are hard, the lessons pay badly; coal is dear."

The wife of Senor Fadiezini, professor of singing and elocution, formerly basso-cantate of the theaters of Milan and Turin, was indeed glad. But she was a practical woman.

"Pasepopa," she said, "I am sure you did not buy these candies and the vase. That would be madness. Don't reply, I know you. Somebody gave them to you, and you have brought them to me. That is very kind of you. But we must make a good use of them. Take them to Mme. Bondurin, the wife of the Chief of the Department of Arts. He may appoint you as a rehearser to the Academy of Music."

"You are right. You always foresee everything. Put my card on it, but not the one containing the price of lessons."

Mme. Bondurin said to her husband:

"Here is a beautiful vase. Please take it to my mother."

"But—but I think it would be better to give it to the sister of my chief, who could promote me."

"You are right, monsieur."

The sister of the chief of M. Bondurin asked her brother:

"Have you prepared a present for Madame the Baroness C? You have dined at the Baron's, and it would be impolite not to send something to the madame, particularly in view of the fact that the Baron is a Deputy and an influential member of the Left Center."

"Ah, I had forgotten all about it. I will go and buy——"

"It is not necessary. Take this vase, which I have just received from M. Bondurin, who serves under you as a chief of department."

An hour later the Baroness C. sent for her husband. She was pale, and trembling with anger. The Japanese vase stood before her empty. She had emptied the candies into a big basket which was intended for an orphan asylum of which she was a patroness. In one hand she held a visiting card of Baron C., whereon was written:

"Happy new year, my Ninish."

The Baroness sued for divorce. The Japanese figured as evidence in court, and the Baroness' lawyer found it necessary to relate the adventures of the vase.—French.

Nuts to Him.

The American Journal of Forestry records an instance of handsome profits received for ten acres purchased ten years ago in Logan Valley, in Nebraska, and planted with black walnuts, by Col. Van. He gave $1.25 per acre for the land, and after it was handsomely covered with a dense growth of thrifty black walnuts, ten years old, he sold the ten acres for $3,000. The time will certainly come when all this timber will be wanted at an advanced and handsome price, and there is nothing for which there will be a more extensive demand than the best large second growth selected timber. Judging from the way in which our native forests are disappearing the market will not be glutted.

Smoker's Idiosyncrasies.

Inveterate smokers do funny things. Carlyle smoked up the chimney with a degree of thoughtfulness for the feelings of others not universal in his conduct, and the famous Bishop Burnet, who, like many another author, found composition facilitated by puffings of the seductive weed, disliking the interruption of removing his pipe constantly while he was writing, in order to combine the two operations with due comfort to himself, bored a hole through the broad brim of his large hat, and putting his long pipe through it, puffed and wrote and wrote and puffed with the most philosophical calm. The increase in the sale of pipes within the last ten years is astounding. They are now manufactured in immense quantities in New York city. The polishing of meerschaum pipes affords profitable occupation for girls, who, after learning the business can realize eight or ten dollars a week with ease.

It is now stated that grave fears are entertained in Gloucester for the safety of four more overdue fishing vessels, in addition to the five already reported as given up for lost, with their crews. Should those four never turn up it would make a total of nine vessels and at least 120 men, lost in the disastrous gale of Nov. 12th and 13th from the port of Gloucester alone.

Notice to Mariners.

United States Hydrographic Office,
WASHINGTON, Nov. 24th, 1883.

A branch of the United States hydrographic office, United States navy, has been established in the rooms of the board of trade building, No. 53 State street, Boston, where masters of vessels can obtain, free of charge, any information in the possession of the hydrographic office. This office will keep on hand, for the information of mariners, a correct copy of all hydrographic and coast survey charts, hydrographic notices, buoys and light-lists, notices to mariners, and all the publications of the hydrographic office. A copy of the monthly North Atlantic pilot chart can be obtained, without cost, on application to the officer in charge. Captains are requested to send to this branch office, immediately upon their arrival, a notice giving the limits of the trade winds and the positions of all wrecks, icebergs, floating repairs and all other dangers to navigation which they may have encountered, such information to be used in the preparation of the monthly pilot charts. J. R. BARTLETT, Commander, U. S. Navy, Hydrographer to the Bureau.

MEDICAL.

If it were possible to get the testimony of the multitude who have used HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA for debility, languor, lassitude, and that general feeling of stupidity, weariness and exhaustion which every one feels during this season, we should be able to present to our readers such an overwhelming mass of commendatory testimonies, that the few who have not tried it would do so at once. It is a positive fact, and has been so effectually demonstrated that no one to-day denies it, that Hood's Sarsaparilla contains more real medical value than any article before the people.

What a Man Did with Kidney Complaint

DRACUT, MASS.
MESSRS. C. I. HOOD & Co., Lowell, Mass.:
Dear Sirs—I have suffered from kidney complaint and biliousness for fifteen years. Have tried everything and never got any good. Last January, before I commenced taking HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, everything I ate bloated me all up, pain in my chest and arms, headache and dizzy. I could not get up without feeling weary and all fagged out. Many mornings I was obliged to lie down on the lounge. To do any work seemed almost impossible. Have taken two bottles. The backache, dizziness, pain in my chest and arms, and that feeling of intense weariness are all gone. I can eat anything and it does not press me at all. Feel just like work; in fact, like a new man. Can heartily recommend HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and hope all who desire to know anything about it will come to me and ask what I think of it. Very truly yours,
JONATHAN J. COBURN.
